POINTS ABOUT PEOPLE.

The gold medal offered by the Paris commission for the most numerous and best-colored family of children has been won by a couple named Galles, parents of thirteen youngsters.
When the Sultan of Turkey attended the celebration, he was so struck by the beauty of the children that he offered the couple an original gift of his own, which the actor goes off in the course of the performance of old days.

Major Joseph G. Pangborn, accompanied by wife and daughter, has just completed a tour of Afghanistan, Turkestan, Persia and other Asiatic countries, for the purpose of getting specimens for the Field Columbian Museum.

Henry Lettner, aged 90, who lives on the state road near the city, has a hale of cotton-ginned before the rebellion. He has refused rich offers for it, as he prefers to keep it as a memento of old days.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., began to earn money when he was 6 years old. His father offered him a fee of 1 cent for every fence post in need of repairs that he could find and on the big country place near Cleveland, D. His first day's work netted him thirteen cents.

The purchasing of the home of Chief Justice Tolson at Richmond, Va., is contemplated for the purpose of erecting thereon a proper court house as a memorial to the Federal government in its greatest chief justice, as well as a proper home for the judiciary, of which he was such an ornament.

TAR PAPER FACTORY.

(Sydney Post.)
It is learned that the Dominion Iron and Steel Co. has in view the erection of a large factory for the manufacture of tar paper and such material.
At present enormous quantities of tar paper are being wasted in connection with the coke plant and the company has decided to utilize it.
It is expected that this industry will give steady employment to quite a large number of men, besides proving a profitable investment to the company.

The tar products now flowing down from the ovens have almost checked the river and are finding their way into the creek spreading over all parts of it. It is said that the government protested to the company against allowing the by-products to enter the creek.

PORT HOPE MAN A HERO.

(Toronto World.)
A cable to the Evening Telegram yesterday identified the Canadian, who, although mortally wounded, emptied two bandoliers of cartridges at the enemy and then broke his rifle, as Charles Napier Evans, son of Harbor-master Evans, Port Hope.

The gallant soldier was born in Port Hope, July 13, 1874. He studied at the Port Hope High School, took senior leaving certificate at Owen Sound, graduated at Ontario Normal College, taught entrance class at the Chatham Public School, and was afterwards principal of the public schools of Huntsville and Amherstburg. He took the teacher's drill course at Stanley Barracks, Toronto, in 1898, obtaining a certificate of qualifications. While in the barracks he acquired a love for the study of military tactics. When the Second Mounted Rifles were called for he joined in London, Ont., and in the shooting test made three bullseyes. He was no stranger to horse or powder, and had nerve enough to hold a gun when a bar was needed to supply the muzzle. He was of noble disposition, benevolent in action and ready for the service of the master in either world. He was a schoolmate of the late William McMullen, a Port Hope boy whose memory is held dear by the eastern town.

CHICAGO, April 10.—A special to the Record-Herald from Butte, Mont., says:— Mrs. Minnie Grady, who is under arrest, charged with robbing Mrs. Emma Prout, a rich widow, has confessed that she induced her to take a drug in the belief that it was medicine for rheumatism, and that when Mrs. Prout had convulsions she took her diamonds, left her in the buggy in an out of the way place, expecting her to die, and walked back to the city. She told where the gems were hidden and they were recovered. The authorities have deter-the age of 104 years. "Grandma" Morgan was once the wife of a wealthy man in Cincinnati, Ohio, who moved to Kansas during the early boom and died over a quarter of a century ago. The old lady spent the early days of her life in Ohio. On the day she was 100 years she became the bride of John Mor-

BOOMING NOVA SCOTIA.

(London Telegraph, March 25.) John Howard, who is the agent-general for Nova Scotia in this country, gave a magnificent picture of the pros-perities of the province in a lecture at the Imperial Institute last night.
Coal, iron ore, and limestone exist there together in boundless quantity, so that the essentials for a great metal industry are ready to hand. Already the works at Sydney, Cape Breton, can produce steel for 24 a ton less than Pittsburg, which was hitherto supposed to be the cheapest producer. But steel is not the only thing that Nova Scotia is capable of producing. Gold, silver, lead, and other minerals are found in paying quantities; her agricultural and lumber industries are flourishing, while her sea fisheries are world-famous for their variety and inexhaustibility. Lord Strathcona, who presided at the lecture, predicted that in the province steel ships would presently be built cheaper than anywhere else, and that with a fast line of steamers Americans wishful to travel quickly to Europe would be obliged to come through Nova Scotia.

formal opening of the institute that they may be fully examined by the many visitors who will attend this function.
