FARM AND FIRE-IDE.

Timely Hints Useful to the Farmer and His Household.

A summary of some of the results of experiments carried on for several years at the Cornell University experiment station, at Ithaca, N. Y., is as follows:

Fertilizers.—The best tomato fertilizers are those which produce their effects early in the season. The intermittent application of nitrate of soda, when prolonged into early decayed the crop as a whole, while early applications appear to produce early results. But larger yields appear to follow intermittent application if it does not extend beyond mid-summer.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

Appointment of Warden—Resolution of Sympathy.

York County Council met in annual session on Tuesday morning at ten o'clock. All the councillors were present but Mr. Rowley of Maryville. After the roll was called the following motion was passed: Resolved, That the municipal council of York County, N. B., in session convened hereby desire to express to Her Majesty and to His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, and his beloved consort deep sympathy in the sad bereavement caused by the lamented death of the Duke of Clarence and Avondale.

A STRANGE STORY.

It is Related of a Man Who Had a Leg Buried.

"That reminds me," said the man who is always reminded of something. "What is it that reminds you, and what of?"

"This item about a man having his leg buried the other day. I wonder if he will have the same experience as a friend of mine. Strangest thing I ever heard of. You see, this poor fellow, had suffered untold agony for a year or more after injuring his right leg by falling down stairs, and finally the member became so diseased that amputation was necessary. The man nearly died under the operation, though that is not the interesting part of the story. The removed portion of the leg was matter of fact, it had been well known of course, to surgical science that when a man has a limb cut off he suffers pain, which amounts to the same thing, in the part of the member removed. It was so in this case, and my friend came back to consciousness his complaint was of the most severe pain in the buried foot.

BLOOD! BLOOD!

Passing through the street a short time since I heard a man crying at the top of his voice. "Blood! blood for sale!" I found on getting nearer he was selling a patent blood medicine. I didn't try the stuff—there's nothing in the world with my blood—but I kept on thinking of that curious announcement. I guess that man had a rather excellent idea, my son. Yes, sir! blood does "tell." Sunol and Nelson and Mande S are the products of blood, that is, of breeding, and care, and cost. But does blood "tell" in a home and count for nothing in a man? I heard Harry Ford, the best of all men, say that a man's first duty is to "choose good parents to be born from." I've got too far along to manage that little matter, but we are all of us able to watch and care for these bodies of ours. Good blood and late hours never heard of a man's blood being made better drinking whiskey—unless it were for a snake bite. Yes, sir, you can bolt your dinner in three minutes, and sleep with all those air-holes tight, and go about with wet feet, and think the bath-tub never heard of a man's blood being made better drinking whiskey—unless it were for a snake bite.

WINTER DAIRYING ON THE FARM.

Let me say a few things as to how this winter dairying can be carried on with advantage on the farms; because in connection with that scheme of helping farmers to make butter in winter by furnishing cream to creameries, I would like to see the farmers, helped in some practical way to make more and finer butter at their own places. Notwithstanding the importance of the creamery industry and the advantages that winter dairying offers, I think one-half of the butter will be made in home dairies for some time to come—in my life-time way. From isolation of settlement, from various causes, about one-half of the butter product in Canada will be made in home dairies. I think that winter dairying is easier to learn when they get a chance, and I know the farmers' wives are able to make the very finest of butter when they get a fair chance, but the trouble has been that the men have had all the good things. They have had the cream, the butter, the cheese, and everything else, they wanted, while their wives had to get along with one pantry for keeping the milk, the butter, the cream, the cheese, and everything else. Then the cream took in its long journey, and the butter, the cheese, and everything else, they wanted, while their wives had to get along with one pantry for keeping the milk, the butter, the cream, the cheese, and everything else.
