A Wonderfully Liberal Offer

A Trial Subscription for The NEW YORK LEDGER.

Just to convince everybody before subscribing, of the true merits of our beautifully illustrated Journal, we will send the NEW YORK LEDGER for FIVE WEEKS FOR 10 CENTS.

These five numbers will contain the opening chapters of Barbara Kent's live story, "The House by the River," also the opening chapters (with synopsis) of Elsie Adelaide Rowland's charming story of English high life, entitled "At a Great Cost." The other contained stories in these numbers are by George E. Gardner, Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth. In addition to the continued stories, these five numbers of the New York Ledger contain short stories, poems, articles on the topics of the day, a brilliant editorial page, a children's column, a correspondence, and scientific department, a Woman's World page devoted to everything of interest to women, including a pattern department worth to any woman many times the price of the Ledger. The following is a partial list of the authors who contribute to these five numbers:

Maud Ballington Booth, Elsie Adelaide Rowland, Martin Hunter, John Jerome, Ruth Raymond, George E. Gardner, Mary Kyle Dallas, George Ethelbert Walsh and others.

This vast quantity of delightful reading matter of interest to all members of the family makes the New York Ledger the most perfect National Family Journal ever offered to the people. Try our Trial, Postmaster, or the Local Subscription Agent will receive your ten cents for a one year trial subscription and send us the money. Try it and judge for yourself what a great paper is the New York Ledger.

NOMINATION DAY.

Candidates Killam and Powell and Hon. D. C. Fraser Address the Electors of Westmorland.

The nomination proceedings at Dorchester Saturday were marked by good order, excellent speaking, and attentive listeners. The crowd present was not so large as on many former occasions.

The official nomination court was opened at 12 o'clock by Returning Officer Robert A. Chapman. H. A. Powell was nominated by the Tories and A. E. Killam by the Liberals. The nominees of the former were all Sackville voters, while the nominees of the latter contained a number of the Manitoba school names, and from every parish in the county.

At 2 o'clock Angus McQueen, high sheriff (who, by the way, was not trusted by the government to hold the election), was called to the chair and the speaking began.

Mr. Powell must have been sadly disappointed by the reception accorded him as he rose to speak; there was hardly a murmur. He began by lauding "Conservative party to the skies, and on occasion the rest of his time in trying to explain his attitude on the Manitoba school question. He was compassionately sorrowful that England should be so unwise as to blindly rush on to sure and certain destruction and poverty by her adherence to a free trade policy. His friends forgot to applaud when he resumed his seat; in fact his utterances throughout called for little or no applause.

Mr. Killam's friends warmly greeted him as he rose, and it must have enthused him wonderfully, as his best friends concurred in the statement that he delivered the most able and most convincing speech of his life. He warmly criticized his opponent's remarks, and said much more, about the school question and his views respecting the situation, in 10 minutes, than Mr. Powell had said in the nearly 40 minutes occupied by him on that subject.

After exhausting his time in referring to the trade question, and the many other issues involved in the contest, particularly to the demands of the employees of the Intercolonial, as respects pay and shorter hours, Mr. Killam made way for the Hon. D. C. Fraser, M. P. of Gagetown, and, as the stalwart Scotchman mounted the platform, he was given a most rousing reception.

He made a masterly speech, exposing the government from every standpoint. He showed himself very familiar with the trade issue, and, as he proceeded, convincing and telling speech, by which he will be long remembered favorably by the people of Westmorland, as one of the best speakers in the maritime provinces. He was once or twice interrupted by Mr. Powell and some of the Tory leaders, but they quickly learned by his readiness of repartee that it was more prudent to be silent. Mr. Fraser very amusingly turned the tables on Mr. Powell on the tobacco duties, showing freely that the gentlemen has given more attention to local than to Dominion politics. Mr. Fraser closed amid great enthusiasm and applause from his friends.

Mr. Powell followed in a speech that was strained in every respect, although his friends gathered around him in great numbers and supported him with many applause. His first speech was characterized by laudation of the party; his last by laudation of himself. He wished his powers of speech to be contrasted with those of Mr. Killam, and that a compliment was paid him by saying that Mr. Killam's speech was quoted from the census returns, showing increase of factories and persons employed therein, in Canada, forgetting, however, to explain that returns to parliament had long ago proved the fallaciousness of the figures given by him.

The Liberals were jubilant over the result of the day's proceedings, and are determinedly confident of final success, providing that the government does not flood the county with money.

BURIED IN RUINS.

A Terrible Explosion Demolishes a Denver Hotel.

Over Fifty Guests and Employees Missing.

Fire adds to the Horror of the Situation.

The Gundry hotel on Lawrence street, Denver, Colorado, was demolished by an explosion shortly after midnight, Monday, August 19th. The explosion was so terrific that the building and its contents had not yet been ascertained.

There was no warning of the sudden disaster, and a number of guests and employees lost their lives in the ruins. It is a marvel that any escaped. Thus far only 15 of the 75 people who are known to have been in the building at the time of the explosion are accounted for.

To add to the horrors of the situation, the ruins of the building took fire and many of the unfortunates who were not killed outright by the crash were slowly burned to death. Their screams and pleadings that they be killed to save them from torture by fire were pitiable in the extreme, but the terror-stricken bystanders were powerless to render them any help.

Among those known to have perished are Mr. Greiner, assistant superintendent of the state capital, and wife, and Peter Gundry, proprietor of the hotel, and wife. Besides Gundry and Greiner, the day clerk and night clerk were both missing.

Immediately after the explosion occurred a boy was heard weeping in a corner of a room which had nearly all fallen away. His parents had gone down with the first crash. Afterward the little one's cries became weaker and weaker, and when the father shot up into the skeleton of the building his voice was silenced.

It is thought that the entire force of employees in the building had been killed, for they were sleeping in the portion which fell and the remaining walls toppled over upon them, burying them from all hope of rescue.

The force of the explosion and the concussion of the falling walls shattered windows on both sides of Lawrence street from 17th to 18th street and back of the hotel on Larimer street. The plate glass windows of all the business houses were utterly wrecked and belated pedestrians were badly injured by the falling of glass and flying debris. The fronts of many buildings in the vicinity were badly wrecked.

The hotel structure for one hundred feet along the alley and extending seventy-five feet towards the rear was a mass of debris. Brick and plaster were piled in heaps twenty feet high and from the mass of wreckage could be heard the moans of the injured and dying.

At 12.30 o'clock, five injured persons were taken out. They were all inmates of the upper story, and sank down with the floors, escaping more fortunately than those below.

Every engine in the city was called to the scene, but the flames could not be gotten under control before many of the injured had been cremated. As their chances of escape lessened, the cries of imprisoned people increased, and heart-rending shrieks were heard rising from every portion of the great mass of wreckage.

Two injured women had been almost extricated from the ruins when the flames approached so close that the rescuers had to abandon them for their own safety. The bodies of three women were also seen in the back of the building, but could not be reached by the firemen.

The fireman worked with great heroism. The heat was intense and smoke blinding. Electric wires hanging in the air in the alley and walls tottering to a fall, increased the peril of the situation.

The school has been re-opened under the skillful management of Mrs. G. Fuller. Miss Hattie Crowell is teaching French, Lake school and Duncan London has charge of the one at Maquaki Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Emery Briggs are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a stranger—a girl.

Mrs. Brown started for Boston this morning, accompanied by Mrs. A. S. Randall, who intends spending a few weeks with her daughters at Boston and Auburn respectively. Mrs. Brown has the sympathy of her many friends in her trouble by the loss of her eldest daughter while at this place. Her other daughter will remain here for the winter to attend school.

Rather a serious accident might have occurred at McGowan's wharf last week. Miss Atherton and her little nephew were returning to Fredericton by steamer. As the steamer was leaving the wharf a high breeze was blowing when she lost hold of the child. It was immediately caught by W. D. Bridges, whose keen eye happened to be watching it.

The young people seem to enjoy going blueberrying; but is it the fun or business they care most about?

MILK SOLD BY THE PLUG.

Solid Fresh Cakes of the Danish Product on Sale in London.

Canada's representative in Denmark reports that during the past year a new industry has been established there which promises to prove both profitable and serviceable, and which might be followed with equal success on this side of the water, viz., the shipment of frozen milk to large cities. A year ago a Danish merchant experimented in this direction by taking Danish milk which is peculiarly delicate and rich in flavor, freezing it by the use of ice and salt, and sending it in barrels by rail and steamer to London. On its arrival the milk proved to be as sweet and well tasting as if it had been just drawn from a cow in the middle of Sweden. The milk was so tenderly packed that it was not only in demand and proved so profitable an article of commerce that the exporter immediately took out a patent on the shipment of frozen milk from Sweden and Denmark to London. He then sold the patent to a stock company with large capital, which, on Feb. 1st, last, commenced the largest Swedish creamery, converted it into a factory, and, having put in a special freezing apparatus, began, on May 1, the export of frozen milk in large quantities.

When the milk is received from the farmers it is Pasteurized, that is, heated to 75° C, and then immediately cooled off to about 10° C, and now the freezing is commenced. Half the milk is filled into cans and placed in a freezing apparatus, where it will be thoroughly frozen in the course of three hours. The frozen milk is then filled into barrels of pine, the only kind of wood that can be used. The barrels, however, are only half filled with this frozen milk. This way of packing has proved to be the only practical one, as part of the milk has to be frozen in order to keep the whole cold, and part has to be in a flowing state in order to get the barrels exactly full, which is necessary in order to avoid too much shaking up on the road, by which the cream would be turned into butter.

The freezing masses of ice at the same time prevent the unfrozen milk in the barrels from freezing. Milk which is tested in this way has proved to keep quite fresh for twenty-six days. Every barrel holds 1,000 pounds of milk, and twice a week there will be shipped fifty barrels, making in all about 100,000 pounds of milk a week.

The milk is shipped to Newcastle, and from there by rail to large manufacturing cities, where it is sold in the streets or in retail stores. It is reported that the patent has been bought for Ireland also at a price of $200,000, which proves how much the stock company expects from this new enterprise.

The time may not be far away when the dairy-farms of the New England and Western States may be sending, not butter and milk, but frozen milk and cream, to the large cities of both continents.
