No Opposition Candidates

In Gloucester and Victoria, and Only Two in Northumberland.

Attorney General Blair and Provincial Secretary Mitchell are Elected by Acclamation.

YORK.

[From Wednesday's Herald.]

Sheriff Sterling opened his court at 10 a. m. to-day in the county court house to receive nominations for the local legislature, and the following candidates filed their pers:

Government candidates—Hon. Fred. P. Thompson, John Anderson, W. T. Whitehead, Dr. Benjamin Coburn.

Opposition—Herman H. Pitts, W. T. Howe, James K. Pinder, John Black.

Mr. J. H. Barry acted as agent for the government four. Each candidate had by law to put up a deposit of $100.

Messrs. Thompson, Anderson, Whitehead, and Coburn were nominated by

A F Randolph	Elijah Estabrooks
Israel R Golding	A S Murray
Fred B Edgecombe	Timothy Lynch
A W Edgecombe	A H F Randolph
Henry Chestnut	M S Hall
Geo L Wilson	James Dever
J F McMurray	C E Duffy
John Owens	J A Edwards
Andrew Jamieson	Alfred G Edgecombe
Loran C Macnutt	William A Gibson
F I Morrison	P Farrell
E W Henry	A J Estabrooks
Harry C Mackey	Jas H Hawthorn
Wm Wilson	Geo A Hughes
William Henry	R S Ogden
T Fred Carvell	Geo F A Jamieson
Edmund Lundon	James H Carr
Theo Edwards	Fred Moore
Whinant Cliff	Dudley Currey
John A Campbell	Geo W Brown
George S Ingraham	Jacob Allan
Dudley Currey	William Graham
Frank Bird	Thomas H Colter
George Seymour	Elisha Vanwart
James E Simmons	Hubbard Niles
Luther Goodspeed	William Richards
Andrew Waugh	Duncan Kelly
Fred Gilmore	James Malone

Herbert Gunter and many others.

The opposition candidates were nominated by: Walter McFarlane, John C. Murray, C. H. Thomas, Wm. McKnight, Wm. Lemont, J. W. McCready, Harry Beckwith, W. T. H. Fenety, Fred Quartermain, and others.

Hugh Nealis was agent for the opposition candidates.

The Sheriff at noon announced the above nominations, and by agreement of the candidates met the electors at the city hall at 2 o'clock. There was a large crowd present, and all the speakers were very cordially received.

Supporters of the government were plainly in a large majority. Walter McFarlane of St. Marys, occupied the chair, and on the platform beside were seated the eight candidates, namely: John Anderson, Dr. Coburn, Hon. F. P. Thompson, W. T. Whitehead John Black, W. T. Howe, J. K. Pinder and H. H. Pitts.

Mr. McFarlane called upon Mr. Black as the first speaker. Mr. Black proceeded to make a fairly laudable attempt at a public speech, but his vain striving after oratorical and dramatic effect was as laughable as it was ineffectual. His speech was of course opposed to the present government. He pretended to criticize the Attorney General's manifesto; he dwelt upon the interest charges of the province; he inveighed against the extravagance of the government, and he accused the supporters of the government in the House of being blind and dependent followers of Blair.

But he met with a splendid rebuttal to this charge from the honest and independent mouth of John Anderson, the old warhorse of York county, who followed immediately after him. Mr. Anderson did not make a long speech, but he made a telling one. His appeal to the electors of the county in answer to Mr. Black's charge, and his ringing denial of the truth of that accusation called forth thunders of applause, indicating that, so far at least as John Anderson was concerned, the charge was universally disbelieved. Mr. Anderson then sharply criticized Mr. Black's speech, and made a splendid vindication of the government's record. He took his seat amidst a storm of heartfelt applause.

Messrs. Pinder, Coburn, Howe, Thompson, Pitts and Whitehead also delivered short addresses.

The sense (and particularly the good sense) of the meeting was strongly in favor of the Government and if the results of the nomination proceedings go to indicate the result of the election, the Government candidates need have no fear of a defeat.

Fuller reports of the speeches will be published in tomorrow's Herald.

ANDOVER, Oct. 9.

Beveridge, Tweedale, Fallis, McCluskey and Porter, all government supporters, were nominated to-day.

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 9.

The opposition at the last moment put up Fleming and Hay, and the other nominations were Dibblee, Smith and McCain, government, and White, independent.

GAGETOWN, Oct. 9.

The much talked of opposition to Blair and Ferris failed to materialize and they were declared elected by acclamation. The Attorney General has left for Fredericton and will probably attend the nomination proceedings at Burton.

HOPEWELL, Oct. 9

Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Chief Commissioner and Dr. Lewis, government, and Dr. M[illegible]n and J. M. Steeves, opposition, were nominated to-day. There is quite a large crowd present and Mr. Emmerson is now addressing the electors, the great majority of whom are government supporters. There is no doubt of government success.

ST. ANDREWS, Oct. 9.

The only candidates nominated in Charlotte today were Mitchell, Hill, Russell and O'Brien, government ticket, and they were declared elected by acclamation.

HAMPTON, Oct. 9.

The government ticket, Solicitor General White, Geo. W. Fowler and G. G. Scovil were nominated, and the Opposition candidates are two Flewellings and J. Arthur Freeze, formerly of Fredericton. The general opinion is that White will carry his whole ticket by 300 or 400 majority.

RICHIBUCTO, Oct. 9.

Sayre, Barnes, Legere and Johnson, government; and Phinney, Gogain and Barriau, opposition, are the candidates nominated for the three seats in Kent.

EDMUNDSTON, Oct. 9.

Martin and Bertrand, government; Nadeau and Fournier, opposition were nominated here to-day.

DORCHESTER, Oct. 9.

[illegible]promise was arranged today—Kil[illegible] government, and [illegible]ed wrathy over the dismissal of

ST. JOHN, Oct. 9.

The government and opposition compromised in these constituencies, the government taking the county two—Dunn and McLeod, and the opposition the city, four—Stockton, Alward, Shaw and Lockhart, leaving the representation from a party standpoint, the same as in the last house.

NEWCASTLE, Oct. 9.

The opposition only put up two men, Morrissey and Morrison, for the four seats, thus conceding two seats to the government. The old government four, Tweedie, Burchill, O'Brien and Robinson were nominated and will sweep the county.

BATHURST, Oct. 9.

The nominations today in Gloucester's three seats were Sivewright and Veniot the late members, Poirier, Stewart and Prospere Paulin, all government supporters.

OROMOCTO, Oct. 9.

C. B. Harrison and David Morrow, government, and W. E. Perley and Parker Glasier, opposition, were nominated to-day. Glasier's candidature is directed chiefly against Perley, and his support will be thrown for Morrow. The proceedings at the Court house this afternoon are lively, and considerably bitter.

DALHOUSIE, Oct. 9.

Labillois and Mott, government; Murray and Culligan, opposition, were nominated.

[From Thursday's Daily.]

The nomination speeches delivered at the City Hall yesterday afternoon were of an interesting character, as remarked in yesterday's HERALD; the attendance from the various parts of the county was large, influential, and strongly in favour of the government. The hall was pretty well filled from front to rear: and, with two or three exceptions, the large audience behaved itself in an orderly manner, and gave each speaker an attentive hearing. Mr. Thompson was the only one who suffered from interruptions, but some of the persons who subjected him to this inconvenience were

Well under the Weather and rampant oppositionists too. No one attached the slighest importance to their interjections. They were Col. Hewitson, who occupied a strong position upon the right of the field, facing the enemy's left: Billy Haines, who headed the left wing of the reform army; and a third individual with a very red face and a strong nasal twang, who sat in the centre of the hall, and kept all his ammunition until the tail end of the proceedings, when the efforts of Mr. Pitts on the one side and Second Lieutenant McLeod on the other, had induced the "Colonel" and "Billy," respectively, to cease firing. It is, perhaps, too much to say that these gentlemen were posted in their respective positions by the opposition party. It is hard to believe that men would stoop to such dishonest warfare; and yet the manner in which these people were stationed in the hall—one upon the right, one upon the left, and the other immediately facing the speaker—looks (as Mr. Pitts remarked concerning the Attorney General's recent visit to this county) "suspicious." But outside of the little unpleasantness created by these lunatics-at-large, the meeting was pleasant lively, and interesting.

MR. JOHN BLACK

was the first speaker called by the chairman. He introduced himself, in his new capacity, to the electors. He regretted that the honored Chief Justice prevented Mr. W. K. Allen from taking a place upon the opposition ticket. Nomination had been forced upon him after Mr. Allen's retirement. He had not sought the nomination, but being now fairly under sail, he was going to see the thing through to the bitter end. Launching at once into what he characterized as an "examination of the public accounts of the province," the speaker demanded why an election had been called at the present time. Of course no one could see the actual connection between the public accounts accounts and the thirst for information regarding the why and the wherefore of the present contest. Mr. Black stirred up a hornet's nest in the person of

Honest John Anderson,

who took the floor as he sat down. Mr. Anderson is old in age and in politics; he has sat a representative from York on the floors of the house; he has been faithful, honest, independent; his grey hairs crown an honored life and character, and when he had heard Mr. Black throw out a grave slander upon supporters of the administration in the past and upon himself as a member of the present governmental ticket, no wonder that his blood boiled, and he hastened to register his emphatic denial of the charge. No man in the province (he asserted amidst thunders of applause) could point with truth to John Anderson and say that ever he had swerved from his duty as a faithful representative at the bidding of Mr. Blair or any other man. He appealed to the electors present in support of that assertion, and the splendid response he met with

Left no Room for Doubt.

On behalf of himself and colleagues he denied the charge point blank. (More applause.) He referred to Hon. Mr. Blair as the ablest and cleanest politician today in the province of New Brunswick, and the cheers of the meeting echoed the spirit of his words. Continuing, Mr. Anderson said Mr. Black had made some statements concerning governmental extravagance and corruption and increase of debt. But he had said nothing about the highway bridge here, nor the departmental building, nor the other public works such as railroads, steel bridges, to build and subsidize which the government had been forced to increase the debt. Something had also been said regarding the Northumberland deal, but Mr. Black had not told the whole story. He, himself, had a very clear personal recollection of the Surrounding that Episode, having been on the floors of the house during the debate which followed; and he remembered hearing a prominent opposition speaker declare that the Northumberland men were fools to join the government for a reduction to $1.00, when the opposition stood ready to reduce to 80 cents, or rather for their support. This statement literally brought down the house. A great deal had also been said about having honest men in the house; but he would submit that himself and his colleagues were at least as honest as the four who were opposing them at this election.

Mr. Anderson's reception was splendid; his short speech, bristled with arguments, had a most telling effect, and he was applauded throughout. He was followed by the "honest man" of the opposition four. This gentleman made some very astounding statements, all of which he corroborated by glancing at a piece of blank paper which he held in his hand. Where he got his figures no one but himself can tell.

DR. COBURN

followed in a short speech in which he thanked the electors for nominating him. He was new as a politician, but he had, he hoped, a sound judgment as well as an honest heart, and if elected he could assure the electors of a faithful attendance to duty. He was warmly applauded.

WILLIAM T. HOWE

the hero of a thousand (bloodless) fights was the next speaker, the Beckwiths, Fenety, Crocket. The spirit which caused the dismissal of these men, was the "very stultification of the inherent and essential and dogmatic phenomen underlying the application of the internal principle popularly predicted and generally denominated responsible government." (Applause from Jimmy Crocket, Harry Beckwith, and the Bachanalian of the red red nose and nasal twang.)

The speech of nomination day was delivered by

HON. F. P. THOMPSON

Mr. Thompson was greeted with a perfect ovation, and it was some minutes before he could make himself heard. He was in excellent voice, and spoke for upwards of half an hour with vigorous and forcible eloquence which delighted his many friends as much as it confounded his enemies. He said he was not in this contest for sympathy. He had been told that he was merely one of the ring; whether or not a ring existed he did not know; but there was one thing he did know and that was that his nomination papers papers had been signed by a large majority of the prominent, influential and independent men of the county of York. (Applause.) It had been reported in the Gleaner newspaper that Mr. F. St. John Bliss had said that he (Thompson) at the convention in the temperance hall had remarked that he was in this contest for blood. The speaker here called upon Mr. Bliss to verify the truth of the Gleaner's report. This Mr. Bliss did, and Mr. Thompson (amidst loud cheers of approval) gave the report a flat denial. He (Thompson)

Had Never Used the Words

attributed to him.

[At this juncture Billy Haines came forward to the edge of the platform and proceeded to take off his coat, and for some moments it looked as though he intended to demolish Mr. Thompson and the whole government ticket by main force; but second lieutenant McLeod very soon had him under control and led him back to his seat. This little incident served to some extent to illustrate the spirit in which certain sections opposition are approaching the present contest.]

Continuing, Mr. Thompson dealt with the Central Railway slander, which had been referred to by Mr. Howe. "Is there a man," he asked, "in York county to day who thinks that my character has been in the least degree affected by that slander?" (Tremendous applause, and cries of "No," "No," from all parts of the hall. Nor does it affect the character of Mr. Crocket, who had inaugurated and circulated it, because that gentleman unfortunately for himself had no character to be affected. (Loud and prolonged applause.) For himself he could and would at any time that not one dollar of public monies had ever come into his hands illegally or corruptly. (Great Applause.) Continuing, Mr. Thompson said that he deprecated personalities of all kinds. He and his colleagues had entered upon this contest in the friendliest spirit. There was not a man in the county of York whom he would not at any time take by the hand in all friendliness, whether that man supported the government ticket or not; and he hoped there was no one who had not the same feeling towards himself. Referring to the defeat of the government ticket in 1892, Mr. Thompson asked, "Was the Attorney General driven from York on account of any mal-administration?" (Thunders of applause, and cries of "not at all," no "Bathurst school question," etc.) No, assuredly not! There was no shadow of a question raised concerning the government's administration of affairs. The character of the opposition canvass on that occasion

Assert Upon Oath

Was Purely Sectarian.

(Loud applause). Not a chair or table, not a house, not a door yard in York county but was littered with pamphlets, circulars, and all kinds of inflammatory literature accusing Hon. Mr. Blair of pandering to the Catholics. (Loud and prolonged cheers). It was even stated that he had intrenched himself in the very citadel of Roman Catholic power—in Rome itself. (Cheers and laughter). It was the agitation roused by Pitts and his followers over the Bathurst school question that brought about the Attorney General's defeat. (Great applause). But what have we now? The opposition has receded from the position they took at that time. And why? Is it because the government has changed its attitude? No! The school regulations have not been altered by so much as the dotting of an "i" or the crossing of a "t." The opposition has abandoned the religious issue and are running this election on the general policy of the government. The speaker then discussed the public debt, and showed how the increase

Had gone to build Bridges, railways and public buildings all over the province. Would the people of York prefer to keep the money, and to see the new departmental building, the highway bridge and other important public works razed to the ground? The leader of the opposition himself says "No" to that proposition. (Here Col. Hewitson arose to his feet several times and attempted a stump speech on his own account, but was at length quelled by Mr. Pitts, whose immediate follower he is). Continuing, Mr. Thompson took up the legislation of the government. He gave a splendid defence of the Health act, the Asylum bill, and other measures of importance which had been attacked by the opposition speakers; and quoted from Hansard to show that Dr. Stockton, the leader of the opposition, had unreservedly supported both those measures.

As to the deficit, Mr. Thompson quoted figures to prove that the former government, for the five years preceding 1882,

Had a large Deficit

to bring down every year. The government, he said, had been accused of gross extravagance; but no one of the opposition speakers had attempted to charge it with extravagance in connection with controllable expenditure, in which, more than anything else, a government's character is portrayed. The present government had made a very considerable reduction in this expenditure; and had kept it down lower than its predecessors

Had been able to do.

(Applause). In conclusion the speaker thanked the meeting for the attentive hearing it had given him. He solicited the support of the electors for the governmental ticket. He wanted every man to consider the questions at issue for himself; and he was sure if that was done, he and his colleagues would be returned by a large majority on election day. Mr. Thompson took his seat amidst a storm of applause. His speech made a great impression upon the people present, and was unanimously voted to be the best effort of the day.

The chairman then called upon Mr. Pitts, who came forward holding his notes securely in his right hand, and proposed to show the voters present "what is the matter with Hannah."

Mr. Whitehead spoke briefly and was very cordially received.

FROM THURSDAY'S DAILY.

Pinder's Boodling.

DEAR SIR,—In looking over last night's HERALD I find extracts from the Auditor General's report in reference to the rock blasting on the River St. John, under the superintence of the great reformer, Pinder. For the benefit of your readers I have copied some of the figures, with the names of the parties who are supposed to have got the amounts opposite:

J. K. Pinder, foreman	$120 00
do. do.	132 50
do. laborer	52 50
George Pinder, $69 and $142.50	211 50
W. B. Ferris, Pinder' saw-filer, draws $219.25, $172.50, $30, $294.25, $20	808 00
Jessie Watters, Pinder's brother-in-law and mill hand	135 00
Levi Moore, Pinder's teamster	33 00
	$1502 50

Here we have over $1500 drawn by Pinder, his son, his brother-in-law, his teamster and filer, while the balance—nearly nineteen hundred dollars—is nearly all charged in the name of his mill crew. This is the man who is always charging others with boodling, etc. York county has been disgraced too long by having such a representative. Will the people again elect such a man? I hope not.

By publishing the above you will much oblige

ONE WHO KNOWS.

Chatham's Big Fire.

CHATHAM, Oct. 10th.

Fire started at noon in the general store of Byran Moran, Duke street, burned his place, the Mahar house and outbuildings adjoining, the Marquis dwelling on corner Griffin's and small house next thereto, crossed St. John street burned Alex. Robinson's carriage factory and the row of dwellings south along west side of that street, including those occupied by Thos. Fitzpatrick, Alex. Robinson, David Cassidy, D. G. Smith, also Jas. Hackett's dwelling on Church street, all the houses on Foundry lane, and is still burning. The Convent is in danger. It is the most extensive fire ever experienced in Chatham.

(Second Dispatch.)

CHATHAM, Oct. 10th, 3 p. m.

The convent and chapel are on fire, and it looks as if half the town would be destroyed. The fire service is very inefficient. Great excitement reigns. The loss already runs up into the thousands.

(Third Despatch).

CHATHAM, Oct. 10th, 3.30 p. m.

The convent and chapel were saved, and the fire is now under control.

They Are Happy.

A delegation of prominent Queen's county gentlemen including Mr. Ferris, M.P.P, Mr. A. W. Ebbett, and Mr. R. T. Babbitt accompanied Hon. Mr. Blair from Gagetown, last night, arriving at the Queen hotel at 9 o'clock. They were very happy over the government walk-over in Queens, and the Attorney General and his popular colleague were very warmly congratulated on their unopposed return. It was Mr. Blair's first election by acclamation. Another arrival from Gagetown last night was Mr. John R Dunn, who was spoken of as a probable opposition candidate in Queens, but Mr. Dunn had no taste for a wipe out such as he would have received had he entered the field.

Should be Stopped.

The use of sling shots by boys is a most reprehensible practice and should be stopped by the authorities. Many accidents are reported therefrom, and one at least is of a serious character. Tuesday afternoon Miss Fitzmaurice of the Misses Young's millinery establishment, in coming up street was struck in the arm by a shot from a sling, and sustained a painful fracture between the wrist and elbow. The authorities are surely not going to permit this sort of thing to continue.

Painful Accident.

Master Roy Morrison son of Mr. John A. Morrison, met with a painful accident yesterday at Rothesay, where he is a student at Rev. Mr. Lloyd's school. The particulars are not to hand, the telegram which brought the news, merely stating that Roy had dislocated his hip.

A Pleasant Trip.

The many friends of Dr. and Mrs. Coulthard are pleased to see them home again from their trip through the United States. They returned yesterday after having been as far west as Daver, and thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Back From the West.

Dr. Inch, Chief Supt. of Education returned yesterday from his visit to Manitoba and the North West, very much delighted with what he saw.

Gone to the Hospital.

Mrs. Stewart of Victoria lane was sent to the Victoria hospital yesterday, suffering from typhoid fever.

Aaron Smith, the well known truckman, died this morning.

A Popular Gentleman Dead.

R. W. McLellan, student-at-law in Mr. Wilson's office in this city, was called to his home at Newcastle last week by the death of his father, W. W. McLellan, for many years trackmaster of the northern division of the Intercolonial railway. The sad event occurred Friday morning. Deceased was a native of Nova Scotia and was 55 years old. The funeral Sunday afternoon was one of the largest ever seen in Northumberland, showing the great popularity the deceased gentleman possessed among the people.

SUNBURY NOMINATION.

No Doubt About Harrison's and Morrow's Election.

[From Thursday's Daily.]

Sheriff Holden presided at the meeting of electors at Burton, Sunbury Court House yesterday afternoon, at the close of his official court. The government candidates, Messrs. Morrow and Harrison, and Mr. Perley (opposition) were present, but Mr. Glasier did not put in an appearance, his friends alleging that he was sick. The impression, however, among the electors was that Mr. Glasier's symptoms were not at all alarming, and that his indisposition was due more to political fright. He sent Mr. Lewis Bliss, his brother-in-law, to represent him, and the boys were picturing to themselves the spectacle of Mr. Glasier if he succeeded in getting elected to the legislature, taking his seat with Mr. Lewis Bliss hanging onto his coat-tails. There is no danger, however, that Lewis will be called upon in that capacity.

Hon. W. E. Perley

was the first speaker. He assumed a very mild and done-like manner, praising Mr. Harrison as a capable representative. He had no fault to find whatever with Mr. Harrison. He said he had opposed the government and proceeded to criticize some of their acts. He was opposed to the abolition of the legislative council, and censured the government for carrying out that reform. Mr. Harrison was a good man to have in the legislature, for he could get all the money he wanted for the public services in the county. He said there was no doubt at all that the country stood firmly at the back of the Blair government, and Blair was all powerful in the country. During his entire address Mr. Perley never once mentioned the name of Parker Glasier, the other opposition candidate.

Mr. C. B. Harrison

next addressed the electors, and was very heartily received. He said on account of his ill health he had decided some weeks ago to retire from public life, and so far as he was concerned, permit Mr. Morrow and Mr. Perley to be returned by acclamation. Certain friends of the opposition opposed to Mr. Perley, however, were not satisfied that his old friend and colleague in the representation of the county should have that privilege, and so Mr. Glasier was brought into the field particularly to defeat Mr. Perley. As there was to be a contest therefore, his friends had induced him to consent to re-nomination, and he was again a candidate. The electors had his past nine years' record before them, and he was willing for them to judge from that whether he was a suitable person to represent them in the next legislature. He was not in the habit of making long speeches, and if he was ever so willing to do so, his health would not permit it. However, he appealed to the people to return him again, with his colleague, Mr. Morrow, who was a gentleman of excellent standing in the county, respected by everybody and fully able to represent the constituency's interests in the legislature. He asked his friends to extend to Mr. Morrow their best and most enthusiastic support. Mr. Perley had said that he (Harrison) could get all the money he asked for, and he wished that was the case, but he had often been told by Chief Commissioner Emmerson that he (Harrison) seemed to forget that there was any other county in the province requiring public money except Sunbury. He had managed, however, to get a generous portion for his county, and he thought the electors would agree with him that the roads and bridges of the county showed it. There was no doubt the government would be sustained by an overwhelming majority throughout the province, and Mr. Morrow would be in the new legislature with him to assist in representing the county to the best of their ability. Mr. Harrison, on resuming his seat, was very loudly applauded.

Mr. Morrow

next claimed the attention of the electors and was well received as he mounted the platform. He said he was invited by Mr. Harrison and his friends to be a candidate in this election, and at the time did not give a decided answer until after consulting a number of his friends who previously like himself had been opposed to the government. These gentlemen advised him to accept the candidature of the government party, and as he had come to the conclusion that the affairs of the province were being wisely administered by the present government, and that they stood firmly entrenched in the regard of the people throughout the province, he had at last decided to enter the field as a government supporter. There was not a man present who did not believe the government would be overwhelmingly sustained in this contest, and for himself, he believed that scarcely a remnant of the opposition would be left when the polls close on Wednesday next. He appealed to the electors to give Mr. Harrison and himself a united and hearty support, and there could be no doubt of their triumphant election.

Mr. Lewis Bliss

who appeared as wet nurse for Mr. Glasier, made a long and rambling speech made up principally of extracts from the Gleaner and Sun. He spoke well of Mr. Harrison and Mr. Morrow, he could not find words strong enough to express his hatred of the Attorney General. [Mr. Bliss is one of the Fredericton Blisses, whose father before them and themselves for years were the pensioners of Mr. Blair and his government.] He never mentioned Mr. Perley's name during the half hour of his disjointed speech. He was very coolly received, and when he had finished the crowd had considerably thinned out.

Mr. Albert Grass

councillor for Lincoln spoke briefly in support of the government. He had voted for Mr. Harrison in former elections for personal reasons, but had hitherto been opposed to the government. He believed, however, the administration of public affairs was in good hands, and the county would sustain Mr. Blair and his colleagues by a rousing vote. In this election he was going to exert himself to the utmost to elect the government candidates, Harrison and Morrow, and believed that they would be returned by an overwhelming majority. Mr. Grass told an amusing story which strongly illustrated a point he was making. Mr. Blair he said, might have kicked over the traces sometimes, and that reminded him of a kicking horse he once owned. This animal was a terrible kicker, and the only chance he ever got to trade it was for one that both kicked and bit. That was the position of the people in this contest. They had the opportunity of trading off the Blair horse for the Stockton filly, but he thought they would not complete the trade for the same reason he had in holding on to his kicking horse. Mr. Grass made a very telling speech, and was given on ovation when he closed.

Mr. Henry B. Mitchell

spoke about two minutes and attempted to castigate Mr. Grass, but he got terribly mixed. He was very angry at Mr. Grass, but the electors understood the cause. Only the day before Mr. Mitchell, who was nominated for the municipal council in Lincoln, was driven out of the field by Mr. Grass, before the people were given a chance to bury him with their ballots.

There was no doubt about the complexion of the audience, the government supporters being greatly in the majority, and the opinion is general that both Mr. Harrison and Mr. Morrow will be elected by a very large majority.

Mrs. Chas. Connell Dead.

After six months of intense suffering Mrs. Chas. Connell died at her home at Woodstock Saturday evening. She was the eldest daughter of the late Peter Fisher, of Fredericton, and she was a sister of the late Judge Fisher also of this city, and of L. P. Fisher of Woodstock. She was born at Fredericton on the 23rd of October, 1810, and was therefore near the completion of her 85th year. Two brothers, William and Peter Fisher, and one sister, Mrs. William Smith, survive her. She was married to the late Hon. Chas. Connell of Woodstock in 1835, and became a widow in 1873. She had four sons and three daughters. One son, Herbert, was drowned in Meduxinkeg creek when quite young. George H. Connell, M. P., died at Ottawa, February 16th, 1881, and Dr. C. P. Connell died three years ago. Those living are Wm. M. Connell, Mrs. Anderson, of Halifax, and Misses Ella and Alice Connell.

The deceased lady was an aunt of Mrs. Fraser, wife of the Lieut. Governor and of Mr. C. H. B. Fisher also of Fredericton.

Appointed to Office.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE County of York.

GENTLEMEN:

The House of Assembly being dissolved, you are required to choose four new Members to represent you during the incoming Legislative term.

An opportunity is now afforded this County to repair what we consider the error committed at the last General Election, when it was induced to surrender the strong position it occupied and leave itself for the first time without either representation or influence in the Executive Government of the province.

We have been nominated by a large Convention of the friends of the Local Administration as Candidates to contest this Election, and having accepted the nomination, are now before you respectfully soliciting your suffrages, as we believe in the true interests of this constituency.

Many new and false canvasses against the Government will no doubt be started, and many stale ones repeated during this campaign. We shall only have time before polling day to address a few meetings at which to answer these unfounded statements, and therefore ask you whether you believe it would have been possible for the Government to have retained, as it did retain, the unshaken confidence of the honorable men composing three-fourths of the last Legislature, if there had been good grounds for even suspecting that any portion of the opposition charges of extravagance and corruption were true.

Our purpose, if elected, is to give the present Government an independent support, so long as we shall find it worthy, and at the same time as to all matters, wherein the interests of this County are involved, it shall be our endeavor to give you the most faithful service of which we are capable. We have the honor to remain,

Very Respectfully, Yours,
JOHN ANDERSON,
FRED. P. THOMPSON,
W. T. WHITEHEAD,
BENJ. H. COBURN.

Scales! Scales!

A SCALE is a scale: But what a difference there is in scales, not only in quality but in price. We don't claim to sell the cheapest scale, but we do sell scales that are marvellously low in price considering quality. Not cheap scales, but good scales at low prices.
