—The friends of post-mortem assessment insurance charge the old-line experts and journalists with prejudice, inspired by self-interest, because they unceasingly expose the weakness and delusions of the former system. This charge is disproved, and the devotion of these people to the best interests of society is established, by the fact that, though the system of The Dominion Safety Fund Life Association, St. John, N. B., is as much in competition with the old line as is the assessment system, yet these experts and journalists have given it their hearty endorsement.
