FREDERICTON, JANUARY 26, 1895.

MR. LAURIER AT MONTREAL.

The Liberal leader, who with Sir Oliver Mowatt and Mr. Patterson, M. P. for Brant, spoke at Montreal, Tuesday evening, was given a rousing reception by a meeting representing the best elements of the metropolitan city, and his address left no uncertainty as to the policy of his party, and the issues which they will present to the electors during the approaching campaign.

We have space today only to give a few points in Mr. Laurier's brilliant speech. He started out with a reference to the Conservative victories achieved in recent years in Montreal, but he thought the prestige of John A. McDonald was the cause of this, and now that he was gone, there were many signs that the political influence of the party, who considered themselves appointed by divine right to govern this country, was passing away and would soon be no more.

Mr. Laurier then referred to the fact that when the policy of protection was inaugurated, its promoters promised that it should be only temporary and not permanent; there were many who had agreed with it then, but who believed it had passed its appointed time, and that the period had arrived for a change. There might be some believers in this policy yet, but who, shocked and alarmed by the revelations of corruption and malfeasance in office, had come to the conclusion that the duty of the hour demanded that prompt and salutary justice should be meted out to the men, who, recreant to their promises, had left offenders unpunished, and from whom it would be folly to expect the redress of any wrongs.

Mr. Laurier then pronounced the policy of the Liberal party, as declared in the convention at Ottawa in June, 1893, which was called to determine that policy. That policy comprehended the following subjects:

First, condemnation of the fiscal policy of the Conservative government, together with the declaration of the Liberal party on the same subject.

Second, reciprocity of trade with our neighbors.

Third, repression of corruption and malfeasance in office.

Fourth, economy in the administration of public affairs.

Fifth, the right and duty of parliament to investigate all corruption and malfeasance in office.

Sixth the selling of lands to actual settlers, and not to speculators.

Seventh, the franchise—the equitable distribution of parliamentary representation.

Eighth, temperance.

That was the Liberal policy. The Conservative party believed in protection. The Liberal party believed in free trade on broad lines such as exist in Great Britain, and their immediate object was a revenue tariff. There was only one sound profitable, desirable, patriotic system, it was that which was conclusive to the prosperity of not one class or section, not only of cities, but of all classes and sections, of the cities and country at large.

Referring to the claim of the Tory party to all the loyalty of the country, Mr. Laurier said he might not always proclaim his loyalty so glibly, but although he was of French origin, he was a Liberal of the English school. He loved England and he loved British institutions and why? Because under the banner of St. George, his fellow countrymen of French origion had found far greater freedom than they ever could have hoped for had they remained subjects of France. It was from Old England that he took his theories of economic principles, of sound government and good common sense, and upon that platform exemplified as he had told them, the liberal party of Canada would fight the next battle. Mr. Laurier concluded thus: "Gentlemen of the city of Montreal, I have now exposed to you what is the policy of the Liberal party. It is as plain as it can be. It is a programme for a customs tariff upon a basis of revenue and nothing else. That is the issue upon which we intend to fight, and that is the issue upon which I invite the cordial co-operation of the whole city of Montreal and the whole people of Canada at large."

ADVICES from Newfoundland say that confederation with Canada is the main topic of conversation there. It is stated that the government will send a delegation to Canada immediately to negotiate terms, but Premier Bowell says he has had no notice of their coming. The delegation is likely to consist of Premier Greene, ex-Premier Whiteway and ex-Colonial Secretary Bond. The legislature is expected to submit the question to a plebiscite in May, when it is almost certain to be carried. Sir William Whiteway is said to be striving to obtain the lieutenant-governorship, on condition that he advocates confederation.

THE city of Kingston, Ontario, is in the midst of a very exciting local bye-elecion. It will be remembered that in the general election last June, Hon. Wm. Harty, minister of public works in the Mowatt government, was defeated by Dr. Smythe, with a majority of one. Mr. Harty petitioned for the unseating of his successful opponent, and succeeded, and the election which takes place on Monday is to fill the vacancy. The same gentlemen are in the contest, the result of which would seem to be uncertain, as the electorate has been greatly enlarged since the fight in June, by the coming into operatian of a new basis of franchise.

JAMES GORDON FORBES, a well known St. John lawyer, has been appointed judge of the county court for St. John, succeeding the late Judge Peters. There was a great wrangle among the Conservative lawyers for the position, the candidate who pressed Mr. Forbes hardest being L. A. Currey. Mr. Forbes is a Nova Scotian, but has lived in New Brunswick since a young man. He will doubtless be able to fill the office satisfactorily.

The Halifax Herald says: Canon Partridge leaves Halifax for Fredericton to reside about May 1st. He was stationed in Fredericton once before for a number of years, and is consequently no stranger to the place and people. The doctor thinks the inland situation of the New Brunswick capital will be beneficial to his health, and the deanship of the cathedral will probably afford him leisure for reading and writing.

The old Gibson tannery is to be removed from its present position to a site some distance above the Canada Eastern station, where it will be fitted up as a car shed.

Miss Lizzie Niles, daughter of Hubbard Niles, of Gibson, was quite seriously injured Thursday evening while coasting. Dr. Coulthard rendered the necessary medical assistance.

Walter, son of Rev. Geo. B. Payson, who some years ago had his left hand crushed in a roller and had two fingers permanently bent into the palm of his hand, had the two fingers amputated Monday afternoon. Dr. Coburn, assisted by Dr. Bridges, performed the operation.

The young ladies of the Hospital Aid Society are to give an amateur theatrical performance at the City Hall on February 14th. A play called "A box of monkeys" will be placed on the boards, besides which there will be skirt dancing and other features, including the ladies' orchestra.

While assisting to move a house from Gibson to St. Marys, yesterday morning, Thos. Henry was quite seriously injured. Crossing the bridge opposite the school house, the building slewed and went over, carrying Henry and the horses with it. One horse was killed and another was injured.

Mrs. T. Carleton Alten and Mrs. Dr. McLearn gave a drive to Springhill and dance at the hotel there Thursday evening to about eighty of their friends, and the occasion was a very pleasant one. Music was furnished by an orchestra composed of Messrs. McGrath, O'Brien and McGinn, and an excellent supper was served at midnight. The latter was gotten up by Mr. and Mrs. Gunn and Wardlow Dunphy of the hotel, and reflected the greatest credit on that popular hostelry.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

Of the New Brunswick Dairying Company of Kingsclear.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the New Brunswick dairying company, was held at the Temperance hall, Lower French Village, Monday. President Dykeman in opening the meeting said: That while the past year had not been so prosperous for the company as the directors would have wished, their Kingsclear creamery business had paid its way and the present outlook was brighter than at their meeting a year ago. Since then the dairy commissioner had fulfilled his pledges to the patrons of the factory and the company, and while there was not, he reasserted, any surplus on hand to pay a dividend to the stockowners, yet, as above stated, the business as run by the company had cleared expenses.

Nine and one-third tons of butter were made during the season, giving a revenue of $823.90, and the expenditure $823.24.

A dairy depot in Fredericton was run in connection with the business. This branch had paid its expenses although it was a matter of regret there was no surplus. He contended that if the farmers of Kingsclear, Lower Queensbury and Bright would give the creamery their united and enthusiastic support, there would be no trouble in running a butter-making business that would be profitable to both company and patrons.

After the report from the auditors, the manager of the creamery, Egerton Everett, gave a report of the business done by him in the summer. The following is his statement of income and expenditure:

INCOME.

Manufactured for company, 16,945.8 lbs. butter, at 4½c. per lb.	$762 56
Manufactured for patrons, 1,752.3 lbs. butter, at 3½c. per lb.....	61 34
	$823 90

EXPENDITRE.

Wages of manager, 6 mos., at $45	$270 00
Wages of buttermaker, 6 mos., at $30.....	180 00
Wages of assistant buttermaker...	54 61
Wages of cream gatherer.....	128 50
Ferriage.....	15 20
	$647 31

OTHER EXPENSES.

Horse hire and feed.....	$75 00
Wood, $24.75; ice, $29.....	53 75
Salt and color.....	22 50
Butter tubs, $20; postage, $4.68...	24 68
	$823 24

The number of patrons who furnished cream was 42.

The amount of cream furnished was 20,874.9 inches. The amount of butter made was 18,698.1 lbs.

Returns had been received from all the butter with the exception of 3,330 lbs. in storage at the creamery and 1,300 lbs. in St. John. The average prices, after deductions of freights, discounts and commissions, was about 20½c. per lb.

The buttermilk sold has realized for the patrons about 5 cents for every 10 lbs. of butter made from their cream.

The following gentlemen were elected as board of directors for the ensuing year, viz: Messrs. G. W. Dykeman, W. T. Whitehead, A. E. Cliff, J. C. Murray, Z. R. Estey, Egerton Everett, Ranney Murray, P. C. Powys, W. W. Hubbard and Willard Kitchen. G. B. Kilburn was appointed auditor for the shareholders.

The board met after the adjournment of the meeting and elected:

G. W. Dykeman, president.
W. T. Whitehead, vice-president.
P. C. Powys, secretary.
Isaac Kilburn, treasurer.
W. W. Hubbard, auditor for directors.

The shareholders unanimously passed a motion to run the business next season, and the directors instructed Manager Everett to secure supplies of wood and ice.

Battered But Still in the Ring.

The Fredericton curlers, four rinks strong, visited St. John and St. Stephen this week and brought home three defeats. With the Thistles our boys were not in it, but they led the St. Andrews club from the start and only lost by one point. At St. Stephen the ice was very wet, making good curling impossible. The curlers returned home Thursday afternoon and are already getting in practice for the return matches to be played here next month. The scores of this week were:

AROUND THE WORLD.

The News of the World in Brief—The Cream of our Exchanges.

Lord Randolph Churchill died Thursday morning.

Mrs. and Mrs. G. J. Worden celebrated their golden wedding at Wickham, Queens Co., Wednesday.

Harrison Kinnear, whose wife is Miss Hunt of Fredericton, is now in the employ of the Van. Allan shirt house of Montreal as their traveller.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Milner of Sackville, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Y. Smith, of Moncton, leave about the first of February on a three months' trip to the Southern States and Mexico.

Edward Solomon, the composer of comic opera, died at London Tuesday. He wrote the comic opera "Billee Taylor," and married Lillian Russell, who secured a divorce from him on learning that he had another wife living.

The jury in the case of Geo. E. St. John, a prominent real estate dealer at Port Clinton, Ohio, charged with frauds in dealing in cancelled mortgages, brought a verdict of guilty at 4 o'clock Thursday morning, and an hour later he shot himself through the head, dying instantly.

Geo. H. Wiseley, lieutenant in No. 6 Company, 71st Battalion, St. Stephen, died in Boston on Friday of last week, and his remains were taken to St. Andrews for burial. Deceased was well known to the militiamen of Fredericton, and was a nephew of Alex. Wisely, who attended the funeral.

Brooklyn, N. Y., has been like an armed camp all this week. Ten thousand electric car employes are on strike and as many soldiers are quartered in the city to preserve order. Frequent collisions have occurred between the troops and strikers, and half a dozen deaths resulted. It looks now as if the strikers will soon give up the fight.

William O'Brien, M. P., has written a letter to the Freeman's Journal, stating that a famine is threatened in the west of Ireland. He declares that the situation there is already more serious than it was in 1891, when Hon. A. J. Balfour, the Chief Secretary, expended £1,000,000 from the British treasury to relieve the sufferings of the people of that region.

The imperial military authorities at Halifax are very much exercised over the disappearance of Sergeant Balham and Corporal Hotson of the Royal Engineers, and with them some $3,000 of military funds. Balham was pay sergeant, and Hotson is believed to have shared in the spoils. The police of Boston, Philadelphia and other points have been telegraphed.

At Paul's church, Montreal, Sunday, Lord Haddo and Lady Marjorie Gordon, who attended with their parents, Lord and Lady Aberdeen, partook of the sacrament for the first time. Lord Haddo was confirmed at Harrow school last term. He desired to receive the communion for the first time in the Presbyterian church. Their excellencies' children are thus merely following the course adopted in this matter by their parents, who have all their lives been connected with both the Episcopal and Presbyterian churches.

Rev. Mr. Henderson, the colored preacher of St. John, is again at liberty to minister to the flock of St. Philip's church, as Judge Barker ordered his release Monday on a habeas corpus order. John L. Carleton, counsel for the prisoner, intended raising the point that the Dominion Act of 1889 had never been proclaimed in force, which was essential to its validity, and that under existing treaties the offence charged was not extraditable. Attorney General Blair felt that Mr. Carleton's view of the law was correct, and decided not to oppose the discharge of the prisoner.

An epidemic of scarlet fever prevails at Halifax, and many deaths have occurred. The disease was taken into the Victoria general hospital, and half a dozen of the nurses contracted it. They were removed to the hospital for infectious diseases, but the fever still lingered in the general hospital and spread among the patients. In some cases whole families of children were stricken down. Mrs. Geo. S. Campbell, daughter of the famous Scotch singer, David Kennedy, contracted the disease while nursing her afflicted child. The child died, but Mrs. Campbell will recover.

A local bye-election is to be held in Colchester, N. S., Feb. 5th, to fill the seat vacated by the resignation of W. D. Dimock. It appears that after the general election, petitions were prepared against the two members elected for Colchesier, Laurence and Dimock. Among the grounds of the petition against Mr. Dimock was that he had not technically complied with the law respecting his resignation of Dominion employment before the nomination. It was agreed by leading men on both sides that the two petitions should be dropped and that Mr. Dimock should be permitted to resign and be re-elected without opposition. It is under this arrangement that Mr. Dimock has tendered his resignation, and therefore he will not be opposed. Mr. Dimock is the editor of Truro's sprightly daily paper, the News, and will be a prominent member of the opposition to Mr. Fielding's government.

We refer our readers to Lucy's house advertisement in another column. This is an opportunity of securing a very desirable residence in a very pleasant part of the city.
