GIRL PLANNED SUICIDE AND WARNED HER FRIENDS.

May Grass Told How She Would Kill Herself—Her Lover Told Her Last Night They Must Part.

May Grass, a fable girl at the Lansdowne Hotel, committed suicide last night, undoubtedly as a result of her failure to win the affection of the man she loved. She was a bright, vivacious maiden of about 21 years of age, and although at times talked of ending her life such was her general disposition and general joyfulness that none of her friends took her remarks seriously; but that she had clearly contemplated the deed for some time there can be no doubt. So far as the guests of the house noticed Miss Grass appeared an usual yesterday and looked after her duties in her usual thorough, careful and observant manner. It has since transpired, however, that she was very anxious about a letter or a telephone message, and frequently inquired if some one had not called her up on the telephone.

In the evening she had a call from a gentleman friend, Capt. Arthur McLean, of the tug Waring, who for two years past has paid particular attention to her and to whom she seemed devoted. Shortly after he left her at 10 o'clock her sister came to Mrs. Bustin, wife of the proprietor of the hotel, and said there was something wrong with May. Mrs. Bustin found the girl in her own room in a state of agony. She asked what the trouble was and the girl pleaded to be left alone. Mrs. Bustin summoned her husband, and Dr. E. Berrymann was at once sent for. He lost no time in arriving, and at once ordered the girl removed to the General Public Hospital. When the doctor arrived she was unconscious and remained so till she died, about one o'clock, shortly after her arrival at the hospital.

There is no doubt that death was caused by carbolic acid and that the poison was taken in a glass of water. This was suspected at first, and Dr. Berrymann upon arrival saw the girl a heavy dose of oil, but to no purpose. Capt. McLean, who was generally understood to be the girl's lover, feels the affair very badly, although he states that he was not in the room at the time. After leaving May last night he went to his tug boat and proceeded to the night. This morning he was told of the sad affair, but did not believe it till he secured a paper. He then went to the Lansdowne House, where he saw the proprietor, Mr. Bustin, and asked eagerly for the particulars. He cried like a child, and between his sobs and moans said that he had always told May that he was engaged to be married and that it would be best if they did not see each other again, but that she had insisted on seeing him, and only yesterday telephoned him asking him to call. He could not understand the affair at all, as when he left her she was as usual. They did not have any quarrel or misunderstanding. He had, however, referred to their friendship and the fact that they had better not meet again, but stated that if at any time or in any way he could be of any service to her to send for him.

Capt. McLean is a young man and is well thought of by the owners of the tug he commands. That it was failure of the young man to return her love that led to her death there can be no doubt, as at various times she has threatened to take her life in one occasion, looking out of her window, she said to her sister that if it was only the ocean below she would jump out. To a girl friend she said she was going to take carbolic acid and end it all.

Only yesterday she told the cook in the hotel that she was going to end her life. She had a small bottle of carbolic acid, and holding it up asked if she had not better get some more. She was laughed at, but she went on and explained how she was going to take it, saying she would pour the contents of the bottle into a glass and fill it with water so that it would not burn her mouth. And this the poor girl did, as the glass and the bottle were found in the dining room, the latter hidden cunningly behind a curtain.

Dr. Berrymann being the physician called in the case handed the matter over to Coroner Roberts, who is now investigating the case and will probably hold an inquest.

Miss Grass' father, who is employed in the C. P. R. works at McAdam arrived in the city on the Atlantic Express today and will arrange for the funeral of his daughter. He has permission for the removal of the body.

There are several stories about as to McLean's treatment of the girl that do not agree with the facts.

The people who were at the hotel when the ambulance arrived said that one of the men was under the influence of liquor at the time. Walter Currie, who has been with S. T. Golding for twelve years. Mr. Golding said that when he left the stable at 11 o'clock Currie was perfectly sober. He does not know who was with him, probably some one he picked up on the way.

WEDDINGS TO-DAY. FRITH-SCHOFIELD.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at 10.30 this morning in the Mission Chapel, when Rowland Frith, bookkeeper with Schofield Bros., united in marriage to Miss Gertrude Schofield, of Hampton, eldest daughter of the late Geo. Schofield, for a number of years manager of the Bank of New Brunswick in this city. The bride, who was becomingly attired in a blue travelling suit, was attended by her sister, Miss Alice Schofield. The groom was supported by his brother, Andrew Frith. The ceremony was performed by the bride's brother, Rev. C. D. Schofield. Witnesses were Harold Schofield, Kenneth Schofield and Harold Schofield, acted as ushers. Rev. Father Davenport assisted in the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Frith left at noon by the C. P. R. for a two week's trip to Sydney, P. E. Island and Quebec. On their return the young couple will reside on Burpee avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Frith were the recipients of a large number of pretty presents including a very handsome sterling silver tea service from the Neptune Rowing Club of which Mr. Frith is president and a double set of carvers from his fellow employees at Schofield Bros., where Mr. Frith has been employed for a number of years and where he is deservedly very popular.

SWEDISH ARMY MOBILIZED; WAR IS THREATENED.

DR. FRIDTJOF NANSEN.

The rupture of relations between Norway and Sweden has suggested that the Norwegians may decide to establish a republic. In this event Explorer Nansen has been mentioned as a probable choice for the presidency. While possible, such an outcome of the trouble is not believed to be probable.

means of giving added force to any proposal for settlement, which the special committee appointed by the Riksdag may make to the Norwegian Storting. STOCKHOLM, July 4.—King Oscar granted a private audience to the correspondent of the Associated Press at the royal palace today. In a lengthy conversation his majesty expressed views on the present situation and said emphatically that he would never allow any of his sons or grandsons to accept the Norwegian throne. In speaking of the attitude of Norway, the king displayed deep emotion and expressed his heartfelt sorrow at Norway's treatment of him after 32 years of unceasing labor for his happiness and prosperity.

His majesty said he wished to convey to the welfare of the country deep sympathy for the hundreds of expressions of sympathy received from the United States. In the course of the conversation King Oscar reiterated his official utterances regarding his position on the consular bill passed by the Storting, and the extent which followed his veto of it, and said:

"When the King of Norway considers that the welfare of the country demands that he shall veto a bill passed by the Storting, his right to do so is unconditionally shown in Norway's constitution, and he would be false to his oath if he did not exercise this right in accordance with his conscience. The constitution gives the Storting the power to pass a measure over my veto, prescribing, however, that this can only be done by a majority of three consecutively elected Storthings. The consular bill was only passed by one Storting."

TOBIN STILL DEMES.

Contradicts Point Blank the Evidence of the Crown's New Witness—Case Goes to Jury This Afternoon. In the re-trial of John Tobin yesterday afternoon the following witnesses testified: Wm. Holm, Merritt Lord and Geo. Totten for the prosecution. This closed the case for the crown and the cross-examination of the defence and called Wm. Jones, Wm. Langley, David Wells and Mrs. John Tobin. The court adjourned until this morning. The trial entered on its last phase this morning when Solicitor General Jones took the cross-examination of the prisoner's wife, who despite a severe cross questioning, held practically to the story told by her at the last trial. Following his wife, Tobin himself took his stand in the witness box and repeated what he knew of the affair, denying sentence by sentence Holm's statement incriminating witnesses.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jones Tobin denied that he met the new witness, Lottie Jackson on the night of his arrest. He didn't even know her. He admitted that when he read the account of the robbery in the Star the Wednesday after it occurred, he connected it with the watches Holm showed him on the Sunday, but he didn't give the police any hint as to his suspicions. (Laughter.)

James Myles and William Myles gave evidence as to the prisoner's character. Mr. Mullin announced this closed the case for the defence.

Mr. Jones asked his honor for permission to recall certain witnesses, which was given him. Chas. Carr said he did not say to Mrs. Holm sent, after giving his evidence on Monday that "he would swear the prisoner's life away." Mrs. Holm sent, also swore last witness never spoke to her.

Mr. Jones asked for the court stenographer to be sworn and to read out Mr. Wells' evidence at the last trial to the effect that he (Wells) said "that the rain on the 21st May last ceased at about 8.20 p. m. and the sun came out afterwards." Mr. Wells having denied that he said this.

This afternoon at 2.30 Mr. Mullin will address the jury for the defence after which Mr. Jones will close the prosecution. This honor will sum up the verdict is expected at about 4.30.

KNIAZ POTEKINE AT ANOTHER RUSSIAN PORT.

Mutineers Demand Coal and Provisions---Strikers in St. Petersburg Fired on by Cossacks and Many Killed.

Muting No. 1. THEODOSIA, July 5.—The Russian battleship Kniaz Potemkine has arrived here and asked for coal, provisions and medical attendance. The mutineers demanded that the authorities of the town guarantee their safety during the stay of the ship here. (Theodosia is a Russian port in the Crimea about 125 miles from Sevastopol.)

SEVASTOPOL, July 5.—The Black Sea Squadron, under Rear Admiral Kruger, returned here today from its second voyage to Odessa. The squadron included the battleship Pobedonosets.

NAVAL SYSTEM BLAMED.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 5.—With the publication in the Official Messenger of the official account of the tragedy at Odessa, the hand of the censorship is raised and all the papers are filled with columns upon columns of accounts from the foreign papers. Leaving aside the machinations of the revolutionists the press with one voice declares that the mutinies on board ships of the Black Sea fleet were the result of the rotten system involved in the Russian navy, the blue jackets being utterly neglected and the officers living ashore except during the brief cruises. Capt. Clado, in a long review, affirms that the question of food was a mere pretext, the real cause being deeper, in the complete lack of sympathy between the men and their officers, most of whom, he says, are disgustingly incompetent. Owing to their positions of influence at St. Petersburg they care nothing for good service or the well being and contentment of the men. Other writers, some of whom evidently are high in the service, but who write under assumed names, in a most savage fashion, declare that the bureaucratic regime in the navy is only reaping what it has sown, and plainly intimate that similar conditions exist in the army.

"Fear," says the Slovo, "is the basis of discipline in the army and navy, and it will prove as poor an instrument for keeping the rank and file loyal to the throne as it has in the suppression of discontent among the people. The government should learn the lesson that the soldiers and sailors are beginning to awaken as the people have already awakened."

STRIKERS FIGHT COSSACKS.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 5.—Cossacks fired on the Putloff strikers this morning. The trouble was started by the arrest of a youth while gathering the works. The police suspected him of having dynamite in his possession. On being made a prisoner the man drew a revolver and shot his captor dead and was himself wounded by a bullet fired by another policeman. The strikers quickly congregated on the Peterhoff road and the Cossacks were ordered to disperse them. The soldiers charged using their whips and then fired a volley causing several casualties among the strikers. The excitement in the district is intense.

DAWSON—Via Seattle, July 6.—Thousand miles of Northern telegraph line have been rendered useless by forest fires sweeping throughout British Columbia, Yukon Territory and Alaska. Eagle and Fairbanks is another furnace. The line from Dawson to Fairbanks is also out of order. Nome and Fairbanks have been without service for many days. Millions of feet of timber have been ruined, estimated to be worth a million dollars.
