

He completely riddled the stand taken by the minister of justice, and showed clearly how the party were receding from the position they had taken in Quebec. He declared the charges were as explicit as necessary, for they declared definitely that Mr. Edgar was willing to prove that between the years 1882 and 1891 portions of public money voted by the parliament of Canada to aid a great public work were wrongfully paid to a minister of the crown, Sir A. P. Caron, and used by him in a number of constituencies, the names of which were given, to defraud the electors in the interests of the conservative party. He explained that the minister of justice was asking the house to endorse what the conservative party and the whole country had declared wrong when done in Quebec. Besides the minister of justice, two other ministers of the crown, Messrs. Tupper and Outinot, spoke on the question. Both were very unhappy. They declared the charges were only made with the intention of finding out how the conservative party had conducted their campaigns. Mr. Outinot frankly acknowledged his willingness to have Sir Adolphe Caron investigated, but declared they were not willing to have the same investigation made into the whole conservative party. This caused a general laugh, but the ministers looked disgusted. All three ministers said the matter should be tried in the courts and that it was not competent for the house to deal with it. Strong speeches in support of Mr. Edgar's motion were made by Messrs. Mills and Cartwright. They both declared that if misappropriation of government money was shown in constituencies the house of commons was the only competent authority to deal with it, and the matter had no place in the courts or before a commission. Col. O'Brien was put in a very awkward situation by Mr. Davies. The gallant colonel was arguing that there was a difference between the Caron charges and the Baie Chaleur case, when the latter rose and asked him if he would kindly explain the difference. The colonel was completely taken back. He stammered for a few minutes and finally set down completely floored, without having in any way replied to the question. The contention of the government that the charges should be tried in the courts and the statement of Sir Adolphe that they are untrue are very amusing, and meet with very little favor from either side of the house, for it is well known that these charges were first made by the great French paper, L'Electeur, and the Toronto Globe, both of which expressed their willingness to substantiate these charges in a court of law, and finally dared to accept their challenge and sue them. It is the government and not the liberals who should resort to the courts. The general belief is that Caron has compelled the government to stand by him, threatening to give the whole snap away if he is exposed. There will be a great explosion in Canadian politics some day.

THE TRUTH AT LAST.

OUR OTTAWA RULERS have thrown off the mask at last and we stand face to face with the admitted fact that all hope of reciprocity with the people of the United States is at an end—that is to say, there is nothing to hope in that direction from the conservative party. There will be no investigation before a committee of the House of Commons. What would the St. John luminaries have had to say if the local government had taken up that attitude? Even the Sun people, if they have any conscience left, must mentally compare the New Brunswick and Ottawa governments in their respective methods of dealing with charges against them, greatly to the honor of the government of New Brunswick.

It is a matter of fact that the minister of justice was asking the house to endorse what the conservative party and the whole country had declared wrong when done in Quebec. Besides the minister of justice, two other ministers of the crown, Messrs. Tupper and Outinot, spoke on the question. Both were very unhappy. They declared the charges were only made with the intention of finding out how the conservative party had conducted their campaigns. They both declared that if misappropriation of government money was shown in constituencies the house of commons was the only competent authority to deal with it, and the matter had no place in the courts or before a commission. Col. O'Brien was put in a very awkward situation by Mr. Davies. The gallant colonel was arguing that there was a difference between the Caron charges and the Baie Chaleur case, when the latter rose and asked him if he would kindly explain the difference. The colonel was completely taken back. He stammered for a few minutes and finally set down completely floored, without having in any way replied to the question. #### THE NEW POLICY.

The minister of finance, after pointing out that the reciprocity door was closed against us, went on to say, "That the time may be near when it will become the duty of the government to hold out a helping hand to the land which helps us to repay favor with favor—interest with interest—and to give the best treatment in our markets to those countries which accord us the best treatment in their markets." We are at a loss to understand what all this means, and Mr. Foster has not told us. It cannot mean free trade with England, although England is the country which accords us the best treatment in her markets of any in the world. England has always treated us from a trade standpoint better than we have treated her. She admits all our products free of duty, and has not only consented, but has assisted us in obtaining treaties with other countries under which we discriminated against her, as was the case in the reciprocity treaty of 1854 with the United States. The revenue which Mr. Foster told us in the city hall in 1890, we would lose by unrestricted reciprocity, we would doubly lose by free trade with England. To admit her coal and iron free would undoubtedly build up our mercantile marine and increase the ocean tonnage sailing into Canadian ports; but what would become of the glorious results which we have been told accrue to us from the development of the coal and iron industries of Cape Breton and New Glasgow for which we have been paying so dearly. Then the manufacturers of the old country would displace our own to three fold the extent they would be effected by American competition, and with the English market, three thousand miles away, would not then be one whit more open to us than it is to-day. We do not think Mr. Foster is paying a high compliment to the intelligence of Canadians when he is delivering himself of these high sounding and meaningless platitudes. If we are to repay favor with favor, which is not by any means a sound economic theory, but if we are to do it, why not do it with the United States, with whom, in spite of all its restrictions, natural laws compel us to do the bulk of our commerce. Let us offer them "favor for favors," repay "interest with interest," and tell them if they will "accord us the best treatment in their markets we will accord them the best in ours," and they will do it.

The people of Canada who some day, we confidently believe, have their eyes opened. We would wish it might come before our province had become depopulated by the exodus to the neighboring republic, which this spring has set in with unabated and unprecedented vigor.

NO REVISION.

The government at Ottawa has announced that there will be no revision of the electoral lists this year owing to the expense, and therefore any election held in 1892 or 1893 will necessarily be held on lists which have grown old. What a mockery is it for the people of Canada to permit the electoral machinery of their government to remain in such an obsolete condition that it is not made to work more than once in three or four years because of the expense. Such a state of things would not be tolerated even in Japan, where they have just emerged into the domain of civilized constitutions.

It appears just at present at Ottawa as if the government there feared a committee of parliament would be too effective and might enquire into the propriety of allowing investigation before a committee of the House of Commons. What would the St. John luminaries have had to say if the local government had taken up that attitude? Even the Sun people, if they have any conscience left, must mentally compare the New Brunswick and Ottawa governments in their respective methods of dealing with charges against them, greatly to the honor of the government of New Brunswick.

QUEENSBURY.

QUEENSBURY, April 12.—The sugar making business is a failure this season. Up to the present not one-third the usual quantity has been made and the season seems over as some trees are already dry. This parish is actively engaged in this industry. From B. McNally's to G. Dykeman's, some ten farms, a distance of about a mile, there are 7,000 sugar cane or kettle in active use. There is hardly any maple sufficient to carry on this manufacture and for a wonder when one goes into the city with the product for sale the first enquiry is not how much trade do you want.

The ice here started Friday afternoon and ran Saturday nearly all day. Now the river is clear. The tail of the jam is at Wheeler's island. The river is supposed to be clear from there to Grand Falls.

Several cases of sickness are in the district. Several members of S. P. Burdon's family are sick with measles. G. B. Turbin was so unucky as to get his leg jammed by a log on Saturday while he was unloading his sleds. He is at present seriously lame.

SMITH'S CORNER.

SMITH'S CORNER, April 11.—The literary society which meets in the vestry of the Methodist church every Friday evening, has greatly relieved the monotony of our winter life in the country. The debates especially have created a general and lively interest among our young people. The ladies, early in the year, organized a sewing circle in connection with the Methodist church. It has developed a vigorous and progressive spirit, and is now in first-class working order. Arthur Reeder's friends were very glad to hear that he had paid a flying visit to the States, and that he was back again so soon.

AROUND THE WORLD.

THE WEEK'S EVENTS IN BRITAIN.—The cream of the week's events in Great Britain is the trial of the man who was charged with the murder of the Duke of Clarence. The trial is expected to be a sensational one, and will attract a large number of spectators. The Duke of Clarence was a member of the royal family, and his murder was a shocking event. The man charged with the crime is a foreigner, and his trial is being held in London. The case is expected to be a long and complicated one, and will involve a great deal of evidence and testimony.

NORTH LAKE, April 14.—Many of our young men are preparing for stream drams, some of whom will go to Uncle Sam's dominions, where they expect to receive higher wages than can be got in this section. H. H. Veysey, J. P., who has been very ill, is now convalescent. Austin Kinney, who has been unable to attend to his business for nearly a year, is not much improved in health. We would extend to him our sympathy in his trouble. The wife of Geo. Tilly, last week presented her happy spouse with twins. Congratulations George. George Wood, ever ready to earn an honest dollar, is hauling a fine lot of wood for the school. Our school, which has been closed since last December, opened on the 4th inst. under the management of A. C. Foster, of Forest City.

LAKE GEORGE.

LAKE GEORGE, April 12.—James Donnelly has been improving the appearance of his dwelling house by the addition thereto of a commodious kitchen. H. McGarvey was his chief aid and abettor in the erection thereof. Tuesday, the 19th inst., is to witness an event which shall cause quite a ripple of excitement in the social circles of this place as well as in Upper Prince William. John McMurray's saw mill is running full blast and will, no doubt, continue to do so for some time judging by the amount of lumber which is on the yards. Miss Nellie McCormack, our teacher, seems to fully understand pedestrianism, notwithstanding the bad condition of the roads. Several of the young men of this place have left to be absent until stream driving is over. Give the Working Man a Chance. TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD. The most failure of John A. Price, one of Canterbury's business men, one engaged in trading and lumbering, is a large extent brings to our minds the fact that we should have legislation to enable the laborer to get his wages by holding the lumber until paid; in other words we want the lien bill, which Mr. Wilson has again presented to the house. Men who have been working for Mr. Price since last fall, depending for their wages to get them through spring, find themselves without a dollar at a time of year when no work is to be had. Surely the men earned more than their board, and if so the lien bill would give them a chance to get what was left after the supply bill was paid. If Mr. Wilson succeeded in getting his bill through we guarantee him the biggest vote he ever got in the parish of Canterbury, when he next asks our support. If the members of the government and opposition would interview some of our fathers of father to buy them food and clothing for the summer and spring, almost naked they would give an unanimous vote for the lien bill. Yours, ONE WHO DID NOT GET HIS WAGES, Canterbury Station, March 25, 1892.
