JOHN V. ELLIS,

Who Suffered Imprisonment in the York County Jail.

FOR ALLEGED CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Bonitas, Procections, Musical and Speech Great Skill on His Artistic Home.

John V. Ellis' thirty days term of imprisonment in the York county jail for alleged contempt of the supreme court, expired at midnight Saturday. A number of boys carrying torches and a number of men in uniform, some of them in the ranks of the 62nd Fusiliers, were on duty at the jail. The building was soon filled.

Another large crowd had assembled. Another procession was formed here for the purpose of escorting Mr. Ellis to the Mechanics' Institute. The order was as follows:

DONE HIS WORK WELL.

Mr. Ellis spoke of the kindness shown him by the sheriff and his excellent wife and was loudly applauded. From all parts of the country, Mr. Ellis said, he had received assurances of good will, sympathy and congratulation. As the meeting was not to be converted into a political one he did not intend to touch on the political questions which it was claimed by some were the cause of his imprisonment.

Justice Palmer said that the bottom of the question was who was entitled to the seat in Queens county. He was sorry that his honor had not seen as he did but his opinion was that Mr. King should have had the seat. (Applause.) If the candidate had been a conservative, and the circumstances had been such, he (Ellis) would have taken the same stand. The imprisonment, Mr. Ellis said, would make him have a wider sympathy for those who were unfortunate enough to be confined within the wall of a jail. If his sympathies were enlarged, and his feeling towards the people of his fellow men, he would have learned something from the time he had spent in jail.

Mr. Ellis thanked the people for the demonstration that had been given him. He would always remember with satisfaction this occasion and always look upon it as one of the proudest moments of his life.

The chairman said that Mr. Ellis had properly stated that there was no desire on the part of its promoters to make the meeting a political one. It was as he had said, entirely a citizens' meeting.

Mr. Ellis again arose for a moment and said that he had seen numerous statements in newspapers of one sort and another, but he wished to say that Messrs. Weldon & McLean had been his most able advisers and counsel all through. He had never yet seen a bill from Messrs. Weldon & McLean for one dollar, and he never expected to. (Applause.)

C. W. WELDON, G. C., EX. M. P., was the next speaker. He was very enthusiastically received. He really wondered that Mr. Ellis had been able to address the people as fully as he had, for no man could but be overcome, when he saw so many of his fellow citizens gathered together to do him honor. In this matter all were united to rejoice. He believed that the persecution Mr. Ellis had received, would result in a great benefit to the public at large. Mr. Weldon had much respect for judges, but he had often observed that the people of the country had had their judgments to other tribunals and had them reversed. In this matter he did not agree with the judges. What they had done, we had a right to presume was properly done, but the mass of the people differed from that opinion.

Contentment.

THE WITNESS.

The Montreal Witness is now offering the remainder of the present year for new subscribers for next year as an encouragement to give that valuable paper a trial. The Witness, both weekly and daily, has during the year, adopted what it declares to be the model form, with neat, small, convenient pages, being enabled by the possession of one of the most complete printing presses ever built by the House of New York, to vary the number of pages at almost any time, and on the press at two places, on rolls broad or narrow as required, and the newspapers come out at lightning speed folded, pasted and cut. Besides the improvement in form, there is a remarkable improvement in typography, the type being set by the wonderful Linotype machine, which attains the speed of five men, and casts a new type face every time. The proprietors invite visitors to Montreal to see these machines. The picture element has so greatly developed in the Witness, that it may now be fairly called an illustrated paper. The Witness has moved to the busiest corner in Montreal, the junction of Bleury and St. Peter streets with Craig street, and has a spacious building there which is in some respects as fine a newspaper office as is anywhere to be seen. The price of the Daily Witness is thirty cents, and of the Weekly Witness one dollar, while the little printer paper, the MESSENGER, costs only thirty cents.

BROCKWAY.

Nov. 14.—Our valley has become very quiet again, as the young men have all gone to New Hampshire for the winter.

Mrs. Manzer Nason paid a visit to her home here last week.

Mrs. William Grover of Passumpsic, Me., is visiting from home.

A. H. Libbey has had quite a severe illness, but we are pleased to learn that he is now recovering.

Blanche Davis has taken charge of the school at Wilton.

Mrs. Nutter, of Oak Bay, returned home this week after a short visit among her friends.

Miss Dollie Brockway is the recipient of a nice present in the shape of a beautiful organ.

Rev. Mr. Clark, Methodist, held services in the church on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evening, which were much appreciated by the people.

HARTLAND, CAR. CO.

Nov. 13.—J. T. G. Carr and family, who have been spending the summer with friends in England, returned home last week.

Rev. G. Swin having taken charge of the F. C. Baptist church for another year, has moved his family in the town.

Rev. A. G. Downey and wife from Keswick, have been spending a few days with their friends, Rev. G. and Mrs. Swin.

Dr. Lewis Secord, Fredericton Junction, is visiting his friend Mrs. S. M. Boyer.

The people of our village were somewhat surprised to hear that one of our popular young hunters escaped one evening last week, accompanied by the person who was far as Riverbank returned next morning leaving his bride behind him. Congratulations Harry.

The A. C. F. Society held their meetings every two weeks, and they are well attended.

New Governors.—You have a grand father and grandmother living, have you not, Master George? Master George—Yes, but they are not mates.

A Voice From Halifax.

A Lady Cured by Hawker's Remedies When All Others Failed.

A Well-known Druggist Adds His Testimony to Hers.

Mrs. J. H. Holsted, of Halifax, having received wonderful benefit from the use of the Hawker remedies, cheerfully gave the following testimonial for publication.

HALIFAX, Oct. 21st, 1893.

I have been greatly benefited by the use of Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic and Hawker's Liver Pills. I can truly recommend them as a superior medicine for nerve and stomach trouble. My case was a very severe one of long standing. I had tried doctors and medicine and some patent medicines, with poor results, before using Hawker's.

Mrs. HOLSTED, 37 Brunswick St., Halifax.

H. W. Cameron, the well known dispensing chemist at 219 Brunswick St., Halifax, writes as follows:

"I am pleased to state that Mrs. Holsted informed me of the remarkable results produced in her case by the Hawker's Medicine Co's preparation."

Volumes of learned treatises on causes, symptoms and cures could not add anything to the force with which these simple statements appeal to every sufferer from nerve or stomach trouble.

HAWKER'S NERVE AND STOMACH TONIC is a perfect blood and flesh builder, and nerve and brain invigorant, as well as a valuable aid to digestion. Price 50 cents a bottle, 6 bottles $2.50. For sale by all druggists and dealers. If you are weak and run down, try this great health restorer.

Mr. McMillan observed that they were assembled to express their pleasure at the news of having Mr. Ellis among his fellow citizens on the way to the jail. He would long live to exhibit as a journalist.

TRUE, MANLY, FEELERS SPIRIT characterized everything he had written in the past. The chairman then read the following address:

St. John, 13th Nov, 1893.

To John V. Ellis, Esq.:

Dear Sir—We, members of the liberal party of New Brunswick, beg to congratulate you upon your return to your home and release from imprisonment.

As law abiding citizens and loyal subjects of our most gracious Queen we are ever ready to maintain and uphold the dignity and authority of her judges and the due administration of justice. We feel, however, that the sentence passed upon you, of which the imprisonment was only a part, is of an exceptional character and repugnant to the ideas and feelings of the people of Canada.

As a fearless exponent of wrong, we feel that you did admirably service, not only for one party, but the whole people, in exposing to just opprobrium the conduct of a returning officer by which a defeated candidate was declared to be entitled to a seat in parliament to which his opponent had been elected by the votes of a majority of the electors of the constituency.

We assure you that in your case imprisonment has not been a degradation. On the contrary, you possess to a greater extent than ever the respect and esteem of your political friends. We believe that you will continue in the future, as faithfully and courageously as in the past, to uphold the principles of the liberal party.

With best wishes for the welfare of yourself, Mrs. Ellis and your family.

The address was varied by over one thousand people in various parts of the province.

The applause following the reading of the address was terrific, and it was some time before the chairman could again make himself heard. He said it would make him too long to read all the names accompanying the document, but the people would be able to read them in the papers.

MR. ELLIS THEN STEPPED TO THE FRONT and was cheered and applauded for several minutes. He said it would be impossible for any man to come back to the city in which his honor had been so many years, and receive such a demonstration without having his heart touched to its very depth by such kindly expressions of feeling as had been shown yesterday.

If he had had an idea of the demonstration he was to receive, he would have prepared a speech for the occasion, it would have been from his mind when he saw the enormous gathering before him. Mr. Ellis said he was allowed to make only a few remarks. He could only say for himself that in this country as a public man or a newspaper writer, he had always upheld the principles of law and order. He had always referred to the people who have had a hand in the political affairs of the country. When the people have spoken, their voice should not be hushed. Once he had spoken of an affair as he thought, in the interest of the people; but if at that time he had said stronger words than he should have, it did seem to him that the banishment of thirty days on bread and water—(laughter and applause)—that he had undergone, and the fine that he had to pay, had been entirely too severe.

He objected strongly to the mode in which he had been tried. No man knew better than he, how judiciary should be maintained, but he believed that when the judges passed such a sentence upon him, they knew not what they did. They had been groping in the dark and were now, he believed, perhaps sorry that what they had done. He was glad that the address said that his imprisonment had not been a degradation. He did not feel rejected over the imprisonment, and he had sons and daughters, and a wife here, who had experienced with him the sorrows of his enforced residence away from home. His first feeling had been, how would the imprisonment affect his family, and he was glad the address had spoken of an affair as he thought, in the interest of the people; but if at that time he had said stronger words than he should have, it did seem to him that the banishment of thirty days on bread and water—(laughter and applause)—that he had undergone, and the fine that he had to pay, had been entirely too severe.
