Dr. J. D. Maher, Dr. J. M. Barry, Dr. S. H. McDonald, John McDonald, Jr., and J. M. Elmore, St. John Council Knights of Columbus members, who attended the meeting in Charlottetown, arrived home yesterday afternoon and report excellent sessions. There were about thirty-five candidates for the third degree, which was exemplified in masterly manner by the Boston degree team. The latter and the rest of the St. John knights will arrive in St. John today.

Lloyd Ashurst, a one-year-old auto-ent of Kilbourne, Ill., is a great-grandchild, the eldest of the "greats" being Mrs. Lucinda Watkins, of Atterbury, Ill., born April 4, 1806. He and his four grandmothers were all photographed recently, and the interesting group picture has been distributed among a vast crowd of relatives.

ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SEPT. 29, 1905.

THE BANK MERGER.

The general feeling with reference to the proposed absorption of the Bank of New Brunswick by the Bank of Montreal is regret. Both the stockholders and the people who deal with the local bank are well satisfied with present conditions and have nothing better to expect from the change. Indeed the expectations of the latter are pessimistic. While the shareholders have the possibility that the Bank of New Brunswick, in the face of growing competition, may not be able to keep up the present rate of dividends to reconcile them to union with so strong an institution as the Montreal Bank, the patrons have no such compensation.

The Bank of New Brunswick as a local institution has been closely connected with local interests, has had, in some respects, a personal concern in the affairs of industries and business houses upon which the city's prosperity is based, while the relations between city business men and the bank under the new administration will be coldly impersonal. It is possible that those whose money is invested in the Bank of New Brunswick may profit by the change, but there is much room for doubt that the city generally will share in the benefit.

Also there is some sting to St. John pride in the fact that there is not enough energy and enterprise in this city to make so well established a financial institution as the Bank of New Brunswick the successful rival of any Canadian competitor.

PROSPEROUS CANADA.

Summarizing the returns from its agents all over Canada the Labour Gazette finds that employment on the whole was more active during August than in any previous month of the present year. As compared with the corresponding period of 1904, also, the general condition of the labor market was much more favorable, especially in Ontario and the eastern provinces. This buoyant tone was the result largely of the heavy return from the grain crops in Ontario, Quebec and Nova Scotia, and of the assurance that the crop yield in western Canada would largely exceed that of any previous year. Harvesting operations were general during the latter half of the month, employing many thousands of men; the fishing season on the Fraser River, B. C., was at its height; the demand for men for the winter lumber camps in eastern Canada was keen; mining was very active in both the coal and metalliferous branches; and building operations were on a more extensive scale in the larger cities than ever previously recorded. Civic improvement works also provided employment for large numbers. In addition, railway construction operations were actively under way, and with the turning of the first sod in the construction of the National Transcontinental Line, and the projection of additional branch lines by operating companies, a period of unprecedented activity was inaugurated, the effect of which was immediately felt upon general industrial and trade conditions, more particularly in the manufacturing industry and among retailers in western Canada. The opening of the fall fair season also stimulated trade and employment in many localities. The above conditions were general in their effect throughout the Dominion, the cities of Halifax and Montreal alone reporting conditions approximating to dullness.

While the Labour Gazette, being a government publication, is naturally not inclined to pessimism in its reports and while its agents may not always be trustworthy it is probable that this summary correctly describes prevailing conditions and that the general prosperity for the month now closing will be even greater. We have had a good year, a splendid year, and will come to our next Thanksgiving Day with better reason for celebration than ever before. We are on the crest of a great advancing wave, we Canadians, and—praise be!—there is yet no sign of its breaking. But it is not wise for those who are steering our ship to be blindly confident that the wave will never break, and the fair wind will always hold; to go on spreading more and more sail with reckless extravagance, taking never a precaution for breakers that may be not far ahead and for squalls that are sure to come some day.

"Manual training is a farce," say some members of the common council. Persons equally reckless in their statements have been known to call the common council a farce. These sweeping statements are easy to make and in some cases seem self-evident; but they are not always easy to prove and are not, as a rule, made by people whose opinions are the result of study and thought.

Cherry Pectoral. Doctors have prescribed this medicine for over sixty years. They heartily endorse it for all diseases of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis.

Ald. Christie declares that the school board is more extravagant than the common council. It is to be hoped that so grave a charge was not made hastily. Casually, one would think it difficult to prove.

Some of the aldermen want to vest the management of St. John schools in the Common Council. The system is bad enough now, but Lord preserve us from this alternative.

THE KILLER.

A thousand miles from east to west, I journeyed on relentless quest,
I met him in the solitude
As he his shaggy way pursued
He swung his head in dazed surprise;
My bullet crashed betwixt his eyes.

I took from him his great domain,
Connecting torques sky with plain.
Aye, canon, crest, and plume shade;
The bouldered pass, the valleyed glade;
All this from his possession tore,
And set my heel, a conqueror!

I stripped his skin for my renown,
Before my fireplace laid it down.
Within four narrow walls 'tis spread,
'That eye may gloat, and foot may tread.

A hero I, in wide belief;
I know that I am but a thief.
—Edwin L. Sabin, in October Lippincott's Magazine.

MEN ENCOUNTERED GREAT HARDSHIPS.

Fifty Died, 5,000 Cattle and 120 Horses
Succumbed—Awful Story of British Mission.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The story told by members of the British Mission who spent two and a half years in marking the boundary between Persia and Afghanistan in the Sistan region, shows that they encountered terrible hardships. Fifty of the members died from various causes and nearly 5,000 cattle and 120 horses succumbed.

The base was situated at Quetta, whence all supplies were brought to Seistan, 400 miles distant, over a route of many treacherous and difficult passages. The summer several persons died from sunstroke and thirst, while during the winter others were frozen. Last winter numbers of jackals and wolves, which abound in Seistan, made for some unexplained reason and in large packs attacked the men and animals belonging to the mission. Many of the cattle and horses were bitten and died of hydrophobia.

On March 29, of this year, the temperature fell to zero accompanied by a blizzard and during this storm 400 cattle and three horses perished, the mission for many days being cut off from supplies and the members of the mission during periods when supplies ran out and they were reduced to the difficulties of transportation.

MOTHER AND FOUR CHILDREN MURDERED

EDNA, Tex., Sept. 28.—Mrs. A. J. Condit and four children, a daughter of 13 and three boys from ten to ten years old, were murdered in cold blood at their home near here today. The mother and daughter were assaulted and their bodies brutally disfigured.

A baby about two years old was the only one left.

All of them seemed to have been murdered with some blunt instrument, their heads were crushed and their throats cut with a knife or razor. The girl and mother were killed in the house. The boys were killed about 100 yards away.

Mr. Condit was working in the rice fields. A negro boy about 13 years old, was plowing in a field near the house and heard the children screaming. He saw a man run after a woman, who was running around the house. Being afraid to go to the house, he ran to a neighbor and told what he had seen. The person informed ran to the place and found the five members of the family killed. Officers were informed at once and the entire county is out in posess in search of the murderer. It is supposed that there were two persons who committed the crime. Dogs have been sent for to track the murderers.

TOO MUCH CORNSTARCH.

Little Johnnie doesn't like to be kissed, but sometimes he is compelled by some gushing friends of his mother to submit to the ordeal. The last time they called he went through the operation as gracefully as possible, but after their departure he remarked, vigorously rubbing the powder from his face meanwhile: "Mamma, I don't like to have them kiss me. It tastes just like kissing a marshmallow."—Lippincott's.
