SICK IN BED; HOUSE ON FIRE Mrs. Doucet Was Rescued Just in Time

Was Alone in House and Helpless, when Exploding Lamp Set Bedclothes on Fire

An exploding lamp caused a fire in Henry Doucet's home, 205 Germain street last night about eight o'clock. Only the prompt action of some of the neighbors prevented a serious ending to the accident.

The falling lamp set fire to a rug on the floor and the blaze quickly spread to the bed on which Mrs. Doucet, who was too ill to move, was lying.

Mrs. Doucet called loudly for help. There was no one else in the house, but the cries of the woman, hearing the fire, roused the neighbors.

The chemical engine arrived promptly, and with a few minutes' work put an end to the conflagration. The damage done to the house was inconsiderable.

Some persons under the stress of excitement ring a second alarm, and in consequence a large crowd of spectators quickly assembled to see the fire.

The fire, however, had been extinguished, and the crowd of spectators, who were disappointed at missing the spectacle of a big blaze.

REWARD OFFERED TO APPREHEND MURDERER Selection of Massachusetts Town Want to Capture Boy's Destroyer

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., July 19.—The selection of the town today offered a reward of $250 for information leading to the arrest of the murderer of John Street, the 12 year old boy whose body was found last Sunday in the woods near Housatonic.

This part of the investigation is conducted on the theory that the boy was killed by tramps, but the officers do not deny that they are conducting other lines of inquiry pointing in quite another direction.

It was said tonight that there is little likelihood that any arrest will be made until after the inquest is held, and the date of the inquest has not yet been set.

"VERY FEW ESCAPE US" Alert Work of Police Caused Arrest of Deserting Russian Sailor

Quick work on the part of the police force resulted in the capture of a deserter from the Russian bark Matsa last night within an hour of the issuing of instructions for his arrest.

At roll call yesterday morning Chief Clark read the description of Cyril Jive, an eighteen year old sailor, who had been reported by the master for deserting from the Matsa, which is lying at Walker's wharf.

Early in the evening Officers McCollom and Ward reported to Sergt. Baxter that a man answering the description was in a bar on Mill street. While watching for this suspect the sergeant noticed a man coming up Smythe street, who resembled more closely the man wanted.

He was arrested and taken to the vessel for identification. The skipper promptly declared him to be the right man, and he was forthwith escorted to the police station.

DON'T WEAR YOUR WATCHES OUTSIDE Extra Precautions will be Taken by the Police But They Cannot Watch Everyone

The chief of police intends to take all precautions to prevent a repetition of the robberies and petty thieving which followed in the wake of the circus at Portland and other places. The whole police force will be on duty today, night and day men alike, and they will be so generally distributed over the city as to prevent any serious trouble.
