PRINCE MAKES HIS LAST STATEMENT

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—From the University Club Prince Louis and his party were driven to the New York Theatre, where he was greeted with rousing cheers, and after he had entered his box he was obliged to stand and bow his response to the noisy welcome.

Shortly after returning to his apartments at the Hotel Netherland the Prince made what he said would be his last public statement before sailing for home. He said:

"We shall leave here with the greatest feeling of regret, and there is not one of us who would not have liked to have made our stay much longer. I have met with every demonstration of kindness and regard, and your reception has been most cordial, particularly where large numbers have congregated to welcome us, such as at the Hippodrome and at the New York Theatre tonight.

"I am very grateful for this, for it shows that the kindly feeling of welcome extended to us comes from every class of the people.

"Let me say that I consider the demonstrations given us as entirely directed toward our country, and I know they are appreciated. For myself I do not count. I am simply the representative of my country. I am sure the people of my country will look upon my kindly reception as an honor to the King and themselves. We are proud to represent them, and our only regret is that on the only chance we have had to return some of this splendid hospitality by giving a reception on the Drake, it was so cold in the supper room that all our guests were sneezing.

"In departing I wish to express my appreciation for all that has been done in our honor. I have received an enormous amount of correspondence from all sorts of people since I came to America, and I have endeavored to attend to it day by day, so that it would not accumulate, but I could not keep up with it, and now I have a pile of unanswered letters larger than when I started. But I want to assure you that the moment we get to sea I shall start in to reply to every letter not yet answered and those replies will be mailed from Gibraltar. I wish this statement to be published, so that the many who have not heard from me will know that I have not forgotten them, or tried to slight them."

Prince Louis will board the Drake at 9.30 o'clock tomorrow. He will pay only one more official visit, and that will be to Admiral Evans on the Maine.

DIDN'T WANT LESSONS.

"What are you going to do, John?" asked Mrs. McFazzle, as her husband unwrapped a set of boxing-gloves.

"I'm going to give Johnny some lessons in self-defence," he answered. "Every boy should know how to take care of himself in an emergency. Come on, Johnny, I won't hurt you."

Twenty minutes later Mr. McFazzle returned with his hands on his face.

"Get me a piece of raw meat to put on my eye and the arnica bottle."

"Why, you don't mean to say that Johnny——"

"No, I don't; of course I don't. Johnny's sittin' out in the garden now in sorrow and repentance. I've discovered that the only way to teach that boy is with a strap."

Capt. Hamilton, chief of London's fire brigade, has a strong sense of humor. When in command of a small vessel, he hurried up one day from his lunch-table on account of threatened bad weather, and almost immediately afterwards sent down a midshipman to look at the barometer. Walking aft, he happened to look down the skylight, and, to his amazement, saw the middy fortifying himself with a glass of his best sherry. When the youngster came on deck, Capt. Hamilton asked him how the glass stood. "Steadily rising, sir," was the reply. "Ah!" said the captain, "and how is the sherry?" Like a shot came the answer, "Steadily falling, sir." Hamilton so much appreciated the joke that he allowed the incident to pass without further notice.
