THE SITUATION IN CUBA.

It is the opinion of a great many people who have been closely observing events in Cuba during the past few years, that the troubles of that unhappy island only really began when it secured its independence, and set up those keeping as a republic.

The United States spent much blood and treasure to secure Cuba's freedom from the Spanish yoke, but retains a sort of protectorate over the island, but the new relations are not working satisfactorily.

The Cuban Government has already begun to retaliate by forestalling what is considered the United States' desire to establish a naval station at the arsenal grounds in Havana by renting that property.

The fact is that the United States navy has had no intention of establishing a naval station at the arsenal, but is evidently desirous of keeping a hold for that purpose on Tricorals, across the bay from Havana, where there is already a supply of coal, which the Cuban Government weeks ago requested be removed.

The Navy Department would have liked to establish the naval station at once. Plans were laid in that direction, but President Roosevelt expressed the opinion that it would be good policy not to proceed with negotiations for concessions for coaling or naval stations until the United States had discharged, in part at least, its pledges to Cuba.

General Fitzhugh Lee, former United States Consul-General at Havana, well acquainted with Cuban conditions, declared three weeks ago that nearly lured ahead for the Cuban Government, but formed a rallying point which could avert deplorable conditions was the inspiring of confidence to American capital by the Cuban Government.

General Bragg, United States Consul-General, caused an intense furor in Cuba by declaring in a letter written to his wife, and published in a Chicago newspaper, that "Uncle Sam might as well try to make a whistle out of a pig's tail as to do anything with the Cuban people." Complaint was made to the State Department.

General Bragg admitted the statement, and the case was sent to the President for action. It is conceded that General Bragg's usefulness as a Consul-General is past, but he has not yet been recalled, a fact which has greatly nettled the public and press of Havana, and which doubtless increases the distrust of the United States.

In the closing hours of Congress, Senator Elkins tried to force the passage of the Cuban annexation bill. This has infused in the Cuban mind the idea that strong influence in both Houses of Congress have been insincere in the reciprocity effort, and regard it as only a matter of time until the United States will annex the island.

Improving their opportunities. The Canadian ministers in London are evidently very busy men. Besides accepting the numerous hospitalities extended to them they are also trying to do some important business for their country.

The Canadian ministers in London are evidently very busy men. Besides accepting the numerous hospitalities extended to them they are also trying to do some important business for their country. The meetings of the colonial conference has taken considerable attention, and it looks as if some important results may flow therefrom.

Whether we shall have preference in British markets as an outcome of the Canadian ministers' visit to London is still uncertain, but in other lines these gentlemen seem to be justifying their stay in the old country.

SOME CONTRASTS. The Post Office—Need of Sewerage—The News etc.

Another remarkable feature of Fredericton is the lack of any system of sewerage. I am informed that there are difficulties to overcome which are apparently insurmountable owing to the nature of the water supply; but I can not conceive that with so splendid a river running so rapidly past the town, no sewerage system is possible.

THE MARSTEN INQUEST. Several Witnesses Examined at the Recent Inquest and an Adjournment.

Woodstock, N. B., July 31.—The Marsten inquest was held at four o'clock on Monday afternoon. The coroner's court has had four adjournments. A large number of witnesses have been examined, but the evidence is not yet forthcoming.

At the matter stands now the most important testimony is that of the coroner, who made the post mortem. They are not able to account for death from anything they saw or found.

In the testimony given on the 29th, a good many questions were asked about strychnine having been found over a door in the house, and Edward Higgins said that Peter Marsten told him last summer that he had found a bottle of strychnine over the door in the house; he thought George put it there; maybe he calculated to put him out of the way that way instead of using a gun.

Mr. Marsten told her that the row spoken of was caused by Peter getting drunk, and she was afraid he would make trouble so took him to his room and stayed in the room with him. She had heard nothing mentioned in connection with the house.

Several women were at Mrs. Marsten's between the time of her husband's death and the funeral. Testimony was given as to a conversation between her and Mrs. Bobbitt and her daughter, Mrs. Gowen, that Mrs. Marsten told these ladies that she had given her husband strychnine and again her husband had had the brotch did not taste as well as the egg.

Mr. Dickson spoke of seeking coming to her home one day and asking for his brother. He seemed very downhearted, and wanted to know what was to be thought of a man's wife who would take a stick of wood out of the box and throw it at him, and that she had taken a butcher knife to him.

Wm. I. Marsten, brother-in-law of deceased, said that because his house on Monday morning, and said they had a row. He was very angry, and he went down and sat on the floor. He told her to go down and settle it up. He told her he did not intend to kick up a fuss, but he saw something that morning and could not keep his temper any longer.

Foreman Grosvenor witness said that deceased had said something had happened with the woman. He did not say anything about having chased Peter with a gun.

Witness said that when she asked deceased why he did not go and leave the whole kit, he replied he would not go; they would have to go.

Elihu Moore gave testimony as to conversations he had with deceased. Twelve years ago, when deceased's child died, he told witness that he thought the child was poisoned, that he got some milk left on the table, and that after taking it the child died like a dog with strychnine. His wife told him that a woman, Hannah Debon, told her when she had a quarrel, must have put poison in the milk. Deceased consulted witness, who was a magnetic healer, and he told him he thought he was being poisoned. He wanted him to go to Stanley with him and take his treatment, and at first he said he would not, but afterwards said he would, and that his wife told him he had better not go from home. When he saw him again he said he could do nothing for him. Witness said from his diagnosis he believed deceased was being poisoned.

Patrick Carlyn of Danvers, spent Sunday here. Preparations are being made for a banquet to be held on next Tuesday, August 5th, at the residence of Daniel McEade, for the benefit of the R. C. Church. All are cordially invited and a good time is expected.

THE KING'S CONDITION. Gratifying Progress in His Majesty's Recovery. London, Aug. 2.—King Edward VII. increases his walking exercise, upon which his physicians no longer place any restraint. There is now no doubt that his majesty will be strong enough to undergo the coronation ceremonies August 9th, but in order to guard against contingencies, a special motor chair is being prepared for his majesty's use should it be found necessary. The king is expected to remain on board the royal yacht at Cowes until the last possible moment on Friday, the 8th, if this is possible; but there is a strong probability of his coming to London Thursday. He is in excellent spirits and greatly enjoyed his seven-hour sail to Brighton and back today. He read the newspaper and walked about the yacht while Queen Alexandra took photographic snapshots of the yachting scene.

GEN. MEYER IN LONDON. London, July 30.—Seldom has any social function created more interest than that given by Mr. Alfred Rothchild last night when these two recent enemies of the field of battle, Lord Kitchener and General Lucas Meyer, the famous Boer leader, were invited to meet each other at dinner. Many notabilities well known in the world of art, letters, music, the drama and politics, as is usual at Mr. Alfred Rothchild's parties, were present, among the people there being Prince Aga Khan, Maharajah of Cooh Bahar. Bat, of course, the two great generals were the persons of greatest interest, and every one present noted the very friendly manner in which they met and shook hands.

THE FAST LINE SERVICE. Official Statement Not Expected for a Fortnight.

Montreal, Aug. 1.—A London cable to the Star says: "The Canadian ministers met yesterday and discussed the Allan's and Canadian Pacific Railway Company's tender for the fast Atlantic service, Sir Wilfrid Laurier afterwards interviewing Lord Selbome, the first lord of the admiralty. An official statement respecting the establishment of the service is expected within the next fortnight."

Toronto, Aug. 1.—The Telegram's special cable from London says: "Sir Christopher Forster organized a meeting of shipowners, which was held yesterday at West Hartlepool. It was resolved to protest against the payment of a subsidy by the British government for a fast Atlantic line, except for the purpose of securing an efficient mail service."

A deputation of manufacturers of pulp, paper and makes of machinery intervened Lord Selbome in regard to Canadian trade. They asked the influence of the minister of commerce be enlisted to break down the Canadian prejudice against British made machinery. A request was also made for exemption from duty for three years.

In the opinion of Canadian shippers and Canadian business men in London generally, no freight subsidy should be given to the Canadian Pacific railway. Many are also opposed to an enormous passenger subsidy. The British-German line men declare that even the best Canadian line will not divert a pound of freight or a single passenger from the present routes. It is also the prevailing opinion that terminal port of the fast Canada line must be Sydney or Halifax.

Halifax, N. B., Aug. 2.—Post Office Inspector O'Brien is here investigating the robbery of the post office saving bank Thursday. The thief got in by a back window that he forced in, and there being no safe in the post office, he easily carried off the money. He had drawn drawers in one of which he found $500. This money was received after banking hours Wednesday evening. The caretaker who sleeps in the third flat of the building heard no noise. A very suspicious looking man has been seen in town this week.

HOSPITAL TREATMENT. Failed to Benefit Mrs. John Potter, of Wellauport, But Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Cured Her and She is Now Enjoying the Best.

It is no uncommon occurrence for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to restore suffering to health after doctors, and even the best hospital treatment, have failed to benefit them. Among those who have been benefited in this way is Mrs. John Potter, a lady well known in Wellauport, N. B. Speaking about her illness as a reporter, Mrs. Potter said: "About three years ago I was greatly run down. My appetite was poor, I suffered from severe headaches and palpitation of the heart; I was very weak and had a constant feeling of nervousness which no amount of sleep could overcome. One night I prepared freely and would wake up in the morning in a very enfeebled condition. To make matters worse my trouble became aggravated with those ailments so common to my sex. I was filled with ulcers, and so bad were they that although at different times I had treatment from five doctors they failed to cure me. I then went to the hospital in Hamilton, and although I received the best treatment that could be given there, I was not benefited. I returned home very much discouraged, and it was then that I decided that I would try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got a bottle and began taking them, and my great gratification they soon began to help me, and under their continued use my appetite returned, my nerves were relieved, my weight increased, and all the troubles that had made my life so miserable vanished. It was a great pleasure to me to find that although at different times I had treatment from five doctors they failed to cure me. I returned home very much discouraged, and it was then that I decided that I would try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got a bottle and began taking them, and my great gratification they soon began to help me, and under their continued use my appetite returned, my nerves were relieved, my weight increased, and all the troubles that had made my life so miserable vanished. It was a great pleasure to me to find that although at different times I had treatment from five doctors they failed to cure me. I then went to the hospital in Hamilton, and although I received the best treatment that could be given there, I was not benefited.
