BARNBURN.—Monday night at a meeting held in Mr. James Crawford's shop, Main street, Portland, the Invidibles were re-organized through the efforts of Capt John Hall. They have decided to take part in the Exhibition Base Ball tournament, which commences in Fredericton, Oct. 7th, and which will last about five days. On Thursday they had a friendly contest with the Acadians on the play grounds of the latter. At the tournament and at any games which they may play this year, Higgins will be pitcher and Ockey Collins will probably catch.

THIRD OF LIFE.—Fannie Warren, a young woman of about 18 years, who has lately been frequenting the slums of Sheffield street, attempted to end her days by jumping into the water with the intention of drowning herself, at the break-water beach, Sunday evening. She was rescued by three young men and brought to a house a short distance away in an unconscious state. After a time she revived and was soon on the road again. Before the occurrence she was seen staggering down the street, her appearance indicating that she had imbibed drugged liquor.

ACCIDENTS.—An employee in Messrs. Pierreling's mill named John Fivelling, Hampton, had one of his fingers cut off by a saw recently. A PLAN THAT DIDN'T WORK.—Davis, who has recently made himself conspicuous by assisting to bring some Carleton votes to justice for violating the liquor law, was seen prowling around Portland on election day with a view of capturing some of the fenders in that line. Leaving a policeman outside he found the proprietor and enquired for a glass of port wine. The proprietor knew the "decoy" and after telling him that he (Davis) knew well that he sold no liquor on that day, ordered him to clear out, go to Carleton, and try his detective skill among the "vidders." Davis lost no time in leaving the premises.
RUNAWAY IN SHERIDAN.—On Friday a span of horses being driven by R. A. Russell Esq., of Sherbrooke, became frightened by a loose running team and ran away. Mr. Russell lost control of the reins and the horses, who after running along the streets, dashed into the Sherbrooke station yard, crossing the platform and tating the railway track to the Point. On reaching a cow-catcher one of the horses became entangled and the occupants of the carriage, Mr. Russell and his wife, were turned out somewhat suddenly, but without serious injury to themselves. While the runaway was on the main road, and Mr. Russell having no control of his team, a little child was struck on the head by one of the horses and we hear it is feared that fatal injuries were sustained.—Moncton Times.
INJURED BY A BELL.—Last evening, as Mr. L. C. Getchell, of Waterville, was driving his cattle from his pasture to the road, to take home for milking, he was attacked by a two-year-old bull and very roughly handled. Fortunately for Mr. Getchell the animal occurred near an old cellar, the interior of which he was knocked by the infuriated beast, but not before receiving some severe bruises. One of his legs was injured, the skin was knocked off the under side of his lower jaw, and his clothing was badly torn. Considering Mr. Getchell was quite feeble at the time, and no help near, while the animal was very large and powerful for his age, the old gentleman may be congratulated on having escaped with his life.—Woodstock News.
MORE BIG LOANS.—What appeared to be a tremendous big loan for one horse, (7670 lbs.) as published last week, has brought to notice the wonderful strength of other horses. Jas. Duval's brown horse, weighing only 1110 lbs., hauled from Morrison's mill one day last week, a load weighing 8500 lbs. We have other records on hand but will only note the last hauled by Mr. David Duval with his chestnut stallion, as it appears to cap the climax, his load weighing 9810 lbs., and must have been cheap wood at $1.35 per load. It is evident from the foregoing that considerable attention has been given to the improvement of working as well as trotting horses in this Province during the last ten years. In old times a ton was considered a good load for a pair of horses.—Reporter.
ACCIDENT ON THE DORCHESTER PENITENTIARY.—A Dorchester correspondent of the Moncton Times writes:—Two men were seriously injured on the Provincial Penitentiary on Thursday. The steam derrick after having raised to the top of the wall a load of planks and in letting it down into the building with more swiftness than they intended, struck a stage on which two carpenters, named McDougall and Penny, were working, sending them in the air some six feet, and on falling to the bottom McDougall jammed his foot badly, breaking two bones and injuring himself less severe otherwise. Penny struck his head against the wall, cutting it somewhat, strained his back very much and got his thighs hurt by a plank falling across them. This is the first accident that has happened on the works since the beginning. Drs. Chandler and Robt were immediately sent for and dressed up the wounds. They are both doing well.
