John O'Regan, Ass't Librarian

THE INVESTIGATION into the Moncton mystery is not yet concluded. Several witnesses have sworn to receiving various sums of money from the Osbornes since the 12th of October—the day on which McCarthy is supposed to have been murdered. A man named Casey, who keeps a store in St. Stephen, has sent for a photograph of the missing man, as he believes McCarthy was in his store some time after his disappearance.

Remember the complimentary benefit to Hugh Campbell, at St. Peter's Hall, Portland, on Monday evening next. Posters announce that the performance will open with Campbell's Grand Minstrel Circle, with Hugh Campbell, interlocutor; Billy Linskey, bones; Jim Fitzgerald, tambo. Readings and recitations will then be given by M. J. Dolan and J. L. McCafferty. Then follows singing by several ladies and gentlemen, and the amusing farce of "Handy Andy" to wind up with. Admission to floor, 20 cents; gallery, 35 cents. A crowded house will be in order.

ENTERTAINMENTS.—On Monday evening last, notwithstanding the stormy weather the entertainment given by the St. Michael's C. T. A. Society in St. Patrick's Hall, Chatham, was very successful. The programme embraced an address by the President, Mr. Thos. Crimmens, musical selections, solos, duetts, and recitations etc., A very enjoyable drama entitled "End of the Tether" was played, the characters being well represented. The performance with slight changes will be repeated on Monday evening next, by request.

St. Dunstan's Dramatic Club, Fredericton, will perform "Chimney Corner" and "Diamond Cut Diamond" in their hall, Regent street, on Tuesday evening next.

ACCIDENTS.—A Lad named Thos. Nugent of Patrick street, was run over by a team near the brush factory, Union street, on Wednesday evening, and received severe injuries.

A span of horses driven by Mr. Dennis Whalen, coachman fell into an excavation near the new ferry house site, on Wednesday last. One of the horses received such severe injuries that he died. The coach was badly damaged.

John Collins of Rockland, Kings Co. was so severely bitten on the right hand by a dog lately that in was necessary to have one of his fingers amputated.

THE FESTIVAL IN ST. MALACHI'S HALL.

The Festival under the direction of the ladies of the Cathedral congregation, for the benefit of the Catholic Total Abstinence Societies of the City, has been eminently successful. For the eleven nights the affair has been in operation the hall has been very well filled. People appeared as though they would never tire of assisting at a very enjoyable entertainment and also of assisting in the good cause of Temperance to the full extent of their ability. The attractions offered by the ladies and others in charge were so numerous and pleasing that they could not very well fail to draw large numbers of visitors. As we noted last week, we have to repeat now that the Post Office, presided over by officials more exacting in there demands than any of these appointed by Government, was, since our last issue, kept constantly occupied mailing missives which proved of interest to all by whom they were received, even if the postage was ten cents or higher. The receipts at the Office must have been large. The sybils of the tent were hardly able to meet the demands of all who were anxious to peer into the mysterious depths of the future. It is said that a desire to be truthful was the ruling feature of the fortune-tellers, and as truth always prevails, a splendid success crowned the impartial efforts of the young sybils.

The managers of the Wheel of Fortune were once, during the last week of the Festival, obliged to close up their business rather early as all the magnificent fortunes were eagerly carried off and nothing remained with which to attract the unwary. The managers of this department are to be congratulated on their very successful labors. The refreshment table, presided over by ladies who never seem to tire of working in a good cause, was well supplied with whatever could benefit the appetite of the visitor. A good and, we hope, a profitable business was done by the ladies who here dispensed the comforts of life. The Cathedral Choir came out in full force or nearly so this week and delighted large audiences by their skilful rendering of many choice, musical pieces. We were pleased to notice that Mrs. Landry consented to sing some of her best and most pleasing [illegible]. Those who heard her sing declared that she surpassed all her previous efforts. The applause of the audience as manifested in many ways was very gratifying. Mrs. Doherty, Miss Guthrie, Miss Hannah Sullivan and Miss Cohalan all showed in the musical excercise and afforded great pleasure to their many friends by their skillful execution of very difficult compositions. Mrs. Doherty sang even better than last week, and as her fine voice went sweeping and swaying, now loud and clear, now gentle and beseeching, through the large room, there was almost painful silence, and at the close storms of approbation.

Miss Guthrie, as is always the case, sang so sweetly and artistically that all were in raptures. We think Miss Sullivan showed marks of vast improvement over her efforts of last week, although they were something to be proud of. Miss Cohalan has often delighted the musical portion of St. John at former entertainments, but even her greatest admirers claim that they were not until this week fully able to form a just idea of her extraordinary musical talent. The songs sung by her this week, particularly on Wednesday night, are acknowledged by those who are fully capable of judging in the matter to have been the finest of her triumphs. Mr. Jas. Guthrie and Mr. P. Walter Lantalum added much to the beauty and perfection of the musical treat prepared by the members of the Cathedral Choir for the visitors to St. Malachi's. We have heard it repeatedly remarked during the progress of the festival and at other times that it would be difficult to find a voluntary choir, taken individually or collectively, that would equal the Cathedral Choir. Those who patronized the Festival are under a very great obligation to the Choir for the beautiful and pleasing entertainment offered by the talented members.

Mr. I. J. D. Landry, Organist of the Cathedral, presided at the piano with his usual skill and good taste, and added much to the success of the different vocalists. The members of the City Cornet Band, under their energetic leader, Mr. Dixon, are to be congratulated on the skill and perfection with which they played the many and varied compositions, which afforded so much delight to all. From the beginning the Soiree and Festival were successful, even more successful than the most sanguine could have anticipated, and this could not well be otherwise, seeing the energy and perseverence with which the ladies of the Cathedral Congregation or the members of the Temperrance and other societies worked to attain success.

There was a flicker of green, nothing more, and though the blast was at once thrown off and the furnace cooled, not an atom of the body was recovered.
