FREDERICTON, MAY 8, 1895.
DISCUSSED IN PARLIAMENT.

Our esteemed friends Hon. G. E. Foster, Thos. Temple M. P. and Millonaire Alexander Gibson, seem to have been subjected to a bad afternoon in the House of Commons at Ottawa, last Wednesday, the particulars of which we furnish today in another column. The Fredericton railway bridge and incidentally the distinguished gentlemen named above, were the subjects of discussion, and the opposition members who talked on that occasion apparently did not mince matters. On the other hand they seem to have struck straight out from the shoulder, and that their words told, is evidenced by the fact that Mr. Foster, the usually calm, serene and dignified Mr. Foster got howling mad, and our usually stolid friend Mr. Temple, actually rose to his feet and made a speech, the first since his able discussion of the woodpecker's habits. What Mr. Gibson would have done had he been sitting under opposition fire, we leave our readers to imagine.

It will be noted that Mr. Foster made no attempt at defence against the government and himself in the premises; he simply indulged in personal abuse, and adulation of his friend and patron Mr. Gibson. "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours," through a homely phrase, seems to fit the occasion. Some months ago Mr. Gibson came down from Marysville at some personal inconvenience, and attended the Tory convention here, and nominated Mr. Foster for Parliament. What more natural than for Mr. Foster to return the compliment by sounding Mr. Gibson's praises in Parliament. But perhaps we should have gone back a step farther. Mr. Gibson's bridge company owes Mr. Foster's government $72,000 overdue interest; what more natural than that Mr. Gibson should nominate and guarantee to elect Mr. Foster in York. We suppose that there are some people who stand against when it is charged that either of these gentlemen was animated by selfish or personal motives in thus assisting each other, but both Mr. Foster and Mr. Gibson are only human, and if we may be permitted to draw the inference, we shall say that around these parts where both gentlemen are very well known, it is generally believed that their mutual cooperation is in the interest of Mr. Foster and Mr. Gibson, and not entirely from patriotic or philanthropic motives.

In Wednesday's discussion, Mr. Temple made one or two statements which invite attention. He said, for instance, that his company had sunk $120,000 in the bridge creation. This with the $330,000 contributed by the government would bring the cost of that work up to $450,000. We have no particular comment to make on this remarkable statement, except this, that if Mr. Temple thinks there is anybody more foolish than to swallow it, he is very much mistaken. It is of a piece with his other remark that he had never received anything from the government, no bridge loan, no gift of $300,000 for his company, no offices for his sons-in-law, no promise of a senatorship for himself. Mr. Temple is another George Washington, George would not tell a lie; Mr. Temple could not if he tried. No such pure-minded, honest and truthful statesman as Mr. Temple ever sat in Parliament. He is above hoodling, far away beyond the base influences to which some men are susceptible. So is Mr. Gibson and Mr. Foster. Patriots all these, immeasurably above the sordid lust for gain, little short of angelic virtues, and indeed for immediate citizenship in the better world. Bow your heads ye ordinary mortals in adoration of this great triumvirate. Get down on your knees, ye McMullens, Lesters, Cartwrights and Mulocks and worship those rising stars of an immaculate brotherhood.

One of the most touching features of the bridge discussion was the oration of our friend Mr. Hazen, who, when the shot was flying too thickly for Foster, Gibson and Temple, came to the rescue of these gentlemen in one of those beautifully bad painted addresses for which the junior member for St. John is so celebrated. Mr. Hazen out-did Mr. Foster in his flattery of Mr. Gibson, and in his kindly and generous remarks, heaped words of fire on the latter's head. Mr. Hazen is full of the spirit of forgiveness, for our memory recalls a time—only ten years ago—when Mr. Hazen's political ambitions were in the bad. Mr. Gibson was then as he is now active in the political arena, but he had no use for Mr. Hazen. He summoned the hosts of Nashwaak against Mr. Hazen's ambition to sit in the legislature, and the forests of that classic region resounded with the rejoicings over Mr. Hazen's defeat. But all is forgiven by Mr. Hazen, and Mr. Gibson is the greatest man on earth. We have no objection to that.

The opposition speakers in the debate seemed to have admirably grasped the situation and were able to correctly draw the inferences. On one point, however, they were ably assisted by Mr. Hazen, viz: That the bridge loan and Mr. Gibson's conversion to Toryism were concurrent events. Mr. Hazen says Mr. Gibson's change of heart occurred in 1887; we have the records to show that the $300,000 loan was made the same year. That is an important point to remember. Our opposition friends were also cruel enough to hint that the $72,000 overdue interest had some remote connection with Mr. Foster's nomination in York, and that Mr. Temple as one of the members of the bridge company which is a defaulter to the government, is severely wounding the constitution and the independence of Parliament, by sitting and voting in the House of Commons. We are glad the Opposition have called Mr. Temple's attention to this point. Mr. Temple we know to be a highly tensioned sensitive man, who would not for a moment copy a seat in Parliament if he really knew the constitution of that body was in danger. We have seen already Mr. Temple the witness, that he repels the insinuations of hoodling; how his virtuous soul must have writhed in remorse when he discovered that the idea is entertained in opposition quarters that he ought not to sit in Parliament while his company is a defaulter to the government.

But we shall not follow the discussion any further at this moment. Every elector of York county ought to read and remember it. It is not a new thing to THE HERALD's constituency. We have weeks ago presented to the main statements made in Parliament, but we very gladly welcome such able allies in the discussion as Messrs. McMullen, Lister, Cartwright and Mulock, who apparently regard the bridge affair as especially damaging to the government. The comments of the Upper Province papers to us very severe, but we shall direct attention to them at a later stage.

ALARMING CONDITIONS.
If after reading Mr. Foster's budget speech, every patriotic Canadian does not conclude that it is about time that gentleman was removed from the control of the finances, the patience of the people, with financial blundering, extravagance and incompetence, must be one of their greatest virtues. The whole story of it is an apology for mismanagement, a confession of inability to handle the business of the country and make both ends meet. Mr. Foster acknowledges three heavy deficits in three successive years, $1,210,000 for 1893-94; $4,500,000 for 1894-95, and $1,700,000 for 1895-96. A total deficit for the three years ending June 30th, 1896, of $7,410,000. It is simply disgraceful that with all the burdensome taxes the people of Canada have to pay under Tory rule, they should be saddled with deficit after deficit, adding millions upon millions to the public debt and increasing the interest charges from year to year. Last year we added some $8,000,000 to the public debt, and the interest for 1895-96, according to Mr. Foster's estimate, will increase $514,452.63, bringing the total interest charge for that year up to $1,732,708.14, or more than $2.50 for every man, woman and child in Canada.

And what does Mr. Foster propose to do to overcome in part the recklessness expenditure of the government? There were two courses open to him: go to England and arrange a fresh loan (he borrowed $12,000,000 last year) or pile on more taxes. He has chosen the latter; he has placed 1 cent per lb. on raw sugar. To be paid by the refiners? Oh, no, by the people, for the duty on refined sugar has been increased proportionately. These additional duties Sir Richard Cartwright declares will cost $3,000,000 a year out of the taxpayers, while only yielding the government a revenue of $1,200,000. The balance of $1,800,000 will go into the pockets of the government's friends—the refiners. With such a pot as that, the refiners may be expected to come down handsomely when contributions are solicited for the Tory election fund.

Mr. Foster also increases the customs duty on refined spirits by 5 cents per gallon, and the excise duty is raised 12 cents per gallon. This he estimates will give the government $800,000; but in fact of all this, and in spite of an alleged reduction in the estimated expenditure of nearly $2,000,000, Mr. Foster calculates that at the end of the coming year we shall have a deficit of $1,700,000.

But we have little hope that the government will be able to make even as good a showing as that on June 30th, 1896. There is to be a general election before that, and there will be no end to the extra amounts which will be pledged either in public works or other direct bribes to retain the Tory party in power. Take the proposed Hudson Bay railway. Premier Bowell stated in the Senate Friday that the country is pledged to that work to the extent of 6,400 acres of land per mile, and an additional subsidy of $50,000 per annum for twenty years. Now the government propose changing the conditions of the subsidy, but not to lighten the burden to the grant. They propose to take back the land grant, our own land, and the original and original money subsidy, to vote the road $10,000 per mile, or in all, $2,500,000. We say this liability is not included in Mr. Foster's estimates, nor is the enormous expenditure to be incurred on the Trent Valley canal. Then there are a score of enterprises which will be claiming attention in view of the election, and which the government will be bound to aid to save their positions and their salaries.

From Mr. Foster's own showing it is evident the financial condition of the country is most deplorable, but the electors will soon have an opportunity of driving the corruptists out of office, and placing men in power who will have some sense of their responsibility to the people and the country. But you say, ah! it was not Cartwright's reign marked by a series of deficits. Yes, he had a deficit for three years, and for two years a surplus, but the former, even with the low taxation of the time, some 17 per cent—against over 30 per cent of the present day—amounted to less than $1,000,000 more than the deficit Foster has piled up this year.

Who wanted to purchase Mr. Temple?
Who? We are afraid the question, like "Who struck Billy Patterson?" will never be answered. Mr. Temple has the seal of the lock on his own breast, and absolutely refuses to divulge the name of the would-be briber. Mr. Temple does himself an injustice. The whole world would like to know who the individual is. As a dime museum freak, as the greatest curiosity of the age, the person who sought to profane the sacred personality of York's M.P., would command a fortune if he could be induced to make his bow before the public. Mr. Charlton was wicked enough to suggest that Mr. Temple, being unwilling to give the person's name, the inference was natural that our esteemed friend was juggling with the truth.

The Templar, the leading temperance and prohibition paper in Canada, has a cartoon showing Mr. Foster in two positions, or as it is put, the Foster Brothers. One figure is labelled temperance, and his arm is labelled temperance lectures, the other represents Mr. Foster in Parliament as the politician. Foster of old addressing Foster of today says: Congratulations Brother Foster, upon your elevation to the leadership of the House. Now you shall have your help to get prohibition. Foster of today—You're mistaken, Sir, I'm not Brother Foster the temperance crank; I'm the Conservative leader of the House of Commons.

An exchange speaks of the proposed Hudson Bay bill as a "filling a long felt want, connecting the fossiliferous strata west of James Bay with the auriferous dolomites of Chesterfield Inlet, and the prairie dogs of Manitoba with the polar bears of Greenland."

Dr. T. H. Rand, formerly a resident of Fredericton, and chief superintendent of Education in this province, has resigned the chancellorship of McMaster university, Toronto, on the ground of ill health.

The indefatigable B. F. Pearson, of Halifax, has succeeded in raising the necessary capital for the construction of the proposed electric railway in that city, and work will be commenced at once.

KIND TO HIS RELATIVES.

Mr. Foster has been kind to his relatives. His cousin, Howard McLeod, enjoys a $2,000 salary as savings bank agent in St. John, N.W. Crookshank, having been superannated at over $1,500 per annum to make room for him. Another cousin, Rev. Dr. McLeod of this city, possessor of $4,814 out of the prohibition commission for the two years ending last June. Another cousin, S. J. Jenkins, has been rushed over the heads of other clerks in the finance department at Ottawa and enjoys a salary of $2,000 per annum, and it is understood that still another cousin, E. McLeod, M. P. for St. John, is to be made a Supreme Court judge, and possibly Chief Justice. York county people, who are thinking that if Mr. Foster secures his election here it will be a great help to them securing offices, may make up their minds to disappointments in a more "cousins" yet to be provided for.

Hon. A. G. Blair, when in Montreal the other day, was asked by an interviewer: "How does the Liberal trade policy, as laid down at the Ottawa convention, commend itself to the electors of New Brunswick?" replied: "It meets with universal approval. There is no question about the fact that our people are a unit in demanding free trade relations with the United States. On the trade question the Liberals will sweep the province. A general election fought on the basis of the trade question, and barring side issues, will undoubtedly result in an overwhelming majority for Mr. Laurier."

For printing and advertising during the year ending June 30th, 1894, the St. John Sun drew from the Dominion government the very generous sum of $10,670.06, or $29.23 for every day in the year, including Sundays. There are, therefore, more than ten thousand reasons why the Sun does not desire a change of government at Ottawa.

Nicaragua has formally accepted Great Britain's terms and the British forces have been withdrawn from Corinto. The little republic has been taught a useful lesson that she cannot fool with John Bull's subjects, and it cost her a $1,000,000 in all.

Although there is no provision in the estimates for the annual drill of the militia, Hon. Mr. Dickey stated in parliament that there would be a camp of instruction this year. This will add some $200,000 or $300,000 more to Mr. Foster's deficit for 1895-96.

Board of Health Inspectorship.

The city woke up this morning with a brain new board of health, but it is to be hoped that current rumors regarding the motives and intentions which animated the City Council in constituting the new board is as untrue as the story of the city. It is believed that Ald. Macpherson, who nominated all the new members, has for some years been after the scalp of Inspector Farrell, not because the latter has not proved a good officer, but because he happens to have a quarrel with the council, especially with the proposed appointment of Ald. Macpherson's schemes. It is stated that Ald. Macpherson, and those who acted with him, expect that the new board of health will dismiss Inspector Farrell and appoint Roadmaster McKay in his place with this object that Mr. McKay's uncle made the nomination which will be observed, includes Mr. McKay's brother-in-law, Mr. Neill. We trust that for the credit of the health department, no such change will be made. Mr. McKay, who already enjoys a $400 position under the council, lives two miles out of the town, and it would be absurd to appoint him to a position which often demands prompt and instant service. A diphtheria or scarlet fever epidemic or some such thing breaks out and the inspector is at his home two miles from the city, and besides we have never heard of any charges against Inspector Farrell. Are the gentlemen composing the new board of health prepared to dismiss a faithful officer simply because personal spleen demands that his head be cut off? It is known that Ald. Macpherson has been following Inspector Farrell for years. He succeeded in getting him ousted from the chief assessorship, and he is after him still. Surely the members of the board of health are not prepared to aid and abet Ald. Macpherson in his designs, especially when the council appoints to a resident of the city proper and might not be promptly available in an emergency which often arises. The public do not expect that personal spite shall enter into every avenue of the civic business, and the members of the board of health no doubt will hesitate before lending themselves to a scheme which is not in the public interest and which cannot be justified from any standpoint.

City Council Meeting.

The Mayor and all the Aldermen were present at the regular monthly meeting of the City Council last night and the session lasted till nearly midnight. After the usual routine business, the Council discussed the Board of Health business brought up at a former meeting, and a motion to dismiss ex-Mayor Beckwith and ex-Alderman Moore, the remaining members of that body, was carried, 6 to 4. Yeas—Rosenbrough, Lemont, Everett, Macpherson, Anderson, Adams, Naya—Gillman, Golding, Babbitt, Limerick. The new Board of Health was then constituted as follows: J. M. Wiley, Havocley Coy, Dr. Crockett, J. S. Neill and J. D. Macpherson. The Council, we think, went very much out of its way in dismissing Mr. Beckwith and Mr. Moore. Both gentlemen have faithfully served the people in the Council and the Board of Health, and their friends will no doubt find occasion to resent the indignity. The Council refused to issue billiard licenses for the current year. They also decided to order three new electric lights to be placed (1) at Lennox's corner on Campbell street; (2) corner of Westmorland and Saunders street; (3) head of George street on Smythe street. It is understood also that Ald. Lemont has been authorized to interview the Electric Light company and induce them if possible to return to the city of turning off the electric lights before schedule time in the early morning and give the service thus saved on dark nights before schedule time in the early evening. From this action it is evident that the new council find that the ridicule heaped on the old council for its management of the Electric Light business, was altogether unjust and uncalled for, and they are trying to follow in the tracks of their predecessors. The electric light service is so good evidently, that they want all they can get of it.

The Fredericton rifle club at its annual meeting last night, elected the following officers: President, Major Jordan; vice-president, Col. Gordon; secretary, Surgeon Bridges; treasurer, Lieut. Perkins; committee of management, Lieut. McFarlane, Corp. D. Le Babbitt, Sergt. Wilson, Sergt. Rosebrough and Sergt. Duncan.

Endowment Investment Contract.
Endowment insurance is both safe and profitable, in that it gives a large return in case of early death and a satisfactory investment if the holder lives to the end of the term. A reference to the last official government report shows the North American Life Assurance Company has a larger net surplus in proportion to its liabilities than that of any other company. For full information regarding the excellent investment plans of the company, address C. E. Duffy, Esq., local agent, Fredericton, T. W. Lavers, provincial manager.

Dr. Dow Coburn, who shot his arm at Canterbury last autumn, had another operation performed last week, and since that time has been in a very precarious condition. To-day, however, he is somewhat easier, and his friends have a faint hope that he will rally.

Sara Lord Bailey, the queen of elocution, will give an entertainment in the City hall, Monday evening, 13th inst.

The appearance in that city, under the name of Sara Lord Bailey made a decided hit with her recitations. Miss Bailey's elocutionary efforts were a revelation, and she proved herself the ablest elocutionist who has visited Canada since the days of Mrs. Scott-Siddons.

Mrs. Flannigan, wife of Thos. Flannigan, of Marysville, died at her home there Monday, after quite a long illness from consumption. The deceased, whose maiden name was Maloy, belonged to Chipman, Queens county, and leaves behind her a husband, two children and a number of the most worthy work and business. She was forty years of age. The funeral took place at 8:30 this morning, interment at the Hernitage, and services by Rev. Fr. Kiernan. Mrs. Flannigan has the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends in this great bereavement.

Welcome to Dr. Partridge.
The church of England people crowded their hall last night to its utmost capacity in extending a welcome to Rev. Dr. Partridge, the new Sub-dean of the Cathedral. The affair was in charge of the Women's Aid Association, and most effectively did they carry it out. The welcome to Dr. Partridge, Mrs. Partridge and their family was spontaneous and hearty, convincing them, no doubt, that they had not lost their bet when a generous and warm-hearted people. Rev. Mr. Whalley was master of ceremonies. The ladies who received included Mrs. Kingdon, Mrs. Tabor, Mrs. Gordon, Mrs. T. Carleton Allen, Mrs. E. B. Winslow and others. Governor and Mrs. Fraser were present. His Lordship the Bishop, Rev. Mr. Brigstocke, St. John, Rev. Canon Roberts, Rev. H. Montgomery, Rev. Mr. Parkinson and Rev. H. E. Dibble formed the clerical group. Addresses of welcome were given by the Bishop, the Governor and Rev. Canon Roberts, to which Dr. Partridge very eloquently and feelingly responded. An excellent musical programme was provided by an orchestra consisting of Miss Babbitt, piano, Prof. Caldwell, violin and J. H. Williamson, cornet. There were songs by Mrs. W. E. Smith, Miss Macdonald and the University Glee Club, and a piano solo by Miss Radcliffe. The hall was very prettily decorated with flags, Chinese lanterns and potted plants from Bebbington's, and ices were served during the evening. At the conclusion of the formal ceremonies, the audience was invited to the hall upstairs, where lunch consisting of coffee, sandwiches, cake, etc., was served by the ladies. Altogether the affair was a great success, and everybody who met the guests of the evening were more than pleased with them. Dr. Partridge enters upon his work here under singularly happy circumstances.

The bicycle is becoming a favorite means of locomotion with many of our business men. One of the sights on our streets every day is Willard Kitchen propelling his 250 lbs. avoirdupois along at a 2.40 gait on his wheel, and the latest addition to the lists of cyclists is Hon. F. P. Thompson, who thinks nothing of taking a run to Springhill and back after tea. It is said Mayor VanWart is contemplating the purchase of a wheel, and that the Liberal candidate E. H. Allen may conduct his canvass through York county on a "Brantford" or a "Columbia," while Mr. Foster perambulates through the country in his palaco car.
