CANADA AND NEWFOUNDLAND.

Some important correspondence from Lord Knutsford in reference to the differences between Canada and Newfoundland, over the Bond-Blaine treaty, has been laid before parliament. The secretary for the colonies finds it necessary to emphasize the fact that the attitude of Canada and Newfoundland towards one another, is determined by the best interests of the two countries. He also gives the Canadian government to understand that unless its promised trade arrangement with the United States materializes pretty soon, Her Majesty's advisers will have to reconsider the question of giving the imperial sanction to the Bond-Blaine treaty, the immediate consideration of which was deferred at the request of the government of Canada, pending its so-called negotiations at Washington. The "negotiations at Washington" are off, and the "trade arrangements" will not be heard of any more until the time for the next general election draws near.

In the meantime the condition of affairs between Canada and Newfoundland is far from satisfactory. Besides interfering with the trade relations between the two colonies, and injuring each other's business and industries, the civil quarrel is giving much anxiety and uneasiness to the mother country, which fact in itself should be sufficient to compel such a loyal institution as a Canadian toy government, to make any sacrifice to restore peace and good will. In his letter to the governor general, Lord Knutsford says: "Your ministers will not fail to observe that the main ground assigned by Newfoundland for the refusal of the latter to Canada is the opposition of your ministers to the signature of the crown to the treaty between Newfoundland and the United States."

His lordship then advises the government of Canada to endeavor by personal intercourse with the government of Newfoundland, to effect a satisfactory settlement. Lord Knutsford's letter is very comforting nor very complimentary to the Canadian government, and the sharp rebuke, together with the wholesome advice, which his lordship felt it necessary to give, was no doubt suggested to him as a painful duty, by the lack of statesmanship displayed by the government of Canada.

THE DAIRY.

We are glad to notice that the people of the Province generally have appreciated the government's efforts to encourage the dairy industry. The gentleman appointed by the government to visit the agricultural centres, and give free instruction upon the whole subject matter of the care and improvement of the dairy, in the form of lectures, have already met with much encouragement, and report that the farmers are beginning to realize that no small part of the future success of the agricultural industry of the province depends upon the dairy. This fact, no doubt, in the mind of the government when they decided upon making large importations of improved breeds of cattle. After improving the stock, the next thing necessary to success was to give all the aid and encouragement possible to induce the farmers to give more attention to the dairy industry. A measure was passed providing financial assistance to better and cheese factories and creameries, and a successful effort has been made, and it is still being made, to stimulate the farmers into giving more intelligent thought and systematic work to this important branch of the farm. It is gratifying to note that a lively interest has been awakened, and that the efforts of the government to do all in their power to make the dairy a profitable interest in the land, is meeting with success. We would advise the people to hear what the gentlemen who will visit them have to say, and to give the matter careful thought.

SMALL POTATOES.

Last year the dominion government sent two delegates from the mother country, Messrs. McQueen and Davey, to visit the maritime provinces and report their views regarding the farming and agricultural conditions of these provinces. The expenses of the delegates were paid by the country, and their report, no matter what may be its nature, is public property, and the people have a right to know what it contains. But when Mr. McMillan moved in parliament for copies of the report, the government refused to submit them to the house, giving as a reason for its refusal, that the report was not in the country. It seems, however, that the true reason why the report was suppressed, is because the delegates felt compelled to point out that the government's trade policy was injurious to the farming and kindred interests of the maritime provinces. The government at Ottawa have been forced to do some very humiliating things lately, but the suppression of the report of the British farmer delegates is about the smallest piece of political pettifoggery that has been recorded yet.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Hazen's brilliant suggestion: to make the Intercolonial railway pay by charging the deficit to capital account, is so natural and easy, that he will doubtless be made master of the government's purse right away. In the meantime, however, he might suggest to the government the feasibility of charging the census "deficit" to profit and loss, or some other hand account, and so get over the necessity of losing a member for his own constituency, as well as the others of which the province will be deprived.

Dalton McCarthy's proposal to appoint a Canadian agent at Washington, has been withdrawn at the advice of Sir John Thompson and hon. Mr. Tupper, who saw that it would interfere with their periodical tour to Washington for the purpose of deceiving the Canadian people, by pretending negotiations for closer trade relations with the United States. Mr. Laurier and his followers supported the motion, believing that the presence of an authorized Canadian representative at Washington would be an advantage to Canada in many ways, particularly in the consideration of the trade and commercial problem.

The publisher of a little pamphlet around town has been sandwiching between his last year's plate matter, a lot of gratuitous information about THE HERALD and those connected with it. We would inform Dr. Stockton and Messrs. Phinney and Melanson, and any other creators of the concern, that the organ of the local opposition has been removed from its office on Queen street, but will probably be found in some third story garret within the goal limits of the county of York.

THE VACANT CHAIR.

Seen in Many Homes During the Week.

A little child of the Rev. Mr. Montgomery died on Friday morning and was buried on Saturday afternoon at Springhill cemetery. Thomas Cloney died at Lawrence Station on the 7th inst., at the age of twenty-six, after a short illness. He was an industrious young man and his death will cause much sorrow.

On Tuesday morning at eleven o'clock, Miss Little, sister of the late Mrs. Cork, died at the latter's residence, 47 Cork street, after a prolonged illness. She was well known and her death will leave a vacancy in many social circles. The funeral took place on Thursday, a large concourse attending.

Mrs. James Smith, of Nashwaakias, died at the residence of her brother, Mr. Walter McFarlane, of the N. B. foundry on Tuesday night, at the age of seventy-two, with bronchitis for some time. Deceased was a widow and leaves four children. She was much esteemed in the neighborhood and much regret is expressed.

Thomas R. Rutherford, who a short time since was removed from the hospital here to his home at Tweedside, Manners Street, died at his father's residence at that place on Thursday, the 6th inst. The deceased had worked for the past six years at bridge work on the C. P. R. system, as foreman of the pile driving crew and was much esteemed by those who employed as well as by the public. He was a devoted and efficient worker for him. He was a son of ex-governor Rutherford and was in his thirtieth year. Death was caused by la grippe. A wife and two children besides parents, brothers, sisters and many friends mourn a loss that time alone may heal.

Henry G. Estey, who for several years was an alderman of this city, and held the esteem and respect of the citizens, died at his residence on Friday morning, the 13th inst., of bronchial troubles. He was best known to our many readers in his capacity of teller at the People's bank, and also to most by his connection with the Baptist choir of this city and his frequent appearance at singing in concerts for charitable purposes. As an alderman, which position he resigned on account of illness prior to last election, he was always active in the interests of the city, being careful to conserve the interests of his constituents in particular and of the city in general. As a teller he was careful and accurate and deserved and received the fullest measure of respect from the shareholders while ever general and obliging to the patrons of the bank and his fellow clerks. The church will feel his loss very much, in fact the loss may be called a universal one. His wife was Miss Spurdens, a daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Spurdens. The city hall flag was hoisted half mast high when his death was announced. Deceased was a prominent member of the Baptist church, and in the evening of the 13th inst. he was in his thirty-third year and leaves a widow and two sons and one daughter. The funeral will take place at half past three to morrow from his residence, Carleton street. In the evening at the Baptist church, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Crawley, will make special reference to the life and character of the deceased alderman.

CASTING PEARLS.

To the Editor of THE HERALD:
Sir,—In reply to the Gleaner's editorial of April 29th, I must say that I have good reason to believe that my letter for publication was received at the Gleaner office, and I have stronger reason for believing that I never sent a postal card, making enquire about my letter. As a rule, I don't use postal cards.

The Gleaner intimates that on a former occasion I sought to ingratiate myself with the Gleaner, and that the result was false; and it is my privilege to support whom I choose and to choose whom I may support. There is nothing gained by making a denial to the Gleaner's insinuation, because the editor appears to have the faculty of converting facts and true statements into falsehoods.

I never denied receiving the bye-road grant. I received it from the hands of the government on the same principle that I received the year before from the secretary-treasurer.

The Gleaner says "I don't deny that Mr. Anderson offered me the road money with the expression that could use it as I liked." I emphatically say that I do deny the charge, from the fact that a part of a sentence in my letter to the Gleaner had asked for the usual amount of the bye-road grant, and Mr. Anderson said he would give me the usual amount, $100, for the parish of North Lake, that "I could use it as I liked, but that he would hold me responsible for it." Any person with ordinary judgment can readily see the effect the latter part of the sentence has upon the former part.

"It is quite possible that councillor Innes is not an apt scholar, and not at all familiar with Mr. Blair's tactics."

I must confess that I have not had the many privileges that I find the editor of the Gleaner has enjoyed. Politically speaking, he (the editor) "has sat at the feet of Gamaliel and is learned in all the methods and tactics of the attorney general." It is very thoughtful in the editor to warn others of the political rock that he crashed against. Ever since the Gleaner's political wreck he has been prophesying the downfall of the Blair administration, and pointing to the brightness in the political horizon, but the Gleaner's prophecies are much like professor Wiggins' wonderful predictions, which were to take place at stated times, but never came.

It is evident from past experiences and present indications, that no political party is apt to prosper or succeed, who is so unfortunate as to have the editor of the Gleaner shouting for them. This is due to the Gleaner's reckless regard for the truth.

As the Gleaner will not accept my statement as a denial to its charge in its first editorial, I will be willing to appear before the "royal commission" when the editor has it appointed to investigate the charges against the Blair administration, and then be examined under oath.

Yours truly,
Geo. S. Innes.
