BISHOP MEDLEY'S DEATH.

A shock was felt by the people of the province generally and particularly by the people of this city when the news went forth on Friday morning that Bishop Medley had breathed his last. Although well gone in years and confined to the house by illness yet he was strong to the point that he might be expected to live for a considerable time longer. It was not to be that this clergyman who had guided the destinies of the Episcopal church in this province for so many years with such consummate skill had laid down the burden of life and been gathered to his fathers. He found the church of England here in weak condition, its missions scattered, its people not taking that interest which they should, its church edifices small and badly cared for. His energy soon remedied all this; he placed his church work on a sure foundation; he planned its system of supply and gave to this city the Cathedral, a monument of himself. As a man he was beloved by all classes, while as a scholar and divine he graded the high position to which he was called, setting an example to the standard bearers of his church marked by love, kindness and a strict adherence to the right. Until very recently he was a familiar figure on the streets. All classes vied with each other in the reverence shown him. It will not be saying too much that the death of Bishop Medley is the greatest calamity that has for years fallen on the citizens of this city and the church of England in this province.

A PEOPLE'S POET.

The Quaker poet, John Greenleaf Whittier, has passed away at the age of eighty-seven. He was a native of Haverhill, Mass. Like many other illustrious men who have made themselves famous in all walks of life Whittier was of humble origin, he himself having up to his eighteenth year been employed on a farm, and occasionally pursuing the trade of a shoemaker. As the editor of the American Manufacturer he began his literary labors. He was twice elected to the state legislature. His first poem was given to the world in 1831. He was unmarried. He may be called the Burns of America having more than any other of the American poets sung the simple heart's songs of the people. He was a man of quiet but firm resolve, one who was guided by his genial disposition rather than by his brilliant achievements. He cannot be called a great poet but his poems breathe all of nature's milder moods with a love for the genuine and true that will forever place the deceased poet in the front rank as the people's poet of America.

The board of health for York County has been crippled by the actions of a few of the councillors who for reasons best known to themselves, but which must appear to their constituents to be wrong have resisted all efforts to make the board successful. Now that an epidemic of cholera is threatened steps should be taken to ward off the disease by well concerted measures such as the board of health could supply. Whether the board considering the treatment it has received from the hands of these councillors will take any action is a matter that is entirely under the control of its members. It is to be hoped, however, that the board will do what it can to conserve the public health, and that the councillors opposed to the board will learn the lesson that it is not always in the interests of themselves or their constituents to be guided by blind obstinacy and to vote down a measure which is upheld by all civilized nations and which is absolutely necessary.

LATEST ADVICES are to the effect that premier Abbot can not, on account of ill health, hold the leadership of the conservative party of Canada any longer. The question then turns to a probable successor. Sir John Thompson, who has been the ruling spirit since the death of Sir John Macdonald, has been named, but evidently does not control sufficient members of the government to make his premiership a success. Mr. Haggart has also been named, but his chances are not to be compared with those of Sir Charles Tupper, who evidently will, in a short time, assume the reins of government. The Montreal Star says: Our impression is that the unity of the conservative party and the preservation of the loyal and patriotic principles which characterize it will be best secured under the leadership of Sir Charles Tupper. This shows pretty plainly how the wind is setting.

MANY of our contemporaries are launching out into the stormy sea of politics giving reasons pro and con as to when a local election will take place and reasons therefor. As the house has not as yet been dissolved and no good reason has been given why it should, it would seem that all this excitement is a little premature. The Reporter, with its characteristic dash and brilliancy, has already announced the postponement of the election for York, and has read out of the ranks of those who may form the opposition ticket, the men who carried their banners to defeat in the last contest. Whether these gentlemen may be pleased or not with the idea, there appears to be an element in that party that, to say the Reporter, seeks for other leaders. We shall see what we shall see.

ALL efforts to unravel the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the Smith child at Doak settlement have been unsuccessful. Careful search has been made of the house and premises but to no purpose. It is now in order for the city council to offer a reward such as will stimulate all to help on ward the work of finding either the remains of the child if lost in the woods or the party or parties who may be connected with its disappearance. It will not do to let the matter rest as it is, until all the resources of the city have been taxed to the utmost.

WITH the defeat of John L. Sullivan prize fighting will now lose much of that interest which while he held the championship of the world centered around it. While he was thought to be invincible he received more or less honor but now that he has been defeated with him will go out much of that sympathy that led his countrymen to back him to any amount. A broken idol is worse than none and so Sullivan finds it to-day.

REZONS from all sections respecting the crops show that the yield of potatoes will not exceed that of last year while grain especially buckwheat, will be below the average.

THE CITY MOURNS.

Death of the Right Reverend John Medley, Bishop and Metropolitan.

The death of the most Reverend John Medley, D. D., Bishop of Fredericton and Metropolitan of Canada took place at half past eight o'clock on Friday morning. Bishop John Medley was the son of the late George Medley, esq., gentleman, of Grosvenor Place, London, where the late bishop was born December 10th, 1804. He received his early training in the schools at Bristol, Bewdly, Hammersmith, Cobham, and took his degree at Wadham College, Oxford, in 1826, after a three years course. His name figured in the class list of honors at that institution. So thorough were his studies in classics that he was entitled to the distinction of being one of the foremost authorities in that branch of learning in the dominion, though, unfortunately for a proper conception of the same, his lordship's literary ventures have been very limited. In 1828 he was ordained deacon, and priest of the church of England in 1829. He entered upon his first parochial charge as incumbent of St. John's church, Truro, Cornwall, in 1831, and became vicar of St. Thomas, Exeter, in 1838. Prior to 1845 the Anglican churches in New Brunswick were within the diocese of Nova Scotia. In that year the churchmen of this province made a representation to the archbishop of Canterbury of the need of a bishop, and Rev. Mr. Medley was nominated to Lord Stanley, then colonial secretary, and came out to New Brunswick. The people established a stationary fund of £3,000, the interest of which was to be applied to his maintenance. In addition thereto the bishop received his official salary, half of which he surrendered to the present coadjutor bishop upon the latter's appointment. In 1879 he was elected to the honorary position of metropolitan of Canada by the house of bishops on the resignation, because of ill health, of the previous incumbent, most rev. bishop Ozenden. When he reached this province in 1845, there were about 30 C. of E. missions in New Brunswick, of which twelve were vacant. The clergy numbered twenty-eight under the superintendence of Dr. John Inglis. Through his endeavors the Cathedral was built and will always stand as a monument to his good taste, energy and business management.

His lordship, on the occasion of his return from England, where he was attending the Lambeth conference in 1888, was received by a special committee and heartily welcomed. Chief justice Allen read an address, the first paragraph of which was as follows: The clergy and laity of the church of England in Fredericton, with great gladness of heart at seeing you once more, and with deep thankfulness to Almighty God that he has restored you to them in undiminished health and vigor, meet to welcome you, and to offer their affectionate congratulations on your safe return, after prolonged absence to your Canadian home and diocese.

An address was also made by Sir Leonard Tilley. Finding the work of carrying on the business of the diocese beginning to tell upon his health, he applied for an assistant, defraying the salary five hundred pounds from his own pocket. The Rev. Dr. Kingdon was chosen and after being approved by the Metropolitan was appointed coadjutor. He was consecrated in the Cathedral in 1881. It was part of the arrangement that on the death of the Metropolitan, Dr. Kingdon should succeed to the bishopric.

His death came very quietly, Mrs. Medley, with Mrs. Chas. Medley, relict of deceased son and Rev. Mr. Alexander of the bedside. Canon Brigstocke had been present but had gone to St. John by the early train. Flags were hoisted at half mast throughout the city as soon as the tidings went forth that he had passed away.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday at eleven o'clock. The interment will be in the plot of ground in the Cathedral yard set apart by the Bishop himself for that purpose. The arrangements will be as follows: On Monday afternoon at half-past four a short service will be held at Bishopscote, the residence of the late bishop, after which the casket will be carried to the Cathedral where another short service will be observed. The body will then lie in state till the interment on Tuesday. The public will be admitted to view the remains from six to nine o'clock, Monday evening. There will be two celebrations of the holy communion in the Cathedral at 8 and 10 o'clock. The burial service will begin at 11 o'clock.

The ordination to have been held at the Cathedral to-morrow is postponed on account of the death of the Metropolitan.

DELANDED.—Miss Estabrook, a lady student of Carleton county who failed to pass the Normal school examination has become partially deranged. She was not at all strong prior to the examination but with rest and care it is expected that she will recover.

WOODSTOCK BRIDGE.—Alfred Haines, who has taken charge of the building of the new bridge at Woodstock has ordered one of the partially built piers to be taken down and properly rebuilt. All defects in the work will be carefully searched out and if found will be remedied so far as possible.

SHOP EXTENDED.—George Little's shop at the end of the highway bridge, St. Marys was entered at noon, on Thursday, when the proprietor was absent. The till and shelves were rifed and quite an amount of small wares carried away.

KINGSLEAR. Sept. 9.—Fine weather for harvesting and the farmers are improving it. The Baptist Sabbath school picnic held on Wednesday last, was a grand success. There was a good list of sports well carried out. Some of the prize winners were: Girls archery, Chas. Kilburn; ladies archery, Miss Campbell; air gun, gent, Frank Solomon; air gun, ladies, Miss Campbell; boat race, ladies, Misses Dunphy and Campbell; boat race, gent, Messrs. Burnett and Dunphy.

CLOVERDALE.

SEPTEMBER 5.—Owing to the dull weather some of our farmers are not done yet. Harvesting is going on slowly most of the grain in this section of the county is fit for cutting; several are about done cutting. We have had very heavy frost lately, not much harm done—only ripening the cucumbers and beans and a little late grain.

The picnic held at this place was largely attended in spite of the rain. The sum of $10.80 was realized. A very pleasant evening was spent both by young and old.

The Rev. John Prosser held meetings here last Sabbath. There was a large turnout to hear him.

There will be a Sabbath school picnic held here on the 15th of this month and concert in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Jones, of Keswick, are here visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Knox, of Caverhill, were among the number of visitors to this place this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hill, of Hainesville, spent last Sabbath with his mother, Mrs. John Hill.

Mrs. John Mocker, who has been spending a few weeks here, has returned to her home, Grand Falls.

Abraham Jones has returned from the Douglas boom where he has been working for a few weeks.

Mr. Slack, the fortune teller, passed through this place stirring up the past and revealing the future and taking away some of the change with him.

THE HERALD is one of our most welcome papers, being one week old when we receive it, but that is not the paper's fault, rather the way the mail is carried. We are still living in hope of better arrangements in the mail system.

BOIESTOWN.

SEPTEMBER 8.—The farmers are now taking advantage of the favorable dry weather in getting in their grain. The oat crop will scarcely be good as expected, but the potato yield will be far better than last year.

A temperance meeting was held in the church, Monday evening, Rev. Neil McKay and Rev. Thos. Marshall of Chatham taking a prominent part. These gentlemen are sent out by the Chatham Alliance to work in the interest of sustaining the Scott act. The meeting was well attended. Rev. E. Bell, the chairman, who is a strong temperance worker, addressed the people for a short time, as likewise did John Hinds.

The temperance workers are now beginning to take an active part against the repeal of the Act which is to be decided on the 29th inst., by the coming election.

An English gentleman, accompanied by Mr. Robinson, of Metopopolis arrived here on Tuesday with his baggage and two assistants for a three or four weeks cruise among the Duganar lakes. This gentleman's chief desire is to see and have a shot at a moose. We have no doubt his wish will be realized, as H. Braithwaite (who guides the expedition) never fails where moose is concerned.

Some stir is beginning to be made for the woods. Dennis Lynch who is around hiring men, intends starting a party next week to his camps at Clowater.

HARVEY STATION.

Sept. 8.—The weather for the past week has been fairly good for harvesting operations, and much of the grain crops have been secured. Some farmers have already begun to take up their potatoes. Those who have been digging say that the crop is light. It is expected that the price of potatoes will be higher than it was last fall.

Harvey has just lost three of its oldest residents. Mrs. Margery Atheson and her daughters Margery and Hannah left yesterday for Houlton, where they intend to reside in future. Mrs. Atheson came with her husband (who is now dead) from Bowdoin, Scotland, about fifty one years ago, and has lived here ever since. She is now in her eightieth year and is still hale and hearty. She and her daughters were much respected and we will miss them a great deal.
