

A COOLNESS.
The attempt made by Messrs. Weldon, Wood, and other ultra loyal members of parliament to interfere with the lieutenant governor of Nova Scotia and the legislature of that province in regard to the coal legislation, seems to have brought about a considerable amount of friction, but in a different quarter and between different parties than was intended by these meddlesome gentlemen. In fact the only visible result of the effort made by these gentlemen to interfere with other people's business is a decided coolness between Sir John Thompson, the premier of Canada, and some of his prominent supporters. This coolness is very like that which freezes apart two or more gentlemen who have accused one another of swerving from the truth in their story. It all came about in this way: When the matter was referred to on the floors of the house, and the impropriety and indiscretion of the attempt to these gentlemen to approach his excellency in this unheard of way, was being called to the attention of the government, Sir John Thompson, who readily saw the ridiculous and humiliating predicament in which his followers were being placed, came to the rescue, and with a desire to let them down easy, explained to the house that they were merely making an informal call upon his excellency, and in the course of ordinary conversation the matter was referred to. This ingenious explanation, which was the only hole through which the offending gentlemen could decently crawl out of the embarrassing position in which they were placed, unhappily lacked the essential element of truth. In place however, of letting the matter rest there, and gracefully thanking their stars for their preservation, Mr. Weldon and Mr. Wood took the first opportunity of relieving the house of the false impression laid by Sir John; and insisted that they called on his excellency for the express purpose of trying to induce him to withhold consent from the bill passed by the Nova Scotia legislature. This was very honest in Messrs. Weldon and Wood, but it was decidedly ungrateful, and terribly rough on Sir John; hence the coolness.

FUTURITY STAKES.
The nomination for the Hotel Brunswick Futurity Stakes closes March 1st. The horsemen and breeders of the Maritime Provinces are reminded about the first payment in the Hotel Brunswick Futurity Stakes falls due on Wednesday next, March 1st, when nominations close. Payments must be made to the manager, George McSweeney, Hotel Brunswick, Moncton, personally or by registered letter bearing stamp of despatching office of no later date than that above given, March 1st. The conditions of these stakes are briefly as follows: The Hotel Brunswick Futurity Stakes, for trotting foals of 1898, 1899, 1900, and 1901, are open to all eligible animals owned in the maritime provinces on or before January 1st, 1903. The fee in each stake is $12.00, payable as follows—$3.00 on March 1st, when nominations close; $4.00 on June 1st, when animals nominated must be named, and breeding, sex, color and ownership given, and final payment of $5.00 one week before the race. Any owner can nominate any number of eligible colts and fillies in each or any stake, but can start only one animal in any one class. Fifty dollars will be paid to the winner in named classes, the purse consisting of the entrance fees and this added money, divided according to the practical and satisfactory conditions set down in the regulations. Thus it can be seen that the purses will be well worth contending for, in addition to the prestige attached to any colt or filly deemed sufficiently speedy to take part in such important stakes.

AROUND THE WORLD.
Twenty anarchists have been arrested at Rome. The pope has received 7,000,000 francs in jubilee presents. Small pox has invaded Victoria, B. C., and hog cholera prevails at Nanaimo, in the same province. An order in council, appointing Robert Sedgwick judge of the Supreme court, was passed on Friday last at Ottawa. Prayers against Gladstone's home rule bill are being offered in all the protestant churches of the diocese of West. The Princess Kaianui, heiress to the throne of Hawaii, has sailed from Liverpool to New York on the steamer Tautou. The police have seized several large parcels of revolutionary proclamations in London, imported by local anarchists from Paris. Sacramento and neighborhood in California had a earthquake shock Tuesday night which frightened the people, but no injury occurred. One day last week 3,300 barrels of potatoes were hauled to Houlton market, and the average for the week was 2,000 barrels per day. By the failure of Robert L. Walker, banker and capitalist, of Livingston, Ohio, it is said that the government, McKinley, originator of the McKinley bill, will be ruined. It is on the cards, says an Ottawa correspondent, that parliament may adjourn for a month, in which event Sir John Thompson will sail for Paris on March 10. The largest child ever born, it is said, was the son of Bates, the "Kentucky giant," and his wife, the "Nova Scotia giantess." This infant Hercules weighed 23 1/2 pounds. The monster trial of Mala Vita criminala closed at Palermo, Italy, on Monday, with the sentencing of 104 prisoners to terms of imprisonment between one year and six years. The attorney general of the United States has issued an order that paper currency of Canadian banks cannot be circulated in the States without payment of a tax of 10 per cent. Mr. Cleveland announced Wednesday that he had completed his cabinet by the selection of Richard Olney of Boston as attorney general and Hillary A. Herbert of Alabama as secretary of the navy. Madam Schier, whose escapades with Father Gymbert at Montreal, startled Canada a few months ago, has applied to the courts for separation from her husband. She claims that he abandoned her. Robert Sedgwick, deputy minister of justice, has been appointed to fill the vacancy on the bench of the Supreme court of Canada, occasioned by the death of Chief Justice Ritchie. E. L. Newcombe, of Halifax, succeeds Mr. Sedgwick. Wednesday's storm throughout New England is reported the worst since the blizzard of 1886. Trains were greatly delayed, and in many cases abandoned. The post cars were badly hampered. Nearly two feet of snow fell and badly drifted. With an army of 4,500, which has been mobilized under the command of Gen. Taveira, the federal revolutionists of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, have begun their march towards Porto Alegre. General Taveira's first object is the capture of Santa Anna. A man named Wiggins was standing close to a saw talking to the proprietor of the mill at Durham, Ont., on Friday, when his clothing was caught in the saw, and he was killed. His body was cut in two. Among the witnesses of the accident was a son of the victim. Five hundred houses at Kadikoy, Constantinople, were burned Thursday evening. More than 3,000 persons are homeless. The damage is estimated at $500,000. The French-English quarrel is not touched by the fire. The sultan has ordered the government officials to aid the sufferers. HALIFAX, Feb. 24.—The arrest of Mr. Curll, a prominent justice of the peace at Bridgewater, for alleged forgery, has caused quite an excitement at Lunenburg. It is said there are a number of charges against him. He is at present out on heavy bail. His trial commences Tuesday next. In consequence of the destruction of the crops by frost last summer, famine and disease are now prevailing throughout Finland. More than 200,000 persons are dependent upon charity, and beggars abound. The peasants have eaten most of their animals and domestic pets. Typhus fever is carrying off hundreds daily. The president of the United States issued a proclamation on Wednesday ordering the tolls levied on Canadian vessels and cargoes in Saint Lawrence canal in consequence of the dominion government adopting an order in council removing discrimination against the American vessels passing through Canadian canals. The local property of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway Co. at Milwaukie was attached on Friday by the sheriff on a claim of $27,000 alleged to be due the Brown Conveying and Hoisting company of Cleveland, Ohio. The Reading's Milwaukee property comprises docks and wharves, $500,000 and about 75,000 tons of coal. The post office department has issued a large postal card (one cent) and a three cent letter card, perforated and gummed, both most useful and what the public has long been waiting for. They are bought from licensed stamp vendors. There is also an issue of 20 cent and 50 cent stamps. These stamps bear the queen's head in her widowhood. PARIS, Feb. 24.—The court of session at Paris announced their decision, rejecting the appeal of Charles de Lesseps, Marcus Fontaine and M. Sans Leroy from the indictments charging the two former with corrupting members of the chamber of deputies and the latter with receiving a bribe while a member of the chamber. The Woodcock boat has a landing at the hotel defendants will proceed in the assizes court. In the Cameron poisoning investigation the court met at Bridgewater Wednesday, and by consent of counsel a further adjournment was had till Wednesday, the 1st of March, when it is expected the analysis will be completed. The prisoner appears much better than when in court last week. She maintains considerable composure in the belief that her innocence will be established, and parades heartily of food. Unless poison is found the case will be dropped. Hilton Barker, one of the principal members of the firm of G. Barker & Co., London, Eng., who failed June last, committed suicide in a railway carriage near Putney. The failure created much excitement, being for the sum of $2,500,000. The Barkers were under arrest on charges of fraud. Hilton Barker had been despondent. He claimed his intentions had been honest, and that he was simply unfortunate. He provided himself with a revolver before taking the train, and put the revolver in his head, blowing out his brains. In one of his pockets was found a telegram addressed to the official receiver, saying, "Come and fetch your victim." Jan. '91 1893. Dumfries, York Co.

MR. PITTS AND THE GRAND LODGE.
The grand lodge of the organization of New Brunswick has been in session in this city during the week. A large amount of interest centered in the meeting of the grand lodge this year, as it was understood that several matters of more than ordinary importance would come up for consideration. During the year the Bathurst school question, so called, had been brought prominently to the front, and an effort had been made in certain quarters to work up a religious war between the Catholics and the Protestants, on account of the refusal of the government to interfere in the management of the public school in Bathurst, where it was alleged certain abuses of the free schools act existed. The agitation took the form in York county, of a violent crusade against the government in the provincial election. One H. H. Pitts, the county master of York, assisted by a few other equally ignorant and excitable individuals, worked upon the weaker minded organization of this county to such an extent as to secure for himself a nomination. Once nominated he flooded the county with inflammatory and false literature of an inflammatory nature, and in company with others of his class, made a house to house canvass as the champion of protestantism, alleging that the Blair government was in league with the pope, and had promised to give priests the right to establish separate schools if returned to power. To their everlasting disgrace the opposition candidates for York allied with Pitts and took him on their ticket. With the assistance of an unlimited supply of rum and money the "religious cry" carried the day in York, and attorney general Blair and his colleagues were defeated at the polls. Mr. Blair, satisfied that the cry which had been raised against him in York, and which he had not had an opportunity to meet and answer, was a false as well as a dangerous one to the peace and happiness of the province, and with a desire to meet the enemy in fair fight and to vanquish or vanquished, went to Queens, the hotbed of orangeism, and sought election. Pitts and his gang immediately followed him and again tried to stir up the feelings of the people of Queens by the same method he had resorted to in York, in the interest of his nominee, Mr. Neales, the county master of Queens. The people, however, after hearing both sides of the story, refused to listen to the inflammatory speeches of the gang that went down from York, and Neales lost his deposit. Pitts, who had sneaked home in the shades of the evening preceding the election, was understood to be waiting for the grand lodge to meet when he intended to take charge of the whole business. He was going to call upon the grand lodge to condemn those members of the order, who being members of the house of assembly, had refused to present to the house the petition of the Protestant minority of Bathurst; the government was understood to be in the habit of dismissing an incompetent official who belonged to the order, and then totally annihilated for their alleged persecution of the Protestants of the province; and above all the said Pitts was to be elected grand master, with all the powers of a dictator. But before the grand lodge had been many hours in session a change passed over the spirit of Herman's dream. The first cruel blow fell when the vote was taken which was to consign to the Wilson and Colter to the ante room. Scarcely a decent corporal's guard rallied to support of Pitts's resolution, while the great body of the lodge stood by the men who had stood by the principles of the order when Pitts was in his cradle. He began to realize about how large a man he was in the opinion of his brother orangeans when the election for grand master was over. Outside of the baker's dozen of heeler who were drummed in from the city, only three men in the whole grand lodge wrote his name on their ballot. The resolution which was to bind up brother Lipsett's broken wounds was mournfully removed from the files of the lodge, and the great vote of censure on the government failed to materialize. It is said that Pitts has been going around in a dazed kind of a way ever since. He was badly set upon. In all the province there will be no tears and no regrets at his severe punishment. It was well deserved. To satisfy his desire for revenge he willfully misrepresented brothers whose homes he was in ready bound to protect; to advance his own selfish ends he deliberately prostituted the order whose principles he was sworn to uphold, and trailed her banner in the dirt. The members of the orange grand lodge will win the approval of all right thinking men in their refusal to tolerate the existence of the Pitts element among them. They had a difficult matter to deal with, but they did their duty like men who felt that a responsibility rested upon them. Their prompt action in the matter has undoubtedly done much to remove the rapidly growing impression that the orange order was degenerating into a dangerous element to the existence of organized society.

CIVIL WAR IN IRELAND.
The Orange Societies in the North of Ireland Preparing for War.
BELFAST, Feb. 21st.—A manifesto issued on behalf of the Orange Lodge of Belfast contains the following words: "We are face to face with a stupendous crisis as if we had not one hundred battles of the Boyne, and surrendered as many Londonderry with halter around our necks. More disastrous or humiliating terms could not be dictated by conquerors than those contained in the Home Rule bill. We have not, however, lost a single battle of the Boyne, nor have we surrendered. Therefore we do not mean to accept any humiliating or disastrous terms. We demand independence between Great Britain and Ireland, and freedom to direct our own course among the free people of the world; there is no half way house. The experience of nearly a hundred years has proved the first to be the greatest benefit of social and political advancement than Ireland has ever seen, and we accept the other sorrowfully, but courageously as the only alternative left to deserted and betrayed people. But any attempt to force upon us a bastard combination of the two, we declare before God we will resist by every means in our power, even to the death. A great mass meeting will be held in Ulster hall on the evening of March 2, at 8 o'clock, to give expression to your views and to embody them in a debated resolution. Meanwhile it becomes our duty to warn you and everyone who is in sympathy of the danger there is of a community whose feelings are exasperated and outraged as ours are of being betrayed and ill considered action, and to play into the hands of our enemies. We earnestly caution you, therefore, to be very generous in the maintenance of order and peace, and so far as in your power lies to give no offence. Be slow to take offense yourselves, look not upon the guardians of the peace as your enemies, but as friends. The flower of the police and of the military are at heart in fullest sympathy with you. Be careful then not to alienate a single man from our just and patriotic aims. We bid defiance to the bombs of dynamite and the ball battalions of criminal conspirators directed by Gladstone against our joint inheritance with England, Scotland and Wales in the constitution of the United Kingdom; by our democracy, peaceful and orderly as firm and undaunted, we show the men who are marching through rapine and murder to the dismemberment of the empire that we are not braggers, but free men who know their rights, and with the help of God are determined to maintain them." (Signed) "Richard K. Kane, L. L. D., grand master, and Thomas McCormick, grand secretary."

SOUTHAMPTON.
FEB. 20.—THE HERALD is rapidly increasing in circulation in this upper end of the county, and the people are going to try, by generous subscriptions, to make it one of the liveliest newspapers in the province. Dr. Beverly, of Canterbury Station, is now attending Mrs. Abram Schriver, of Campbell Station. The report—together with his lonely mode of life and place of burial—that hon. Richard Bellamy, whose demise has already been duly chronicled in these columns, gave instructions that "no monument or headstone of any kind" should be placed at his grave, brings to mind a stanza copied some years ago from an old manuscript. It runs thus: "Here let me live—unseen, unknown, And unremembered let me die; Steal from the world, and not a stone Tell where I lie." Charles Dunham put up last fall, and has nearly completed, one of the finest barns in the county. It is 40x50, and built so as to hold both horses and cattle in the same manner as running between. In the spring the shingling and painting walls will be finished, and then the total cost will be not less than $500. The water is brought in pipes from a beautiful spring on the hill-side. Mr. D.'s buildings and farms present the picture of an independent New Brunswick farmer. Among his stalls of fine horses there is a beautiful bay colt rising four, and weighing 1300 lbs., that has been stone blind from birth. She is a fine animal and goes to make up one of his teams in the woods. When asked by your correspondent how he was able to work a blind horse, Mr. Dunham laughingly replied: "She depended entirely upon the bit, and will go wherever you run her, if it's right into a brush heap." A visit to Mr. D.'s place, where the warmest hospitality abounds in a pleasant day's outing. In politics Mr. Dunham is a liberal, both of the old school and the new. He has always been, and is now, an ardent supporter of the Blair government.

HARVEY STATION.
FEB. 24.—News has been received of the death of William Embury, of Bangor, Maine. He was a native of this place and left about three years ago for Bangor, where he made his home. Deceased was about twenty-four years of age and leaves a widow and one child, Mrs. Samuel Ball has gone to attend the funeral. Mrs. Stephen Robinson, jr., died on Sunday at Little Settlement, where she had gone to attend her father (the late John Little) in his last sickness. She was in delicate health for some time previous, and after her father's funeral was taken suddenly ill of pneumonia, which terminated fatally. She leaves a husband and six small children for whom much sympathy is felt. The weather this week has been very boisterous. We had a heavy fall of snow on Monday, accompanied by a high wind, which blocked up the roads; there was another fall of about eight inches on Wednesday.

AFTER A "SNAP."
We take the following Ottawa despatch from the Halifax Recorder:
OTAWA, Feb. 22.—The Temple, (M. P. for York, N. B.), is making a big effort to secure a position for Wm. Lipsett, who was recently in the local government employ at Fredericton. As there is no vacancy here or in Fredericton, it is proposed to retire or discharge a Fredericton employe to make room for Lipsett. If there is any truth in the above, what could the job be? We understand Mr. Temple himself wants to be senator. Perhaps Lipsett is Pitts nominee for governor. If we mistake not, the Reporter recently stated that Messrs. Pitts and Temple had had an interview. In the meantime we understand good wages are paid for steamdrivers and men are in great demand.

THE hon. Edward Blake, judging from the reports that come from the sea, is rapidly forging his way to the front ranks in the arena of imperial politics. He is already spoken of as the leader of the Irish national party. He would, no doubt, make a good leader as long as he had fairly smooth sailing, but would he stand by the ship to the last, in the face of cross waves and adverse winds? His record as leader of the liberal party in Canada would naturally suggest the question.

THE hon. Edward Blake, judging from the reports that come from the sea, is rapidly forging his way to the front ranks in the arena of imperial politics. He is already spoken of as the leader of the Irish national party. He would, no doubt, make a good leader as long as he had fairly smooth sailing, but would he stand by the ship to the last, in the face of cross waves and adverse winds? His record as leader of the liberal party in Canada would naturally suggest the question.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.
This subscriber offers for sale his valuable farm fronting on the western side of the river St. John, in the Parish of Dumfries, about half way between Fredericton and Woodstock, containing 200 acres, of which 40 acres are intervals of the very best quality. There are three houses and three barns on the property. One barn new, 25x30 feet. The house in which the subscriber resides, was built only a few years ago, has a front porch of masonry and is in first class repair. There is a good orchard on the place, and the premises are well watered. The Woodcock boat has a landing at the intervals from which there is an easy road to the highway. This property could be divided so as to make two good farms. For terms and further particulars, apply to the subscriber on the premises, or to HENRY B. BAILEY, Broker, Fredericton, N. B. Jan. '91 1893. Dumfries, York Co.
