WANTED, NEW INDUSTRIES.

St. John cannot be described as a rapidly growing city. It is probably growing more wealthy, but that is not apparent in the assessment records. Though a few new houses are built every year, and though they seem to be better than the old ones which go out of use, the real estate valuation does not increase. If the city attracted or created new industries they would bring in more people who would require more houses, and there would be an increase in real estate, personal property and income valuations. But no large industry has been established in this city for a decade, while the town of Amherst has established half a dozen of great importance. Yet Amherst produces neither coal nor iron. It has no water power and is not a seaport. In natural advantages St. John would appear to be greatly superior.

Amherst is mentioned because if an Ontario town such as Berlin, or Galt, or Guelph, or Brantford were taken it might be said that the Ontario industries were nearer to the bulk of the Canadian market. St. John industries are not as a whole unprosperous. Some are prosperous, some are fairly successful, and some are not good investments. That happens in most places. But there is nothing in the record or in the situation of the city to discourage the establishment of such industries here as would succeed in a neighboring town. It will be one business of the men who frame the new assessment law to inquire whether there is any industrial impediment in the incidence of city taxation.

It is altogether probable that Premier Ross will before long withdraw from provincial politics. He may re-appear at Ottawa, where as a young politician he had a somewhat brilliant career. Sir Wilfrid has no Ontario colleague with anything near his ability and would perhaps be glad to give him a portfolio, if that could be done without still further implicating the Ontario government in the offences of the Ontario machine. For the present it will, perhaps, suit Sir Wilfrid best to have as little as possible to do with the remnants of the administration which he formerly described as his right arm.

Mr. Emmerson seems to have placed himself in a somewhat awkward position in regard to the dismissal of Mr. Odour White, of the Canada Eastern road. The dismissal, which appears to have been political, was justified by the minister on the ground that it was recommended by his chief officers at Moncton. The house was then given to understand that the report on which the minister acted was in writing, but when asked to produce it, Mr. Emmerson explains that the statement was verbal. When his estimates are before the house Mr. Emmerson will have to be more definite, but he will be fairly safe, for the officers on whom he throws the responsibility are not likely to contradict him.

Russia is a large country, with many industrial centres. The government does not know in which part the trouble may next break out, nor how far it will go. It is, however, clear that the kind of order which has been established has no permanence in it. "Where they make a solitude they call it peace," said the chief historian describing the methods of the ancient Romans. This is like the peace of St. Petersburg.

THE GAME OF THE SNOWFLAKES Young Mr. Snow-flake And his half-brother Jake Left White Cloud, their home in the skies. Said Mr. Snow-flake To his half-brother Jake "We will give the old Earth a surprise."

Brothers, sisters and cousins Aunties, uncles by dozens, All came quickly along on the run, "We will go to the Earth. If they are the first We'll be there to join in the fun."

"But what will we do When we get there? I rue This starting in frolicsome play." "Just never mind that. Come on in my track. All follow and I'll lead the way."

Thus spoke Mr. Snow-flake To his half-brother Jake. And most truly what did they all do? They blocked all the roads. Gave Old Earth a new white robe, too. — J. M. J.

AFTER HIS SHARE OF $5,000,000. J. W. Hunter, of New-law (Man), is at the Aberdeen Hotel, will be a passenger on the Lake Erie, which leaves tomorrow for Liverpool. He is accompanied by his lawyer, H. V. Fieldhouse, L. L. D. Mr. Hunter claims to be one of the heirs to an estate of $5,000,000, and is going over to establish his claim. Mr. Fieldhouse is also looking after the interests of John Farrell, of New-law, who believes himself to be the heir of a Farrell who died in Australia leaving $30,000. Mrs. R. Hunter, of Brussels, Dak., accompanies the party. She expects to be able to establish her claim to a share of the $5,000,000.

Hopefield, Prince Edward Island, is one of the many places where ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is appreciated. Mrs. S. K. MacDonald of that place, on December 15th, wrote to us as follows:

"I have used the ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR and think it to be the best flour I have ever used. I appreciate the efforts you have undertaken to make such a grand flour, and to introduce it to Canadian homes."

This testimonial was unsolicited. It was prompted by a desire to have others share in the satisfaction of ROYAL HOUSEHOLD bread making.

It should make converts to the ROYAL HOUSEHOLD habit wherever good bread is properly appreciated. THE OGLVIE FLOUR MILLS CO., LIMITED, Montreal.

ACCIDENT ON THE I. C. R.

Two quite serious accidents occurred recently on the I. C. R. The first was at Wentworth at an early hour Monday morning. A special train became stalled in the snow, which lay heavy on the track. The train was then divided and the engine with the forward part went ahead to clear the track, but in returning in the divided and storm distance was miscalculated and the two sections came together quite severely. Three cars loaded with lumber were badly smashed. Brakeman John Bruce had a narrow escape. He was standing on top of one of the lumber laden cars when the crash came, and he tumbled up, throwing him off head first clear of the train. He was badly shaken up. Conductor Hennessey, who was in the van, was also badly shaken up and slightly bruised.

Tuesday a wrecking train took the crew out to get the wrecked cars up the embankment over which they rolled. The work was accomplished in good shape, but just as the start for Truro was about to be made and the wrecking train was coming out of the siding at Wentworth Station, the crane car jumped the rails and blocked the road pretty badly, to such an extent that the day express from St. John, due here at 7:05 Tuesday night, did not arrive until 12:30 Tuesday morning.—Halifax Herald, Thursday.

NB W MARRIAGE LAW PROPOSED.

Movement on Foot to Secure Adoption of Universal Marriage and Divorce Regulations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—As an outcome of the social conditions existing in states inhabited by Mormons, as set forth in the testimony submitted in the Smoot case, a movement is on foot to secure the adoption of a universal marriage and divorce law by constitutional amendment. Thus far the movement is in its infancy, but is being vigorously discussed by persons prominent in the Protestant side of the Smoot case and several senators have given the project their endorsement. The Smoot testimony was conclusively that so long as members of the Mormon church desire to continue polygamous relations, they are not prevented, under state laws, from doing so.

Thus it is held that the only way in which the situation may be dealt with effectively is by federal statutes, applying to all states, the enforcement of which shall depend solely upon the authorities of the national government. The W. C. T. U. is partly responsible for the movement. Under the constitution, such a law may become operative in congress and then approved by two-thirds or more of the state legislatures.

FREE TRADERS.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The Free Traders captured another parliamentary seat in the by-election held in North Dorset yesterday. A Liberal, A. W. Willis, defeated the Conservative candidate, Sir Randolph Baker, by a majority of 569. The victory was caused by the death of John Wingfield-Digby.

There is a reason, and the best kind of a reason, why Ayer's Hair Vigor makes the hair grow long and heavy.

It is a hair-food. It feeds the hair and makes it healthy and strong.

Healthy hair grows, keeps soft and smooth, does not split at the ends, and never falls out.

Give Ayer's Hair Vigor to your gray hair and restore to it all the deep, rich color of early life.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT ON D. A. R.

DIGBY, N. S., Jan. 26.—Engine 19, with snow plow and conductor's van running from Annapolis to Digby, met with a serious accident today. About half a mile west of Digby the snow plow went off the track, smashing in the right side of the cab on the engine and throwing the driver out through the window. Engineer Ritchie did not get clear of his engine however, but was irised several car lengths by the feet. He finally kicked himself clear and hobbled to the station to find the runaway engine. The engine had been stopped by the fireman. Traffic is completely blocked on the D. A. R., but the company are doing all they can to get the traffic through.

TO PROTECT FIREMEN. A novel fire-engine has recently been constructed for the fire department of Manchester, England, which contains, in addition to the usual features of an ordinary steam fire-engine, a number of additions designed to facilitate the operations of the firemen and to provide increased safety.

The first of these is an air-pump, connected by gearing with the crank shaft of the engine, which furnishes air through a flexible metallic hose to firemen working in dense smoke, or places where they are subject to gas, or fumes of acids or other chemicals. This flexible hose is connected with a protective helmet worn by the fireman, which is made of heavy leather, extending down over the shoulders and supplied with an opening for the eyes and upper part of the face. The air enters per part of the helmet and flows around the face, passing out of this opening, keeping the eyes and nose free from smoke. The helmet contains a telephone receiver and transmitter, whereby communication can be maintained with the officer at the fire-engine, and by means of switchboard, if necessary, with a chief official. The engine has a small dynamo, located over the front wheels, and connected with the fly-wheel by means of a belt. This furnishes a current for eight 25-car die-power incandescent lamps through a flexible cable, so that, provided with a hand lamp, a fireman can penetrate dark and smoky apartments, where it is necessary often to cut off the gas or oil supply.

The entire equipment, including the protective helmets for the firemen, is stored in the forward part of the fire-engine, which is of the usual English pattern, and adds comparatively little to its weight.
