These five numbers will contain the opening chapters of Barbara Kent's love story, "The House by the River," also the opening chapters (with striking illustrations) of Edie Adelaide Rowland's charming story of English high life, entitled "At a Great Cost." The other continued stories in these five numbers are by George E. Gardner and Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth. In addition to the continued stories, these five numbers of the New York Ledger contain short stories, poems, articles on the topics of the day, a brilliant editorial page, a children's column, a correspondence and scientific department, a Woman's World page devoted to everything of interest to women, including a literary department worth to any woman many times the price of the paper. The following is a partial list of the authors who contribute to these five numbers: Maud Ballington Booth, Edie Adelaide Rowland, Martin Hunter, John Burdette, Ruth Raymond, George Meredith, Mary Kyle Dallas, George Ethelbert Walsh and others.

ASTONISHED BY MATHEMATICS. A cattle dealer approached Sam Ferguson, a colored man of Brownville, K., and proposed buying a yoke of oxen which Ferguson owned. One of the steers was thin and the dealer made him an offer of two cents per pound for the best one, or would make them both at one cent a pound. Ferguson accepted the latter proposition. When the oxen were weighed, the best one tipped the beam at 1,000 pounds, the other one at 800 pounds amounting to $18. The best ox at $18.00 and the other at $8.00, total $26.00. Ferguson is out $2 and his thin ox in this transaction. Ferguson is a school teacher, and is astounded at the mysteries of mathematics, and will begin anew a study of the subject.

NATURE'S VOICES. To the discerning ear nature has many voices. She has a brook in the sweet tones of the breeze as it rushes down the hills in its ceaseless melody, now rippling with gentle cadence upon the golden sands, anon in deep boisterous voice as she lashes the beach with foam. Then the voice of trees which the laughing winds bear to our ears, of sunshine and shade, of hill and valley of birds and flowers. But she comes in plain, too, the voice of the sibilant, sizzling corn speaks impressively, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes the worst corn in twenty-four hours, painlessly and without leaving sore spots.

PROTECTION AND THE LUMBER INDUSTRY. [Special Herald.] Last week news was sent from Fort William that the first shipment of Canadian lumber had been made from that port for Chicago. At the same time we learn that the western states have decided that the output of lumber on the Saginaw river during the month of August last was the smallest in twenty years.

PROTECTION AND THE LUMBER INDUSTRY. [Special Herald.] These two items of information illustrate the forces which have been at work for many years to favor the development of the Canadian lumber industry. While on the one hand the construction of railways facilitated the opening up of new stretches of timber land on the Canadian side, the forests on the American side were being rapidly exhausted, and would naturally lead our neighbors to import from us.

MR. PARKIN'S ARRIVAL. [Special Herald.] This bit of linen of irregular size would be laid on a wad, so as to make the outside appearance smooth and rounded, and then across the body would be other strips of linen not much more than an inch wide. The doctor, as he worked his way down, found layer after layer put on in this way, forming a covering at least two inches thick all around the body. The linen was a light brown color and lay apart easily from its great age. The outer bandages were of a much finer quality than those next the body.

MR. PARKIN'S ARRIVAL. [Special Herald.] When he left off only the elbows, the right hand, and ears were in sight. They were as dark as the bitumen by which they were surrounded, but could easily be differentiated from the bitumen by a smooth marbled appearance. The outline of the face is usually the most interesting part of a mummy, but so far it is impossible to tell whether the "woman of old" was young or aged, pretty or homely, strong in character, or lacking in strength.

MR. PARKIN'S ARRIVAL. [Special Herald.] Wm. Richards, Jr., is doing a rushing business, acting as both boss and boatman; he has about 150 men under his charge. The Normd bridge across the South West branch of the Miramichi River, is in a dangerous condition. It is hoped it will be attended to at once before some serious accident happens. There is a great deal of traffic on this bridge, as all the lumber from James S. Fairley's mill is hauled across it.

MR. PARKIN'S ARRIVAL. [Special Herald.] A young gentleman of this place had been out driving his young lady the other evening, and on returning home his horse ran away and broke his buggy; he narrowly escaping himself.

At times the pain was so severe that I was unable to attend to business. The slightest exertion would excite me, and I was constantly taking rest. I tried Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, and obtained immediate relief. I have now taken four bottles and an entirely free from every symptom of heart disease. I hope this statement may induce others troubled with the same complaint to try this valuable remedy a trial." Sold by W. H. Carter and C. A. Burchell.

MR. PARKIN'S ARRIVAL. [Special Herald.] Chamberlain is, in my estimation, the best debater in the House to-day. His interest in England's affairs is intense. "Sir Charles Dilke has little or no support in his belief that England should evacuate Egypt," continued Mr. Parkin. "The other members of the House are in favor of remaining in occupation until Egypt is able to look after herself, and that will not be for a very long time."

MR. PARKIN'S ARRIVAL. [Special Herald.] The Toronto Globe's Winnipeg correspondent says: "There seems no doubt that Sir Mackenzie Bowell will seek an interview with Premier Greenway. He is determined to introduce some kind of remedial legislation, if the Manitoba government does not agree to a formal compromise. Sir Greenway and his ministers will not do so. The country requires legislation modifying the law in any particular. Nothing, therefore, will come out of the interview between the two Premiers. The remedial legislation to be introduced will not carry out the terms of the remedial order, but will propose to establish a system of settlement like that which prevails in Ontario."

MR. PARKIN'S ARRIVAL. [Special Herald.] The Toronto Globe's Winnipeg correspondent says: "There seems no doubt that Sir Mackenzie Bowell will seek an interview with Premier Greenway. He is determined to introduce some kind of remedial legislation, if the Manitoba government does not agree to a formal compromise. Sir Greenway and his ministers will not do so. The country requires legislation modifying the law in any particular. Nothing, therefore, will come out of the interview between the two Premiers. The remedial legislation to be introduced will not carry out the terms of the remedial order, but will propose to establish a system of settlement like that which prevails in Ontario."

MR. PARKIN'S ARRIVAL. [Special Herald.] This bit of linen of irregular size would be laid on a wad, so as to make the outside appearance smooth and rounded, and then across the body would be other strips of linen not much more than an inch wide. The doctor, as he worked his way down, found layer after layer put on in this way, forming a covering at least two inches thick
