OUR BIG GAME OUTING DAYS.

Removes a Nuisance to Farmers of the North Shore. A Complaint of Their Ravages—A Remedy Suggested—A Novel Race.

(Newcastle Union Advocate.) Since some of our exchanges appear to be somewhat skeptical of the genuineness of a letter purporting to come from a farmer in Maine and addressed to the Game Commissioner of that state complaining of the destruction of large game on his crops, etc. One of our staff waited upon John Robinson, game overseer of this county, a man whose name is the synonyme of veracity and who according to the Advance, is the best overseer New Brunswick ever had, and that gentleman when shown the letter and some of its contents, thereon said that he envied the Maine officer because of his easy time.

Ke & Burgess, SPORTING GOODS. 195 UNION STREET (Near Opera House) ST. JOHN, N. S.

Days have gone by, and now although the bluish beard inflicted on Tom by Moore always brings forth from the more nervous portion of the audience an exclamation of horror, the play, as a whole, is very different from what it was some years ago.

Tom shows great tenacity of life, being able to spring to his feet after a blow which was supposed to have rendered him unconscious.

Instead of the good old drama, showing forth the events in the life of an imaginary slave, most of the time is now taken up by specialists. Young ladies with squeaky voices, sing racy-time songs about "Goo-goo eyes," and "Kiss yer baby," and what was once a touching drama is now used simply as a framework for the production of a continuous variety show.

SHIRT WAISTS FOR LETTER CARRIERS. Specimens of Every Style and Texture Sent by Competing Firms to the Department.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Owing to the order issued by the post office department some time ago permitting letter carriers to wear shirt waists when making their rounds during the summer months, the office of General Superintendent of Free Delivery Menden looks more like an illicit clothing store than a place for the transaction of official business.

On receiving no answer, flew into a passion and threatened to report the supposed subordinate for his discourtesy.

BEST COVER FOR PANTRY SHELVES. (Good Housekeeping.) Upon moving into a new house the writer made up her mind to do away with paper on the pantry shelves.

A SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD EDITRESS. (Philadelphia Press.) Lillie Miller, sixteen years old, is successfully managing a weekly paper in Camden, and by her industry is supporting herself, her widowed mother and a brother and sister.

THE NAIL MANUFACTURERS. The Canadian manufacturers of cut nails, facing the screws set at the 23rd anniversary meeting and considered various matters in connection with the business.

NATURAL QUESTION. Ostend—Paw, are witches married? Paw—I guess not, my son.

Another public meeting will be held at St. David's church Monday evening, July 30th, and Mrs. Dickinson will be the principal speaker.

DISCOURAGED. (Washington Star.) "You used to be something of an altruist," said the friend of the "Yes," answered Willie Washington, "I was a Theosophist for a while, too. But I had to give up. I've tried being a whole lot of things, but I never got far enough along to find out what the names by which they are called actually mean."

H. M. Whitney and family will spend the summer months at their residence in Sydney.
