VICE-REGAL RECEPTION.

At the reception to be held in the Assembly Chamber of the Legislative Building on the evening of Wednesday, Aug. 15th, at 10 p. m., by His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Fraser, in honor of Their Excellencies the Governor General and the Countess of Aberdeen, the following regulations will be observed: 1st.—Ladies and gentlemen who have received cards of invitation, will be in evening dress, and will present two cards, on each of which it is requested their names be legibly written, to be given to the A. D. C. in waiting.

2nd.—After presentation, ladies and gentlemen may remain in the assembly room, which during the evening, will be used as a promenade, or pass to other portions of the legislative building, so as to prevent crowding.

3rd.—After the presentations, and after Their Excellencies have left the assembly room and proceeded to the Council Chamber up stairs, dancing will begin. 4th.—Any further information may be obtained from the undersigned. W. D. Gombos, Major, A. D. C. From, August 9th, 1894.

NEXT WEEK.

If we have good weather Wednesday and Thursday of next week, Frederickton will be packed with visitors to extend a hearty welcome to Lord and Lady Aberdeen. All the arrangements for their reception and entertainment are well in hand, and Frederickton as she always does on such occasions, will do credit to the loyal and hospitable spirit of her inhabitants. The occasion promises to be one of the most successful in the city's history, and all who are connected with the celebration should bend their energies to the work with redoubled effort during the remaining days of preparation. His Excellency and the Countess of Aberdeen are worthy of all the honors that can be paid them in their own personal accounts, but when they come as the direct representatives of the crown of Great Britain, they are doubly entitled to the enthusiastic acclaim of the people of this city.

THE CHINESE EMPEROR.

The outbreak of war between China and Japan has directed public attention to these two countries, and information regarding them and their government is eagerly read. The Emperor of China who is only twenty-three years old, is known by sight to very few of his subjects, for he cannot appear in public, and when he does abroad it is in a close sedan chair with guards along each side of the road to prevent intruders from staring at his sacred person. Only the slightest information concerning the young Emperor's life and movements ever reaches the public. He lives in a great palace surrounded by a wall through which nobody but the court officials ever penetrates without special permission. He was kept in seclusion throughout his youth, the dowager empress acting as regent. He had in his palace yard miniature models of men-of-war, a train of cars, and an exact model of the first railroad train ever run in China, and every toy that wealth could procure, but to show the complete artificiality of his real life it will only be necessary to consider that he has never seen one of his own men-of-war, or never ridden in a real steam car. He knows as much of what goes on in his empire as the viceroys see fit to tell him. He is of frail physique, and in very delicate health, and the life of the palace is said to be such that it would be possible to remove him without any real knowledge of the affairs ever becoming public. The life of the imperial palace is a world of its own, and what happens there, need never become public. His birthday, which takes place on August 15, will be celebrated on a scale of magnificence, which it is impossible for Western people to understand. There is no law of hereditary succession to the throne, but it is left to each sovereign to appoint his successor from among the members of his family, of a younger generation than his own.

THE PLEBISCITE.

The city council at its meeting Tuesday evening, took the necessary steps towards ascertaining the will of the ratepayers on last winter's legislation to make some important changes in the city's constitution. The vote will be taken on Sept. 15th, and will be yes or nay, a majority only being necessary to bring the changes into effect. As many of the electors are probably not fully acquainted with the character of the proposed changes, the Council appointed a committee to issue circulars embodying explanations as to the object of the vote. The provisions of the act which before coming law, must receive the endorsement of the ratepayers, are concisely as follows: The electoral lists will be made up as under the old law. All those, both male and female, whose taxes are paid by a certain date, will have a right to vote. There will be two polls held for the election, the city being divided into two districts for the purpose. Nominations for Mayor or Aldermen may be made by any two qualified ratepayers in the city. The mayor must reside in the city and have paid taxes on $1,000 real and personal estate. An alderman must have paid taxes on the same amount, but must be a resident of the ward for which he is nominated. The City Clerk will prepare the ballot papers and only those prepared by him can be used. The ballot will contain the names of all who are nominated for mayor or alderman, the aldermen's names being divided into groups by wards. Each

A number also passed for third class. A Grand Circus. "The managers of Cook & Whitby's circus carry away with them the good will of our citizens. Their show is a good one, and everything they advertised to give the public was given. In fact, no circus has ever dropped into town that gave greater satisfaction. The performers were first class in every respect, and the attendants and ushers were most attentive and polite to everybody. An attempt to describe in detail the numerous events would, after all, give the reader but an imperfect idea of the entertainment. The street parade may have been equalled, but has never been excelled, as the thousands who witnessed it yesterday can testify. Its manager contains a godly collection of the animals of the forest, from the mammoth $500 lion, elephant to the tiny monkey. The performances were new, novel and rare. The chariot races, English riding, comical races, etc, were never better."—St. John Telegraph.

The circus shows here on Wednesday next.

Rev. J. B. Stewart, D. D., a well-known Presbyterian Minister of Los Angeles, California, died suddenly last Sunday afternoon. He was taken ill while delivering the dedicatory sermon of the Immanuel Presbyterian Church and three hours later was dead. The doctor began his sermon with the text, "Faith hope and love." He stopped looked up as if thinking, gasped and fell unconscious. He was removed to his home and received every attention but it availed nothing.

There has been a well-defined rumor in circulation for some time in Amherstburg, Ontario church circles to the effect that the Rev. G. W. Wye, pastor of Christ Church, is about to renounce his allegiance to the Anglican faith and embrace that of the Roman Catholic Church. Mr. Wye has just undergone a trial on several charges. The trial excited much comment at the time, and although the commission-ers managing the case to Bishop Ross in several months ago, no decision has yet been rendered.

The first legal hanging since the county of Lehigh, Pa. was incorporated in 1812, took place Monday in the Allentown goal yard, Harry F. Johnston being the victim. Johnston murdered his one-year-old daughter, Bertha, on July 29, 1893. He was a shiftless sort of a fellow, and separated from his wife, the latter because he gave the child burdensome, so he kidnapped her, and went out for a drive, returning alone. The body of his one-year-old daughter was afterwards found dead in the river. The father was arrested, tried and convicted.

George Y. Crookshank, financial inspector of the Dominion, died at Ottawa, Monday. Deceased had been ill from consumption for about a year past. He was popular, not only at Ottawa, but all over the Dominion, as his position not only as inspector, but formerly as private secretary to Sir Leonard Tilley, made him widely known. He was 38 years of age. He was appointed financial inspector in 1892, having been assistant since 1886 until that time. The remains were interred at St. John, Wednesday, from the residence of his father, R. W. Crookshank late savings bank agent at St. John.
