FREDERICTON, MAY 21, 1892.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS.

The indications point to an early dissolution of the imperial parliament. While the exact date has not yet been fixed, all the signs point to an early appeal to the people. Already both sides are preparing the sinews of war, and with each great party confident of victory a mighty battle may be looked for. To the casual onlooker from this side of the sea, the odds appear to be in favor of the "Grand old man," but to a close observer of the situation the issue does not seem so certain. The main reasons for supposing that Gladstone will win are based on the results of the numerous bye elections which have taken place since the general election. If the bye elections represent the feelings of the people toward the general policy of the two parties, there can be little doubt as to the result of the next appeal to the electorate. But the conservatives deny that the result of a general election, where the people have to choose which party is to guide the destiny of the empire, is necessarily foreshadowed by a bye election, or even a series of bye elections. They contend that the bye elections are often decided on local or minor questions, which eclipse the general policy of the government, when the government is not in danger, but that when the people are called upon to choose whom they will serve, or rather who will serve them, the policy of the government, overshadows all the local and minor issues which affected the bye elections and a totally different result may follow. There is no doubt something in this argument, but hardly as much, we would think, as the conservative party in England are trying to persuade themselves to believe. It is hard to imagine how such a large number of bye elections could be run, as have recently taken place in Great Britain, with such a decidedly one sided result, without the general policy of the two parties having something to do with it, yet when the general elections are brought on Lord Salisbury may be sustained in power. The main issue will, of course, be the "home rule" question. Gladstone is relying upon the justness of his cause, while Lord Salisbury and Mr. Balfour are, not without considerable force and reason, endeavoring to convince the people that the Grand old man's "hobby" is indefinite and impracticable, and that its realization would mean the destruction of the Union. Indeed, so determined has Lord Salisbury become, that Ireland shall not have home rule, that he is reported to have threatened that civil war will follow in its wake. If this be true, it was no doubt intended to terrify the weak and timid, and to draw the undecided electors to his standard.

While Gladstone has the prestige of the bye elections to aid him in the coming fight, there is no doubt that the Ulster movement has lost him considerable non-comformist support, although he may offset this by making general disestablishment in one of the planks of his platform. He has also to a certain extent lost control of the radical wing of his party, and his failure to support the eight hour movement has determined the labor leaders to run independent candidates. Recent events make the result of the coming election hard to forcast, although the chances appear to be in favor of the liberal party.

"THE GERRYMANDER."

Sir John Thompson's new distribution bill, better known as the second "gerrymander act," may yet be quite an elephant on the hands of the government. It never was very warmly received by the more independent of the party, and the open and violent hostility which it evoked from unexpected quarters has caused its promoters no little anxiety. The very essence of the "gerrymander" business is well presented by Grip in a cartoon which represents Sir John Thompson unfolding the scheme to his colleagues with the remark: "Pals, if we carry out this scheme, we will cap the climax by stealing the country." The Montreal Daily Star (conservative) referring to this attempt of the government to "load the electoral dice," says: "It looks very like an attempt to establish a party despotism," and in calling upon the governor general to exercise his prerogative speaks as follows:

Lord Stanley cannot shirk his plain duty at this crisis without forever weakening the office that he, as an English peer, pledged himself to maintain. The opportunity has fallen at his feet to leave his impress upon the growing institutions of this continent.

* * * * * * * * *

He stood under the trees at Earnscliffe when Sir John Macdonald was dying; and he aided in setting the new government upon a path whose deviousness has plainly shown the absence of the guilding hand. He watched them finishing an investigation, that the dead premier had begun, by whitewashing the chief culprit. He saw another member saved by what conservative lieut.-col. O'Brien called "a miserable piece of special pleading." He stood by while grave charges against a minister were silenced on the contradictory pleas that they were too old and that they could wait until another session. This year, he has seen charges against another minister diluted because they were "too indefinite;" and the accusers of a judge told that they should leave the matter in the hands of the very men for whom he was charged with having sinned. On top of it all comes a bill to load the electoral dice in favor of the government and prevent the people from speaking their mind.

If this is not a case that calls for the exercise of the governor general's prerogative, we may well hope that Canada may never see the day when his intervention will be necessary.

FROM despatches received the Mississippi Valley is being deluged with rain. Snow storms are also prevalent. Thousands of people are homeless and desolation reigns on every hand. We are at present grumbling because the weather is cold giving little heed to what the rest of the world is suffering. New Brunswick is a favored clime and her people should think long before choosing the United States as a refuge from ills many of which are imaginary. Had we a better trade system instead of the present one of monopoly and combinism we would not have to seek for settlers but the country would soon have a teeming population.

JAPAN is being so seriously interfered with by Russia, England and China that a San Francisco journal Ai Koku published by Japanese revolutionists is promoting an extended immigration into America from that country. It would appear that this nation must in a short time give place to their oppressors and find a refuge on this continent. The C. P. R. traffic with that country should have a tendency to establish the Japanese in the north west, but the immigration tends towards the cities of the south. They make good citizens and should be encouraged to settle in Canada.

PENNIAC.

MAY 19.—The Gospel Temperance Meeting on Sunday, under the auspices of Banner Council R. T. of T., was a complete success. The day was fine and the house was well filled. Nashwaak, Marysville, Gibson and Fredericton were well represented at the meeting. Good music was provided by the council, Miss Alice Goodspeed presiding at the organ. The very able address by Mr. Hetherington was much appreciated, as was also the remarks of Messrs. Todd and Ashford. Following is the programe:

Opening Chorus, What shall the harvest be; Reading of Scripture, Mr. Thompson; Prayer, Mr. B. N. Goodspeed; Singing, Christ receiveth sinful men; Address, Mr. H. B. Hetherington; Singing, Gather them in; Address, Mr. Todd; Singing, I am glad there is cleansing; Address, Mr. Ashford; Singing, Behold the fields are white; Benediction.

Another meeting will be held on the 29th, to which all are cordially invited.

The famous Chalk-Talkers gave a most enjoyable entertainment in the school house Monday evening. The rapidity and skill with which Mr. Brayley executes his cartooning is surprising.

Arbor Day was observed by the teachers in this place. In the Lower District, No 4, the school house was cleaned; and in No. 5 in addition to this proceeding, the playground was cleared up and some flower beds' made.

Miss Gregory, teacher of the Lower Penniac school, has been quite ill with a cold and was for two days unable to attend to her duties. Her place was filled by Miss A. Goodspeed, during her illness.

Miss Grace Fisher of Marysville is visiting her cousin Miss Hattie Goodspeed.

Miss Eva Wheeler, teacher at Nashwaak, spent Sunday among her friends here.

Mr. James Robertson of Gibson passed through here the other day on his way to the hunting-ground out Bear Brook. His expeditions are generally successful.

Last night a large bear made his appearance in a field near Mrs. Bubar's house. The dog gave chase and bruin thought it best to retreat, which he did in a hurry.

Little Mildred Bubar was yesterday seized with a fit caused by eating too much pastry which her mamma was making. Doctor Sharpe was hurriedly summoned, and the baby is now considered out of danger. The child is a general favourite and her sudden illness caused a great deal of anxiety for a time.

Ellwood Allen has removed his family to his father's house, lately made vacant. So our neighbors are coming and going.

KESWICK RIDGE.

MAY 17.—Farmers have been taking advantage of the fine weather during the past weeks, and already have a good start in their spring's work.

Rev. S. D. Irvine, pastor of the Macnaquac Baptist Church, baptized four converts at Springfield, Sunday. A select few from this community drove out to witness the ceremony and enjoy the drive. The party returned by moonlight.

Arbor day was duly observed by the school in this district. A few trees were planted, and other improvements made to the grounds and building. The principal part of the work was done by the young lady students, who both cleaned and decorated the rooms.

Robt. Van Buskirk has about recovered from his recent severe attack of la grippe. Frederick Long is convalescent, and is expected to be out again in a few days. Both these gentlemen were attended by Dr. B. Coburn, who deserves great credit for the incredibly short time in which he has brought them around.

The committee in charge of the business in connection with the building of the new hall are to be congratulated on the progress that has has been made in that direction.

There are rumors of a wedding in the near future, but your correspondent not being positively informed on the matter will refrain from giving names.

The house and barn owned by C. Bunker, and occupied by Frederick Mills, was burned on the 11th inst. Mrs. Mills being alone, only for the assistance of two travellers that came along at the time, all of the household furniture would have been lost.

Mrs. John Blair and youngest son, who have been very sick for the last few weeks, are improving nicely under the treatment of Dr. Seery.

The six year old daughter of Sherman and Maggie Bunker is seriously ill, very little hopes of her recovery are held.

Maurice Johnston is the owner of a ewe that gave birth to four lambs, all being of good size.

Flying rumors say that we are to have two weddings in the near future, nothing like it.

Farming is going on at full speed. Another week of fine weather will about finish seeding for this season.

Mrs. Thomas Phillips has returned from her visit to reading, Mass. She reports having a good time.

FREDERICTON JUNCTION.

MAY 17.—The concert which was held on the evening of arbor day, was a grand success. It was well patronized by the people from the neighboring villages who were well pleased with it. Worthy of notice was a solo by Miss Blanch Hoyt, also one by Miss Minnie Miller. Much thanks is due to S. D. Alexander and Miss Ella Patterson who spared no pains in getting it up; also our popular organists, Miss Blanch Hoyt and Miss Ida Thomas who furnished the music. We hope that before long they may favor us with another such entertainment.

Mrs. G. Hayward has had a severe attack of la grippe, but we are glad to say that she is recovering under the skillful treatment of Dr. A. J. Murray.

Fredericton Junction is growing very rapidly judging from the number of people that is moving here this spring. We think that there must be far worse places than Fredericton Junction, and that in a few years it will be one of the most thriving country places in New Brunswick.

Herbert Smith, of Blissville, made us a flying visit last week. We hope to see him often as dame rumor says that he has some wise object in view. We hope so.

LOWER PRINCE WILLIAM.

MAY 18.—Marcus Maguire, an aged resident of this place, died last Sunday of typhoid fever, after a short illness. He leaves a wife and adopted son to mourn the loss of a kind husband and father. Deceased was a native of Ireland, an ex-soldier of the British army, he having served his time in the defence of his country. His remains were taken to French Village on Monday for interment in the Catholic cemetery in that place.

NASHWAAK VILLAGE.

MAY 18.—While the members of Nashwaak Village Lodge, No. 121, I. O. G. T., were waiting for the opening of lodge, Miss Ethel Bradley accidently fell down the hall steps, but, fortunately, sustained no serious injury. After the excitement subsided the lodge was opened and the officers of the ensuing quarter were installed as follows: B. C. Goodspeed, C. T.; Mrs. D. Richards, V. T.; Mrs. A. Richards, S. J. Wednesday morning, about 4 o'clock, the Grange was discovered to be on fire. When the first party arrived on the scene the door was standing open and all the interior was in flames and under such headway that nothing could be saved. It is a great loss to the community, as it was well filled with a valuable stock of goods, having just got in the spring supply. Up in the hall was a bin containing over 100 bushels of oats. Grave doubts are entertained that it was the work of an incendiary.

TEMPERANCE VALE.

MAY 19.—Rumour has it that Geo. Draper intends taking to himself a bride, the intended being Miss I. C.

CANADA BLOCKS THE WAY.

MONTREAL, May 17.—The Star this evening publishes the following cables from London:

"The final decision of the British government to decline to assent to the Bond-Blaine convention is much discussed in colonial circles. Lord Knutsford was most anxious to show Newfoundland every consideration, but Canada's reasons against the intended imperial sanction left no alternative but to adhere to the position held for a century — that Newfoundland's negotiations with the States must proceed pari passu with negotiations between the States and Canada. The colonial office has no wish to drive Newfoundland, but is more than ever confident that the best interests of the colony will lie in cordial association with Canada. The Newfoundland legislature's repudiation of the pledges of the delegates to pass the French shore legislation is arousing a distrust which must harm the colony's interests here.

"The Graphic says that the government should teach Newfoundland a needed lesson and says that further irresolution on the part of the English government will be regarded as a weakness.

"Sir Geo. Baden-Powell made his first public speech yesterday, since his return from Behring sea. It was at a meeting of the mission to the deep sea fishermen. He assured the audience that Great Britain was one time close upon war with the United States. But they had now agreed to settle the matter in dispute by means of arbitration."

Methodists	104,488

Baptists	7,224
All others	2,151

In New Brunswick the Catholics increased 6,870, the Methodists 990 and Salvationists 993. The Baptists decreased 1,443, Church of England 4,151, and Presbyterians 2,249. Catholics and Methodists increased in every province. Episcopalians decreased in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, and Presbyterians decreased in all of the maritime provinces. The Presbyterians increased to a remarkable extent in Manitoba and the Northwest and Episcopalians in British Columbia.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Some New and Very Interesting Facts About

WATCHES.

AMONG the "Watches" famed in Story are the "Black Watch" (42nd Highlanders), the "Watch on the Rhine," and the Motto of our own 60th Missisquoi Battalion, "Watch the Front—Watch Well." This is an age requiring both watches and watchfulness, especially in business. The business man who in this era of sharp competition is content to stick to the old ways of his grandfathers is sure to be swamped by his more audacious and enterprising competitors. To use an expressive (if not elegant) phrase, we have resolved not to "get left," if the adoption of new ideas in the prosecution of our business is calculated to be a factor towards success. We are proud of the genius displayed at the present time by some of our fellow citizens in trade, and, believe the assurance, even of those in competition with us, in the methods adopted by them to draw attention to their establishments. We may be pardoned for claiming that we know our business in all its details. Our knowledge o. it has not been licked up; and all goods put on our shelves or counters have to run the gauntlet of our most critical inspection. Nothing of inferior character is knowingly offered for sale in our store. We know how, and where to buy goods cheap, and the public get the benefit of our long and practical experience. Our "Cheap Sales" in the past have been the events of the town. The giving away of Watches now is, it seems to us, one of our happiest thoughts. Now, a Watch; a Time-piece, is an indispensable article. Surely no one will deny this. So is Clothing. Robinson Crusoe realized this, albeit his means for ascertaining the time of day were about as primitive as was his clothing. The first watches were made at Nuremberg in 1477.

DO you want a Watch FREE?

We really mean a reliable Time-keeper. Now those desiring such a Watch gratis, and are in need of a Suit of Clothes, should call without delay at the Corner Store of

This will positively be his last season as Mr. McCoy intends removing his stud to the States in the fall.
