POETRY.

THE RUIN.

[BY WILLIAM TIDD MATSON.]

In that deserted hall, no more
The stern, grim feudal chieftain reigns;
No more above the oaken door,
Blush the vermilion blazoned panes;
No more, in chaste and curtained room,
Her dream of love the maiden weaves;
The place is silent as the tomb,
Save to the rustling ivy leaves.

But when the shuddering winds at night,
Shriek out and day is gone to rest,
And with a strange unear hly light
The red moon glimmers through the mist.
The raven croaks her dismal song,
The screech owl wakes his wild reply,
And 'neath the hideous heaven a throng
Of ghastly shapes come floating by.

Where once the stalwart portal frowned,
Through the dismantled arch they stream
And crowd the roofless hall around
The rude unhallowed torches beam.
Up from their charnal homes they come
To riot in this house of Woe:—
These are the dead, and this the tomb
Of the old Time, long, long ago.

Again the festive lustres shine,
The spectre baron lifts on high
The golden goblet brimmed with wine;
The spectre guests make loud reply;
Their hollow laughter o'er the waste
Resounds with revel as before,
A dismal echo of the Past,
That lacks the life and glee of yore.

Alas! for Time can ne'er restore
Those relics of a vanished year,
Life, Power, are flown forever more,
And Death alone is monarch here.
Mere shadow of what once had been
A pride and glory in the lands,
Now lone, amid the barren scene,
The grey and mouldering ruin stands.

THE HAPPY WORLD.

Oh, this would be a happy world,
If every heart could feel
The joys that springs from kindly words,
And know the wounds they heal.
Or could they penetrate the gloom,
And feel the hearts' despair,
To think one little word may chase
The sorrow lingering there.

Oh, this would be a happy world,
If human voice were heard,
But in one gentle loving tone,
Breath'd in a kindly word.
What messages from heart to heart,
What intercourse of love,
To cheer our rugged pathway here
To chronicle above.

Oh, this would be a happy world,
How bright for earthly dream,
Did every heart and every eye
With loving kindness beam.
If but the thought would interfere,
E're angry words were given,
The cost how slight the gift how dear
To human kind and heaven.

TOUCHING INCIDENT OF THE FEVER IN NEW ORLEANS.—A touching case was presented the other day to the consideration and charity of one of the Good Samaritans who now take care of the sick, relieve the destitute, and feed the starving. A boy was discovered in the morning, lying in the grass of Claiborne street, evidently bright and intelligent, but sick. A man who has the feeling of kindness strongly developed went to him, shook him by the shoulder, and asked him what he was doing there. "Waiting for God to come for me," said the boy. The gentleman was touched by the pathetic tone of this answer, and the condition of the boy, in whose eyes and flushed face he saw the evidences of the fever. "God sent for mother, father, and little brother," said he, "and took them away to his home up in the sky; and mother told me, when she was sick, that God would take care of me. I have no home, nobody to give me anything; and so I came out here and have been looking up in the sky for God to come and take care of me, as mother said he would.—He will come, won't he? Mother never told me a lie." "Yes, my lad," said the man, overcome with emotion; he has sent me to take care of you." —You should have seen his eyes flash, and the smile of triumph break over his face, as he said, "Mother never told me a lie, sir; but you've been so long on the way." What a lesson of trust, and how this incident shows the effect of never deceiving children with idle tales. As the poor mother expected, when she told her son "God would take care of him," he did, by touching the heart of this benevolent man with compassion and love to the little stranger.—New Orleans Delta

A CURIOUS FRENCH TRIAL.—An officer of the Chasseurs was lately tried in Paris, for having, while being shown the vaults of the Pantheon, drawn his sword, and wounded several parties, among others, a young English girl, who was staying at the Hotel Louvre, but who refused to appear against the prisoner. The guardian, to show the echo, is in the habit of calling out the names of the illustrious dead buried there; the dark damp vaults, dimly lighted by the guardian lantern, and the dismal echo acted upon the brain of the young soldier, who, imagining himself in the trenches of Sebastopol, drawing his sabre, demanded of his astonished fellow-visitors the pass-word, which none could of course give. The guardian, an old soldier, advanced to pacify the officer, and was the first attacked and wounded. His lantern was shattered, and the officer, calling on the soldiers he imagined he was leading, dashed madly on in utter darkness, but striking on every side; the shrieks of the terrified women added to the alarm. Few were wounded by the sabre, but many, by striking against the tombs while endeavouring to escape, were severely injured. Fortunately, the guardian, who knew the place well, had, though wounded, made his way out, and given the alarm, and the guard coming up with the torches, secured the officer, after a most desperate resistance. There was no defence offered; the officer could give no explanation of the extraordinary delusion of which he so suddenly became the victim. His advocate urged in mitigation the great bravery he had displayed at Sebastopol, where he had been twice severely wounded. His previous good character, and the injuries he had received in the scuffle of being disarmed, being pleaded well for him, the prisoner was sentenced three months imprisonment.

A RICH SCENE IN COURT.—During a session of the Circuit Court at Lynchburg, Va., an Irishman was indicted for stabbing another on the canal and the only witness was Dennis O'Brien, who was required to enter into bonds for his appearance at the new court. The recognizances was used in the usual form:

"You acknowledge yourself indebted to the Commonwealth of Virginia in the sum of $500."

Dennis.—"I don't owe her a cint, sir."

As soon as the clerk recovered from the amusement at the answer, he explained the meaning of the form, and then read it over again.

Dennis.—"I tell ye, I don't owe her a cint.—It's more money nor I ever saw, nor my father before me."

At this stage of the matter a brother of Dennis interfered, and said:

"Ye must jest say it, Dennis; it's one of the forms of law."

Dennis.—But I won't; I'm a dacent, honest man, what pays my debts, and I'll speak the truth, and the devil may drink all my whisky for a month if I say I owe anybody a cint. Now cheat me if you can."

John says that it is bad meddling with a train of gunpowder, but if you want to be blown up to a dead certainty, just tread on a lady's train. He has tried it and knows.

A lawyer at Lowell having found $35, and returned the money to the owner, one of the papers say the act may be honest and honorable, but it is exceedingly unprofessional.

Why can't a captain keep a memorandum of the weight of his anchor, instead of weighing it every time he leaves port?

FRUGALITY.—"Eating meat with a silver fork, before being paid for."

A MEDICAL REVOLUTION!

THE WORLD UNANIMOUS.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

THE GREAT COUNTER IRRITANT!

The virus of disease often makes its way to the internal organs through the pores of the skin. This penetrating Ointment, melting under the hand as it is rubbed in, is absorbed through the same channels, and, reaching the seat of inflammation, promptly and invariably subdues it, whether located in the kidneys, the liver, the lungs, or any other important organ. It penetrates the surface to the interior, through the countless tubes that communicate with the skin as summer rain passes into the fevered earth diffusing its cool and regenerating influence.

SKIN DISEASES & GLANDULAR SWELLINGS.

Every species of exterior irritation is quickly reduced by the anti-inflammatory action of this Ointment. Angry Eruptions, such as Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Tetter, Ringworm, Scald Head, Nettle Rash, Scabies (or Itch) &c., die out, to return no more under its application. Hospital experience in all parts of the world proves its infallibility in diseases of the skin, the muscles the joints and the glands.

ULCERS, SORES, AND TUMORS.

The effect of this unrivaled external remedy upon Scrofula, and other virulent ulcers and sores, is almost miraculous. It first discharges the poison which produces suppuration and proud flesh, and thus the cures which its healing properties afterward complete are safe as well as permanent.

WOUNDS, BRUISES, BURNS, AND SCALDS

In cases of the fracture of the bones, injuries caused by steam explosions, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Rheumatism, Stiffness of the Joints, and contraction of the sinews, it is employed and warmly recommended by the faculty. This marvellous remedy has been introduced by its inventor in person into all the leading Hospitals of Europe, and no private household should be without it.

UNDENIABLE TESTIMONY.

The Medical Staff of the French and English Armies in the Crimea have officially signed their approval of Holloway's Ointment, as the most reliable dressing for sabre cuts, stabs, and gun-shot wounds. It is also used by the surgeons of the Allied Navies.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bunions,	Rheumatism,	Sore Throats,
Burns,	Ringworm,	Sores of all kinds
Chapped hands,	Salt Rheum,	Sprains,
Chilblains,	Scalds,	Stiff Joints
Fistula,	Skin Diseases	Tetter,
Gout,	Swelled	Ulcers,
Lumbago,	Glands,	Veneral Sores,
Mercurial	Sore Legs,	Wounds of all
Eurptions,	Sore Breasts,	kinds.
Piles,	Sore Heads,

AMERICAN HOUSE,
BOSTON.
RE-ESTABLISHMENT OF THE OLD PLAN OF MANAGEMENT.

LEWIS RICE, Proprietor, respectfully announces that he has resumed the old plan of management as it existed before the recent alteration. Trial of the European system in this Hotel, proves, that although the advantages are great, yet the plan is better adapted for the smaller class of hotels.

The accommodations and conveniences of the House are unsurpassed, and the recent improvements and alterations, for the comfort of guests, have nothing to be desired.
