FREDERICTON, SEPTEMBER 30, 1893.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

Now that the councillors enter upon a two years lease of the seats instead of one as formerly, it would be wise to have the finances of the county carefully enquired into, so that a clear and concise statement can be made. It is not necessary to get up a political war to have the accounts put in better shape and in justice to all it should he done. In speaking thus no reference is intended to the secretary-treasurer or auditor. As the council has been conducted there were so many changes that many cared very little whether the affairs were managed economically or the reverse. Contingencies should be guarded against. If each parish is well looked after the county will be the gainer. The public accounts committees have not taken that time which the importance of their position demands, and matters were thus passed by that would, if enquired into, paid the county well for the time spent.

In reference to a charge that William Wilson wrote or instigated articles which appeared in this journal respecting the council it is only necessary to say that such is not the fact, Mr. Wilson has not himself written nor yet furnished the facts which have appeared. Any ratepayer has a right to justly criticize the conduct of affairs and that is all THE HERALD has attempted.

THE MURDER.

Another horrible crime has been committed in our immediate vicinity. The murder at Keswick is so revolting in detail and so brutal in general feature that all are shocked at the idea that such an act could be possible in this province. Such deeds are generally supposed to belong to the south and western states where in many places civilization, especially among the negro population, has not made any great advancement, where morals are very lax and where the law is every man his own judge and jury.

The family and immediate relatives of the murderer and his victim are and have always been classed as respectable and well living people and not one person in Keswick would have said a week ago, if they had been asked, that any of the name of Wheary would commit even the most trivial crime. Yet the deed has been done and another added to the list of crimes which has shocked the people of this city during the past two years.

Much good sense has been shown by the citizens in allowing the law to deal with the case in its own, perhaps slow and tiresome way; but it is not necessary because a crime has been committed that another should be done in the name of justice. All should rest satisfied that the law will do its duty and the murderer, whether the present prisoner or not, will receive the just measure of his deserts.

A WORTHY MAN.

Hon. Thomas Hetherington, of Queens county, celebrated the anniversary of his birth on Friday last, and another stage in the journey of his life has been passed. It was the occasion for a general reunion of his many friends from far and near and a bounteous hospitality was accorded to all.

Mr. Hetherington has been a worker all his days. He is a farmer in the fullest sense of the term, as the broad and fertile acres surrounding his house testify. As a member of the local house Mr. Hetherington worked for the best interests of his county, and throughout his political career he made hosts of friends among the members who always have a word of credit for Thomas Hetherington.

For years he carried on heavy lumbering operations, employing many hands who all speak of him in the highest terms. Giving up the lumber business he devoted his time to farming and has one of the best farms in Queens county. His large and comfortable home is always open to the wayfarer be he rich or poor, and those who have tasted of its bounty know that too much praise can not be accorded. Mrs. Hetherington has the esteem and respect of a very large circle of friends, and of the family it is only necessary to say that they fully carry out the example set them by their parents. THE HERALD, with hosts of Fredericton friends, joins in the good wishes which are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Hetherington.

ONTARIO.

Hon. Mr. Laurier has about completed his tour of Ontario, during which he held fourteen political meetings and was everywhere received with hearty welcome. He stated his views respecting the necessity for a change in the tariff, and the hearty approval of the people shows that they are beginning at least to realize that the so called national policy has failed to produce that increase of wealth and development of business that has been so often promised by its ardent devotees. It is conceded by the tory journals, even the Empire, the foundation stone of the party, admits that Ontario has been lost. The policy was adopted to benefit Ontario particularly and generally the other provinces. It has been a miserable failure there and must be classed as still worse here. Messrs. Laurier and Davies will visit British Columbia next month and will make addresses in the principal towns. Returning they will speak at Winnipeg and other points in Manitoba and the North West. It is now the general opinion that an election will be delayed as long as possible or till the conservatives have the polls in as favorable a shape for them as they can hope for. They know it is a life and death struggle, and their motto now as in the past is "Hold the offices."

SIR LEONARD.

Sir Leonard Tilley has ceased to be the presiding officer of the province. He has returned to private life after almost half a century of much usefulnes.

He has filled the position in an impartial manner though during his public life many important measures have been passed, always with his full support. He has perhaps won a deeper place in the affections of the people, than any former governor, and assisted by Lady Tilley, has been the means of promoting and carrying to a successful issue, several important enterprises for the alleviation of suffering, and of benefit to the people in general.

Coming from the people, he worked his way to the highest gift in the province, filling each position with dignity. Not only has he added honor to the province but the dominion as a whole, has felt the effect of his labors for good, and the feeling is general that Sir Leonard Tilley leaves the gubernatorial chair to a worthy successor with the plandits of all.

SOUTHAMPTON.

SEPT. 26.—To begin where I left off and briefly review. Large hole, 4x6 feet, dug two feet south of "channel post," set by Colonel McLaughlin more than thirty years ago. Post on extreme west end of a little tongue of land jutting out from east shore of river St. John. A narrow deep ravine behind "post," at bottom of which and one rod north of "post" issues a perpetual spring. A reliable man—respected by all parties—sees and talks with middle aged woman and (apparently) her two sons. Large red bateau, with canvass roof, containing cooking utensils and other tools. Upon dilligent search it was found that no other spot in that whole vicinity had been touched by pick or spade, but the bunch of large hazel nut bushes with a poplar tree in the centre, had been cut away, and the work of sinking so deep a hole in a bed of clear gravel and small stone begun. I wish simply to give the facts of public interest fearlessly and impartially in all correspondence. So can only say the whole matter is enshrouded in complete mystery. Not a trace of anything except chopping-axe, pick-axe and shovel can be found. When returning your correspondent found (some little distance from the "digging") an American five-cent piece bearing the date of 1860. This would be about the time of the beginning of the American civil war, when president Lincoln guided the affairs of the republic. But in my mind one thing is certain: The woman in the red bateau with the canvass roof is identical with the "mysterious lady" who drove through here last March, and who got out of the Florenceville at Grant's eddy and walked rapidly up the bank by the "channel post" when she stopped no doubt and took her reconnoitrings. Hundreds have visited the spot till up the bank by the "channel post" there is a foot path well worn, and the post which was turned in a large lathe and painted white, is all defaced by the ruthless pen-knife, like the class-room furniture in a college building. Many thought "Tabor's grave," so called, (where a large hole in the exact shape of a grave was dug some years ago) would have been visited by "the party of the red bateau," but it was not touched.

"Clark" should have read "Cronk," and "five," "fine" in our last.

T. W. Smith, farmer of Mapleton, and ex-councillor George W. Brown, millman and farmer of upper Southampton, have been nominated to contest the parish election next Tuesday in the interest of the tax-payers as against the Pinder, Lockart & Co. concern, who are making frantic efforts to pull the wool over the people's eyes while they saddle the enormous costs of the Purvis-Johnston law suit on their already over-burdened backs. Southampton is deeper in debt to-day than any other parish in the whole county, notwithstanding our taxes are increasing every year. The people are beginning to ask: "Where does the money go to?" "What about those temporary loans?" "What about the bonus of $200 to McNally's ferry?" &c., &c. The taxpayers will decide on Tuesday whether they themselves will pay the $2,500 costs of that useless law-suit, or whether Messrs. Pinder, Lockhart, Johnston and Estey, who forced the thing on (so secretary treasurer Black swore in his evidence) will have to pay for their own mistakes. I say mistakes, for the judge in charging the jury used the following words: "Mr. Black has explained how he came to recommend that this course be adopted. It is not a course that is sanctioned by law at all."

[From an Occasional Correspondent.]

SEPT. 28.—The reformed Baptist church at Green Bush is about ready for use. Mr. Phillips deserves much credit for the energetic way he has pushed the work.

Miss Lucy Akerley left by the C. P. R. via Canterbury station last Wednesday to spend a few weeks with her aunts, Mrs. Power and Mrs. Estabrooks in St. John.

A portion of the graveyard is being ploughed. It is a pity the whole plot could not be cultivated as it would save mowing off the old dead bushes and weeds every year. "Let 'God's acre' present a beautiful appearance."

H. C. Grant & Son, our country merchants, are putting a new foundation under and also shingling one of their storage buildings.

The following ladies and gentlemen went to Fredericton to attend the provincial exhibition: Harris W. Akerley, John Akerley and wife, Frank Brooks and wife, Geo. W. Brown and wife, John Grant and his daughter Miss Lillian, Leonard Miller, Nelson Brown, W. S. Tompkins and wife, John Oldham and wife, Willie K. Oldham, B. S. Cronkhite, George Ingraham, Jacob W. Allen and Allen Scriver. There will have to be some new attraction besides the horse trot, the exhibit itself or the tent show to take as many again.

Byron Grant has had his overcoat returned to him through the kindness of Horace Miller of Woodstock, who in a detective-like way, got it from the thief who stole it from Millan Doris' yard, Eel River on the evening of the 6th inst. If the expenses of a trip to Canterbury Station and Benton, two trips to Woodstock, together with the cost of advertising, amounting in all to five dollars, be paid at once, Mr. Grant will allow the matter to drop, otherwise, he will give the culprit a vacation at Dorchester.

"It will only cost you twenty-five cents to go to the Ready Reckoner, to see that he don't own this place at all. By Doost!"

That was a joyous gathering at Mr. Solomon McFarlane's when his youngest daughter was united in marriage by rev. Wm. Ross of Prince William, to one of our stirring young men, William Trail. Over one hundred invitations were issued. Mr. and Mrs. Trail looked well last Sunday when they turned out at church.

Robert Scott of Lower Southampton, is doing a rushing business in the store keeping line. "Bob" is popular with everybody.

Wille writing your correspondent hears with deep regret, that Sterling Munroe of Lower Southampton, has breathed his last. Ster. was universally loved, and the news of his early death, will sadden many hearts.

The basket picnic at the mouth of Nackawick, on squire Munroe's flats, last Wednesday was not as enjoyable as usual on account of the rain. Trail's mammoth horse swing was there, and a platform on the grounds afforded the young folk an opportunity to keep time to the violin of Joe Francis of Indian village. Joe's wife was with him and she explained to the awe-striken lads and lassies their future destiny in life. A refreshment table was well handled by Geo. Munroe and John Culliton, jr.

If there is a romantic spot in the parish it is surely in the vicinity of Ross Woodman's carding mill. Above the pond is fringed with evergreens and jagged rock, below the great lazy wheel splashing the silvery spray. On the right a road winding round a hill with a little bridge at the foot; on the left a green hillside with grazing sheep and cattle.

J. K. Pinder did not intend to run till the last moment; but when he saw there was little chance of getting his other two men, Messrs. Lockart and Akerley in, he nominated himself. He dare not let (if he can prevent) Brown and Smith go for fear the $250 "miscellanies" will be investigated.

There are five candidates for councillors nominated, viz.: Brown, Smith, Pinder, Lockart and Akerley. We might as well send Pinder as Akerley.

Mrs. Helen Hamm of Smyrna, Me., accompanied by her little girl, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Thos. Hull.

A. E. Scriver has gone to Upper Gagetown to teach school.

Chas. Dunham of Campbell Settlement, got the job of building the cheese factory at $265. The foundation is now finished and the lumber all on the ground. It will be completed by the last of October.

Farmers are taking out their potatoes which are the best they ever saw. Miles Cronk had twenty barrels of Hebrons from one.

Ephriam Cronk will go to Victoria hospital next Tuesday.

MOUTH KESWICK.

SEPT. 28.—Miss Campbell of Fredericton is visiting friends here.

Potato digging has commenced and the crop is above the average. Speaking of potatoes, Thos. H. Colter has some that just take fifty to fill a bushel basket. He also raised one hundred and fifty bushels of buckwheat from three pecks.

Geo. Colter has bought a young trotter and they say it is a good one.

What might have been a very bad accident happened here last Sunday. While Mrs. Allen was driving from meeting she collided with another team driven by Mr. McMurray of Fredericton, it threw the occupants out of both carriages but nobody was hurt. The buggies of both were broken some. It was a very dark night and raining, it was very exciting as at one time everyone thought that some person was killed.

Cook Yerxa of Boston who was visiting his friends here has gone home.

A very successful tea-meeting was held here on Tuesday night in aid of the Baptist sewing circle, about fifty dollars being cleared.

Jacob Merrithew and Miss Urquhart were married by rev. Mr. Steeves last week.

Mr. H. McCleary and Miss Renna Dunphy, daughter of Frederick Dunphy were married Tuesday at noon. The boys had a great time in the evening with their guns and bells, after which they were called into the house and treated well.

Jessie Merrithew intends going to Boston soon where he has a position in the express office. Keswick will lose one of its most promising young men, as he is a very eloquent politician and is always bound to push things along.

Frank Yerxa and Elbridge Dunphy both of Boston, are back among their old friends again for a short visit.

Miss Ella Colter is back from St. Louis, and after attending the World's Sunday school convention there, she visited Chicago, Toronto and Niagara Falls having a very pleasant trip.

Arthur Yerxa has gone to Edmundston to work for G. A. Murchie as boss in the woods.

The election for councillors is getting very interesting here between the candidates, Thos. Murray, Harvey Lawrence and Wm. Kinghorn. They spoke in the hall here on Wednesday, but owing to the excitement caused by the murder, there was not a very large attendance. Mr. Kinghorn was the first speaker, speaking for about fifteen minutes, bringing out a few points and wanting to know why the people should vote against him, he having a clear sheet and nothing being said against his past conduct. Harvey Lawrence was the next speaker, going over the same story that Kinghorn told, but did not tell the people here what he told them up at Cardigan. Mr. Murray wanted him to repeat what he had said, but he did not feel inclined to do so on account of a certain gentleman being present there who was not at the other meeting. Mr. Murray then got up and made a very able speech much more to the point than either of the others. The verdict here is that Mr. Murray will be one of the councillors at the next sitting.

The village here was thrown into the wildest excitement last night, (Wednesday) over the rumor that a murder had been committed right in the village and it only proved too true. While Mrs. Hedley Wheary (colored) was doing her house work and while out in the porch an unknown man supposed to be a brother of the murdered woman's husband stepped in and struck her over the head with something that very near severed the head from the body, killing her instantly. Mr. Wheary being away at the time there was nobody in the house but two small children aged about 3 and 4 years. The supposed murderer was arrested last night and taken to Fredericton. He is deaf and dumb but quite intelligent having been to the deaf and dumb school at Fredericton. His people are very quiet and very much thought of here, the greatest sympathy is expressed on all sides for them.

HARVEY STATION.

SEPT. 21.—Harvesting is now almost finished in this locality and the work of threshing is going on in some places. Oats are turning out well, but buckwheat is deficient both in quantity and quality. Potato digging has been begun by some farmers, the crop is the best we have had here for some time, the rust has done little or no damage and the potato fields are quite green yet.

The work of building a church at the Station is now going on rapidly. Thos. Robison has the contract and expects to have the outside work done before the cold weather sets in.

Misses May Taylor and Emma Smith left on the 13th ult. for Halifax where they have entered for a course in the Ladies College.

Our pastor, rev. J. A. McLean, went to Prince William to assist in the communion service there. In his absence the pulpit was occupied by Mr. T. Barker, a promising young student from the Bangor theological seminary. Mr. Barker preached an able sermon to a large audience in the evening.

Dr. Keith is having his fine residence repainted, it now presents a very handsome appearance.

UPPER MAGAGUADAVIC.

SEPT. 26th.—The weather is quite cold at present. Some of the farmers have begun potato digging and report a good crop.

Inspector Bridges visited the school here lately.

Edward Saunders paid his parents a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Swan, from Harvey, spent Sunday in this place.

Robert Henry has returned home from Maine.

The threshing machines are going full blast. Fred Henry and Nat Scott moved in here on Monday.

Miss Ella Hood has returned home from Fredericton.

Quite a number from here attended the exhibition at Fredericton and professed themselves well pleased.

Miss Effie McCutcheon has returned home from a visit to Magundy.

Preparations are being made for the woods and some have already gone.

B. & A. RAILWAY.—One effect of the Bangor and Aroostook railway is a change which will injure the Canada Pacific railway. Farmers in Aroostook are holding their potatoes till the road is completed and will ship them by that line instead of the old route by McAdam. It is believed that the American lumber of the Upper St. John will be carried by that line instead of being floated down the river.

The manganese mine situated a short distance from St. Martins has again been opened up. This time a strong company has been formed and it is believed that a paying industry will soon be established there.

A heavy fall of ground occurred at the Mansfield mine, near Crystal Falls, Ishpeming, Friday morning, entombing forty men. As the water at this mine rises fast the ore being soft, the chances are very poor of rescuing any of the unfortunates alive. The situation is awful and the scene around the cave-in heartrending. The rescuing party is doing everything possible to reach the imprisoned men.

The first juvenile offender to come under the recent industrial school and reformatory act is Aurele Ouelettee, aged 12 years. On the night of Sunday, 17th instant, he, in company with his father and another boy named Joseph Cyr, aged 15, broke into the store of Alphonse Bertram, situate in the town of Edmundston, and stole therefrom ten gold rings; the safe was also found to have had three holes drilled into the front, near the lock and combination.

A man standing on the south gallery of the Chicago board of trade building, at noon on Wednesday, drew a revolver and shot into the crowd of traders on the main floor. Ammi C. Bennett, president of the board of trade insurance company, received one bullet in the neck, and his injuries are said to be serious. The man then fired over the heads of the traders and struck a woman standing in the north gallery. Her injuries are not considered serious. Charles W. Russel, assistant chief operator of the Western Telegraph company, was shot in the chin, and seriously, if not fatally injured. A man named Dunham was also shot, but the extent of his injuries is unknown.

Tuesday afternoon a flying team met a funeral in the centre of Kensington bridge, foot of Dundas street, London. The pall-bearers were women and the result was such a mingling of screams, horses hoofs, excitement and confusion as may be better imagined than described. In the excitement some one screamed: The hearse is upset! which so alarmed a sister-in-law of the deceased that she became frantic, and getting out of the mourners cab she began to climb over the railing next the water, but before reaching the top she fell back, fainting away. Of the pall-bearers three were hurt and badly shaken. The other ladies escaped in several stages of hysteria and nervous prostration. In the collision the tongue of the runaway vechile was broken and the hearse somewhat damaged.
