ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., FEBRUARY 10, 1902

HAIL BROTHER!

At times this journal of the people and the large morning organ of the government have not seen eye to eye on various questions of the day. This much to be regretted fact is not to the credit of the Telegraph. So it is refreshing to find that paper joining hands with the Star in condemning the negligence and dilatoriness of the government in regard to harbor improvements. As the Telegraph very truly and concisely puts it, the dredging of St. John harbor is a matter of "national importance." The people of this city, with commendable enterprise and the expenditure of a large sum of money, endeavored to so equip this port that it should be the rival, and the successful one at that, of Portland, as the winter port of Canada. These works inaugurated, the necessity of dredging the entrance to the harbor became obvious. Before that time, as the Telegraph very clearly puts it, the need was not apparent. When it did arise it was the bounden duty of the government to take immediate action in this matter of "national importance." To make, if possible, the city's claim stronger, at the last two general elections, representatives pledged to support the liberal party were chosen, and in 1900, one of these was a minister of the crown. But the years have passed, and though the importance of the work has been recognized, practically nothing has been done. It is true that Col. Tucker, M. P., secured a promise from Hon. J. Israel Tarte, master of the administration and incidentally minister of public works, that the harbor should be dredged. It has not been done. Although now four or five years afterward, the promise is still in force, and the people of the city are informed that a special suction dredge is being built for the work. When that machine comes into the harbor and settles down to business, citizens of St. John will believe that these promises are meant. This port has been most unfairly treated in this matter, and it behooves the representatives for the city and the city and county to stir themselves. Let. Mr. Blair give up refurnishing and refurbishing his $160,000 car warmer and let Col. Tucker for a short time cease from playing with the lobsters that sport about the shores of this county, and work for that which is necessary to the welfare of the port, and at the same time a matter of "national importance." The Telegraph does well to condemn the government and, in so-doing, the local representatives. So long as it keeps in the straight and narrow path of its duty towards the city it has the assurance of the distinguished sympathy and assistance of this journal of the people.

THEIR OWN TURN NOW.

The Star extends to its valued contemporaries in Halifax the assurance of its sympathetic regard. A steamer recently arrived here with a case of smallpox on board, and also had the misfortune to get out of her course and touch bottom, being, however, hauled off without injury. The Halifax papers made much of the incident, and to the extent of their limited circulation conveyed the impression that St. John was not a very safe port, and that steamers coming here were in considerable danger. It now transpires that a steamer has come to grief at the entrance to Halifax harbor. This is not the first occurrence of the kind, nor is it likely to be the last; not because the port is a dangerous one, but because no port is exempt from occasional happenings of this kind. Our neighbors now once more know how it is themselves, and the Star trusts that with growing experience will come additional wisdom, so that in future there will be fewer exhibitions of a petty smartness which, if it be void of malice, is also void of good sense.

LORD DUFFERIN.

The following fine tribute to Lord Dufferin, whose death seems very near at hand, is from the New York Mail and Express:—

One of the real life tragedies that has all the deeper impress because it has been played quietly and because its catrastrophe seems, to finite judgement, somewhat unjust, is nearing its close, with death awaited hourly by the watchers at the bedside of the Marquis of Dufferin and Ava. From boyhood every act of the man who is now dying in his Irish castle was a credit to him and a benefit to his countrymen. His gifts were varied, and as diplomat, writer and public servant in varied capacities he earned distinction honorably. He did fine things for his country, but he failed to put money in his purse. And so when his public career closed he was an easy prey for a plausible promoter of "bubble" mining companies. He was told glittering stories of a share in sound properties. What was wanted was his best possession—his good name for use as a decoy. The end was the collape of the Westralian mining schemes of Whittaker Wright, the utter ruin of many innocent investors, and their declaration that they had been enticed by the name of Dufferin. It was a death blow to the fine-natured gentleman as surely as if dealt by knife or bullet. And the pity of it is that he knows only the denunciations that have beeen heaped upon him; nothing of the sympathy that goes forth to him from all fair-minded men. All in all, it is a curious parallel in life to Col. Newcome in fiction. And the final "Adsum" with all its meaning of peace and rest seems wholly fit for the lips of Dufferin.

The observations made by a correspondent in another column relative to the C. P. R. car works may to some appear unduly severe, but the writer is entirely right in the suggestion that anything worth having, is worth more than a half-hearted interest on the part of the people. Whatever is worth doing is worth doing with all one's might. The individual or community that waits for something to turn up does not achieve success. It is by the street of by-and-bye we arrive at the gate of never.

The recent sudden changes in the weather appear to have affected the venerable Globe. On Saturday evening it blew both hot and cold on Mr. Tarte's French River project.

ORDINATION SERVICE.

Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Douglas Avenue Christian Church, G. W. Stevenson, pastor of the Coburg Street Christian Church, and Evangelist Ralph Gebbie were ordained.

There was a large congregation and the ordination services were conducted by Rev. J. C. B. Appel and W. A. Barnes, elder.

Both gentlemen ordained are graduates of the University of Kentucky. Mr. Gebbie, who has been doing evangelistic work, will leave in a few days for Lord's Cove, Deer Island, after which he goes to Summerside, P. E. Island. Rev. Mr. Appel delivered a short address outlining the New Testament idea of ordination, saying in brief that the church is God's way of bringing souls into the Heavenly Kingdom; the evangelist is a great factor in that work and the church only ordained those that are fully qualified for that work.

At a result of the recent meetings six have joined the Douglas Avenue Church and one the Coburg Street Church, while another will be baptised on Thursday and admitted on Sunday next.

TABERNACLE CHURCH.

Over a thousand people crowded the auditorium and gallery of the Tabernacle Baptist church, Haymarket square, last evening, when Rev. H. H. Roach conducted the memorial service intended for last Sunday, and in the memory of members of the church who were carried off by the smallpox epidemic. The choir was augmented and the young pastor was assisted during the earlier and after part of the exercises by Rev. Dr. Manning, secretary of the Foreign Mission Board.

Rev. Mr. Roach did not take any particular text for his discourse, but referred to the 12th chapter of Exodus as the theme of the evening. This part of holy writ records the institution of the Passover and the beginning of "the changed year."

The reverend speaker said a memorial means something in memory of the past. It was his earnest hope that some kind friend or friends would donate a tablet to the church, upon which the names of the church's smallpox victims may be written.

C. P. R. STAFF CHANGES HERE.

A. J. Heath, for years district passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific railway, with headquarters at St. John, has been transferred to an important post in the offices of C. E. E. Ussher, general passenger agent at Montreal, and C. B. Foster, the popular chief clerk in the St. John passenger department, has been promoted to the vacancy thus created. While a host of St. John friends will regret Mr. Heath's departure, they cannot but rejoice over his advancement.

Mr. Foster, who now assumes Mr. Heath's duties, is an active, well trained railway passenger man, who has earned his spurs by hard, conscientious work, and who possesses a knowledge of the requirements of the position that could have been obtained in no other way. Mr. Foster is as popular with the travelling public as he is with the Canadian Pacific staff, and it is only reasonable to regard his present advancement as but the precursor of still further promotion.

CAPTAIN CHEYNE DEAD.

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 9.—Captain Cheyne, R. N., who was present as an officer with three Arctic expeditions in search of Sir John Franklyn, died in this city today in his 75th year. Besides his polar experience he was with the British blockading fleet in the White Sea during the Crimean war. He was a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society. A sister of Captain Cheyne is the widow of Canon Davidson of Toronto.

There is no rank tea used in Union Blend to make it strong, there is no tea dust used to make it draw dark in color, nothing but good, pure, wholesome teas are used.

JUDGE LISTER DEAD.

TORONTO, Feb. 9.—Judge James F. Lister, of the court of appeals, died at his residence here this morning of heart failure. He was at Osgoode hall till 5.30 Saturday. Although ailing with chronic indigestion, his sudden demise comes as a shock to family and friends. A widow and six children survive. One of the children is Capt. Lister of the R. C. I., Fredericton. Judge Lister represented West Lambton in the commons from 1882 until he ascended the bench in 1888.

WANTED.—A case of Headache that KUMFORT Powders will not cure in from ten to twenty minutes.

HAMPTON.

Important New Industry—Changes and Removals—Personal Items.

HAMPTON, Feb. 8.—The Ossekeag Stamping Factory premises have passed into the hands of Lordly & Company, of Saint John, who will at once proceed to make such repairs, alterations, and improvements as will fit the building for the new purposes of wood-working to which they are to be put. Sterling Lordly went over the property a week ago with Mr. Foote, the agent of the McClary Company, and by the middle of this week arrangements were completed for the property. Today Mr. Lordly again visited the works and selected locations in the several buildings for the various branches of the business. He has already made a very satisfactory bargain with the I. C. R. authorities for freight cars and intends to comence loading up and forwarding a portion of his machinery and stock during the coming week. Meantime the great enamelling furnaces are being torn out and small army of boys are employed in cleaning up and piling the heaps of bricks, while men are carefully removing the iron work of both of which the quantity seems almost incredible. The former machine shop, which since the collapse of the stamping company, has been used by George M. Wilson, will still be used by him for his machinist and mechanical engineering business, there being ample room in the extensive buildings for this, in addition to a large wood-working plant. The introduction of this new industry will be of great benefit to the shiretown, and everybody hopes and believes that with wise superintendence, business enterprise and a careful study of the wood market, both of the raw material and manufactured goods—Hampton affords as large facilities for carrying on successful operations as any place in the province.

There will be some changes of residence on May 1st. Wm. Langstroth intends to build another house between his present home and that of Philip Palmer, and move into it at an early day. His present house will be occupied by the Rev. Edwin Evans and family, who vacates the Williams' cottage to the possession of Philip Palmer, whose fine premises—Ravenswood—will be occupied by Leonard Tufts and family. The latter's present residence on Railway avenue, owned by Thomas Conway, is still in the market, if it was not rented by Mr. Lordly today. Mrs. J. Ernest Whittaker's cozy house on Passekeag road, it is understood, has been rented by George Regan, of the telegraph service.

A most successful progressive whist party was held at the home of Mrs. Hamil Warneford, Central Norton, on Thursday evening. Eleven tables were filled, and all enjoyed themselves to the utmost. Refreshments were served about midnight.

Mrs. J. Ernest Whittaker and her daughter Florence, left on Thursday for her new home at Newcastle, Pennsylvania, where they expect to arrive on Sunday morning. Mrs. Whittaker will be greatly missed in all circles.

OTTAWA NEWS.

OTTAWA, Feb. 9.—The greatest aggregation of American financiers which has ever struck Ottawa is resting in the city tonight. It consists of Dr. W. Seward Webb and his associates, who are negotiating for the Canada Atlantic railway system. They represent scores of millions of capital. The party arrived here last night by special train from New York, went on to Depot harbor at midnight, examined the terminals there this morning, inspected the road during the day and returned to Ottawa tonight with the annoucement that the railway had passed out of Booth's hands. "You can say that the purchase of the C. A. R. by Dr. Webb's syndicate is finally and absolutely concluded, the contracts signed and the money paid. All remains is to hand over the cash and this will soon be attended to." The foregoing statement was made tonight by Mr. Averell, private secretary to Mr. Webb. A. L. Meyer confirmed the announcement, remarking that the financial end of the deal is absolutely arranged, "but I do not think it would be fair to Mr. Booth to make any statement as to the figure. It is understood the visitors were well pleased with the line. Mr. Averell's intimation that money would be paid over soon is the outcome of one of the conditions in the agreement with Mr. Booth. The purchase price is in the vicinity of $15,000,000. An option calls for $2,000,000 to be handed over before February 15th, otherwise the deal would be off. The money will be paid and the C. A. R. pass out of Canadian hands for ever.

MANNERS IN THE STREET.

It is a mark of provincialism and lack of good form for people to walk arm-in-arm, says the March Delineator, or for a man to walk between two ladies; his place is at the outside of the walk. If a lady is very old or infirm and requires assistance, he may offer his arm, otherwise, it is unnecessary and is not the custom even after dark. A lady bows first to a man, as it is her privilege to take the initiative in such matters. If people meet several times during the day in walking or driving it is not necessary to bow each time; once is sufficient.

A GRAND CONCERT.

A splendid concert will be given at the York theatre this evening, in the interests of the Y. M. C. A. The principals will be Miss Tarbox, G. S. Mayes, Prof. Titus and W. C. Bowden. Miss Tarbox will sing Gunod's Ave Maria, Mr. Bowden playing the violin obligato. She also sings Henchel's Spring. G. S. Mayes will sing Russel's Man the Lifeboat. This old favorite has not been given in St. John for years. He will also give Tosti's Good Bye, and others. Prof. Titus will sing some new songs and also give the Pescatoris duet with Mr. Mayes.

GROWTH OF WINNIPEG.

DEATH OF MISS ELIZABETH McCOSKERY.

The death occurred yesterday afternoon of Miss Elizabeth Theresa McCoskery, second daughter of the late John McCoskery of the New Victoria Hotel. The deceased, who was a most estimable lady, has not enjoyed good health for some time. About Christmas she was confined to her bed and while at short intervals since she appeared to rally, never at any time did she fully recover. Shortly over a week ago Miss McCloskey suffered a relapse and yesterday passed quetly away.

Deceased is survived by her mother, one brother, C. A. McCoskery, living in New York, and two sisters, Mrs. Joseph H. Ritchie and Miss Sarah McCoskery.
