FREDERICTON, NOVEMBER 26, 1892.

THE QUEENS COUNTY ELECTION.

The election in Queens county to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Hetherington, resulted in the almost unanimous return of attorney general Blair. Of the 2,263 electors who went to the polls only 691 deposited their ballots for the opposition candidate, Mr. Neales, the nominee of Pitts, Gregory, Black & Co. The returns as published in another column, show that Mr. Blair carried every parish in the county, the most of them by such overwhelming majorities as to leave no room for doubt as to the feelings of the people of Queens towards Mr. Blair and his government. The significance of the great victory won by Mr. Blair can only be adequately realized and appreciated when the reason of his defeat in York is remembered, when the nature of the constituency which he chose as his battle ground is known, when the issue which he was forced to meet and fight is understood, and when the methods which were used to defeat and destroy him are considered. Unexpectedly and treacherously defeated in the county of York on a sectarian and ultra-protestant cry, Mr. Blair chose the strongest protestant and orange constituency in the province for re-election. Realizing that the cry which a few ignorant and fanatical persons had raised in York, a cry which he had been unable to meet and answer, had contributed mainly to his defeat; and feeling that it was not only a false and unfounded cry, but a dangerous one as well to the peace and harmony of the province, Mr. Blair boldly and wisely resolved to appeal to a constituency into which the fire that had been kindled in York might naturally be supposed to have spread, and, where, if anywhere, it would find ready fuel for its flames. The county of Queens, the banner protestant county of the province, which was reported to contain a thousand orange votes, and where the Roman Catholics constituted a very small proportion of the electors, was chosen by Mr. Blair for the scene of the contest. Into this county he went, resolved to stand or fall by the record of his government for fair play and equal rights to every class and to every creed in the province. His decision to stand for Queens was scarcely made public before Pitts and his coworkers in York were on the scene. Aided by Mr. Blair's bitter personal enemies from the city of Fredericton, they succeeded, against the wishes of the people of Queens, in prevailing upon Mr. Neales, county master of the orange association, to run as an opponent of the government. The fact that Mr. Neales had always professed to be a friend of the party in power, and that he even sought and expected the nomination on the government ticket a few weeks before, does not seem to have been taken into consideration. They must have a candidate, and J. DeVeber Neales was selected for a second H. H. Pitts. The gang of ignorant and unscrupulous bigots, who were largely responsible for the disgraceful and suicidal result in York, moved into Queens bag and baggage. Team loads of vile and inflammatory literature were distributed into every part of the county; men were sent from house to house to pour into the ears of the electors any kind of stories that would lead them to believe that Mr. Blair was the persecutor and oppressor of the protestant people; the sacred calling of the christian ministry was trailed in the dirt for partizan purposes; and the most unscrupulous means were employed to set neighbor against neighbor, and to stir up a sectarian war among the people. Mr. Stockton, the leader of the opposition, Mr. Gregory, the bitter personal enemy of Mr. Blair, and any other persons who were supposed to have any influence, and who could be prevailed upon to lend their aid and approval to the opposition cause were also in the field.

By such means and by such instrumentalities did these individuals seek to accomplish the defeat of Mr. Blair. But the people of Queens were too intelligent to be deceived by such men as Pitts, Rossborough, Inch, Ashford and Bliss. They rightly regarded their interference in their political affairs as a piece of impertinance, and the unsolicited dictation of such men as an insult to their intelligence. With a fairness that might well be emulated by York county, they resolved to hear both sides of the story; they were quick to perceive the nature and purpose of such canvasses, to see that they were all a tissue of falsehoods without the shadow of truth, and they acted accordingly. With no uncertain voice they gave their verdict at the polls. The opposition candidate was so badly beaten that he lost his deposit, while his unscrupulous backers were driven out of the county covered with shame and disgrace; never was a more emphatic rebuke administered to any party than was given to these miserable individuals; never was a candle flame more completely snuffed out, than was their false and pernicious cry extinguished by the people of Queens on the 22d inst.

The electors of Queens are to be congratulated on the sound judgment and good sense they have shown, not only in securing the attorney general as their representative, but in refusing to listen to the views of these people who would stir up a religious war among them. Their doctrine is a dangerous and wicked one. It sets class against class and neighbor against neighbor. It creates enmity and discord where harmony should prevail, and more than anything else tends to make unhappiness and differences among the people. If followed to its logical conclusion it must necessarily end in something far more serious than these things. Such cries are always started and kept alive by the more ignorant and uneducated classes of the community, and a flame once kindled, unless promptly checked will sweep through a country like a prairie fire. Good people generally will commend the people of Queens for the very emphatic manner in which they have stamped this plague from their midst. The victory of right and justice over ignorance and fanaticism will be felt all over the province, and cannot fail to be productive of much good. All honor to Queens. They have elected a representative of whom any constituency might well be proud; they have given a death blow to the Pitts gang, and the opposition party with which they were allied, and they will get their reward.

THE warm smile of supreme happiness and contentment that shone from the genial face of Locke Ferris on Friday, would gladden the heart of a mourner.

THE MAYORALTY.

The time is drawing near when the people of Fredericton will be called upon to chose their chief magistrate for another year. The state of our city's finances demands that a careful and wise selection should be made, not only of mayor, but of aldermen as well. The mayor's office is not, as is often supposed, a mere figurehead, but is an important position, which should always be filled by a man of ability, judgment and determination. If the mayor be a good man, in whom the public have confidence, he is looked to for advice in all matters, and the financial condition of the city largely depends upon his firmness and business ability. The time has gone by when Fredericton can afford the luxury of electing a mayor for ornamental purposes only. We must have a man at the head of our civic affairs who commands the respect of the citizens, who has a reputation for business ability, and in whose fitness for the position the people have some confidence. Let a suitable man be named and he will be elected.

WHILE the Weston was on her way to Gagetown on Friday she stopped at a wharf for the purpose of taking on board some friends who wished to attend the declaration proceedings. Among those who came aboard was a party whose sympathies were evidently not with the government. He had hardly got a comfortable seat when he commenced finding fault with Mr. Blair for his extravagance in engaging the boat, at the government's expense, to take his friends to Gagetown. One of the committee of management soon got on his wheelhouse, and approaching the kicker who would find fault with the government for engaging the boat, and yet be willing to take advantage of it, asked him for his fair to Gagetown and return. "But," said the kicker "I understood the boat was hired by Mr. Blair to take anyone to Gagetown who wanted to go." "I know you did," was the reply. "But then you see the trouble is Mr. Blair did not hire the boat, nor is the government going to pay for it. Mr. Blair is the guest of his friends to-day, and you will have to pay your fare or go ashore. A dollar please." The suddenness with which the extravagance idea was knocked out of that man's head gave him such a shock that he went around in a dazed kind of way all day. He didn't seem to enjoy the nomination proceedings worth a dollar.

HON. MR. FOSTER left England on Thursday for Canada. He bears with him the resignation of sir John Abbott as premier. Sir John Thompson has been appointed to the vacancy and has been called on to form a government. W. B. Ives, M. P., Sherbrooke, has been offered a seat in the new cabinet and will accept. Chapleau and Caron are to be left in the cold, their places to be filled by Girouard and Angers, the lieut. governor of Quebec, famous in connection with the unseating of Mercier. The conservatives are in motion and a monster convention is called for January 11th, 1893, to meet at Montreal. It is believed in this city that York will be called on in a very short time to send a representative to parliament. No doubt the Sun will erase the names of Pitts and Thompson from its correspondence columns. Will "Pitts and his gang" mount the Protestant horse in this case or have they ridden the poor jade to death? He will have an opportunity now to get lots of blood and gore without going outside his late committee.

SPENCER INCH, of St. Marys, a harmless enough fellow when not unduly excited, spent a couple of weeks in the parish of Petersville in Queens county, in making dirty canvasses against Mr. Blair and his government. One of the polling places in Petersville—the only one in the whole county—gave Mr. Neales a majority of about 35. Mr. Inch at once gets the Gleaner to give him credit for this result, and takes to himself a great amount of glory. When it is remembered that the opposition candidate, Mr. Woods, led Mr. Hetherington in this poll 133 votes a month previously, and that the whole parish which then gave Mr. Woods a majority over Mr. Hetherington of 125 votes, gave Mr. Blair a majority of six on the 22nd instant, the result of Mr. Inch's effort in the campaign seems to have been decidedly in favor of the government. Thank you, Spencer; and we hope you will go to Petersville next election.

THE Gleaner says that only seventeen persons went down in the Weston to Queens county on declaration day, and gives their names. We publish the same names and nearly one hundred others who were on the boat that day. The week before the same paper had a minute description of Frank Morrison on his way to Gagetown in the boat, when as a matter of fact Mr. Morrison went to St. John by train and returned home the same evening, and never even saw the boat. These are only samples of the kind of lies that the above paper has been furnishing to its readers for the past few years. And yet there are still a few weak minded people who believe the silly trash published in the Gleaner.

MR. NEALES has suffered more than the ordinary misfortunes of political warfare. He has not only suffered defeat, but he has had the chagrin of seeing those who drew him into the conflict, desert him in the hour of trial. Like rats leaving a sinking ship, they fled out of the county the day before the election, and left the man whom they had induced to sacrifice himself in their interests, to fight the battle alone. They have not been seen or heard from since, and if they have any sense of decency or shame in their composition, it will be a long time before they are heard from again.

PERHAPS no one comes out of Queens more utterly discredited than the so-called rev. A. F. Thompson of Bathurst. The series of letters, which have been published in the newspapers under the signatures of reliable parties, prove conclusively that in political matters he has been guilty of treachery, vindictiveness and wilful misrepresentation of facts. Fortunately the christian ministry in this country furnishes few examples of such Pharasaic beings, and it is not a matter of surprise that when found at all, they were found in the company of such men as Pitts and his gang.

THE Gleaner recently suggested that Mr. Blair should stop at the boundary line on his way back from the declaration proceedings at Gagetown. In making this suggestion Mr. Crocket should have remembered that this was about a mile further below the Fredericton gaol than his tether would allow him to go, and if Jimmy did not get around to see the movements of Mr. Blair and his friends, what in the world would he have to write about for his paper?

The grand jury which have been considering the Borden case, have been dismissed until Thursday, Dec. 1. This action is a surprise to the public. The assumed solution is that officers have struck a new lead and that this brief adjournment is to permit them to gather evidence which will result in more than one indictment.

CHESLEY ELECTED.

He Carries St. John by a Good Vote.

It became evident as election day drew on that Chesley was gaining friends, while the banner of Robertson steadily declined. The fight became pretty warm on Monday, and when the poll opened on Tuesday St. John was pretty well excited. The returns give Chesley 3,167 against 2,888 for Robertson—a majority of 279. The usual speeches were made by the candidates and friends at the close of the poll.

Mr. Chesley said that he had been elected by the workingmen, and that had he another week to stump the county, he would have snowed Robertson and his party under. He thanked both liberals and conservatives for the support they had given him. Dr. Berrymen and John Ashe also addressed the electors in the interests of Mr. Chesley.

Mr. Robertson's speech was fair and gentlemanly. He thanked the electors for the vote given him, and also the press for the fair treatment accorded him through the different journals. He charged that he had been beaten by purchased votes, and appeared to feel exceedingly sore. He gave his hearers to understand that it would not be very long before he would be before them again.

The victory of Mr. Chesley is considered a victory for better trade relations with the United States.

DEATHS.

John D. Wilmot and Others laid to Rest.

Mrs. Thomas Gilbert, of Mouth of Nashwaak, was buried on Sunday last. Hers had been a protracted illness. Deceased had may friends in Maugerville and vicinity. She was the mother of Mrs. Wm. Rickard. Rev. Mr. Nobles of Gibson officiated at the funeral.

At Bloomfield Ridge, York, on Monday evening, Mrs. William Wilson died at the age of sixty-six. She had been ill for years. He residence was well known on the Miramichi, as it was a headquarters for anglers; and much sorrow is expressed by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. The funeral took place on Thursday under the auspices of the Methodist church.

The silent messenger of death has visited Cross Creek and a home circle has been broken and cast into the deepest gloom by the death of Millie, eldest child of John and Nellie McLay. She was a bright and promising little girl of six years, and a general favorite at school with both teacher and pupils. She had been ill but a short time. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to her grief-stricken parents in this sad hour of their bereavement.

At Belmont, Sun. Co., on Thursday morning, John D. Wilmot, son of the late hon. R. D. Wilmot and brother of the member of parliament for that county, died at the age of fifty-seven. He leaves a wife, three daughters and one son. Much grief is expressed here, where he had many friends. The funeral leaves the house to-morrow (Sunday) at 2.30 o'clock.

Marysville News.

Rev. J. T. Parsons is holding special services at the F. C. Baptist church, and much interest is taken. Large numbers stand up for prayers nightly. Thirty seekers spoke at Wednesday's meeting.

Sadie Titus reached home on Monday and is rapidly recovering. It is considered almost a miracle and her friends are much pleased. She has had many visitors since her return.

The recent very high water impeded the repairs to the mill, but no damage was done.

Morrison's big livery stable is pretty well on to completion. It will accommodate thirty horses and carriages.

Alex. Gibson, jr., has gone with a crew of thirty-five men to lumber at Cross Creek. David Bruce is foreman and George Stafford, cook.

Rev. Dr. Brecken preached a missionary sermon in the Methodist church on Sunday morning. During the evening service the rev. Mr. Lodge received eleven candidates into the church.

Prof. Card Wallader is teaching a singing school in the hall. It is very well attended and much appreciated.

Preparations are being made at the skating rink for a big winter, and all the graceful of the town are hunting up their skates.

Gibson and St. Marys.

Most of the merchants are getting in their Xmas goods.

There is a prospect of a singing school being organized in the near future.

Mr. Chase has purchased the Ben. Close house near the railway crossing and is moving in.

Patrick Owens, station agent at Gibson, has been removed to Newburg Junction, Mr. Hallet of Keswick, taking this office.

Reid Blair deserved the thanks of all who travel across the bridge, for the new sidewalk he has placed in position. Much obliged.

There will be a pie social at Sewell's camp, Maugerville, on Tuesday night next, for the benefit of rev. Mr. Nobles. All are cordially invited to attend. Those who have never seen the camps should attend. All those who have visited them will be sure to go this time. The Bismark may take down visitors, if so, further notice will be given.

SIR JOHN THOMPSON PREMIER.—The following is officially authorized. "The governor general has received with great regret, a letter from Sir John Abbot intimating that he is compelled by the state of his health to resign his office. Acting upon the advice of Sir. John Abbott his excellency has requested Sir John Thompson to form a new cabinet. Sir John Thompson has accepted this duty, but it is probable that a few days will be required before an accurate list of the ministers can be given."

TELL A GOOD ONE.—Some of the opposition press are greatly elated over the cooked up statement that Mr. Hetherington received $2,500 to resign in Queens. The true statement is just three figures more, $2,500,000. Nothing Mr. Blair does is done in a small way, not even his defeat of Neales. We, like Martin Butler, despise small lies.

A BOOM.—St. Andrews is excited over the prospect of becoming the winter port for the Beaver line steamers. Plans of the harbor are in the possession of the Beaver line managers. A new wharf and grain elevator are wanted at St. Andrews, and the railway to run down to the wharf. It will boom the town during the winter months.

LOOKING FOR A HUSBAND.—There was a lively time at Gibson Friday for about two hours. A Gypsey sent his wife into a house on some business and then drove away and left her. When she found that she was deserted the noise she made created a sensation. She has gone on the search up the Nashwaak.

FOR MAYOR.—The name of a prominent dry goods merchant and consistent temperance man is mentioned as the people's choice for mayor at the approaching civic elections. It is not necessary to give his name, if he can be prevailed on to accept the nomination it is almost assured that he will carry the seat.

UNION OF HEARTS.—At the Waverley hotel, Regent street, on Wednesday, the rev. Mr. Payson performed the marriage service between Miss E. McKay of Stanley and Howard Porter of the Queen hotel. The contracting parties left on Thursday for a visit to the bride's parents at Stanley.

FOR BUCK.—The petition for the commutation of Buck's sentence has been numerously signed here during the week.

The St. Andrews Beacon says: "A coat of tar and feathers applied to fanatics of the Pitts type is what they most deserve."

OAK MOUNTAIN.

Nov. 15—W. F. Murray preached a Thanksgiving sermon in the Kirk on Thursday afternoon. The church was handsomely decorated for the occasion. Great credit is due to the ladies of this place who had everything arranged in the most becoming manner.

Miss Hattie Dougherty, one of our popular young ladies, has gone to Waterville, Me., to school for the winter. We all hope she will progress rapidly in her studies so that she may be able to graduate in the spring.

The pig squealing season has arrived, and the air is pungent with the odor of fried pork and buckwheat cakes, those two going well together.

Houses are being banked and preparations made to pass the winter as comfortable as possible. We have had a flurry of snow to remind us of what is in store for us later on. Its a crop that never fails

The school here is now in charge of Miss Kate McIntyre, of Scotch Corner. She is giving good satisfaction as teacher.

Messrs. John and Anthony Dickison have gone to the woods for the winter. Their absence will be greatly felt especially by the young ladies. A short time ago John purchased a famous gun, which they say is death on hens and partridges.

Miss Mary Kerr was the recipient of a beautiful organ from one of her brothers, who has lately returned from the far west laden with gold; so music can now be heard from the "castle on the hill" nearly all over the surrounding country.

We are all pleased to see M. Dickison again in our midst. He has recently purchased a fine colt from one of his sons, and no doubt he intends "sporting" this winter, so ladies, beware.

A basket social was held at S. Clapman's on Tuesday night. The evening being fine a large crowd assembled. They all seemed to enjoy themselves in the "old time way." The baskets were auctioned off by Fred Burton, and the sum of $18 realized.

HARVEY STATION.

Nov. 24.—The royal templars of this place held a concert and pie social in the Grange hall on the evening of the 18th. Although the night was wet and disagreeable, there was a fair attendance. The following was the program: Chorus; recitation, Miss H. Hetherington; song, Miss Maggie Smith; reading, J. W. Taylor; song, John Craig; recitation, Miss May Taylor; quartette, Misses Maud and Ida Glendenning, Fred Robinson and W. G. Chamberlain. The pies were then sold by Mr. Chamberlain. After these were disposed of, dancing and games of different kinds were engaged in, when the party dispersed about twelve o'clock, having spent a very pleasant evening.

Miss Maggie Smith left by the C. P. R. last Wednesday morning for Seattle where she goes to visit her brother and aunt. She expects to be away for some months. Quite a large number of people assembled on the previous evening to bid her good bye. She is one of our most popular young ladies and will be much missed.

The farmers trading company of Little Settlement, whose store was destroyed by fire last spring, have got another and much larger building almost completed and expect to be ready for business in a short time. Herbert Little, of York Mills, has been appointed clerk.

Henry Swan has finished his new store at Swan Corner and has it well filled with dry goods, groceries, hardware, etc. His prices are right and there is no doubt that he will do a good business.

John Kilpatrick, who has been residing at New Gloucester, Me., for some years, is here paying a visit, but intends returning in a few days.

Thomas Coburn, of Houlton, was here last week visiting his many friends and relatives. Mr. Coburn moved from this place to Houlton about two years ago and says that he is well satisfied with the change he made, but likes to pay a visit to his old home once in a while.

BLACKVILLE.

Nov. 21—As winter approaches we notice some of our friends returning to us, amongst whom are A. Woods, the popular clerk at B. N. T. Underhill's and E. Collings, a surveyor in Mr. Gibson's employ. Their many friends are glad to see them.

After the heavy rains of the last few days, the roads are in a very bad condition. It is now that the people feel the need of a sidewalk, when they have to travel through mud half way to their boot tops, or go on the railway track with the danger of falling into culverts, etc.

Quiltings have been the order of the day lately, with a dance or other amusements in the evening.

The young people are anxiously waiting for the mill pond to freeze over so they can enjoy themselves on the ice.

The division of S. of T. is doing well, new members coming in every night.

Miss Wetmore entertained a few of her friends very pleasantly last Thursday evening. They all agreed in saying they had a most enjoyable time.

Dame rumor says that one of our popular young men is soon to take to himself a life partner.

Mrs. W. McConnel, who has been ill since her marriage, is improving slowly.

Miss Coburn, of Sheffield, is spending a few days with Mrs. McLaggan. Her friends were delighted to see her.

Miss Jennie McIntyre, who has been spending the summer at home, returned to Boston on Monday.

LOWER PRINCE WILLIAM.

Mrs. O. Hart of Tarrytown, N. Y., and B. Kilburn of Kingsclear, made a short visit to friends here.

Miss Hagerman, of Bear Island, is visiting her sister, Mrs. G. W. Burden.

Harry Lounsbury, who has been ill for a few weeks, is, we are glad to hear, recovering.

Miss Margaret McLean intends spending the winter at Hanmondville.

Mrs Moffat and Mrs Burgoine spent a few days with friends at this place.

An apple bee was held last evening at John Crewdson's, where a large gathering of young people spent a pleasant evening in the usual way with music and games. The party did not disperse until the wee' sma' hours.

John Kelly has gone to Woodstock to work on the bridge.

Miss Maria Wheeler has recovered from her recent illness.

G. W. Burden is being congratulated on a happy domestic event—a son.

Miss Stella Estabrooks, who was severly kicked in the face by a colt a short time ago, and was placed under medical treatment in Fredericton, has sufficiently recovered to return home.

Mrs C. Kitchen returned home last week from visiting her daughter at Harvey.

Mrs. M. McGuire, who came to this country with her husband over twenty years ago, has sold her farm and returned home to Ireland.

An old and respected resident of Doaktown, Robert Robinson, who had been in failing health for some time, died suddenly on Thursday afternoon. Deceased was 59 years of age, and leaves a widow, four sons and three daughters, besides many friends. The family have the deepest sympathy of the community.

INCIDENT.

SOME people in this town seem utterly incapable of appreciating a generous act, merely because a young man calls on a young lady half a dozen evenings during the week, and occasionally drops in between meals.

There are people mean enough to insinuate that it means something besides anxiety about the health of the sick mother or to see how the kitchen range is working.

But speaking of ranges that reminds me of the large stock I saw up in Chestnuts store of cooking ranges and stoves, judging by the stock on hand we came to the conclusion that firm does not intend to take any back seat in that line.

Should you require anything in that line jus give Chestnut & Sons a call they can satisfy mos any one.
