

QUEEN HOTEL, YORK COUNTY TEACHERS.

QUEEN STREET, FREDERICTON, N. B.

THIS HOTEL HAS BEEN REBUILT AND PAINTED IN THE MOST ATTRACTIVE STYLE...

GEO. A. HUGHES, Attorney and Solicitor.

NOTARY, CONVEYANCER, &c. OFFICE: WHELPLEY BUILDING, FREDERICTON, N. B.

WESLEY VANWART, Barrister.

Office: Queen Street, OPPOSITE NORMAL SCHOOL, Fredericton, May 6th, 1895.

B. H. TORRENS, M. D. M., DENTIST.

Office and Residence, Saunders Building, Queen Hotel.

WILLIAM WILSON, Attorney-at-Law.

SOLICITOR AND CONVEYANCER. Offices: Carleton St., East Side.

ALLAN LINE, ROYAL MAIL STEAMERS.

Liverpool, Halifax and Portland. Royal Mail Steamer. (Calling at Lunenburg.)

From Liverpool, From Halifax. 21 Nov. ... 14 Dec. ...

The steamer of this service carries all classes of passengers...

RATES OF PASSAGE. Cabin, by above steamers, $10 and $12...

Glasgow via Liverpool and St. John's. N. Y. to Halifax.

Glasgow, Londonderry and New York Service.

SAVANNAH, ... 19 Dec. ...

For Steamers, Tickets or further information apply to

WM. THOMSON & CO., Agents, ST. JOHN, N. B.

Frank L. Morrison, Fredericton.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY ATLANTIC DIVISION.

ALL RAIL TO BOSTON, &c. THE SHORT LINE TO MONTREAL, &c.

ARRANGEMENT OF TRAINS In Effect Oct. 6th, 1895.

LEAVE FREDERICTON. EASTERN STANDARD TIME.

5.50 A. M.—Week days for Woodville and points.

6.00 A. M.—Week days for St. John, St. Stephen, St. Andrews, ...

10.15 A. M.—Week days for Fredericton Junction and ...

4.00 P. M.—Week days for Fredericton Junction and ...

ARRIVING IN FREDERICTON FROM

St. John, ... 7.10 P. M. ...

D. McGUIRE, Agent, MONTREAL.

A. H. NOTMAN, Agent, ST. JOHN, N. B.

Very Interesting Addresses Presented at the Institute Meetings.

DR. INCH'S OPENING ADDRESS.

At the opening session of the York County Teachers' Institute, Dr. J. R. Inch, chief superintendent of education, delivered a very practical and some what lengthy address.

The speaker regretted that on account of the examinations at the Normal school which were going on at the same time, he would be unable to attend the meetings and share in the glories and triumph of the teaching profession.

He could scarcely agree with the president's statement that teachers labor without reward. The Almighty had never intended that good efforts should go unrewarded.

Some of them would be surprised when they reached the stage of life, to hear expressions of gratitude of their labor emanating from former pupils whom they had considered as hopeless cases.

The chief superintendent took for the subject of the greater portion of his address, an article which had appeared in the last number of the Educational Review under the heading of "Talks to Teachers."

He spoke of the matriculation and entrance examinations, he was inclined to side with those who thought there was a defect in the present system, and the experience of every teacher who could not regard one written examination as a correct test of the ability of the student.

He spoke of the matriculation and entrance examinations, he was inclined to side with those who thought there was a defect in the present system, and the experience of every teacher who could not regard one written examination as a correct test of the ability of the student.

He spoke of the matriculation and entrance examinations, he was inclined to side with those who thought there was a defect in the present system, and the experience of every teacher who could not regard one written examination as a correct test of the ability of the student.

He spoke of the matriculation and entrance examinations, he was inclined to side with those who thought there was a defect in the present system, and the experience of every teacher who could not regard one written examination as a correct test of the ability of the student.

He spoke of the matriculation and entrance examinations, he was inclined to side with those who thought there was a defect in the present system, and the experience of every teacher who could not regard one written examination as a correct test of the ability of the student.

For vice-President—Miss S. G. Duffy, Miss Mabel Murray and Mr. Hagerman.

For Secretary—Miss Thorne, Miss Mabel Hunter, Miss Lottis Vandine.

The ballot was then taken each voting for 8 officers. A committee was then appointed to examine the ballots.

Last evening in the assembly hall of the Normal school, Prof. Dixon of the U. N. B. read a very interesting paper on astronomy, dealing particularly with the planet Mars, and speaking of its peculiar features showing that it could be inhabited.

At the close of Prof. Dixon's admirable address, Dr. Inch made a few remarks and after a vote of thanks was moved by Inspector Bridges, all recognition by Mr. Foster, and presented to the professor.

After routine Friday morning B. C. Foster the efficient and popular principal of the Fredericton High School read a valuable paper on "moral teaching in our schools."

The speaker mentioned some of the moral evils characteristic of the present age, instancing political corruption, commercial dishonesty and the oppression of capitalists, and concluded from the prevalence of these that in the past intellect had been developed out of all proportion to the body.

He argued that not only was there ample opportunity in our free schools for moral instruction, but all the essentials of religion could be taught. Matthew Arnold defined religion as "the simple belief in a deity, and the duty which it implies."

He argued that not only was there ample opportunity in our free schools for moral instruction, but all the essentials of religion could be taught. Matthew Arnold defined religion as "the simple belief in a deity, and the duty which it implies."

He argued that not only was there ample opportunity in our free schools for moral instruction, but all the essentials of religion could be taught. Matthew Arnold defined religion as "the simple belief in a deity, and the duty which it implies."

He argued that not only was there ample opportunity in our free schools for moral instruction, but all the essentials of religion could be taught. Matthew Arnold defined religion as "the simple belief in a deity, and the duty which it implies."

He argued that not only was there ample opportunity in our free schools for moral instruction, but all the essentials of religion could be taught. Matthew Arnold defined religion as "the simple belief in a deity, and the duty which it implies."

How can one ignorant of God's works in nature worship acceptably?

He quoted from Wordsworth to show the influence of nature upon him.

Therefore am I still A lover of the meadows and the woods And the mountains, and all that we behold From this green earth; of all the mighty world Of eye, and ear, both what they half create And what perceive; well pleased to recognize In nature and the language of the sense The anchor of my purest thoughts; the nurse, The shroud, the guardian of my heart, and soul

Of all my mortal being." Again in literature, we have recorded in the most vivid and impressive language, the ethical experience of the race.

There is not a phase of virtue, or its opposite, which is not embodied in a thousand forms in classic literature, both for old and young. Here then we have surely a moral spring from whence to draw ethical lessons. Nothing in the whole range of literature is excluded. In the early grades, the fairy story may come to the child freighted with useful moral instruction.

History, in the lives of the great and good of ancient and modern times, will supply him with grand object lessons in noble living. Poetry will awaken his imagination, and enkindle in his breast high and noble aspirations, and fiction, touching him lightly with her fairy wand, will transform the curly headed school boy into an earnest hero doing mighty deeds for his right.

He argued that not only was there ample opportunity in our free schools for moral instruction, but all the essentials of religion could be taught. Matthew Arnold defined religion as "the simple belief in a deity, and the duty which it implies."

He argued that not only was there ample opportunity in our free schools for moral instruction, but all the essentials of religion could be taught. Matthew Arnold defined religion as "the simple belief in a deity, and the duty which it implies."

He argued that not only was there ample opportunity in our free schools for moral instruction, but all the essentials of religion could be taught. Matthew Arnold defined religion as "the simple belief in a deity, and the duty which it implies."

He argued that not only was there ample opportunity in our free schools for moral instruction, but all the essentials of religion could be taught. Matthew Arnold defined religion as "the simple belief in a deity, and the duty which it implies."

He argued that not only was there ample opportunity in our free schools for moral instruction, but all the essentials of religion could be taught. Matthew Arnold defined religion as "the simple belief in a deity, and the duty which it implies."

NEWS ABOUT TOWN

social, Personal and General Occurrences of the Week

CRISP AND TO THE POINT The following appointments in York are gazetted: Hazen C. Dykeman to be a justice of the peace; Timothy W. Smith to be a Labor act commissioner for the Parish of Bright.

Rev. Canon Roberts at Christ Church (St. Ann's), Monday morning at 5.45, officiated at the wedding of Wm. Henry Mills, of St. Andrews, and Miss Emma Anne Moody of St. Mary's, and the happy couple left on the first train for St. Andrews.

Whitman Brewer, of St. Mary's, has been awarded the contract for building the bridge across Vaughan's Creek at Hildebrand, near Bonker's mill, at St. Martins; also that for the construction of the breakwater at Vaughan's Creek, to protect the public roadway there.

St. Paul's church Sunday, Rev. Willard Macdonald preached two eloquent sermons appropriate to the Christmas season, to large congregations. His theme in the morning was "The Babe at Bethlehem." The usual Xmas hymns were rendered at both services, which were very impressive.

Mr. A. H. Rowley of the Bank of Nova Scotia head office, Halifax, arrived on the 20th for a three weeks' vacation at his home in Marsville. It is nearly two years since Mr. Rowley was home before, and his many friends are glad to welcome him back, and to know that he is steadily climbing up in the Bank's service.

Claves Hollett of Douglas, seems to be having a rather unfortunate time of it lately. Several months ago he was seized with typhoid fever, and before he recovered from this his house was burned down and all the furniture destroyed. Some days ago, while butchering an ox, he had the misfortune to cut his thumb very badly, almost severing it.

Elm City Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, at a meeting on the 19th, elected the following officers for the ensuing term: W. S. Garfield, M. W. H. C. Reed, P. M. W.; Austin Dunphy, Foreman; W. R. Todd, Overseer; J. C. Miller, Recorder; H. G. Winter, Receiver; J. D. Perkins, Financier; E. A. Moran, Guide; Stanley Chase, I. W.; J. M. Torrance, W. D.; Dr. Coulthard, Medical Examiner.

The holiday closing exercises took place at Acadia College, last week, and Mr. Chas. R. McNally, son of Mr. J. G. McNally of this city, is mentioned in the Halifax Herald report as taking a prominent part in the programme. Mr. McNally, who is a native of this city, and a graduate of the University.

Rev. F. C. Hartley, Willard Macdonald and W. Tippit met Monday, and arranged for the week of prayer services for Tuesday evening, Jan. 7th, at St. Paul's, Wednesday at the Free Baptist, Thursday at the Baptist, and Friday at the Methodist, commencing each evening at 7.30, and each clergyman to preside in his own church. Rev. Mr. Freeman will speak at the Kirk, Rev. Mr. Macdonald at the Free Baptist, Rev. Mr. Tippit at the Baptist, and Rev. Mr. Hartley at the Methodist.

Mr. William Chestnut, who has been absent six weeks on a hunting trip, returned home last week and laughed heartily when told of the yarn published by a local paper about his being lost in the woods. Mr. Chestnut, accompanied by the famous hunter Henry Braithwaite, and an Indian guide, has been cruising about the head of the Renous, Clearwater, Tobique, and succeeded in bagging two fine moose. One of them possessed a very handsome pair of antlers, which measured 54 inches across, and contained 25 points. Mr. Chestnut brought with him, as a trophy, an end of a birch stump, showing where the tree had been cut down by a beaver. He will place this in the Blue Bluff camp as a souvenir of the trip.

THE LAST TRIBUTE

Mrs. Macpherson's Funeral a Very Large and Impressive One.

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Macpherson, whose death occurred on Thursday, took place Sunday afternoon from the residence of her son-in-law, Willard Kitchen, and notwithstanding the wretched condition of the weather, was one of the largest ever seen for some time.

An impressive funeral service was conducted at the house by Rev. Willard Macdonald, assisted by Rev. G. B. Payson, after which the remains were taken to the Rural cemetery and interred. His Worship the Mayor and the members of the city council walked in a body in the procession.

Among the many beautiful floral tributes, which adorned the casket, was a pillow containing the word "wife," from the husband of the deceased; a wreath from Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kitchen; a wreath from Graham L. O. L. Rural cemetery; a floral wreath from the Mayor and city council, and a floral piece from the Royal Black Knights of Ireland.

Busses, which had been provided by A. H. Macpherson, were in readiness at the head of King street, and conveyed a large number of people to and from the funeral.

STANDARD TIME. Some Valuable Suggestions From His Lordship the Bishop. To the Editor of THE HERALD.

"Sir,—I am told that a change of time is in prospect in the city, and that the Mayor and Council have been courteous enough to appoint a deputation to interview me on the subject, as I have control of the oldest public striking clock in the city.

I would venture to express a hope, that before any change is decided upon, that before a public meeting held, to ventilate the subject as thoroughly as possible. Mr. White possessed considerable property in the city, and was a popular representative of the people, and zealously guarded the interests of his parish, though he did not make any great pretensions at religion.

Mr. White was known as a steadfast friend of the sick and afflicted. He has repeatedly gone into diphtheria stricken houses, and cared for the sufferers, when others could not be found to volunteer their services. The deceased was twice married, and his last wife formerly Mrs. Helen Linforth of this city, survives him. He leaves by his first wife a family of four sons, Wellington, Davenport, Moses, and Luke, all residents of the United States, and one daughter, Mrs. Bacheler, of Boston. Michael White of Nashwaak, and Allan, Moses and Elias White of Marsville, are brothers of the deceased.

Mr. White possessed considerable property in the city, and was a popular representative of the people, and zealously guarded the interests of his parish, though he did not make any great pretensions at religion. Mr. White was known as a steadfast friend of the sick and afflicted. He has repeatedly gone into diphtheria stricken houses, and cared for the sufferers, when others could not be found to volunteer their services.

Mr. White was known as a steadfast friend of the sick and afflicted. He has repeatedly gone into diphtheria stricken houses, and cared for the sufferers, when others could not be found to volunteer their services. The deceased was twice married, and his last wife formerly Mrs. Helen Linforth of this city, survives him.

A VERY SUDDEN DEATH.

Wm. H. White of Gibson, Expressman, Died Suddenly Sunday Morning.

A telephone message from Stanley yesterday, conveyed the startling intelligence that William H. White, the well known Gibson hotel keeper, had died suddenly at that place yesterday morning.

Saturday morning he left Gibson to go to his brother's camp near Stanley, to deliver some letters. He got as far as Johnson's at the head of the settlement, and put up there for the night. Sunday morning he rose early and went down stairs, and while the fire was being lighted he laid down on the sofa. In a few moments he complained of feeling unwell, and before Dr. Moore, who was summoned, could arrive, death had taken him.

Mr. White was born at Marsville, and was a son of the late William White of that place. For the past 30 years he has carried on the hotel business at Gibson, and of course was well known to a very large portion of the population. He sat in the York Municipal Council for eight years, and was a popular representative of the people, and zealously guarded the interests of his parish, though he did not make any great pretensions at religion.

Mr. White was known as a steadfast friend of the sick and afflicted. He has repeatedly gone into diphtheria stricken houses, and cared for the sufferers, when others could not be found to volunteer their services. The deceased was twice married, and his last wife formerly Mrs. Helen Linforth of this city, survives him.

Mr. White possessed considerable property in the city, and was a popular representative of the people, and zealously guarded the interests of his parish, though he did not make any great pretensions at religion. Mr. White was known as a steadfast friend of the sick and afflicted. He has repeatedly gone into diphtheria stricken houses, and cared for the sufferers, when others could not be found to volunteer their services.

Mr. White was known as a steadfast friend of the sick and afflicted. He has repeatedly gone into diphtheria stricken houses, and cared for the sufferers, when others could not be found to volunteer their services. The deceased was twice married, and his last wife formerly Mrs. Helen Linforth of this city, survives him.

Mr. White possessed considerable property in the city, and was a popular representative of the people, and zealously guarded the interests of his parish, though he did not make any great pretensions at religion. Mr. White was known as a steadfast friend of the sick and afflicted. He has repeatedly gone into diphtheria stricken houses, and cared for the sufferers, when others could not be found to volunteer their services.

Mr. White was known as a steadfast friend of the sick and afflicted. He has repeatedly gone into diphtheria stricken houses, and cared for the sufferers, when others could not be found to volunteer their services. The deceased was twice married, and his last wife formerly Mrs. Helen Linforth of this city, survives him.

Mr. White possessed considerable property in the city, and was a popular representative of the people, and zealously guarded the interests of his parish, though he did not make any great pretensions at religion. Mr. White was known as a steadfast friend of the sick and afflicted. He has repeatedly gone into diphtheria stricken houses, and cared for the sufferers, when others could not be found to volunteer their services.

Mr. White was known as a steadfast friend of the sick and afflicted. He has repeatedly gone into diphtheria stricken houses, and cared for the sufferers, when others could not be found to volunteer their services. The deceased was twice married, and his last wife formerly Mrs. Helen Linforth of this city, survives him.

PUBLIC EXAMINATION

Of the Upper Marguerite School Taught by Miss Roseborough.

The semi annual public examination of Upper Marguerite, District No. 8 school in charge of Miss F. J. Roseborough took place Wednesday afternoon, 18th inst. The lively interest taken in this school, was shown by the number of visitors from the district present, and others among whom were Rev. Mr. Freeman, Miss Helen Miles and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Miles of Oromocto. The teaching profession was well represented by Mrs. H. S. Miles and H. T. Smith former teachers of the school, and by Miss B. A. Brown of Maine and Miss Mary McLean. Mr. Smith was accompanied by the pupils of Wisley school at present in his charge. Visitors were requested to examine the various classes and the manner in which the pupils acquitted themselves, showed that they have a sound grasp of the subjects taught. The programme of regular work was varied by music, singing, memory gems, and recitations, and was not wanting in comic features, among which were the singing of the A. B. C's, the "Fives-times table" to the air of "Yankee Doodle," and "Three Little Kittens," all very laughably rendered by the younger classes. At the end of the exercises the school was addressed by Mr. A. R. Miles, Secretary of Trustees, Rev. Mr. Freeman, and H. T. Smith, who all congratulated the pupils on the success made by them, and the teacher on the results attained by her industrious and attentive labors in the welfare of the school. Mr. A. R. Miles informed the school that through the kindness of some friends, a collection of minerals and rocks, a collection of the Geological Survey Department of Canada, would be at their disposal. To this collection were added several specimens of coral, pressed tea, such as it is found in the commissariat of modern armies, and a curious old pipe of some extremely hard material, the gifts of Mrs. H. S. Miles. Mr. H. S. Miles kindly furnished the school with a fine magnifying glass to facilitate the study of the specimens in the collection. The children were favored with a treat provided by Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Miles. The proceedings closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," and "God Save the Queen."

PERSONAL INTELLIGENCE. Movements of People in Whom Our Readers are Interested.

Jack Burk, the boxing master, has returned to Fredericton. Hught S. Peppers, principal of the Centerville school, is home for the holidays. L. W. Johnston arrived home Saturday from a lengthy trip through the upper provinces.

D. M. Mitchell, principal of the Chatham Grammar school, is in the city for the vacation. Mr. Frank B. Gregory arrived this afternoon from Victoria, B. C., to spend the holidays at his old home. A. G. Blair, jr., was elected secretary of the Junior Bar Association organized at St. John Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Y. Dibblee go to Woodstock to-morrow to spend the holidays with Mr. Dibblee's parents. Fred Estey, manager of the Shogomo mills, is in the city to spend Christmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Estey.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. arrived home from Malden, Mass., Saturday, to spend the holidays with his father A. F. Street, collector of customs. Horace L. Brittain, B. A., who, since graduating from the University last spring, has been teaching school at Tatamagouche, N. S., arrived home Saturday and will spend the holidays with his parents.

J. Desanlier, for the past five years an employe of John Edgecombe & Sons, left Monday for his home at Sherbrook, P. Q. He is intended going West in the spring, taking his family with him. Harold Foote and B. Buffet, of Grand Banks, Newfoundland, who are attending Mount Allison college, arrived here Saturday evening, and will spend the holidays with Mr. Foote's uncle, Jonathan Sims, of Kingsclear.

The interior decoration of St. Paul's church is about finished, and the congregation expect to occupy it next Sunday. AN EXPLANATION. In our report of Dr. Inch's address, at the opening of the Teachers' Institute, there occurred a slight error, which we are glad to correct. The Chief Superintendent was reported to have said that it was under contemplation by the Board of Education to require districts having an assessable valuation of less than $10,000 to employ only third-class teachers. He did say, that it was under contemplation to require districts having an assessable valuation of over $10,000 or upwards. It is not intended to prevent any district, however poor it may be, to employ the best teachers available.

TRIX Richibouche Review, is not strictly classical language, refers to the Presbyterian father, who cast off his son, because the latter embraced the Baptist faith,—as "an old hog." MARRIED. At the Baptist parsonage, in this city on the 18th, by Rev. J. D. Freeman, James Tanner, to Emily Myrhill, both of Fredericton. At Augusta, Maine, on the 11th inst., Jacob Fowler of Mill Settlement, Sanbury Co., to Lizzie, daughter of John McCutcheon of Petersville, Queens Co.

DIED. In this city on the 22nd inst., Mas, eldest daughter of G. Fred Coy, aged 18 years. At Blenheim, Sanbury Co., on the 11th inst., Walter Kirkpatrick, aged 75 years. Suddenly at Williamsburg, Stanley, on the 22nd inst., William H. White of Gibson, aged 61 years. At Milltown, N. B., Dec. 17th, Sarah, wife of Charles H. Eaton, and mother of Mrs. F. B. Edgecombe of this city, aged 62 years. In this city on the 23rd inst., Charles Gunter, son of the late Rev. Jacob Gunter, aged 42 years. At Gibson, on the 22nd inst., Grace Helen, daughter of Rev. F. D. Davidson, aged 9 years. At New York, on the 19th inst., George L. Atherton, formerly of this city, aged 47 years.