STATE OF TRADE.

(Montreal Trade Bulletin.)

The past week has been another quiet one in most departments of the wholesale trade, but as regards the volume of business, it is fully up to that of a year ago. We have had an active time in a number of leading staples, and the present quietness is but the natural reaction that was bound to come some time. In general trade our wholesale men report the volume of business fair for the season, but undoubtedly suffering from over-production, as we have repeatedly pointed out in these columns, and consequently great caution is needed still. Money is steady at 5 per cent., exception loans having been obtained at a shading of this figure. Discounts on mercantile paper are steady at 6 to 7 per cent.

SOCIETY LIFE MADE EASY.

Formal calls between women have always been considered more or less of a farce, even among the most rigid adherents to the practice. The task of calling anywhere from a score to a hundred of these very brief visits per week, even when the "call" consists only of leaving a card at the door, is not to be lightly considered. London society people are patronizing a "social bureau," which advertises in certain papers that it is "prepared to send out visiting cards—the work undertaken by experienced ladies, with accuracy and dispatch—by coupe if desired."—Harper's Weekly.

HAT TIPS.

The hat of the modern American is a more or less direct descendant from the ancient helmet. The shape of a derby could have been evolved from nothing else, and it has little save tradition to recommend it. It is not beautiful or comfortable, as compared with the cowboy's soft felt hat or the cap of the European peasant. It does not keep the ears warm, nor stay on with any degree of success; and it goes out of fashion every season, reappearing later in a slightly different form. Its sole recommendation is the tradition that it is the proper headgear for a civilized and enlightened man; and when it is cocked on one side on the head of a rowdy it does not make him look either civilized or cultured.

NO TIME TO BOTHER WITH AN AGENT.

The woman had her arms in the tub, and was fiercely scrubbing one dirty garment after another. Book agents don't often penetrate to that part of Chicago, but this one did. He knocked on the front door until he was tired, and then he went around to the back door. The woman was bobbing up and down over the washboard.

"Good morning, madam," said the book agent, pleasantly.

"Good mornin'," said the woman, shortly.

"Pleasant day," observed the book agent, sparring for an opening.

"Good enough," answered the woman.

"Excuse me, madam," said the book agent, "but I have here a work that I would like to show you."

"Have you?" answered the woman. "Well, I've got a lot of work that I'd like to show you." She took one soapy hand out of the tub and waved it at a great pile of dirty clothes.

"That's my work," went on the woman. "If your work can beat that, all right; if it can't, why, skip out."

The book agent skipped.—Chicago Tribune.

DANGERS IN VENTILATION.

(Woman's Home Companion.)

When it comes to the matter of ventilation the woman theorist shines. If, indeed, she has thought about it enough to have a theory at all (and many have) she does nothing short of scintillating. As a consequence more persons die every year from too much fresh air than the record from vitiated atmosphere can show. Not one person in a hundred can sleep—in the winter time—with an open window in their room without bad consequences, or at least without running dangerous risks. Many more cases of pneumonia may reasonably be said to be due to "ventilation" than to all other causes combined.

I recall the death of a trained nurse while on duty in the home of a neighbor, from pneumonia contracted from sleeping near an open window. As a graduate of one of the leading training schools she had thoroughly studied the subject of ventilation under supposedly intelligent professors. Yet she died in her youth from downright ignorance of the subject.

BEAUTY REQUIRES SLEEP.

(Woman's Home Companion.)

Nearly all the great beauties of the world have testified to the value of sleep. Under its influence every muscle is relaxed and all care dispelled. The heart beats slower, gaining new vigor for the waking hours. A midday nap if only of a few minutes' duration, is wonderfully refreshing, and it is generally conceded that sleep during the earlier hours of the night is far more beneficial than that obtained after midnight.

AN ECCENTRIC HUSBAND.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Mrs. Frank Lossick appealed to Justice Dooley for some relief from an eccentric husband.

"He won't walk any way in the house but backward," she said. "He hasn't shaved or had his hair cut for six months. He smokes in bed in the middle of the night, and sometimes gets up in the night and sings. He always throws matches over his right shoulder, no matter where they land, and twice he set a bed on fire. He won't allow anybody to pass him on the right side. And I ask any right-thinking man to look at him," said Mrs. Lossick "Just see what I've got to put up with."

The husband smiled as if he rather enjoyed the distinction. He was fined $15, which the wife paid.

BASE BALL.

Alerts, 19; Roses, 6.

The two local teams played a miserable game of ball Saturday. A few more like it will destroy all interest in the game. It would seem to be far better not to play at all than play with picked up teams. No one now seems to expect that the Roses and Alerts will play two good games in succession, so Saturday's exhibition came in the natural course of events after the fast game at Moncton.

Hardware Clerks Won.

An interesting and well attended game of base ball on the Shamrock grounds Saturday afternoon between the Hardware Clerks and the Stationer's Clerks, resulted in an easy win for the former by a score of 23 to 9. The score by innings was:

Hardware..... 4 2 0 4 2 5 1 0 3—23
Stationers..... 1 0 3 0 2 3 0 0 0—9

Resolutes, 8; Standards, 7.

HALIFAX, July 14.—The Resolutes defeated the Standards on Saturday 8 to 7, after twelve innings of what proved to be the most exciting exhibition of the game ever seen here. Up to the eighth inning the Standards led 7 to 4, when Woodworth lost his head and the Resolutes tied. "Tip" O'Neill's error in the seventh was largely responsible for one run and the Resolutes victory. Stackpole was in the box for the Resolutes and pitched a good game, striking out sixteen men. Tommy Howe covered third for the Standards, and although sick, caught the crowd by his clever work. At the close the Resolutes were carried round on the shoulders of their admirers.

COMMERCIAL.

THE STOCK MARKET.

(Henry Clews' Circular.)

In the general situation there is no occasion for uneasiness; on the contrary, there is much basis for confidence. General business is fairly active, in sound condition, and the prospects are for a good fall and winter trade. About the only case of overdoing has been in Wall street. Extraordinary and somewhat confusing conditions had carried prices to an excessively high level, and since it was found that the lifting forces were exhausted a reaction was imperative.

The market has received a severe shock through forced liquidation, and some time will be required for recuperation. Meantime stocks have been passing into strong hands, the technical condition being considerably strengethened thereby. Liquidation may not have run its full course, and recent bear successes will tempt extreme efforts towards depression; but good stocks are certainly a better purchase now than two or three weeks ago, when bull enthusiasm was at its height.

A SUMMER LUXURY.

There is no more potent beautifier known than the Turkish bath, and, taken with moderation, it is productive only of beneficial results, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. Unfortunately a large class of persons whose slender purses will not permit the necessary expenditure are deprived of not only a positive enjoyment, but a decided benefit. Could its therapeutic value be more widely known, possibly tired and nervous humanity would spend less in tonics and more in the indulgence of what is erroneously regarded as but a luxury for the classes, but which, by liberal patronage, should be brought within the limit where it would become a necessity for the masses. "Cleanliness is next to godliness." The consummate purity and cleanliness of persons which result from a Turkish bath produces a lightness and electricity as well as a state of mental and moral purification which makes one feel but "a little lower than the angels."

The man who imagines he never did a foolish act isn't wise enough to know what folly is.
