THISTLE CURLING RINK.

New Building Completed and Finely Equipped for the Season's Sport.

The work on the new Thistle curling rink, which has been building since last June, is now practically completed, and the Thistle Curling Co., Ltd., now stands possessed of one of the finest and best equipped buildings for the playgin of the "roarin' game' in the maritime provinces.

The old rink was torn down, and the new one, which has cost the company about $3,000, has been erected in a slightly different position. It is a monitor top building, 170 feet long by 70 broad. The ice is divided into three rinks twenty feet in width, separated by walks four feet wide, running the length of the ice. The boxes for the stones are placed level with the ice, for the convenience of the members. The front end of the building is cut up into two rooms, each 31 by 16 feet, with glass fronts facing on the ice, one of the rooms being for lady spectators and the other for the use of club members. Upstairs is another large room, facing on the ice, which will be used as the office of the company. Across the opposite end is a gallery erected by James Shaw, which may be used for spectators or as a bandstand. The whole interior is brilliantly lighted with arc and incandescent lights. The building fronts on Golding street, but another entrance in the opposite end faces Bogan's lane, which is generally used by the members. Outside a small stable has been built, in which the teams of members may be stalled.

The carpenter work on the building has been done by Jas. L. Carmichael, the masonry by John Morrison, and the painting and glazing by E. W. Paul.

S. A. COUNCIL.

The annual session of the Salvation Army maritime council opened in this city last evening with a largely attended reception held in the Charlotte street barracks. A large number of delegates have arrived, comprising about 125 officers and many soldiers. Brigadier Sharpe and Staff Capt. Phillips of the local corps presided at the reception and officially welcomed the visitors. The programme for the week provides for meetings of the council at 9.15 a. m. and 2.30 p. m. on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and at 7.45 Wednesday evening. On Tuesday evening an army review and nationality meeting will be held and on Thursday evening the farewell service, at which commissions will be distributed and promotions announced.

Y. M. C. A. ATHLETICS.

Geo. E. Williams and J. E. Irvine returned yesterday from the Y. M. C. A. convention at Moncton. During the assembly a proposition was made by some of the delegates, which if carried out will without doubt do much to further the interest of clean sport in the maritime provinces. The scheme involves the formation of a basket ball and football association, in which a league shall be formed and series of games arranged between the branches of the society in Moncton, St. John, New Glasgow, Truro, Halifax and Sydney. The plan was not discussed in convention, and will not be considered this winter, but if the idea meets with general approval it may be materialized next year.

SPORTING NEWS.

THE RING.

A Poor Exhibition.

The exhibition given in Victoria Rink last night had very little about it to increase the popularity of the sport of boxing in the city of St. John. With the exception of a four-round preliminary bout, which had some ginger in it the whole business was a farce, the only interesting proceedings being the vocal displays between the boxers and the management concerning the division of the spoils. The house was small, and owing to this lack of patronage and a desire on the part of the management to save expense, the programme was cut down to two events.

The first, a four-round go between Fred Flaherty of this city and Al. Griffiths, described as the 135-pound champion of Upper Canada, was interesting from start to finish, both men playing the game with snap and putting up a very clever exhibition.

Flaherty, who did most of the leading, was awarded the decision.

A long wait followed while the principals in what was to be the big event were wrangling with the management about their money, and they refused to go on before such a slim house, but finally consented to box eight rounds instead of fifteen, as advertised. But even eight rounds of the kind of work they did was too much for the audience, and the scrap was called in the middle of the fifth round. Bonner apparently tried to earn his money, but Weinig, who is an awkward though very shifty boxer, declined to do anything more than block never trying to counter and never landing an effective blow during the contest.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Forecast—Eastern states and northern New York—Fair and cooler tonight, with frost; Wednesday, fair, light northwest winds, becoming variable.

DUKE'S FIRST SPEECH.

The Duke of Cornwall is still fond of a joke, and enjoys himself, says the New Penny Magazine. To make a public speech is as agonizing to a royalty as to any provincial lord mayor, and the duke's first speech caused him many a sleepless night. Before the day came he summoned a family conclave. The old Duke of Cambridge was present on the occasion, and as he gave the word of command he expected to be obeyed. "Have your speech typewritten, my dear fellow; hold it in your hand, and refer to it when the moment comes."

Our heir-apparent made no demur, but when the moment did come he decided, like a manly young fellow, to trust to himself. Anyhow, he discarded his notes and began the speech. His trepidation may be believed when he heard the following exclamations pop off like minute guns at his side, every comma bringing with it a "Conceited boy!" "Idiot!" "Why didn't he do as I told him?" "Self-sufficiency!" "Absurd!" etc. The dear old Duke of Cambridge, whom everybody loves so well, has a habit of thinking aloud, and he felt a not unnatural irritation under the circumstances that his youthful kinsman had asked his advice and not taken it.

His speech proved a grand success. It was given at a charity dinner, and money flowed in so bountifully that the Duke drove off in triumph to his father at Marlborough House. "There, sir! No speech of yours ever brought in so much money as that!" The Prince of Wales was, if possible, more delighted than his son, and the two had a hearty laugh together over the day's proceedings.

SHIPPING BASS WEST

To The Lakes and Streams of British Columbia.

A large shipment of young bass from Eastern Canada arrived in Vancouver on Sunday, Oct. 6th, for distribution in the lakes and streams of this province. This transplanting of the fish from one end of the Dominion to the other is being done by the federal government, and is very much of an experimental move, as heretofore all efforts to ship bass or any other kind of fish frequenting Eastern waters further than Manitoba or the Territories have been unsuccessful.

In the present experiment 100,000 bass are being transplanted. The fish were taken from a lake near Belleville to Brockville in a large tank, on board a scow. At Brockville they were placed in the car prepared for them and attached to the Pacific Express, at Carleton Place, and then were hurried across the continent. None but healthy minnows, about two inches in length, were taken and every precaution was used in bringing them over to ensure their survival of the ordeal. A baggage car was specially fitted up for their reception. Along its sides were ranged a couple of dozen barrels, and in the centre, tanks for holding fresh water. The barrels, which contained the fish, were connected by tubes and fresh water constantly pumped through them from the tanks.

The problem which has perplexed the authorities in the shipping of fish such a long distance, is that of charging the water with a sufficient quantity of oxygen to maintain the life of the fish for the five or six days of the journey. A novel device was, in this case, determined upon to overcome the difficulty. This device is operated on the principle of a fanning mill and is intended to charge the water in which the fish swim with the required oxygen as often as is required.

Several casks of minnows were distributed in the lakes and streams round Banff, others were liberated in Shuswap Lake and at points along the Fraser River. Those which arrived in Vancouver on Sunday were destined for Vancouver Island, and will be released in Shawnigan and other lakes near Victoria.

The flavor of Red Rose tea is delicious. There are six grades at 25, 30, 35, 40, 50 and 60c. per lb.

BRITISH VETERANS MEET.

Resident British veterans met at the home of John McLaren, No. 5 Paddock street, last evening, to discuss what course they would adopt in the general demonstration in honor of the royal visit. Among those present were George March, Bernard Lawrence, Thomas Wisted, William Smith and James Stratton. No definite arrangement was reached, as several veterans were absent, and they will have to receive the acquiescence of the military for whatever shape their method of honoring the duke assumes. Another meeting will take place at 7.30 o'clock tomorrow evening at Mr. McLaren's home. It is expected all arrangements will have been completed by that time.

WANTED.—A case of Headache that KUMFORT Powders will not cure in from ten to twenty minutes.

Steamship Loyalist of the Furness line, which arrived at Halifax at 7 p. m. Sunday, brought fifty-six passengers, among whom are Rev. R. J. Langford and family, M. J. Davis and several others for St. John, and Miss Beverly of Fredericton.

To cure Headache in ten minutes use KUMFORT Headache Powders.
