NEWS OF THE WEEK.

LOCAL NEWS.

Diptheria is quite prevalent in Halifax.

THE PORTLAND RELIEF SOCIETY since its organization has expended over $7,643.12

REV. FR. CHAPMAN is in the city.

FR MAGUIRE, S. J., will open a mission in Woodstock to-morrow.

P. MCCAFFREY, ESQ., J. P., Woodstock, was in the city this week.

DROWNED.—On Sunday last, two men named Jackson and Stewart, were drowned at Tidnish, in trying to get to a schooner in a small boat.

FIRE.—A car load of hay attached to a freight train, was burned at Enniskillen, Monday evening. It belonged to Smith & Co., Carleton, and was valued at $180.

UPSET.—On Sunday, a boat containing eight persons, were upset from a sail boat, at Milledgeville. They were rescued by Messrs. Ed. Hilyard and Jacob Tobin.

THE News says that Chief of Police Marshall "possesses as good a knowledge of house-building as of police business." The compliment, if one was intended, is a very poor one.—Freeman.

GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK.—We have received a copy of the above publication for July, from Mr. T. H. Hall, cor. King and Germain streets, where it is for sale. It contains a large amount of useful and interesting reading matter for ladies.

RUFFIANISM—Wallace's four wheel photograph saloon, stationed in a vacant lot below the Baptist Meeting House, Indiantown, was interfered with by three hilarious young men about three o'clock yesterday morning. The damage done including broken glass is in the vicinity of $150. The noise made awakened people living in a house near by who on looking out of the windows saw the parties decamp. No reason can be assigned for the wanton act. It is almost unnecessary to add that the policemen were not on hand.

HEALEY'S MINSTRELS.—This combination which has been playing to delighted audiences, closed a very successful season in this city, on Thursday night. Last night they performed in Carleton, where they will repeat to night. On Monday evening they show in Moncton. They will afterwards visit Newcastle, Chatham, Truro, Windsor, Halifax and the principal towns in Prince Edwards Island. We assure our readers in these places that the entertainment is of a first-class description and well worthy of patronage.

BODIES FOUND.—On Saturday morning, the body of an infant in a decomposed state was found in the water at the western end of the South Wharf. The Coroner was notified but it was thought unnecessary to hold an inquest. The body of a moulder in Armstrong's foundry, Lower Cove, named John White, was found drowned in the harbor, near the new pier, on Sunday morning, and taken to the dead house when it was afterwards identified.

A TOUGH SALMON.—The other day a certain railroad conductor, who runs out of this city and who has lots of friends all over the country, received a fine salmon from a friend in St. John. When the noble fish arrived in this city the conductor was absent, but it was preserved for him. In the meantime some one who cared more for a joke than salmon procured a piece of telegraph wire and ran it into the salmon, as he said to strengthen the back bone. When the conductor arrived he proceeded to cut up the salmon and share it with his friends. He found great difficulty in finding the joints in the back bone, and it was not until he had spoiled several knives, borrowed from a neighboring eating house, that he discovered the joke.—Portland Daily Press.

TEMPERANCE.—On Sunday evening, St. Peter's Cadets, Portland, elected the following as delegates to the Woodstock Convention: John Meahan, P. E. McMurray, M. Loney, W. Hyland and Wm. Brown. The delegates ex officio is John Burns, the local deputy, John Duffy.

St. Patrick's T. A. Society, Carleton, has elected the following delegates to the Convention: Messrs. Thos. Reilly, Joseph O'Brien, Geo. Quinlan, Danl. Moloy and Michael Donovan. Very Rev. Mr. Connolly, V. G., and Messrs. P. J. O'Keeffe and E. Rourke are ex officio delegates. The Local Deputy for the ensuing year will be Geo. Quinlan.

The Carleton Co. Reform Club will gather together in Woodstock, on Dominion Day.

SCHAT!—Late the other night a noise was heard in an Indiantown grocery, by two of the Portland policeman. Thinking that the noise proceeded from a burglar who had provided himself with a key and locked himself in, they hurried to the proprietor's house, a short distance away and awaking him, informed him that somebody was "going through" his shop. As the two proceeded to the scene a very loud crash was heard from the interior. The officers on entering took out their revolvers and prepared to take the victim or victims as the case might be, but were quite surprised to learn that the mischief was caused by the owner's cat which had knocked down a considerable amount of crockery ware from the shelf.

ACCIDENTS.—A lad named Hill was run over by a team, on Market street, Saturday, but escaped with slight injuries. A Mr. Stewart, fell down stairs in Mr. Russel's house, St. David street, Saturday; injuries slight. Mr. James Lee, fell from the staging of his house, on Princess street, Wednesday, and narrowly escaped being killed. Mr. Jas. McMillan, of the firm of J. & A. McMillan, was seriously injured, Wednesday afternoon, by falling out of a window in the rear of his new building, Prince Wm. street. A deal piler, named Donovan, was severely injured at an Indiantown lumber wharf, on Tuesday. A man named, Jory was severely injured by falling from a staging on Mr. A. J. Armstrong's new building, Leinster street, Thursday. A little girl named Barry, of South Bay, while out driving with her father the other day, was seriously injured in the forehead, by the shoe of a kicking horse.

BUSINESS NOTES.—Wm. Martin & Son, Custom Tailors, Dock street, are doing a good stroke of business lately. Parties in want of a good suit of clothes, cut in the latest style of the art, will find they spend their money to good advantage by having their suits made up at this establishment. Their new three storey brick building will be entirely used for business purposes. The workroom in which there are quite a number of hands, is situated on the second flat. The firm appear to be quite busy at present, the stand being an excellent one.

Mr. P. Dolan, Grocery and Liquor Merchant, owns and occupies a neat two-storey house on the City Road, opposite the I. C. R. Depot. This house has been recently built, is well furnished, and its front presents a fine appearance. The lower part is devoted to business and its appearance indicates that its proprietor is achieving success.

GENERAL NEWS.

Perthshire, Scotland, had a heavy fall of snow, Wednesday.

Boston City Council has voted $2000 for the annual 4th July regatta.

Brockville, (Ont.) is to have a scull race on Dominion day. Nearly all the leading American oarsmen have entered.

A saw mill boiler exploded at Dayton, New York, Thursday afternoon, killing ten men. An unknown man had his legs blown off and other persons were injured.

A New Haven lawyer has been expelled from the bar for "endeavoring to defeat the ends of justice." If they should do that in every case, there would soon be room for lots of new lawyers. So says the Boston Herald.

In a wind and hail storm in Georgia, Sunday, a gin manufactory at Belair was blown down, outhouses and fences prostrated in several places, and some crops destroyed. A vast quantity of large hail stones fell, breaking windows and cutting down corn and cotton. Three white children are reported killed.

A large number of distinguished persons have recently joined the Church in England, among them Lord Alexander Gordon Lennox, a Scotch Presbyterian, and Lord Montague, whose conversion is attributed to the reading of the "Battle of Connemara," by Kathleen O'Meara, ("Grace Ramsey,") a charming Catholic story.—Ave Maria.

A Black Hills miner recently found the skeleton of a horse, with the skeleton of a man within it, a terrible reminder of last winter's fearful snow storms. Lost on the plains, the man had killed his horse, cut him open and crawled inside, thinking to escape perishing of cold, but the animal's flesh froze solid, confining the man in a tomb, from which there was no escape.

Five roughs entered a horse car on Third avenue, New York, between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening, at Ninety-fourth street, with revolvers. They beat Mr. Lafetra seriously, and took a bag containing about $150 in change, belonging to the railroad, from him, and escaped. The car was full of passengers, who did not help the conductor to protect Lafetra. The conductor was badly beaten. No police were to be found. The wounds of Lafetra may prove fatal.

On the 18th of May, the Pope received a deputation of the English Catholic Union composed of 100 persons, having at their head the Earls of Denbigh and Gainsborough, and the prelates Wells and Patterson. His Holiness, in replying to the address presented by the deputation, expressed his satisfaction at seeing Catholics from all parts of the world come to render homage to the Chair of St. Peter. He alluded to the re-establishment of the hierarchy in England and Scotland, and he prayed God that the works of the good Catholics of those countries might restore to the bosom of the Catholic Church all the children of that nation which was formerly called the land of saints. The Pope received an address from other Catholic societies in England.

Jesse Pomeroy, the Boston boy torturer, is rivalled by Adolph Ballschmeider, the New York boy who turned bandit through reading pestilent dime novels. Ballschmeider, is sixteen years old, but his exploits suggest a highwayman of thirty. Having filled his young mind with the most demoralizing fiction in the market, he started for Texas, and went through a general apprenticeship in brigandage. Making his way back to New York, and scorning the trammels of civilization, he took up his abode in a cave in the suburb of Melrose, and got two other boys to join him. The cave was to be a sort of fortress, from which occasional raids were to be made on the neighborhood. Ballschmeider varied the warfare by making a dash now and then into the city. Early one evening a man was stopped in the street by a boy who pointed a revolver at him and demanded money. Some days afterwards Ballschmeider's companions of the cave informed on him, and he was captured by the police. His trial followed, and he was sentenced to a term of eight years in prison. An air of defiance characterized him throughout, and he vaunted his exploits even in the court-room. While occupying a cell in the city prison, pending his removal elsewhere, he threatened to kill another prisoner in the same cell, when he should catch him asleep. In the course of the night he attempted to carry out his threat and desisted only when he was beaten off. Adolph Ballschmeider is an especially bad and particularly dangerous boy. If he does not close his career on the gallows the fault will not be his own. The sort of fiction that produced him finds a sufficient commentary in his acts.—Boston Pilot.
