THE HERALD.
FREDERICTON, MARCH 4, 1893.
THE VOTE.

At the conclusion of the budget debate at Ottawa Sir Richard Cartwright's amendment, favoring tariff reform, was divided upon and lost, the vote standing 126 to 72. All the New Brunswick members, excepting Messrs. Gilmore and Colter, voted against the amendment. The attitude taken by some of these gentlemen, together with the public statements which they have made, had led to the hope that they would take advantage of the first opportunity to place themselves on record in favor of tariff reform. The party which, however, seems to have had too long a nap, and they all followed their leaders in the resolve to keep up the government's policy of high taxation. The rapidly growing public sentiment in favor of doing away as far as possible with the restrictions upon trade, and substituting a policy of tariff reform in place of the cast iron system of protection, under which the chief industries of the country are being slowly but surely starved to death, has either not been recognized, or not acknowledged by these gentlemen. They have evidently been led by the eloquence of the minister of finance into the belief that the country was never as prosperous, and the people never so well satisfied with their lot as at present. The plausible statements of that gentleman in reference to the increase of trade and commerce, and the lessening of the burdens of the people during the year, must have been taken for granted, and the proof never asked for. Perhaps they came to the conclusion that they might as well believe the honorable gentleman's statements as look for proof anyway. However, that may be, the bald fact remains, that with the two exceptions above named, all the members of parliament from this province are satisfied to let the trade policy of the Dominion remain as it is, and has been since the advent of the tory party to power in 1878. The argument that was trotted out, when it was found that the prophecies of the protectionists in regard to the rapid increase of business in this country had failed to materialize, viz: that the manufacturing industries of the land needed protection during their infancy, has given place to the other cry of sympathy: that it would be a shame to abandon them to their fate in their old age. The failure of the policy of accommodation what was promised is thus made an excuse for its retention. And so it goes. When the people at last awake to the fact that the system of high protection is a fallacious and injurious one, the national debt will be so great that it will be still harder to shake off this old man of the sea.

MR. TEMPLE ON CORN.
Mr. Temple gave the house some amusement by referring to his vote of last week upon the motion for free corn. A special despatch from Ottawa says: "He denied that he had voted when his name was called the second time, and said members should stand up when voting instead of nodding like so many woodpeckers." At considerable expense, but we modestly think, with commendable enterprise, we present our readers with the above verbatim report of the speech of Mr. Temple, our representative at Ottawa, on the great question of tariff reform which has been occupying the attention of the house of parliament for some days. We feel justified in going to the extra cost of getting for our readers a full and accurate report of Mr. Temple's views on this important question, particularly because the member for York does not often trespass on the time of the house in the way of speech making. If we mistake not, this is really Mr. Temple's maiden effort, and he is certainly to be congratulated not only upon the amount of light which he has thrown upon the vexed corn question, but also upon the clear and explicit manner in which he elucidated his position in the matter to the house the day after the vote was taken. His simile of the woodpecker is a very apt one, and was no doubt suggested to Mr. Temple during some of his visits to the rural portions of his constituency, in quest of the farmers' opinions as to the merits of Southdown as compared with the merits of the other breeds of the house.

The following extract from the Ottawa Free Press contains a good story, and is to the point: "A great many conservatives would like to treat Sir Adolphe Caron as they treated Mr. McGreevy, but they are afraid his place as procurer-general of campaign funds could not be easily filled. The premier must stick to Sir Adolphe. His situation reminds one of the boy of the two boys who were seated upon a wharf fishing, when one fell into the water. His companion gallantly plunged in and rescued him. A benevolent gentleman who had witnessed the scene of the accident complimented the brave boy who had risked his life to save that of another. 'Is the boy your brother?' asked the gentleman. 'Oh, no, he is no relation to me at all,' was the answer; 'but I saved him because he had all the bait in his pocket, and if he'd been drowned I'd had to go home without any fish.'"

The matter of the Nova Scotia coal legislation has been brought up in the Dominion parliament again by Dr. Weldon, who appears to be haunted with the idea that a great coal monopoly will be created unless the act is vetoed. Sir John Thompson, who took occasion to characterize Dr. Weldon's contention as absurd, said in effect that the coal lands of Nova Scotia belonged to that province, and the federal authorities had no power to interfere. Mr. Fraser very properly pointed out the inconsistency of Dr. Weldon, who, while pretending to be a mortal enemy of a coal monopoly in Nova Scotia, had voted the evening previous to keep up the binder twine combine of the Dominion.

The latest from St. John is that a company has been formed there with W. G. Scovill as manager, to be known as the Dominion Identification Company. The object of the company is to have a proper plan for the identification of persons dead or alive, among strangers in strange places. Badges are given members and books kept with full records. In case of accident all that is necessary is to telegraph the number on the badge to the company when friends will at once be notified.

CLEVELAND'S INAUGURATION.
By this time Grover Cleveland will be inaugurated president of the United States for the second time. But few times in the history of the republic have the democrats had the pleasure of electing a president, and today Washington is full of them, joyous over the inaugural ceremony. To-day is a red letter day in the history of the United States, and marks an epoch in the history of that country. The long imperious rule of republicanism is at an end. Whether or no the principles upon which the republican party is founded, are the source of the unparalleled development of that country, is a question of no moment. The people have spoken. They say that the present needs and present circumstances of the country demand other and broader principles. The interesting feature about Cleveland and his cabinet is that they are the embodiment of that demand. All countries will watch their career; Canadians will, with particular interest, note their doings. Mr. Cleveland begins his second presidency, with high hopes on the part of the great majority of Canadians that under his guidance the United States not only may prosper as heretofore, but also that its relations with other lands will be of a broad and free character; that the principle of retaliation will find no place in the deliberative halls of its legislatures. By a broad and economic policy the United States can attain her maximum prosperity, and at the same time allow all races and classes of men to enjoy the material benefits of free and unimpeded trade with her.

Mr. Cleveland's cabinet is an exceedingly interesting group. It is quite out of the ordinary, and the only system that can account for its composition is the system described by Cleveland himself when he said that his cabinet should all be competent and thorough business men. If the different contributions to an election fund were what made men eligible for the cabinet, the average politician would have had but little difficulty in foreseeing the composition of the present cabinet. As it is, the cabinet has been a bit of a mystery to politicians. On the whole it is approved. Limited space prevents us from giving a thorough description of it. The most important office in it to outsiders is the office of secretary of state; while the most important to those who know the management of a controlling say in foreign affairs. Judge Graham who has been selected to fill this office is a man who has honesty and integrity interwoven in every fibre of his being. Firmness is his characteristic, and well so, for he will be the stern center of the new administration. In selecting him for the important office, Cleveland took account of his ripe experience in public life. And although that experience has been gained partly in the republican ranks, yet his well known opposition to certain questions of policy left him no abiding place save in the democratic party. For a long time Graham took no active part in politics but on Cleveland's nomination he broke away from republican traditions and beliefs, and publicly announced his intention to support the democratic cause.

The members of the cabinet are capable, honest, and independent men. Cleveland and his second cabinet are the offspring of the desire on the part of the American nation for new theories and policies. Yankin, who has emphatically declared something not republican, something not McKinleyism. Other nations stand off to watch the outcome hoping it will result in prosperity for the United States and the world at large.

From Edmundston Direct.
H. P. Timmerman, general superintendent of the Atlantic division, C.P.R., has visited Woodstock during the week and it is rumored that his visit was in connection with the running of trains from that town across the railway bridge here using the new curve at Gibson. It is thought by many that instead of a through train from Woodstock to St. John as at first proposed, a train will run from Edmundston to this city direct each day, and that the time table and trains will be used from here to St. John as at present. If this plan is carried out Fredericton will receive an impetus in trade and the coming summer will see a great advance in business in all lines.

Two Mysteries.
Progress is out with a strong article respecting J. McC. Snow, the missing Moncton mayor. The case is a mystery as nothing has yet appeared to show whether he has been murdered or gone to another country. And so far as Moncton and its people are concerned it appears they are willing to let the matter rest where it is. The same state exists here in reference to the Smith child which disappeared very mysteriously last summer. Not one particle of evidence is given as to its fate and all appear willing that the search should be given up.

WELSFORD.
MARCH 3.—This community was very sorry to learn of the death of one of our old and very much respected residents, Mrs. Elizabeth Henderson, who passed away on Saturday last at the advanced age of eighty years. Deceased was a native of the North of Ireland and came to this country with her husband some forty years ago, residing in Nova Scotia several years, they then came to Welsford where they have since resided. Deceased leaves a sorrowing husband and five children to mourn their sad loss. Rev. T. F. Fotheringham of St. John, assisted by Rev. W. B. Armstrong and Rev. W. Wass, conducted the funeral services.

Miss Morie Jamieson, of St. John, is visiting her friend, Mrs. R. Macdonald.

Miss Ella Anderson, of Armstrong's Corner, is visiting friends here.

There is some talk of work being commenced in the quarry at Eagle Rock by the C. P. R. company, the stone being wanted to repair bridges along the line.

Miss Letitia Smith, who has been very sick, is slowly recovering.

The tea meeting held in the Methodist church here on Thursday was quite a success. Not a few sat down to tea and everybody seemed to do justice to the good things which were set before them. Quite a lengthy program was carried out, much to the credit to all friends who took part.

CHIPMAN, Q. C.
MARCH 3.—G. G. King's store is the general place of gathering now that the mills are closed down.

Thomas Foster, representing the Standard Oil Company, accompanied by his bright four year old daughter, has paid us a visit.

All are expecting a big summer's work on the Chipman-Newton section of the Central railway.

Roads are badly blocked and men have had to be turned out to shovel so that the mails could be got through.

Dr. Hay is getting a new house ready for occupying in the near future.

Mr. Keith, the village schoolmaster, is quite successful in teaching the young idea how to shoot.

L. W. Wilson appears to be kept quite busy at the harness trade. He does the best work at the lowest possible figures.

SOUTHAMPTON.
Feb. 28.—Again we hear talk of a new hall to take the place of the one destroyed by the Saxby gale. It is a deplorable fact that Southampton front, from Queensbury clear to the county line (between York and Carleton) has no suitable public hall. It is sincerely to be hoped that this backward state of affairs will not always exist. Pokioh has a fine hall; so has Kingsclear and El River. "Stay, boys, steady!" You can't pull it down.

Try hard as you may, But you can help it along If you pull the right way.

Miss Lucy Grant has been spending a couple of weeks with friends in Woodstock; so also has Miss May Maxon.

Last week was a very stormy, rough week. Old fashioned snow storms raged; and the chief evening's amusements were cracking butter nuts and reading Whittier's "Snowbound."

Miss Mary Morrison, of Lower Southampton, went to Fredericton today to spend a few weeks with friends in that city and St. Marys.

Allan Scriver, one of our pedagogues, who is taking his first year in medicine at Baltimore, Md., is expected home the latter part of April for his summer vacation.

Rev. A. Bonnell, of Coverhill, in company with Rev. Mr. Noble, held divine service in the F. C. B. meeting house at Middle Southampton last Sunday. A full house greeted him.

What difference can you see 'twixt twiddle-dum and twiddle-dee?"

Mrs. B. S. Cronkite, who was ill with congestion of the kidneys, is able to be around again.

Henry Stairs, of Campbell Settlement, has been saving wood all winter. He still hangs to the old fashioned "sweeper-cutter," and beyond a doubt can out saw any other machine in the parish. Henry is a rasher; and whatever he puts hand to is bound to move. One of his recent records, on the front, is a row of 47 drags (consisting of birch, beech, maple and hemlock) in nine hours. His fine large nursery of fruit trees, on the southern slope of the "Stairs hill," is only another example of what push and enterprise in N. B. can do. He is never tired of talking of his "Ben Davis" and "wealthy" apple. The former, he says, originally came from Russia; then a company in New York took hold of them. It is well worth one's while to call and see Mr. Stairs' fine garden of gooseberries, currants and strawberries, neatly surrounded by a seven wire fence. Mr. S. sold in Woodstock, just before Christmas, $80 worth of poultry, etc. How is that for York county? "Where will I sit?" "Sit just where you d—m please!" And the freezing hours spring from a crack of the long lash.

We very much regret to hear of the illness of Sterling Munro, of Lower Southampton.

Miss Jennie Poor and Miss Gertrude Cronkite are still anxiously enquired after by their many friends.

The former, he says, originally came from Russia; then a company in New York took hold of them. It is well worth one's while to call and see Mr. Stairs' fine garden of gooseberries, currants and strawberries, neatly surrounded by a seven wire fence. Mr. S. sold in Woodstock, just before Christmas, $80 worth of poultry, etc. How is that for York county? "Where will I sit?" "Sit just where you d—m please!" And the freezing hours spring from a crack of the long lash.

HIBERNIA, Q. C.
MARCH 1.—Rev. O. R. Mott has honored this place with his intellectual lectures in a series of five sermons. Mr. Mott is particularly popular here with young and old. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Phoebe Mott.

J. Holly, of Woodville, died very suddenly of kidney disease on Friday last.

Rumors are that another firm intending establishing itself in this place in the early spring. It is not announced the line of trade it will follow, but it is expected to be general variety.

On Friday evening last J. Gardner gave a party of ten couples a very pleasant drive to Otisabog lake, where they were most cordially received by Mr. and Mrs. S. VanWart and niece. After spending a very pleasant evening, the party returned by a circular route in wonderful merry glees.

Many were the compliments for the careful manner in which Mr. Gardner handled his four spirited bays over the icy way, and all joined heartily in that favorite "Should old Acquaintance be Forgotten," with many an encore to break the calmness of a starry night.

BLACKVILLE.
Feb. 28.—Skating is the order of the day and night as well. The pond has overflowed and affords amusement to large crowds.

Charles McLaggan, who has been home for a few days rest, returned toatham last Wednesday evening by the C. E. B.

Walter Wetmore is talking of returning to his work on the other side. He will be very much missed, by some of the young ladies especially.

Miss McDonnell entertained a few of her friends very pleasantly last Tuesday evening. Dinner and games were the order of the evening.

Mrs. Thomas Robinson has returned home after a prolonged visit to Fredericton.

W. J. McLaggan is laying in a fine supply of ice; he intends to keep cool next summer, if that is any sign.

Mr. Gibson is getting stone ready to build a new furnace on the opposite side of the mill to where the old one is. It will be a pleasant change for teacher and scholars in the summer they will not be annoyed by the smoke like they were last summer.

PETERSVILLE, Q. C.
MARCH 1.—Our local grocers, Mr. Howell and Mr. Timmins, had considerable difficulty in getting their supplies from the railroad station on account of snow drifts last week. They are doing good business, and intend to enlarge their premises and make other improvements next spring.

Bren's bear has not yet aroused itself from his winter's lethargy—and if it only knew Mr. B's intention, it would, no doubt, prolong its sleep indefinitely.

It may be of some interest to those who maintain that the exodus is decreasing—to learn that during the past eleven years 483 persons left the parish of Petersville for the United States. Still we sing "Our Own Canadian Home."

BROAD ROAD, Q. C.
MARCH 1.—The roads from Petterville to St. John are in a very bad condition for traveling as they are covered with ice, in many places in a sliding shape, and other places are obstructed by deep banks of snow. Farmers find great difficulty in getting to market with their produce.

It is rumored that a child on the Gagetown road was scalded to death by falling into a tub of boiling water. Particulars of the matter have not reached us.

AROUND THE WORLD.
The Week's Events in Brief—The Ocean of our Exchanges.

Joseph Vanwart, an old and honored resident of Woodstock, is very low with pneumonia and not expected to recover. Great suffering exists in Oldham, Eng., owing to the prolonged struggle between the master cotton spinners and the operatives.

The important ceremony of inaugurating the new president of the United States, Grover Cleveland, took place today, with the most brilliant ceremonies.

The Connolly wharf, St. John, has been placed in position. One end of the wharf grounded, but with the assistance of a number of tugs, etc., the wharf was lifted.

John C. Manser, one of the best known residents and most successful farmers of the parish of Andover, died at an early hour Thursday morning from a stroke of paralysis. He was 65 years of age.

The Joggins coal mine and railway, together with other mining properties at the Joggins, and between the Joggins and Maccan, have passed into the hands of a company of Montreal capitalists.

A letter received, announces that Honduras is again in a state of revolution. The movement is headed by Gen. Bonilla, who was prominent in the last insurrection, and recently pardoned by the government.

The election for the Ontario Assembly in Toronto, Tuesday, resulted in the return of Mr. Ryerson, conservative, the figures being; Ryerson, 6,984; Ogden (Liberal), 6,707; Thompson (Labor), 904.

It is said that the examination of Mrs. Cameron was not resumed at Bridgeport until March 8th. It is now quite certain that Mr. Macintyre's report does not attribute Mr. Cameron's death to poisoning.

Rev. Dr. Talnage denies that he intends to resign from the Brooklyn tabernacle. He admits that the church is threatened by a serious exigency, but he believes the trouble will be triumphantly overcome. The church is heavily in debt.

J. C. Butcher, for some years agent of the Merchants Bank of Halifax at Moncton, has left the service of the bank and is understood to be giving his attention to the insurance business. The cause of Mr. Butcher's resignation is not generally known.

The New York house of bishops has adopted resolutions declaring against the Chinese Exclusion act and government appropriations for sectarian schools or missions. A committee was appointed to present the first named to the heads of the department.

Mrs. Stewart, wife of the rev. Dr. Stewart, professor of theology at Mt. Allison, died Monday night about twelve o'clock. Her health had not been good for some time, but the immediate cause of death was a sudden attack of asthmatic grip followed by congestion.

Fred. Harris, son of Alex. Harris, of Northeast, Northumberland county, was killed in the woods in Michigan, a few days ago. He was loading logs and one rolled over him, crushing him badly. He died in a few hours. He was a young man but twenty-two years of age.

The prohibition question coming up for discussion in the Manitoba local legislature a motion presented by Attorney General Sifton, asking that the Dominion parliament be memorialized as to the passing of a prohibitory law, was passed by a vote of 16 to 10 in favor of prohibition.

The House of Commons Tuesday rejected a motion that the British government should use its influence to bring about the re-assembling of the international Monetary Conference with the object of finding a remedy for the evils attendant upon the divergence of values between gold and silver.

Saturday last being the 30th anniversary of the appointment of N. S. Freese to the sheriffship of the county of Kings, a large number of friends met at his residence in the evening for the purpose of tendering him a testimonial of appreciation and presenting him with an address, which was accompanied by a very handsome gold-headed cane.

Scott Act Inspector McClintock, of Woodstock, accompanied by constable Baker, raided some of the places there supposed of selling liquor. Two seizures were made one in a new car brought up from St. George, the other in King street, where William Troy was in charge. The quantities secured were small.

George W. Slipp, the Woodstock merchant, who recently failed, was tried at St. Andrews, on Wednesday, on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretences. The charge was made by Messrs. Ganong Bros. The prosecution was conducted by Solicitor General White and J. A. Vanwart defended Mr. Slipp. The jury, after an hour's deliberation, returned a verdict of not guilty.

There was quite an accident on the Shore Line, Tuesday afternoon. Near St. George a passenger car jumped the track, fell over and took fire from the stove. There were seven passengers, but fortunately none were hurt. They got out through the windows. The fire was put out by the engine as it was brought up from St. George. The train was two hours late reaching Carleton.

The first case called in the Kings County circuit court, was that of John Watson vs. John Price—an action for damages alleged to have been sustained by plaintiff in a collision at Sussex on the morning of Saturday, the 22nd of October by being run into by defendant. By the fall Watson sustained severe injuries, for which he claimed the sum of $1,000 as compensation. The jury awarded plaintiff $250 damages.

The Montreal Star, which has never been particularly in the conservative party, tells Sir John Thompson plainly that in the composition of his cabinet he has taken in some of the poorest material that has found its way into the ministry for a long time. The Star finds it difficult to believe that Canada has today either the cabinet it requires or the best cabinet it can get. The Star is quite right; the present cabinet is a very poor affair.

More than five thousand persons attended the great Orange meeting at Belfast on Thursday, Dr. Kane who presided, said "Ulster was prepared to defend herself to the last against the proposals of the Home Rule bill. He had received letters from the military and police officers in England and Ireland, and telegrams from Canada and Australia promising co-operation with the men of Ulster if the latter resorted to arms to defend their liberties against the tyranny of their historic foe. One hundred thousand Orangemen were ready to resist to the death the Home Rule bill."

TEMPERANCE VALE.
Feb. 27.—A number of our young men have returned home from the lumber woods looking much the better for their absence.

Miss James K. Pinder, we are sorry to learn, is very ill. She is attended by Dr. McNally, of Millville, formerly of Fredericton. Her numerous friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Rev. Scovill Neills holds service in the church every Wednesday throughout Lent.
