QUITE an excitement was created in our midst last week by a report that a gentleman named Burns, who resides at the upper end of Town, had discovered an oil well upon his premises. But while the capitalists of our Town were discussing the propriety of forming a company, sinking a shaft, &c., the astounding news arrived that the oil well was artificial; to use a mining term it had been "salted" with paraffine.—Woodstock Clipper.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH IN ROCKLAND.—On Sunday evening the house of Mr. Robert Smith, at Rockland, was burned down, and so to relate, a young child of Mr. Smith's was burned to death in it, and another also seriously burned. We have not been able to learn the full particulars, but we believe that the fire was set by the young child upsetting a burning lamp, and before assistance could be rendered, it was too late to save one of the children.—Moncton Times.

ROBBERY.—On Monday afternoon a thief entered the residence of Mrs. Finn, Mill street, where she was on a visit and made away with several articles including a gold watch. On Wednesday afternoon a Mr. Whitcomb, who lives on the City Road, was arrested for the robbery and a search was being procured, all of the articles were found in her possession with the exception of a $3 bill. FIRE.—The cellar flat of a house owned by a Mr. Thompson, of Paradise Row, was damaged by fire at an early hour last Sunday morning. The roof of Mrs. Gallagher's house, Fort Howe, caught fire on Wednesday, but the embers flames were promptly extinguished with a few pails of water by Mr. Connor Donnelly. A fire in the Parish of Wingham, Queens Co., on Wednesday night destroyed a double house and a large barn belonging to Mrs. McEae, a widow. It appears that her sons went to Fredericton leaving her and her sister-in-law to take care of the house. The women were asleep when the house took fire but awoken just in time to save themselves from being suffocated with the smoke. They rushed out not having time to save anything from the burning house which was quickly laid in ashes. The flames next attacked a barn a few yards from the house, which contained a lot of horses, cattle, hay, buckwheat, &c. The animals were lost.

THE rest of the contents were burned including 200 poultry. The sister-in-law lost $400 in gold which was in the house when it was consumed. A short distance away there were other barns belonging to the property, which were saved.

ACCIDENTS.—A little girl named Gillespie was knocked down by a team on Main street, Portland, Tuesday afternoon and was seriously bruised. A stone cutter named Murphy had some of his fingers badly smashed by a stone falling on them in a Leinster street stone yard, Wednesday afternoon. During the rifle competition at St. Stephen recently, a man named Handy, was struck in the face by a glancing bullet, while in the butt near the target. The injury will not be serious.

THE END of a DRIVE.—On Tuesday afternoon Geo. W. Davis and Geo. Buchanan hired a horse from Mr. John Burchill and a wagon from Messrs. Kelly & Murphy, to take a drive, promising to return the same evening. Having failed to do so Mr.

Burchill and Capt. Rawlings went in search of them next morning but returned without finding any trace of the team. On Wednesday evening Buchanan drove along Paradise Bridge and afterwards jumped off the carriage which he alone occupied. The horse and carriage were taken charge of by Mr. Bond and driven to the owner's stable. Davis, who, in the meantime put in an appearance at the Portland Police office, framed several excuses but they would not take. Not having sufficient stamps to satisfy Mr. Burchill for the part he had taken in the transaction, he was placed in the lock up, but was subsequently released on a letter having paid the fine.

AQUATIC.—The single scull race which took place on Courtenay Bay, Monday morning, was the best contested race that was ever witnessed, between amateurs, on these waters before. The contestants in this race, were Joseph Daly and John Gorman; both are well built young men and can handle the oar in splendid style. Betting was indulged in pretty freely among the large crowd that assembled in the slipway to witness the race, Daly being the favorite. The course was two miles with a return. The water being in splendid condition, about eight o'clock, it was thereupon decided to have the race to come off immediately; the word "go" having shortly afterwards been given, and resulted in Gorman taking the lead, which was evident however, he would not be able to keep long; and such was the case, for at the turn, Daly was leading him about four lengths, and added as many more on the home stretch, winning the race easily. Daly's style of rowing was very much admired. Time, 18 minutes. Stakes were $25 a side.

The four oared race which took place shortly after the above race, between the Black-Pole crew and Smith-Wister crew, was also well contested. The Black-Pole crew were composed of James Black, David Ramsay, W. Hannan and James Foley; the Smith-Wister crew are Robert Smith, John Myrick, John McCullough and John Wister. The course was three miles and the $35 a side. Both crews kept well together for the first mile and a half, but on the home stretch the Black-Pole crew proved to be the best four, winning the race by two lengths.

Mr. Hugh Campbell, of Portland, says that he will row no more races this season. He is seriously thinking about giving up racing and joining a brass band. Those who imagine him green enough to take on a race this season are mistaken. It is just to Mr. Campbell to state that he intends for the remainder of the year at least to give all his attention to his business, which is constantly increasing.
