HE CONDEMNS BOERS

Bishop J. C. Hartzell, of Africa, Lauds the Englishmen.

SAYS BURGHERS ARE BRUTAL.

Te's American Methodists that Great Britain is Justified in the War—His Sentiments Cheered.

Every allusion to an alliance between England and the United States, and every expression of hope for English vicr over the Boers made by Bishop J. C. Hartzell, of Africa, in the Auditorium, Chicago, last week, was enthusiastically applauded by the Methodists in general.

The bishop varied his address with stories of the Boers, and dwelt some minutes on the fogging of natives by the Dutch, and of the one speck of the fogging ordered by Gen. Cronje. These were hissed by the Methodists.

The bishop believed that the natives are the children of Ham and are intended by Providence for slavery. If slavery cannot be in that form, then the relations must be fixed so that equality of privilege is not meted between the Boer and the native, no matter what be the intelligence or character of the latter.

The constitution provides that there shall be no equality between white and colored persons in church or state; no black man can walk on the sidewalk in town of city; his inclusion not only means a standing in court in the Transvaal; he cannot sue the government or a white man. The Transvaal does nothing toward the education of the black people, although by license, etc., they pay 3 per cent of the public school money.

"The Transvaal Day churches, after fifty years of opportunity, have done practically nothing in missionary work among the natives. I failed to learn of one black convert, much less a native teacher or preacher or congregation in either branch of the Transvaal Dutch Reformed Church. President Kruger's branch, which is the Dopper Church, and claims to be the true reformed body not only does nothing, but beginning with Kruger himself, represents the most extreme anti-black sentiment.

"The immediate occasion of the war was the treatment of the Outlanders in the Transvaal. The Transvaal has been a government administered on the basis of preference of principle. Under British rule there is absolute equality of privilege and protection to all white men, and under that rule the Boers have advanced in intelligence and wealth.

"The franchise law provides that an Outlander must be 40 years of age, he must own property; a majority of the burghers in his district must express in writing their desire that he be made a burgher; he must not be objected to by the state secretary or the president; and as a climax unparalleled in civilized government, his son born in the Transvaal takes the political status of his father. It is to be remembered also that the burghers commence voting at 16. It is the 210,000 Outlanders, the great majority of whom have zone to that healthful climate to a permanent home, whose rights are outraged.

"The Transvaal sealed its doom as a permanent government in its present form in August, 1895, when it threw aside a petition containing over 35,000 names, acknowledged to be genuine, asking for some slight modifications of the franchise. After that, if ever there was a spot on earth where rebellion was justifiable on the part of the oppressed, it was the Transvaal. In no civilized country on earth would 80,000 grown men, representing an intelligent and aggressive Anglo-Saxon population of 210,000 people, conducting enormous business interests, submit to the tyranny of an oligarchy such as has ruled at Pretoria.

"History will condemn this war as having been inaugurated by the Boers because in the administration of civil justice to white men, irrespective of race or language, they showed themselves utterly incompetent and out of sympathy with the demands of nineteenth century civilization. England will succeed because she is right and stands for liberty and justice as applied to man, irrespective of race, black or white, or language or religion."

THE VANWART CASE.

The Defendant Still in Montreal and Reported no Better.

HIS SON, ROY, ASKS AN ADJOURNMENT BY TELEGRAPH.

Mr. Gregory Objects and Applies for an Attachment.

COVEY ADJOURNS UNTIL MONDAY—HIS HONOR'S RE MARKS ON THE CASE.

Judge Wilson opened his court at ten Tuesday morning to continue the examination of the defendant in the suit of Timothy Lynch vs Judge Vanwart. The defendant Wedge was not present, but J. H. Barry who appeared for him in the absence of Dr. P. A. C. P. R., sent a telegram from Roy Vanwart, which stated that his father was no better, and asked that the case be adjourned for ten days.

Mr. Gregory, Q. C., who appeared for the plaintiff, applied for an attachment against him for contempt.

The Judge remarked that in making the repeated applications for adjournment, the defendant was not treating the court in the way that it should be treated, and they must be cognizant of that fact. He was willing to grant any adjournment to meet the wishes of the defendant, as he seemed to be in an awkward condition to attend, but when an application was made, it seemed to him only reasonable that affidavits should be furnished by those in a position to know the defendant's condition, showing that it was impossible for him to be present.

Close to Death. Thousands of Maritime Province Residents Were in Deadly Danger. Most of Them Would Have Perished but for Dodd's Kidney Pills—Kidney Diseases Vanish Before This Great Remedy.

Halifax, N. S., May 11.—The list of names of Maritime Province residents who have been cured of Kidney Diseases by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and which was published, a few days ago, in the leading newspapers of these provinces, has created deep interest, and has been the one great topic of conversation ever since.

"You think the list is large?" said a leading Halifax druggist, to one of his customers, who was speaking of the matter today. "Well, so it is."

"But, look at this," he said, taking a number of sheets of foolscap paper from his desk. "Here is a list of names of some of those among our customers, who have been cured of Kidney Diseases, in one form or another, by Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"I am compiling this list just for curiosity," I have already fifty names, and I have spoken to only about half my customers yet.

"It is really the most remarkable thing I ever heard of," went on the druggist. "Here are the names of fifty persons. Some had Rheumatism, some Lumbago, others had Diabetis, others Bright's Disease, four had Graves, three had Heart Disease, one had Stomach in the Bladder, five had Paralysis, and so on. They all state here, in writing, that Dodd's Kidney Pills cured them."

"Consider that every other druggist can make a similar list. Count the number of druggists throughout the country, and you will see the startlingly large number of cures Dodd's Kidney Pills have made."

"I go to prove, beyond all dispute, that Dodd's Kidney Pills are simple infallible, in all Kidney Diseases. I never yet heard of a case where they failed to cure."

FELL 175 FEET

And Set Fire to Himself—A Painter's Awful Death.

Lowell, Mass., May 15.—While St. Patrick's church organ, was speaking forth a requiem and several hundred worshippers were in the church at 10 o'clock when Thomas McDermott, a painter, fell from the steeple of the church, a distance of 175 feet, and was killed.

In his descent he struck a ridge on the steeple roof and bounced over, lighting on a picket fence. Matches in his pocket set fire to his clothing after he struck the fence. As the people rushed from the church, frightened by the noise of the body striking the roof, they found a tangled mass of pickets and clothing hiding the body and flames breaking out of the pile.

A MAINE TRAGEDY.

Man Shot His Daughter and Committed Suicide.

Thomaston, Maine, May 15.—The corner of Knox County commenced an inquest this forenoon into a shooting affair which occurred on the water front here at a late hour last night.

Henry Simmons, of Bremen a small place about 25 miles north west of Thomaston, shot and severely wounded his daughter aged 14 years, and then killed himself. The shot which injured his daughter was intended for Simmons wife.

Attraction for the 31st.

The St. John Harmony club have been secured to present their Military Minstrel performance in the opera house on the evening of the Queen's birthday. The military minstrel is an apt-to-please performance in every respect. The company is composed of fifty of St. John's leading vocalists and will arrive here in a special car on the morning of the 24th. They bring their own brass band and orchestra, and intend giving a street parade on the arrival of the train. The band is contained in a neat khaki uniform, and the remainder of the company are attired in a neat costume. The circle is composed of 40 voices and special scenery is used in an excellent representation of the capture of Spion Kop by the British, which is the certain raiser. There are six men who make their appearance on the stage on the morning of the 24th. The solos are very pretty and catchy.

A Horrible Death.

The Hartland Advertiser, reporting the fatal accident to John Brooker of Nashwaakie, says that the terrible accident occurred last Saturday on Welch's drive on North Branch of Barre Hill stream, Miramichi. John Brooker got caught in a running jam of logs and was terribly mutilated, having nearly every bone in his body broken. The remains of the body were taken to the morgue and the coroner took them to Boistown in a hearse, then to Fredericton by rail. He leaves a wife and nine small children. His fellow workmen made up a purse of $100 and sent forward with the body to the widow.

Night Have Been Serious.

Two buzzes came into collision near Barrell's drug store Monday afternoon and one, containing Mrs. O. H. Hart and Mrs. J. E. McNeill, had the rear axle broken and a wheel taken off. The ladies had stopped their horse and had partly turned out to speak to some one in the drug store, when the other team, which was driven up street, ran into them. Fortunately the horses did not start and no one was injured.

The Corporation Drive.

Herbert Aiken left for Grand Falls Monday morning to look after the corporation drive at that point. Excelsior, the contractor, left this morning to commence operations. Mr. Aiken has a substantial knowledge of the work this season, and anticipates no difficulty in getting the logs to the booms. He already has several sacking parties at work at points along the river.

MARRIED.
