FREDERICTON, JULY 3, 1895.

THE CRISIS IN ENGLAND.

The defeat of the Liberal government of Great Britain and the accession to power of a Tory administration, attracts the attention of at least the whole English speaking world. Lord Salisbury, who leads the new government, has only one day of office since 1892, and many members of his old cabinet are with him in the new.

Next to the premier in importance is the Duke of Devonshire, better known by his courtesy title during the late duke's lifetime, Marquis of Huntingdon; he was born July 23, 1831. He was made a Lord of the admiralty in 1863, and secretary of state for war in 1866. He was postmaster-general from 1868 to 1871, chief secretary for Ireland from 1871 to 1874, secretary of state for India from 1880 to 1882, and again secretary of state for war from 1882 to 1885. The duke was formerly a supporter of Mr. Gladstone, but upon the introduction of the Home Rule question, he abandoned his leader and assumed the position of leader of the Liberal-Unionist party in the house of commons.

The Right Hon. George J. Goschen, the new first lord of the treasury, is a nephew of the Marquis of Salisbury. He was born in 1845, was appointed president of the local government board in 1885, and was secretary for Scotland, with a seat in the cabinet from 1885 to 1887. He became chief secretary for Ireland in 1887, and retained that position until 1891, when he became first lord of the treasury and leader of the house of commons, retaining that position until 1892, when the Salisbury government resigned.

Right Hon. George J. Goschen, first lord of the admiralty, was born in 1831, was first lord of the admiralty from 1868 to 1874, and was chancellor of the exchequer in Lord Salisbury's second administration, holding office until 1892.

The Rt. Hon. Sir Michael Edward Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, was born in 1837, was chief secretary for Ireland from 1874 to 1878, and secretary of state for the colonies from the last date until 1880. He was appointed chancellor of the exchequer in 1885, and again secretary for Ireland in 1886. He resigned the latter office March, 1887, but remained a member of the cabinet without office till January, 1888. He re-entered the cabinet in February, 1888, as president of the board of trade.

Rt. Hon. Lord George Francis Hamilton, secretary of state for India, is the third son of the Duke of Abercorn, and brother of Lady Lansdowne; born 1845, and was first lord of the admiralty 1885-86, and again August 1889-92.

Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies was formerly a Liberal, but left Gladstone on the Home Rule question.

Right Hon. Henry Chaplin, the new president of the local government board, was chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster 1885-6, and president of the board of agriculture with a seat in the cabinet, 1889-92.

Lord Lansdowne, the new secretary of state for war, is well known in Canada, as the predecessor of Lord Stanley of Preston, as Governor-General, and until succeeded by Lord Elgin, was vicerey of India. He is the fifth marquis, and was born in 1845, and is married to a daughter of the Duke of Abercorn. He has been secretary of the treasury, his parliamentary under secretary for war, and secretary of state for India. He served in Canada from 1883 to 1888.

Hardinge Stanley Giffard, lord high chancellor, (Lord Halsbury) was born in 1825, was solicitor general, 1875-80; M. P. for Lancaster, 1881, when he was raised to the Woolwich; again lord chancellor, 1887-92.

Viscount Cross, who has been made lord privy seal, was born in 1823; was secretary of state for the Home office 1874-80, again in 1885; secretary of state for India, 1889-92; was formerly M. P. for Preston and Lancaster. His full name is Richard Ashley Cross.

Rt. Hon. Sir Henry James, M. P. for Bury, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, was solicitor general, 1873; attorney general, November, 1875 to February 1874; re-appointed 1880, and continued till 1885, is a Liberal, opposed Mr. Gladstone's home rule scheme.

Lord Ashbourne (Edward Gibson) lord chancellor for Ireland, was born in 1837, and was attorney general and lord chancellor for Ireland in succession; again lord chancellor 1886-92.

The Earl of Cadogan, lord lieutenant of Ireland, was born in 1840. He has been parliamentary under secretary for war, and under secretary of state for the colonies; was lord privy seal from 1886 to 1892 under Lord Salisbury. He joined the Salisbury cabinet in 1887.

The most noticeable feature of the new appointments, says a London correspondent, is the inclusion in the cabinet of two more Liberal-Unionists, namely, Lord Lansdowne and Sir Henry James, making a representation of four for the following of the Duke of Devonshire and Mr. Chamberlain. The names of the cabinet generally are what might have been predicted with one or two exceptions. Lord Lansdowne has never previously held cabinet rank. When Lord Randolph Churchill left the Salisbury government in 1887, Lord Lansdowne, who had thrown in his lot with the Liberal-Unionists, was invited by Lord Salisbury to join his cabinet, but declined, and not long afterwards was sent a vicerey to India.

The Montreal Herald thinks the militia department has made a bad blunder in rescinding the order prohibiting military bands in uniform taking part in other than military functions. Military bands may now appear in any party or political demonstration in regulation uniform on receiving permission from the commanding officer of the battalion.

The session of parliament at Ottawa has been barren of useful legislation, but prolific in scandals. After an experience of seventeen years of Tory government, the people of Canada have made up their minds for a change, and the present Tory ministers got back to parliament to be to sit on the opposition benches.

The revival of trade in the United States observes an exchange is a hand out for high-tariff advocates. They ascribed the recent depression to the reduction of the McKinley duties, and predicted that times would never be better till McKinleyism was re-established. But times are getting better so rapidly that some Republicans think it would be wise to take the tariff issue out of politics. Wages are being increased not through strikes but by voluntary action of employers, and manufacturers who protested that they would be ruined, find that the reduced duties on their products suit them quite as well as the old ones and the lighter duties on their raw material a good deal better.

The English post office department has decided on the execution of the trunk wires intended to afford telephonic communication between London, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Dublin and other important towns, and the Postmaster-General told that the first occasion on which the cables between the three countries comprising the United Kingdom have been enabled to converse with each other was one of such exceptional interest that he invited the Lord Mayor of London to send the first telephone message to his municipal colleagues, the Lord Provost of Edinburgh, the Lord Mayor of Dublin, and the Lord Provost of Glasgow.

The Chatham World has been hearing some political rumors which may or may not have some foundation. It says that private advice from Ottawa states Mr. Adams, M. P. for Northumberland, is to be appointed to the Senate as successor to Hon. K. F. Burns, deceased. Should Mr. Adams be called to the Senate, it is expected that Hon. L. J. Tweedie will offer as the government candidate in Northumberland county, and that Hon. John P. Burchill will succeed him as Surveyor General.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA.

The Manitoba School Question a Very Disturbing Factor.

All is yet uncertainly regarding the course the government will pursue on the Manitoba school question. Dr. Weldon, M. P. for Albert, dean of the Halifax law school and a constitutional scholar views on the Manitoba school question rather adverse to the commonly accepted opinions of administrative responsibility.

"So far as I have been able to ascertain," he says, "the overwhelming weight of professional opinion favors the view that the promulgation of the remedial order in no way pledged the Government, or any member of the same, to support a remedial bill in Parliament."

"In your judgment, though the government are not bound by having issued a remedial order, to introduce a remedial law, should they not take control of such a measure in Parliament?" Distinctly no; and for these reasons. The members of the government are well known to be divided on the merits of separate schools. Those members of the government who are in a minority on the question will most unjustly be put wrong in their consciences and the country. If the government stakes its life on the passage of such a law, it will attract to its support the bulk of the Catholic vote. It will repeal the bulk of the Protestant.

"The country then will see this deplorable condition—two great parties divided, by a religious line. Furthermore, the government have no special competence. To deal with the matter of school law. They have no minister of education, and no departmental staff to favor them with detailed and expert knowledge. The further result of making this a party question will be to deprive of nomination, or to defeat at polls, a number of the most worthy members of parliament."

The Manitoba remedial bill is now being drafted by Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, minister of justice. Three of his colleagues assure me that they will oppose it with all their might.

The bill now being drafted will be more sweeping than generally expected. It proposes, briefly, to establish a Bureau of education, possessing all the powers necessary for the organization of schools. This will carry with it the right to construct, establish, carry on and maintain free schools, as well as the choice of text books.

W. F. MacLean, M. P., Conservative, writes to his paper, the Toronto World, as follows: "Every day members ask one another as to when the session is likely to end, and all seem to be in an equal state of doubt. Influential members on both sides of the house today expressed the opinion that prorogation would hardly take place before August. It is brought that remedial legislation is to be realized down to what its scope will be is questionable whether even the government can yet say. The interesting announcement is made that Mr. Dalton McCarthy, M. P., has cancelled his passage for England, for which country he is to leave next week, and he will remain here to watch the course of the proposed remedial bill and presumably to fight it tooth and nail."

In the House of Commons yesterday, Hon. G. E. Foster referring to remedial legislation said: "The papers from the Manitoba legislature only came into our hands this morning. They will be taken into consideration at once, and the government will be able, I think, in a very short time to intimate to the house what course it proposes to pursue."

BRITAIN'S NEW CABINET.

The Marquis of Salisbury has completed the work of forming a new British cabinet, as follows: Premier and secretary of state for foreign affairs—The Marquis of Salisbury. President of the council—The Duke of Devonshire. Lord high chancellor—Baron Halsbury. Lord privy seal—Viscount Cross. Chancellor of the exchequer—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach. Secretary of state for home affairs—The Right Hon. Sir Mathew White Ridley. First Lord of the treasury—The Right Hon. A. J. Balfour. Secretary of state for the colonies—The Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain. Secretary of state for war—The Marquis of Lansdowne. Secretary of state for India—The Right Hon. George J. Goschen. Secretary of state for the colonies—The Right Hon. C. T. Ritchie. President of the local government board—The Right Hon. Henry Chaplin. Lord Lieutenant of Ireland—Earl Cadogan. Lord Chancellor of Ireland—Baron Ashbourne.

Secretary for Scotland—Baron Balfour of Burleigh. Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster—The Right Hon. Sir Henry James. The other appointments are as follows: Financial secretary of the treasury—Mr. Robert Williams Hanbury. Under secretary of foreign affairs—The Right Hon. George N. Curzon.

The position of chief secretary for Ireland and postmaster general have not been allotted yet.

Five of the seventeen cabinet positions will be held by men who were formerly Liberals, and who held cabinet positions under Mr. Gladstone. These deserters from the Liberal party are the Duke of Devonshire, the Marquis of Lansdowne, Sir Henry James, and Messrs. Chamberlain and Goschen.

A later despatch says that the Duke of Norfolk, Unionist, has been appointed postmaster general, in succession to Hon. Arnold Morley, and Gorland William Balfour, brother of right hon. A. J. Balfour, has been appointed chief secretary for Ireland.

The City Schools.

The semi-public examination of the city schools took place Friday in the presence of a large number of spectators. At the high school, after the usual review exercises, the prize winners were announced as follows: Douglas silver medal, Ethel Brittain; mathematical prize, Fannie Hoben; English, Fannie Hoben, Lizzie Dougherty and Ethel Brittain. Dr. H.S. Bridges made the presentations.

Lizzie M. Dougherty then read the valedictory on behalf of the graduating class, which is composed as follows: Fannie Hoben, Lizzie M. Dougherty, Ethel Brittain, Charles McPherson, Peter Hughes, Agnes Stanger, Guy Saunders, Agnes Sweeney, Edith McKern, Nellie M. Dougherty, Ethel Lynn, Frank VanWart, Fannie Neville, Alice McFarlane, Del Belyea, Austin Sweeney. Rev. Canon Roberts presented the graduating certificates with a pleasant speech.

Mr. Walker, who resigns his position on the staff, was presented with an address by the pupils, accompanied by a pair of opera glasses.

At the Charlotte street school the pupils presented Principal Hagerman with an address and a gold-headed cane.

JUNE 24—The weather for the past week has been very hot and dry, Thursday being the hottest day of the season. The rain which came on Saturday has made the crops look much better. Hay will be a very light crop in this section. Carrots are almost a failure. Some of our farmers have harvested over their carrougound and sowed it with turnips or buckwheat. There are a good many of the farmers of this place making improvements in their buildings; some are building new houses while others are repairing. We are sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Charlie Love of Springfield, who died very suddenly on Friday last. Her remains were interred at Macnaquon on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Christie have returned from their visit to Stanley and Nashawak Village and were well pleased with their trip. Mrs. Geo. Foster is at present visiting at Mr. Sam. Allen's.

AROUND THE WORLD.

The News of the World in Brief—The Cream of our Exchanges.

The Salisbury Ministry took office on Saturday. Hon. Geo. T. Baird took his seat in the senate at Ottawa Friday. Judge Wedderburn is going to Europe shortly for an extended trip. John L. Sullivan and his theatrical company are playing in St. John. Dr. Buchanan, the wife murderer was married Monday at Sing Sing. Harvard College has conferred the degree of A. M. upon Joe. Jefferson the actor. Ald. P. Kennedy, a member of the Quebec house of assembly, died at Montreal Sunday.

A New Brunswick 6d yellow postage stamp, unused and untraced, was sold by auction in London week before last for 25 lbs. Mrs. Robinson, formerly of Beaufort county, and mother of Mrs. E. A. Smith, of St. John, died at River du Loup, P. Q., last week. Professor Huxley, one of the world's greatest scientists and the foremost of British zoologists, died at London Saturday night.

Edward Logwell, a prominent resident of Seattle, disappeared from his home June 24th, and has not since been seen. His friends fear he has suicided. The Judicial Committee amendment bill, enabling colonial judges to sit with that committee, passed its third reading in the House of Lords last week.

The Prince Rupert, a steamship capable of making 21 miles an hour, has been placed on the St. John-Digby route, and will make two trips a day between those points. The principal feature of the Dominion Day celebration at Montreal was the unveiling of the statue erected to the memory of Maisonneuve, the illustrious founder of that city.

Among the features of Bishop Cameron's jubilee at Antigonish, N. S., Wednesday, were the presentation of an address and purse of $2,000 from the clergy, and $1,700 from the laity.

At Winthrop, Mass., Monday, John Dwyer, a laborer employed in the Marshall street sewer, was fatally killed by a cave in of the sewer wall. He was literally buried alive, and it was over an hour before his body was recovered.

At Toronto, last week, Mrs. Enoch G. Rutan was found lying across her bed dead, with her young baby playing beside the body who wholly unconscious of what had taken place. Mrs. Rutan had evidently been making the bed, when death overtook her.

An invitation to come out into the corridor and "say that," enlivened the proceedings of the Railway Committee at Ottawa, Friday, when the proposal was made by the proposer, and the challenge was called forth by a very ordinary remark on the part of Mr. Mulock.

At Halifax last week, Judge Graham granted Mrs. Lovitt of Yarmouth, a divorce. Her husband was Dr. Lovitt, son of the late Mr. Lovitt, a half millionaire. The ground of divorce was cruelty. Alimony was ordered. Mrs. Lovitt was formerly Miss Beveridge of Andover.

The session of the Manitoba legislature was prorogued Friday. The speech from the throne expressed the opinion that the answer to the remedial order in the school question, met with the approval of the majority of the people, and was commended for its firmness and moderation in tone.

Commenting on the downfall of Lord Rosebery, Truth expresses the opinion that the ex Premier would have made an admirable master of horse, and that his shipwreck should be: "Here lies Archibald Philip Primrose, fifth Earl of Rosebery, once Prime Minister of England. He lost twenty seats and won two Derbys."

The Church of England Association of Great Britain has issued a strongly worded denunciation of the Unionists, in a letter to the English people. It scolds the suggestion of a corporate unity of the English Church with the Apostolic Romanism, and denounces the introduction of Roman practices into the Protestant churches.

At Ottawa, Friday morning, the Rev. Father Gaunran, aged 39, dropped dead while walking on Cambridge Street. After breakfast he left the monastery to take a constitutional walk, apparently in good health and spirits, but he was not more than ten minutes away from his room when he fell to the sidewalk and expired in a few minutes. Heart disease was the cause of his sudden death.

Albert Dobson, freeman at the Moncton sugar refinery, went to Humphrey's pond Monday morning to spend the holiday fishing pickers. He was a good swimmer, and the fishing was excellent. He was on the side of the pond, started to swim across, but when not two-thirds across he sank and was drowned. When the body was recovered his overalls were found down around his knees, and it is supposed they entangled his legs.

Emery Belyea, a workman at the Suspension bridge, St. John, was killed Monday afternoon, by falling from the Cantelver bridge. He was coming from Fairville, where he had purchased some provisions, and it is supposed he was taken with a fit. John Sutherland, who was working on the bridge, saw Belyea stagger and then fall into the falls. The tide was out at the time and Belyea struck on the rocks. Ninety feet below. Both legs were broken and his skull smashed in.

Justin McCarthy has issued an appeal to Ireland to start a special election fund, and it is said that Edward Blake, M. P., has opened it with a personal subscription of $5,000. Blake will probably be called to contest Derry City, which the Nationalists hope to win from the Tories. The McCarthy calculation is that they will win three seats from Redmond and five from Ulster Tories, while they may themselves lose two; so they expect a net gain of six.

Judgment was given on Thursday morning in the suit of the ex-Chief of Police of Hull, Quebec, against Mayor Aubry, in the charges of hoodluming and the mayor was ordered to pay $898, but costs were disallowed from holding offices. Judge Malhot, in giving the decision, spoke severely of the mayor's conduct in the matter. The offence consisted principally in getting civic contractors to shave noses, which Aubry did not pay. The disqualification is in all civic offices for the term of seven years.

In the reformed Baptist conference of New Brunswick last week Rev. G. W. Macdonald denounced the prohibition commission as a make shift. So far as he could see all it had done was to collect statistics which might be used as arguments against a prohibitory law. If the alliance could say nothing good of the commission better not mention it. Rev. W. B. Wiggins said the royal commission a mere political dodge. It served as a means of shelving the temperance question, and giving certain friends of the government a pleasant jaunt at the expense of others.

BRITISH ELECTION CAMPAIGN.

It is expected that all the Contests will be over before the last of July.

The dissolution of the Imperial parliament will most likely take place on July 10th.

On all sides the agents of both parties are actively preparing for the fray. The rust is being rubbed off the time-worn suits of political armor and all the old weapons of a British electoral campaign are being polished up to the highest point of brightness.

It scolds the suggestion of a corporate unity of the English Church with the Apostolic Romanism, and denounces the introduction of Roman practices into the Protestant churches.

At Ottawa, Friday morning, the Rev. Father Gaunran, aged 39, dropped dead while walking on Cambridge Street. After breakfast he left the monastery to take a constitutional walk, apparently in good health and spirits, but he was not more than ten minutes away from his room when he fell to the sidewalk and expired in a few minutes. Heart disease was the cause of his sudden death.

Albert Dobson, freeman at the Moncton sugar refinery, went to Humphrey's pond Monday morning to spend the holiday fishing pickers. He was a good swimmer, and the fishing was excellent. He was on the side of the pond, started to swim across, but when not two-thirds across he sank and was drowned. When the body was recovered his overalls were found down around his knees, and it is supposed they entangled his legs.

Emery Belyea, a workman at the Suspension bridge, St. John, was killed Monday afternoon, by falling from the Cantelver bridge. He was coming from Fairville, where he had purchased some provisions, and it is supposed he was taken with a fit. John Sutherland, who was working on the bridge, saw Belyea stagger and then fall into the falls. The tide was out at the time and Belyea struck on the rocks. Ninety feet below. Both legs were broken and his skull smashed in.

Justin McCarthy has issued an appeal to Ireland to start a special election fund, and it is said that Edward Blake, M. P., has opened it with a personal subscription of $5,000. Blake will probably be called to contest Derry City, which the Nationalists hope to win from the Tories. The McCarthy calculation is that they will win three seats from Redmond and five from Ulster Tories, while they may themselves lose two; so they expect a net gain of six.
