A NEW BRIDGE.

Down in the $100,000 car warmer, there is a beautiful rubber belt, scores of yards long. If the price paid for it is any criterion, it is the champion belt in the maritime provinces, and just as good as new.

BRITISH LUMBER MARKET.

The Liverpool correspondent of the Timber Trades Journal, says that the general tone of trade is flat, with just enough spruce deals arriving to keep the market in a state of unrest.

THE SHIPPERS ON THIS SIDE WILL HAVE THE ADVANTAGE OF LOW FREIGHTS, FOR THE JOURNAL SAYS: "IN THE CANADIAN TRADE A CONSIDERABLE NUMBER OF SMALL SALES ARE BEING FIXED FROM THE LOWER PORTS AT RATES RANGING FROM 42s. 6d. TO 45s."

Practical confirmation has been obtained in New York, says the Mail and Express, of the report that negotiations are under way in London for a general combination of all of the large European oil companies, with the view chiefly of controlling the handling of the product.

By the census of 1900 only two states in the American union had more foreign born than native born male residents of voting age—Minnesota and South Dakota.

The article on vaccination, quoted in today's Star from the New York Herald, is an able discussion of a subject which has not yet lost its interest for the people of this city and province.

The United States exported less corn, copper, cotton, iron and steel last year than in 1900, but more wheat, flour, provisions and cotton manufactures.

HOSPITAL COMMISSIONERS. Admit Reporters But Shut Out W. A. Trueman—A Remarkable Affair.

The other day the Telegraph published a letter under the heading "Criticism of the Hospital," signed "Humane." In it the writer told of a patient who died in that institution a victim of neglect and improper food.

The letter went on to speak of the doctors as young men for the position and of the nurses as doing the best they could under the conditions that controlled them.

The publication of such a letter caused considerable talk, and when it was intimated that the writer was willing to make known her name, she turns out that the letter was written by a lady, the hospital authorities at once put themselves in communication with the correspondent.

At several stages the debate was animated. After Mr. Trueman said, "Mrs. Trombley is not going out without me, and I am not going out without her," Dr. Bayard threatened to have him ejected, but Mr. Trueman contended that the office of the chairman of the hospital commission was a public place for the time.

Dr. Trueman said Mrs. Trombley was not in a position to retain him for another meeting.

Dr. Bayard—That should be no excuse.

Mr. Trueman stated that from his acquaintance with the matter he was satisfied that Mrs. Trombley needed counsel.

Dr. Walker said Mr. Trueman knew the case of the lady thoroughly. It was different with the witnesses the commission would call.

Ald. McGoldrick was willing to pay Mrs. Trombley's lawyer if she could not afford it. A carriage would be sent for her whenever she was ready to attend before the commission.

If the charges were proven he would feel called upon to resign his position on the commission.

Mrs. Trombley—I came here because I thought the commission were ready to rectify what is wrong with the hospital. I came to give information for that purpose to make the hospital a better place. People living here go elsewhere to be treated because of the reputation the hospital has.

Dr. Bayard—If you think so you might come to my office tomorrow night.

Mrs. Trombley—I came at great inconvenience tonight.

Dr. Lazard—You have made charges. Mrs. Trombley—I am glad if I have aroused you.

Dr. Bayard again asked the lady to come again to the evening. If she wanted an investigation she would come.

Mrs. Trombley—I will not come again. Dr. Bayard—Then ask Mr. Trueman to go out.

Mrs. Trombley—No, I will not. I will not stay in the company of you gentlemen without him.

Dr. Bayard—If you say you will not come back it is a reflection on you. Mr. Trueman wanted to divest himself of the character of a lawyer and remain in the role of the woman's friend, but this was not acceptable to the commission, who finally agreed tonight when they will have counsel present.

THE ST. JOHN DRY DOCK.

A meeting was held at the City Hall yesterday afternoon at which Mayor Daniel presided and Ald. Armstrong, Baxter and Maxwell, Director Cushing, Engineer Peters, Mr. Coste, W. H. Thorne, Geo. Robertson, W. L. Jarvis, James Osborne and H. H. Leach were present.

The principal matter discussed was a proposition by the dock company that the C. P. R. should run a track from about the intersection of German and Watson streets, cutting through Ludlow street and the heavy rock ridges westward of Blue Rock and strike the mill pond about the intersection of Ludlow and St. John streets.

If the C. P. R. do not accept this idea the dock company will construct a lifting bridge across the present union street. Mr. Osborne said the proposition was new to him, and he would look into it at once. The idea is that the old branch line would continue to serve the Sand Point improvements while the new line would BRILLIANT WEDDING. Whitney-Hay Nuptials Double Society Folk in Washington—Roosevelt in Attendance—Over 500 Wedding Gifts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—Helen Hay, eldest daughter of Sec. of State John Hay, and Payne Whitney of New York, son of ex-Sec. Whitney, were married Thursday at noon at the Church of the Covenant.

The wedding was the most notable social event of the season in Washington, being celebrated in the presence of the highest officials in the land, including the president and his cabinet and what is recognized as the best of New York and New England society.

The Hay family has been in mourning since the death of Adelbert Hay, but for this one day the mourning was put aside and the wedding was celebrated with all the pomp and circumstances that would have characterized it otherwise.

The church where the ceremony was performed was elaborately and artistically decorated with flowers and greens. Back of the pulpit and before the organ, tall, graceful palms formed a great bow of dark green, and beneath, like a miniature Niagara, great sprays of Easter lilies trailed to the ground.

Candelabra, twice as tall as a man, stood at either corner of the pulpit platform, each bearing its lights. Down the centre aisle was a beautiful conception, a bridal path made up of Easter lilies attached to the pews on either side. The walls of the church were festooned with southern amilax, topped off with great masses of Easter lilies caught up by bows of wide white ribbon.

The church was crowded. The ushers were all bachelor friends of the groom, namely: Henry Clews, Jr., Frederick Kernochan, J. N. Waterbury, Jr., Milton S. Barger, Gouverneur Morris of New York; Jas. N. Wadsworth of Genesee, N. Y.; Hugh D. Scott of Philadelphia, and Maj. Charles L. McCawley, U. S. M. C. of Washington.

Mr. Whitney's best man was Eugene Hale, Jr., son of the senator from Maine.

The bride was assisted by two maids, her sister, Alice Hay, and Dorothy Whitney, the 15-year-old sister of the bridegroom. They wore grey crepe de chene over white silk, and great picture hats of white felt with long white ostrich plumes.

The bride wore a diamond and sapphire necklace and pendant, which Col. Oliver Payne presented to the bride. The bridegroom's gift is a diamond dog collar, bearing the date of the wedding on an antique clasp.

The secretary of state gave his daughter a diamond tiara of rare workmanship and matched gems. Mrs. Hay's gift is a silver tea service, comprising 185 pieces. William C. Whitney sent a diamond brooch, a diamond ring and an antique ruby ring; Miss Dorothy Whitney a marquise ring, composed of opals and diamonds; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, a diamond and sapphire heart with a diamond, and half ornament of the same stones; Mr. and Mrs. Almerie Paget, a diamond and ruby brooch. An antique garnet rosary was sent by the secretary's sister, Mrs. Wolcott of Warsaw, N. B.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt have sent a handsome old English clock, made of mahogany with curiously inlaid work of mahogany and bronze.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid sent a silver dinner service, composed of a centre piece and eight dishes. Mrs. Andrew Carnegie a gold and silver tea service with carved rose bowl and six comotes; Admiral and Mrs. Schley, a Russian bronze statue, and Mrs. Richard Harding Davis a silver loving cup.

From her girl friends in Washington Miss Hay has received some exquisite fans, parasols and bits of bric-a-brac. The 500 presents do not include the great number of gifts from Washington residents. The greater part of these arrived at the Hay home Thursday. All the cabinet officials and most of the diplomats withheld their gifts until this date.

The decorations of the Hay mansion were magnificent. The bridal table was adorned entirely with lilies. A table was especially prepared for the Pres. and Mrs. Roosevelt, and at it the secretary of state, Miss Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, William C. Whitney and Col. Oliver Payne sat.

Nicholas Barber, a Greek, who has for years kept a little beer shop adjoining house near the foot of Protection street, west end, died in the General Public Hospital yesterday of typhoid fever. KINGS COUNTY, N. B.

Ralph S. Eaton, secretary of the Kings Co., N. B., board of trade, which meets in Kentville next Tuesday, writes:—

"Kings county has been until recently the only county in Canada having a county board of trade. Kings county has four towns, each having a live board of trade. Kings county exports as many apples and potatoes as all the rest of Nova Scotia, has the most up-to-date dairy in the maritime provinces, and excels in the quality of its beef, hay, grain and roots."
