LOCAL HOUSE.

False Statement Respecting Rev. Mr. Mullen.

DR. STOCKTON APPEARS IN THE SAME OLD LINES.

Masterly Budget Speech by Mr. Mitchell.

On Saturday in the house the usual standing and select committees were appointed.

Hon. Mr. Blair, as a matter of privilege, called attention to a report published in Friday's Gleaner, in which it was stated that Mr. Howe had escorted Rev. Mr. Mullen of Stanley to the seat on the floor of the house on Saturday afternoon, with the sergeant-at-arms by his side, and Mr. Blair pronounced the statement entirely untrue.

Mr. Howe expressed his regret that the item had appeared in the paper. He had not escorted Mr. Mullen to the floor of the house as stated. He, Mr. Mullen, must be entirely mistaken in stating that Mr. Blair had ordered him to be ejected, though doubtless he fully thought so.

Mr. Phinney presented the petition of Marcus C. Atkinson, M. D., respecting the Carleton county election.

Hon. Mr. Blair said that while he fully realized that under the rule a matter of privilege may be taken up immediately, he did not think this was just such a matter of privilege as ought to be sprung upon the house on Saturday afternoon, with so many members absent, and without the house and the gentleman (Mr. Connel) whose seat was attacked having no opportunity whatever of considering it. He would suggest that the matter be allowed to stand over until Monday or Tuesday next; otherwise he should ask the house to vote the motion down.

Mr. Phinney said he had no political or other animus against the member for Carleton. Mr. Dibbles, whose seat was more particularly concerned, was a most credible representative. He nevertheless felt it his duty to bring the matter to the attention of the house.

Hon. Mr. Blair thought it was somewhat doubtful whether a motion of this character should be immediately acted upon without some preliminary notice. In a later edition of Bourne's, that authority declared that notice was always required unless the parties themselves interested dispensed with it.

On further discussion by Mr. Stockton, Hon. Mr. White and Mr. Phinney, Mr. Hill stated that while such a motion did not require two days' notice, yet, according to the very strict and equity of the matter, it was just such a motion as should be announced by a notice. He thought it a pity that Mr. Phinney had not seen fit to accept the attorney's consideration. He would move that further consideration of the matter be postponed till Tuesday next.

Mr. Phinney said that while it was clearly the duty of the house to deal with it at once, he would defer to the suggestion of the member for Charlotte if he would extend the time till Friday next. He would have to attend the Kent circuit next week, and did not wish to be absent from the matter came up for consideration.

The speaker said the point of order raised should first be decided. He decided that the matter was one of privilege and therefore should be taken into consideration by the house immediately.

Mr. Hill moved in amendment to Mr. Phinney's resolution that further consideration of the matter be postponed till Friday, which was carried without division.

Monday.

Dr. Stockton moved, seconded by Mr. Finley, motion for the warrant for expenditure, etc., between the close of 1892, and March 1st in the present year.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell said the information would be furnished without address.

Dr. Lewis presented the first report of the auditing committee.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell submitted the auditor general's report for the last year.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell introduced a bill providing for the redemption of provincial debentures falling due from next year to 1900 inclusive.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson introduced a bill in addition to, and to amend chapter 20 of the Consolidated statutes.

Hon. Mr. Blair introduced bills relating to the Supreme court and to practice and procedure therein, and providing for the establishment of a boys' industrial school.

Mr. Howe again brought up the case of Rev. Mr. Mullen, stating that the official report of Saturday's proceedings did not fully express the views he had in his mind when he rose to a question of privilege on Saturday. If through a want of knowledge of the rules he had exceeded his duty in inviting Rev. Mr. Mullen to the floor of the assembly, he wished to take the full responsibility of that act so that it might not be made to appear that the reverend gentleman had come upon the floor uninvited. He would now ask what were the privileges of private members in this regard?

Mr. Speaker—the floor of the house is not open to the public. The speaker's gallery is for the use of those outside the assembly who are furnished with tickets, which may be obtained from any of the members. The floor of the house, however, are for the members only.

Mr. Howe thanked Mr. Speaker for his explanation.

Dr. Stockton gave notice of motion that in the opinion of this house, legislation should be had relating to crown debtors, placing the government on a footing of equality with private individuals.

Dr. Stockton gave notice of motion for a statement of sums borrowed for any account due at the close of year, with rate of interest charged.

Adjourned.

Tuesday.

After the house resumed business, Hon. Mr. Mitchell said that the duty for the day was on him of laying before the house and country, a statement of the financial affairs of the province. He thought the house could congratulate itself that the country, during the past year, had been fairly prosperous. Though feeling the pressure of the McKinley bill, the farmers had received a fair and adequate return for their labor, and a more hopeful feeling prevailed among them than was a year ago. He had attended a meeting of the Dairy Association in Fredericton a short time ago, which was admitted on all sides to be the most successful and enthusiastic gathering of the kind that had ever been held in the province. It was a matter of regret, however, that the other great staple industry of the province was still so depressed a condition. The outlook for the lumber business on the other side of the water, was even worse than it had been for some years past. The British market was low and the French trade had been cut off almost entirely by the tariff. What might be the effect of the treaty which Sir Charles Tupper and the British government were negotiating with France, he thought it was probable that our lumbermen would be to a certain extent relieved.

OUR FINANCIAL POSITION.

The question in which the hon. members might now be expected to take the deepest interest was that of the financial position of the province. It would be by the auditor's report that the bonded indebtedness of the province had increased during the past year by $241,000, when it was at the close of 1891, when it was $2,342,000. This had been caused by the payment of the interest on the Canada Pacific Railway, $30,000; Tobique Valley Railway, $15,000; and the Albert Southern $1,000. A small amount was still due the latter loan. On public works and bridges the sum of $99,000 had been expended under the act of 54th Victoria, and on the "Woodville" bridge an outlay of $50,000 had been made. These items made up the total increase. While this increase was a matter of regret it was undeniable that it had been legitimately incurred. The people demanded and their representatives demanded increased facilities and these could not be had without adding to the debt. When once a system of subsidizing railways had been entered upon in this province it was impossible to see where it would end. Certain parts of the province had received the benefits of the subsidies, and there were other portions with equal claims that had not been considered. So long as the dominion government kept giving subsidies of $3,200 per mile for these new roads, any party in power in this province would find it exceedingly difficult to stand the pressure.

RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURE.

During the past year the total expenditure on current revenue account had been $7,768,715. There had been received $6,522,689.96, leaving a deficit of $2,246,025.98. It would be remembered that last year he had called the attention of the house to the disappointing character of the census returns by which, instead of an estimated population of 40,000 people, which would have given us an increased per capita allowance of $30,000, it appeared that the increase had only been about 60 or 70 souls. The statisticians had now got it down further still, and the estimated population was only 39,000, giving us an increased revenue of $24,000 more than had been expected. When the ordinary estimates were brought down last year a deficit was estimated of $1,788,735. Supplemental estimates went to swell this deficit to $2,000,000, so that the total estimated deficit last year was $3,888,735, but legislation had been adopted imposing taxes upon corporations and also success duties from which the province had realized the sum of $2,410,000, so that the real estimated deficit would be somewhat less than the neighborhood of $1,500,000. To this should be added the expense for the elections, $6,789,735, which had not been foreseen, so that, on the whole, the actual deficit for the past year was about $600,000 more than had been anticipated. The amount deposited to the credit of the sinking fund, $89,685, would go to decrease this total deficit. Turning to the receipts for the past year the amounts derived from territorial revenue had been somewhat greater than the estimate. The estimate was $1,250,000, the actual receipts were $1,283,319.60. There had been a falling off in receipts from mileage and from sales of land, and also in mining license receipts, but a large increase over the estimate of $400,000. The total receipts from the territorial revenue had been $1,400,000. The tax upon the general life insurance agents, $200,000; the tax upon the sale of horses, $2,000; private and local bills, $300; taxes incorporated companies, $22,000; taxes insurance agents, $400; success duties, $5,000; miscellaneous, $1,000; making a total of estimated income, $693,769.68.

The expenditure upon agriculture had been placed at $24,150. It was the intention of the government to actively pursue its policy in regard to dairying. The secretary's office had been more encouraging. In the English market New Brunswick butter and cheese had taken a very high place.

The estimate for contingencies was $12,000, which would be a substantial reduction upon the estimate for 1892, owing to the abolition of the legislative council. The expense for the deaf and dumb institution would be less than the previous year, as the maintenance of the school would now fall upon the county school fund. The total estimate for education was $175,019.48, an increase over the past year rendered necessary by the greater number of schools. The expenditure upon the Halifax blind asylum would be somewhat more than the estimate for 1892, owing to the abolition of the legislative council. The expense for the deaf and dumb institution would be less than the previous year, as the maintenance of the school would now fall upon the county school fund. The total estimate for education was $175,019.48, an increase over the past year rendered necessary by the greater number of schools. received by the house, the grant of $3,500 in aid of a boys' reformatory. The estimate for the purpose of being occupied. The government was giving $1,500 to complete these repairs, and $2,000 for maintenance. It would be necessary, Mr. Mitchell said, in explanation of the grant of $1,500 for surveys and railway inspections, to make some extensive surveys. It was regrettable that the government had not a larger amount at their disposal for this service. Every square mile of crown lands, as was pointed out by the lumber commission, should have its lines run. The estimate for drainage collection was $2,000, which, with economical management, he thought would be sufficient. The total estimated receipts were, as he had said before, $693,769.68, leaving an estimated surplus of $30,364.70 for the current year. (Applause.)

In conclusion, Mr. Mitchell said that he thought the government had fairly well provided for the different services of the country. It was a matter of regret that the interest charge upon the province should be so large. There were many directions in which the government would like to reach out to develop the industries of the province. Money might very well be expended in the effort to develop our mining industries. More money might be expended with advantage in aid of our agricultural industries. More money was required for the importation of improved stock, both sheep and cattle. He trusted that, as in the past so in the future, the government would continue to deserve and receive the support and confidence of the representatives from the different counties of the province. (Applause.)

SOUTHAMPTON.

MARCH 7.—In one of our last types made up say Miss Jennie Fox, instead of Miss Jennie Dorr.

Willie Oldham drives a fine team this winter.

Messrs. G. W. Brown and F. J. Grant drove to Fredericton to-day, taking with them half a ton of dried apples.

Mrs. Clark, an old lady living at Clark's Corner, fell and broke her leg some eight or ten days ago, and as yet will not allow a doctor to set the bone, because she dreads the pain it will cause.

Miss Mullin, daughter of Rev. Mr. Mullin, of Stanley, teaches the school in Campbell Street. She has a very neat, tidy building and good school.

John N. Grant, Esq., is in want of men to pile bark at Deer Lake, where he is operating.

Mr. Doctor Turner, of Canterbury, has been visiting her many friends here during the past week.

Miss Babar, of Kings Co., is teaching at Clark's Corner. She has a new and quite creditable looking building. On the old site, right at the corner.

Miss Lillie Grant, who has been learning the dress making trade in the fine establishment of Mrs. Shaw, Woodstock, is spending the winter at home. Miss G. has a splendid alto voice, and when here, is a great acquisition to the already strong choir of the reformed Baptist church.

We hear some talk of a concert and pie social. Let it not end in talk.

The Messrs Grosvenor are carrying on the store business of their father—the late Geo. Grosvenor—at the old stand, Lower Southamptons. They also keep the post office.

Miss Hull, who has been living for some years in Auburn, Maine, has been visiting her friends, the Messrs. Ways.

One of our largest and most independent farmers is Mr. E. Miller, of Middle Southamptons. Mr. M. has over one hundred acres under cultivation, and keeps a heavy stock. Perhaps no finer establishment can be seen between Woodstock and Fredericton than Mr. M.'s really beautiful home. From "general to sell" (as the saying is) it is finished and furnished. The whole speaks eloquently of the sure reward of industrious, intelligent toil. This fine property was not a gift of legacy, but was bought and improved by its present owner.

One day last week a bright and evidently a cultured lady of about thirty, wearing the newest in head-gear, viz: a black velvet Mary Stuart bonnet, with corresponding trim, something like a large cap in front, going up to a point with a small tuft of feathers—stopped for dinner at the comfortable home of one of our best farmers. She drove a shining black horse and high back sleigh; and she handled the reins quite as familiarly as she did the absorbing questions of the world to-day. When the noon hour had passed and a song had been sung to the fine large organ, the quiet question, "How much do I owe you?" was put in mildest tone, and the bill was paid from a neat little purse. But, strange to tell, she never told her where she lived, what her business was, where she was going, or when she expected to return. Not even her name escaped her. She will be a very welcome visitor to our place again.

MILLVILLE.

MARCH 8th.—Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hawkins and B. B. Burt yesterday for Fredericton, on a visit to our old townsman, J. M. Dyrart, who has located himself in that little thriving town.

J. F. Richardson was in town this week. He says he will put into the Keewick this season about four million. Spence and Hallett Bros. and Hallett & Cox also report big cuts.

Our storekeepers, Estey, Jones and Purvis appear to be doing a good business. The litigation over the encumbering of the highway seems to be at standstill, but not by any means done.

Our new doctor, H. A. McNally, seems to be keeping very busy. His office is now in the Charles Morgan house.

We are glad to hear of the recovery of Mrs. J. K. Pinder from a serious attack of diphtheria.

There is a sound of those old bells in our midst again, and if Mother Grundy is correct, we are soon going to lose our last widow.

Our school under the charge of B. D. Parker is well attended.

Driven to It—Judge—Why did you try to commit suicide? This kind lady says she did all she could for you. Tramp—Wait till you hear my story, your honor. I asked for whiskey and she gave me some wine jelly that was left over from a church-fair.

Hawker's Liver Pills, contain no mercury, are purely vegetable, safe, sure and effective. Do not gripe, small, easy to take. Sold everywhere.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Another Terrible Fire Destroys Boston.

The terrible fire which occurred in Boston, on the evening of March 10th, is thus described by an eye witness, Mr. George M. McCall, book-keeper in the mercantile house of Horace Partridge and Company:—

"I was standing at my desk balancing the day's accounts when I was started by the cry of fire.

The time between the cry of fire and the arrival of the engines could not have been more than five minutes, and yet the whole building seemed to be in one seething mass of flames.

In the rush to get out of the buildings many of the employees were knocked down and trampled upon, and the painful appeals of the men mingled with the shouting of the men as they strove to lead them to safety were such as I hope never to hear again.

There were about thirty clerks employed by Horace Partridge & Co., of which I have no doubt that some who were on the fifth and sixth floors have been injured, perhaps seriously.

I then rushed back to the fourth floor and shouted fire; then I went hand over hand down the elevator rope but fell, and as soon as I came to myself I ran the elevator up to the second floor, beat the doors down and went to the window on Essex street which I opened and saw the firemen with a life net. I wanted to save the people on the second floor so I told the firemen to open the door of the street because I had the ladder. They would not do it but told me to jump. I did so and went through the net up to my hips, slightly bruising myself."

"A torrent of flames was pouring out of the centre windows of the second floor and on the parapet above the street I saw four men and one woman clinging to the stone work. The electrical wires were so thick here that no ladder could be got up to them, for this is the worst corner for wires in the city.

Then the four poor creatures, one after another, jumped off the parapet falling a height of fully six stories and striking solidly on the ground.

It was a horrible sight.

Each one of the four was unconscious when reached and they could hardly have had a whole bone in their bodies.

The insurance amounts to about $200,000, divided among fifty companies, the New York Mutual has one policy of $25,000, and Arthur C. Hall is also insured to the amount of $5,000 in the Commercial of Cincinnati and $1,000 in the Home of Maryland, and Wheeling of West Virginia.

The flames spread to the building occupied by Brown, Durrell & company, and it was in this firm's store that the $50,000 fire of Thanksgiving Day, 1889 started.

Its horrifying features were augmented by the frequent explosions from the fireworks of Horace Partridge.

The three big buildings which were in flames at the time were of modern construction and supposed to be absolutely fire proof.

When they were built it was supposed that they were perfectly non-combustible.

When the flames were pouring from what had been the roofs of the three big buildings it was recognized that the United States Hotel was doomed and that no power on earth could save it.

An alarm was sounded in the hotel, the guests were told to pack their trunks and secure their valuables. This was quickly done and the trunks were dragged into the streets and carted away.

On the ground floor of the hotel were the stores occupied by Hastings and company, dealers in butter and eggs. C. W. Smith & Ward, grocers and wine, the Suffolk Produce Company and W. H. Osgood, butter and eggs.

The building at 123 was soon in flames and spread with frightful rapidity.

The walls of the destroyed buildings were constantly falling and the danger was so great that the firemen did not dare to approach closely. Some one acting for Tilly Hains, proprietor of the United States Hotel, offered $15,000 to the fireman's relief fund if the hotel was saved.

It is believed that ten are killed and above forty injured some seriously. The loss will amount to over $6,000,000.

DOAKTOWN.

MARCH 9.—With the approach of spring there seems to be a revival of business. There are great many teams hauling logs to the landings. Robert Swin has five teams hauling logs for his steam saw mill, which will probably be working again in about three weeks. Sam'l Freeze also has two teams hauling for him. Besides these there are quite a number of teams hauling for various purposes. Mr. Swin has on hand a fine lot of lumber of all kinds. S. Freeze and Joseph Doak, are manufacturing sashes, doors, etc., the lumber, trimmings and in fact anything else necessary for building houses can be procured in the village. Sam'l Freeze shipped a car of sawed pine to Amherst, Nova Scotia, last week. Robert Swin has on hand a large quantity of bark, which he ships to Boston. It is difficult to procure cars by which to send it. The demand however, for bark just now, is limited, and the sale very slow.

Upon recommendation of inspector Merereau, an assistant for the village school has been supplied. Miss Jessie Murray has been engaged by the trustees and began work to-day.

Robert Swin visited Derby last week, to attend an agricultural meeting to which he had been invited by the board of directors. Mr. Swin accompanied him as far as Blackville, where she remained a few days.

Rev. T. Johnson preached in the Presbyterian church last week. A large congregation was present.

Rev. H. Montgomery preaches here next Tuesday evening and Rev. Jas. Porter on Sunday afternoon next.

Hebron Congregational receives new members each week. Great interest is taken in the progress of the church by all.

M. N. Cockburn, judge of probates for Charlotte county, and Mrs. Cockburn, are expected here on Friday, to spend a few days the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Swin.

The school trustees are asking for tenders to supply cut hard wood to be placed on the school grounds on or before the first of May next.

Bronchitis, catarrh, asthma vanish before the magic power of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

THE ROBERTSON ORGAN

UNEQUALLED ORGAN

It is characteristic of the house to have only the very best, and to never deal in what is known in the trade as Cheap Pianos, Organs, Sewing Machines, Furniture, etc. It is characteristic of the house never to ask Fancy Prices, (as some dealers do) and come down if they have to. Every instrument and Sewing Machine is marked in Plain Figures, at actual selling prices, which are always the lowest consistent with quality and a fair living profit. By these and other strict Commercial Methods, I have built up one of the largest, if not the Largest retail Piano, Organ and Sewing Machine trade in the city of Fredericton. I have now on hand an Immense Stock of Heintzman and Uxbridge Pianos, Doherty, Uxbridge and Goderich Organs, four dozen Piano and Organ Stools, New Home Favorite, New Williams and Williams Sewing Machines, finished in Antique and Walnut, Parlor Suites and Bedroom Sets, Chairs, Lounges, Bed-springs, Mattresses, etc., all of which I will sell at the Lowest Possible Prices. Don't fail to call or write for Prices.
