THE HERALD.
FREDERICTON, JUNE 2, 1894.
COLLEGE RESIDENCY.

A prominent member of the University Senate informs THE HERALD that the Senate has under consideration the re-establishment of residency at the University, and that the proposition meets with very little opposition; indeed is in general favor with the authorities except Chancellor Harrison, who, for reasons which he claims are well founded, places himself in antagonism to the idea. Our informant also says that the matter has been so far considered that the proposal has been made to erect a separate building on the University grounds as a dormitory, to be leased to some responsible person who would cater to the students and generally have charge, subject of course to the chancellor and faculty.

THE HERALD is entirely in favor of residency, believes that a grave mistake was made when it was abolished, and hopes that the Senate will go forward with the proposal for re-establishment. The chief difficulty, we presume, is the question of finances, but possibly the graduates and other friends of the University will come forward with assistance for the Senate in the undertaking. We believe the graduates, as a rule, are favorable to residency. One alumnus of many years standing, a staunch friend of his alma mater, and one who has done much to forward her interests in the past, says that while residency was one of the institutions at the University, he was the means of persuading at least twelve students to come here, but that since it was abolished he has not advised young men to attend the University, believing that residency and the supervision of the students' conduct which includes, is necessary to the establishment of a moral tone in any college or university. This, we believe, is the general feeling of not only graduates, but of parents, who are looking forward to a university education for their sons. THE HERALD, in quoting an old graduate on this subject, does not intend any reflection on the management of the University, or on the conduct of its under-graduates, which, with a few notable exceptions, has been uniformly good, but the suggestions are put forward with the hope that the Chancellor, or whoever is standing in the way of re-establishing residency, may be influenced to withdraw opposition, and bring about the change which is earnestly desired by the best friends of the University.

A REASONABLE PROPOSITION.
The resolution of the English house of commons in favor of the government paying the legitimate expenses of candidates in parliamentary elections, is one that ought to commend itself to the people. Elections in England under ordinary conditions are very expensive, and very few except the wealthy can aspire to parliamentary honors. There is no pay attached to membership in parliament as there is in Canada, and the man who enters public life in the old country, has to prepare himself for many sacrifices. The demand then that the preliminary expense of contesting for a seat should be paid from the public treasury, would seem to be a reasonable request. In Canada, the legitimate expenses of candidates are very small indeed; it is the illegitimate ones which have grown into the political system in this country, and render it almost impossible for a man in average financial circumstances, to meddle with public life at all. The political wrecks which may be traced to financial ambition, are numerous all over Canada, and yet why should a man who has capacity for public life, and might serve his country in that arena, be asked to beggar himself before he sees the inside of parliament. The people of Canada have the remedy in their own hands. There will be no bribe givers when the bribe takers are extinct.

A DOCTOR BUT NOT A KNIGHT.
No doubt Hon. G. E. Foster keenly feels the disappointment to which he has been subjected by the neglect of Her Majesty to confer on the illustrious tariff tinker the honor of knighthood. Mr. Foster made the mistake of refusing to agree to the ratification of the French treaty negotiated by Sir Charles Tupper, and as the high commissioner is understood to be in pretty close touch with the court, St. James, it is presumed that he pulled somebody's leg and succeeded in deferring for the present at least, the honor Mr. Foster covets. However, our University has come to the rescue and made the finance minister a doctor of laws, and he can afford to ignore the plottings of Sir Tupper. But would not the title of doctor in another sense be more fitting to the finance minister just now when he is engaged in the somewhat difficult task of "doctoring" the tariff? To suit the tastes of the numerous monopolists who have besieged his office for the past six months?

THE USUAL QUALIFICATION.
Mr. Fitzgerald of Charlottetown, may be considered a lucky man. When the late provincial elections were announced in Prince Edward Island, he held the office of police magistrate of Charlottetown at a salary of $1,200 a year. He resigned to run as an opposition candidate, and many of his friends thought him a very foolish man. He was defeated by a very large majority and returned to the practice of law, but he did not long remain in that position. A vacancy occurring in the supreme court bench by the death of Judge Henley, Mr. Fitzgerald's conservative friends set the political wires working, with the result that he is now Judge Fitzgerald with a salary of $3,500. Not a bad way from the police magistracy at $1,200. The new judge besides possessing the necessary legal qualifications for the position, had the greater advantage of being a defeated tory politician.

The St. Andrews Beacon is putting on airs because that popular watering place has three knights on its assessment roll. The distinguished gentleman who contribute towards keeping up the town, are Sir Leonard Tilley, Sir Donald Smith, and Sir W. C. VanHorne, each of whom own extensive properties there.

RIDING TWO HORSES.

The temperance people of Ontario are not all pleased with the attitude of Hon. Mr. Meredith, the opposition leader, on the prohibition question. He declares that if the courts decide that the enactment of a prohibitory law is within the authority of the local legislature, it should be submitted to the people before being placed on the statute book. As Ontario, only a few months ago, declared by a very large majority in favor of prohibition, it would seem that Mr. Meredith is trifling with the matter, or at least that is the way the prohibitionists view it. F. S. Spence, of Toronto, secretary of the Dominion temperance alliance, who is not unknown in New Brunswick, thinks the suggestion of submitting a detailed law to the people is but a stratagem to get a reduced majority so that it could be claimed that there was a change in progress in public sentiment, and ex-Mayor Fleming, of Toronto, one of Ontario's leading prohibitionists, remarks that Mr. Meredith might as well have made a direct bid for the liquor vote, as to give the liquor men an opportunity after the beating they got in January last, to fight it out all over again.

In the meantime, Mr. Meredith, who is himself a total abstainer, declares himself in favor of prohibition, and is catering for that vote. To outsiders, however, it would seem that he is trimming his sails to catch both the liquor and temperance vote.

The Sackville educational institutions have had a prosperous year. At the university commencement this week, President Allison announced that during the term just closed, there had been one hundred and forty students in attendance at classes of the university, of whom ninety-seven were regular students and forty-three special. Work had progressed favorably during the year, and prospects were never brighter. The corner stone of the new art museum was laid Tuesday, Mrs. J. L. Black handling the trowel, and leaving two hundred dollars on the stone after she had laid it.

PRINCIPAL GRANT in discussing the sectarian strife now raging in Ontario, and the P. P. A., which 'ips to keep the religious feeling at white heat says he would like to hear from both Mowat and Meredith a distinct repudiation and denunciation of any organization that is based on the proscription of any class of our people on religious grounds. We need, he says, a union of all good men in Canada, and we dare not say to any man that he must abandon the religion of his mother before he can be expected to be treated as a citizen.

The New York Journal says that much interest is being aroused in Ernest Wiman's case. It was called for trial on Monday, but adjourned for two weeks. The sentiment among men of business is entirely on Mr. Wiman's side. They say that he did what nine-tenths of the business men of New York do constantly, and that while it may technically be forgery, it is a recognized thing in many lines of business. They all hope for acquittal.

The Roman Catholic Archbishop of Kingston, Ontario, provided the local opposition with excellent ammunition for use in strong Protestant communities, when in a recent pastoral he termed Hon. Mr. Meredith "a hungry adventurer." No doubt Sir Oliver Mowat devoutly wishes Archbishop Cleary had reserved the reading of his pastoral until after the elections.

An excellent type of the genuine Scotchman, warm-hearted, generous and faithful in his duties, was the late Gilbert Murdoch, who for forty years held an important position in the St. John civic service. His largely attended funeral on Wednesday, was an evidence of the esteem of the people among whom the best years of his life were spent, and who knew his sterling characteristics.

The British Columbia local election contest is proceeding under difficulties for the opposition, the leader of which, Mr. Gowan, is in jail for contempt of court. We have in mind an opposition that would stand much better with the country if its leader was in jail or somewhere else out of the way, whenever an election is called or the legislature is in session.

It is hinted in a government paper that the military camps may be done away with altogether, but there is no information as to what is proposed to take their place for the training of the militia force. Perhaps we could get along just as well under the old system of drilling the men at their local headquarters, or indeed without training them at all.

AROUND THE WORLD.

The News of the World in Brief—The Cream of Our Exchanges.

It has been decided to teach agriculture in the Manitoba schools. John Ball, clerk of the P. E. Island legislature, died suddenly Sunday evening. Hon. Clarke Wallace has been re-elected grand master of the Canadian Orangeman for the seventh time. The provincial convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians is to be held at Milltown on the 14th inst. Almost a million and a half dollars was paid out by the banks at Montreal yesterday in the way of dividends. A little son of Wendell P. Jones, at Woodstock, fell from his rocking horse the other day and broke his arm. Four persons were killed in a wreck and fire on the Wisconsin Central railroad at Marshfield, Mich., Wednesday, and four others are missing.

Benjamin Wheeler, son of a prominent Chicago merchant, and a student at Cornell university, was killed at Chicago Wednesday, by falling from his horse. The office of the Cumberland coal and railway company at Springhill, N. S., was burglarized Wednesday night and between three and four hundred dollars stolen.

The steamer Texas, which left Montreal Thursday, for Bristol, England, carried nine thousand boxes of cheese, the largest cargo of the kind which ever left that port. A cyclone, two hundred feet wide, passed over the northern portion of Kansas, destroying a country church and overturning the monuments in a cemetery, Tuesday night. At Penbrooke, Carleton county, Thursday night, the house of David McKenzie, a farmer, caught fire while all the family were asleep, and one of his children was burned to death.

A touching death was that of little six-year-old Josie Flewelling at Waterford, Kings county, the other day. "It's getting dark; I love you; goodnight papa," were her last words. James Ross of Eastern St. Martins, St. John, Co., one day recently, ploughed and made ready for this year's crop, one-half acre of ground. He is 103 years old and enjoys good health.

Lightning struck the Presbyterian church at Amherstburg, Ont., Sunday, shattering the steeple and doing much damage to the interior also. Fire Wednesday night destroyed the immense ice houses, valued at thirty thousand dollars and containing sixteen thousand tons of ice, at Spy Pond, near Arlington, Mass. Loss over $100,000. McWhirter, the condemned Port Credit, Ontario, murderer, has been respited until October 1. He was to have been executed yesterday at Brampton, where hangman Radcliffe had made all arrangements.

The cotton mills at Hayfield, England, owned by T. A. Sidebottom, M. P., have been closed owing to the depression in the cotton trade. The stoppage of these mills has thrown three thousand people out of work. At Moncton, Thursday night, Fred. Morrill's horse became frightened at a train and turned, upsetting the carriage, throwing Morrill on the sidewalk. He was picked up unresponsive, and his recovery is doubtful. Charles Forest and his wife were recovered at Richmond, N. S., Wednesday, by eating soup in which the wife had placed what she supposed was a parsnip found in the garden, but which proved to be a poisonous plant. Both died soon afterwards.

Mr. Church, the manager of the Emigration Society of London, G. B., says that notwithstanding the decrease in the total emigration to Canada this year, the number of families applying to the Society for assistance to emigrate to Canada is steadily increasing. A sailor dressed in the uniform of the British navy was arrested at Montreal Thursday night. On Sunday he married a servant girl at Rouse's Point and went with her to St. John. The next day he went to Montreal, without his bride, but bringing with him her trunk and twenty dollars of her money. It is suspected that he is a deserter.

The British flag ship Blake of the North Atlantic squadron and the cruiser Tarbar, arrived at St. John from Bar Harbor Thursday evening and will remain till Tuesday. Rouse's Point was thronged with people to greet their arrival. The Tarbar is anchored directly opposite the I. S. S. company's wharf and the Blake lies some distance below almost opposite the government pier. In a pastoral read in the R. C. cathedral at Kingston, Ont., Sunday, Archbishop Cleary referred to Hon. W. R. Meredith, the local opposition leader, as "a hungry adventurer," and at Toronto, Thursday night Mr. Meredith answered His Grace, using the following language: "He says I am a hungry adventurer; I tell him he slanders me in making the charge. My language is on record, and he cannot, I defy him, to justify this foul slander. And yet he issues this against me from the altar of his church in order that I may be destroyed. I said no man should be given office because of his religion, but I likewise said no man should be excluded from office because of his religion. In raising the red flag of intolerance? His charge is an absolute, unqualified misstatement. An adventurer am I! While the prelate still had his feet planted on the hills of Ireland, I was doing what I could to advance the interests of Canada and the country in which I was born."

Card to the Public.
I take this opportunity to thank my many friends for the very liberal patronage they have bestowed on me for the past twenty-eight years. Now that times are hard and it is necessary for people to use the economy they can, I make a dollar go as far as possible in buying the necessities of life, and in order to do so, I have decided to sell at a very small advance above cost. Below I have much pleasure in quoting present prices of a few of the most necessary articles in the grocery line: Oglivie's Hungarian Flour, $4.25 per barrel; Highest grade Ontario patents, $3.35 to $3.65; Granulated sugar, 4 cts lb, or 25 to 31; Rice, 4 1/2 cts lb, or 25 cts; Best Barbadoes molasses, 32 cts per gallon; Baking soda, 31 cts lb, or 5 lbs for 25 cts; Tea, 15 to 25 cts per lb. And all other goods proportionately low. The above are strictly cash prices and all goods guaranteed first quality. G. T. WHELPLEY, F'ron, June 1, 1894.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. George and their family will go to their summer cottage at the Bay Shore, St. John, early in July. William Gonce, who kept a lively battle for many years in this city, died suddenly at Boston yesterday. When you want a good A trunk, valise, shirt-trump, etc., go to Anderson and Walker—large stock, low prices.

FROM RURAL DISTRICTS.

Interesting and Spicy Gossip from Our Active Correspondents.

GLEANNINGS FROM YORK.
Kewick Ridge.
May 30.—Despite the cold weather which has prevailed for some time past, the grass and crops are looking well. Most of the farmers have nearly completed the spring's work of the great West. Mrs D Jones, of Lawrence, Mass., is visiting her brother, Stephen Tripp. Mrs Frank Mason, who has been spending a few months with her sister, returned this week to her home in Bangor. A L Morris, formerly of this place, but now of Duluth, arrived home this week to spend a few days. He speaks in glowing terms of the great West. The Misses Colter and Miss Mitchell spent the 24th at their homes in this place. Miss Tripp spent the day in Fredericton.

York Mills.
May 28.—The long spell of fine weather has enabled our farmers to push their work forward rapidly. They have finished excepting for buckwheat and turnips. The York woolen mills are standing idle at present. Mr. Robinson, of Lawrence, Mass., was here last week, but has not yet wound up his business in that city, owing to the state of depression, strikes, etc., but hopes to move here in the Autumn. Mr. Skene and family have moved back to Penfield. The school absence is greatly felt in the social circles. Alex Little is busy sawing lumber just now, and contemplates putting in more machinery, with a view of extending the major portion of his school. He is visiting home last week for the purpose of examining some machines. The butter factory is to commence the season's operation on Monday the 28th inst. Will Lester is to have Lewis Smith for book-keeper. It is hoped that all such industries will meet with success.

Friday, May 18th, was duly observed as "Bloom day." The school houses and grounds were thoroughly cleaned, and a few more trees were planted. New roller blinds were furnished by the trustees, and wreaths and appropriate motos were made to decorate the school. Mr. Gaynor visited us this week, and sold a fine buggy to William Murray.

Bloomfield.
June 1.—On the 27th ult., the new church at Parkers Ridge was dedicated, three services being held. Rev. W. W. Lodge of Marysville, preached two eloquent sermons morning and afternoon, and in the evening Rev. Mr. Smith occupied the pulpit, and preached a most acceptable sermon. The attendance was very large and the singing excellent. The organ was presided over in an efficient manner by Mrs. F. Russell, of Doaktown. Liberal collections, amounting to the sum of $87, were received. The building, a very neat one, forty by twenty-eight, with steeple, was built by J. Murray, of Doaktown, and seated by S. Palmer, of Bloomfield. The soloist is the wife of J. Weddall, of Fredericton. The people now have a church which they can be proud of, and are very grateful to their active and popular pastor, Rev. E. Bell, for his untiring labors in this respect. He was assisted by a very diligent building committee. The many friends from all parts of the neighborhood, who attended the services, were entertained by the inhabitants of the town in a hearty way, and the pleasant, profitable and happy day will be remembered by all for a long time to come.

A sad accident happened at Mrs. John Hickney, of Bloomfield, was driving home from the opening services of the new church. When near her home the horse became frightened, and moving in the wagon her leg caught in the wheel and was badly broken.

Harvey Station.
May 30.—The Queen's birthday was observed here in a quiet way. In the evening the young people held a public entertainment in Taylor's hall. The attendance was large and the following program was successfully carried out: Instrumental solo, Mr. W. G. Chamberlain; duet, J. L. and Miss Alice Smith; reading, J. W. Taylor; dialogue, Mabel Robinson and F. Donahoe; trio, Miss M. Robinson, Mrs. Chamberlain and Fred. J. Robinson; recitation, Miss Emma Smith; recitation, Miss Alice Smith; Mrs. J. A. Robinson; reading, E. C. Lowry; duet, Miss A. Smith and S. A. Robinson; recitation, Miss Maud Hunter; Quartette, children; reading, Miss Emma Smith; Mrs. M. J. A. Robinson; dialogues, four children; Tableaux; solo, J. L. Smith; recitation, Miss Emma J. Black. Rev. J. A. McLean spoke briefly, after which the National Anthem was sung. The services were concluded by a benediction. The proceeds of the entertainment, amounting to $35.20, go towards finishing the new church. The Royal Templars are having a voting contest for the most popular young lady in the council here. A handsome prize is to be given to the fair one who is successful. A large number of voting tickets have been sold. Robert Cooper has moved with his family from McAdam to this place. He has taken the Gorham house.

I regret to record that Geo. Herbert is seriously ill of lung trouble, but his friends are hopeful of his recovery. Wesley Ross, son of widow Ross, is also very poorly. William Lister started his butter factory at Moncton, and every prospect of doing a good season's work. J. L. Smith has been engaged as clerk. Farmers say that the season so far has been the best on record for farming operations. The grass looks well but is in need of rain.

Parker's Ridge.
May 28.—Times are very brisk again in this vicinity as most of the young men have returned for the drives. Clarence Boies has erected a new barn, which adds very much to the improvement of this place. We are glad to hear of the recovery of John McEllen, who has been confined to his home for the past three weeks with a sore knee. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pond are to be congratulated on a happy domestic event—a daughter. A large congregation assembled at the Methodist church last Sunday to hear the Rev. Mr. Smith preach, and all were well satisfied with the beautiful truths which he illustrated. Miss Eva McLaggan, from Nashua, has given great satisfaction in the dress-making competition. She has been sewing at William Hinchey's the past fortnight, and the people of her vicinity should be well pleased with the success she has met with. We hope to have her with us many years, as things are prospering to that extent now. Charles Calhoun, we are pleased to hear, is recovering slowly.

John Stickney, on returning to his home the other evening, was surprised to find his house crowded with young ladies from Campbell and this vicinity, who had assembled during his absence to give him a surprise. After spending a very enjoyable evening the party returned home. Miss Alice Hinchey has surpassed all in the quilting occupation, having just finished a quilt from the pattern of Dove at the Windsor. Anyone wishing patterns, I would advise them to obtain them from this young lady. John Snow is making a great improvement on his farm. Nelson Spence was the guest of George Calhoun last evening. Miss Maud Hinchey intends visiting her relatives at Chelmsford next week. We are very much pleased to hear that Mr. Smith visited the school this week and examined our would be teachers, Miss M.

May 30.—The Foresters' court's progress is rapidly. The last two meetings six new members were instructed in the mysteries of this progressive order. The brethren hope soon to have a building of their own. Our popular station agent, F. W. Wetmore, left us for a more profitable field of labor, much to the regret of all, but all are glad to see our old friend, W. Sharp, again. Great improvement in our village this spring, showing the progress we are making. Rev. E.
