CRAZY OVER MINING STOCKS.

The Wall Street "curb" has gone stark mad over mining stocks, and is trading in them at the rate of 1,000,000 shares a week.

The enormous rise that some of the curb stocks have had in a very short time may be judged from these figures:

Since August 13, when the principal activity in mining shares began in this market, Nipissing Mining has arisen from 5⅞ to 25, or 400 per cent. of the par value, which is $5 a share; Butte Coalition, from 30⅞ to 41⅞; Cumberland Ely, from 7⅞ to 14⅛; Giroux Copper, from 7 to 14 ; Gold Hill Copper, from 2⅜ to 5½; British Columbia Copper, from 8¼ to 11. McKinley, Darragh, Davis-Dalyn and others have risen sharply, and established new leaderships.

BANKS FAIRLY LEAP AHEAD.

Ten years ago the total assets of our chartered banks amounted to only $320,000,000, while today they are over $890,000,000.

The liabilites ten years ago were $230,000,000, as against $710,000,000 at the present time.

The total deposits ten years ago were only $185,000,000, while now they aggregate $607,000,000.

The loans and discounts in 1896 were but $222,0000,000, while they now aggregate nearly $665,000,000.

The paid up capital ten years ago was $62,000,000, with a rest or reserve fund of 42 per cent. of this amount.

Paid-up capital today is $93,000,000, and the reserve fund is 70 per cent. on capital.

The circulation of bank notes has more than doubled in ten years, while the banks now hold in specie and legal tender nearly $61,000,000, as against $22,000,000 ten years ago.

E. S. CLOUSTON TAKES A STAND.
(Montreal Star.)

It was remarked the other day that, although bank managers were almost unanimous in the belief that the banks were going too fast in regard to branches, none of them felt inclined to publicly frown upon the movement.

E. S. Clouston, vice-president and general manager of the Bank of Montreal, has just returned from his Western trip and speaks out. Mr. Clouston says that the great multiplicity of banks in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan has brought little profit to the institutions, and he believes that the districts in which the banks are located derived little or no benefit on account of this undue competition, as it created an over-borrowing tendency among the people.

Although afraid that experience will be the only teacher in the matter, and also a little disappointed at the speculative spout that has sprung up in connection with lands, Mr. Clouston does not want to be considered a "bear" on the West.

He is impressed with its wonderful progress and believes that prosperity by careful methods should continue.

In veiw of Mr. Clouston's opinions in regard to branch banks, the following will be found of interest. It shows the number of branches maintained by each bank in 1906 compared with the branches in 1900, the figures being compiled from the Monetary Times.

SAD DEATH OF A BAYFIELD YOUNG MAN

SACKVILLE, N. B., Oct. 9.— The death of Oscar Allen, son of Priestly Allen of Bayfield, occurred at his home, Bayfield, N. B., on Saturday afternoon. Deceased was a very promising young man, twenty-three years of age. He had successfully completed his second year at McGill Medical College and was making ready to enter upon his third year when he was stricken with hasty consumption and after an illness of three weeks, succumbed to the dread disease. His untimely death is regretted by a host of friends. He is survived by a father, one brother, Tupper, in the West, and an only sister, Blanche, who ministered to him faithfully during his illness. His mother passed away about three years ago. Funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was very largely attended. Rev. Wm. Lawson conducted an impressive service. Interment at Bayfield cemetery.

TOPICAL TOYS TELL TREND OF THOUGHT

Interesting Exhibition of Playthings for King Baby Opened in Paris.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—An interesting indication of the trend of popular opinion is to be found in the sixth annual exhibition of cheap toys which was opened here today.

It is said that in Paris one can always gauge popular opinion by the popular songs and the popular toys and this is certainly true of the toys.

Among the exhibits today are several mechanical workmen who may be set going for six times in succession, but who observe the weekly day of rest act by refusing to work at the seventh time of asking. There is also a cleverly made war motor car, whch carries a cannon and fires shots as it goes along. Then they are the Cambodian dancers of King Sisowath, and little figures representing familiar deputies who fall asleep in the Chamber in curious positions.

One of the most popular toys is called "the motor-car catastrophe." A little clockwork motor car runs splendidly until something goes wrong with the machinery, apparently, and the car breaks into several pieces and throws its passengers out.

A more useful device is an alarm clock which fires off a pistol and then lights a lamp under the sleeper's breakfast. The inventor declares that next year he will improve it by inventing a lever bedstead in connection with it. If the sleeper does not arise after the firing of the pistol, the mechanism will let down the bed rolling him out on the floor.

SHOT HIS GRANDMOTHER

While Snapping a Revolver Boy Sends Bullet Into an 80 Year Old Woman

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Pauline Oukner, 80 years old, was shot and probably mortally wounded by her grandson, Harry Oukner, 21 years old, in their home at Hinsdale streets and New Lots avenue, East New York, last evening. The shooting is supposed to have been accidental.

Oukner was cleaning an old revolver with which he hoped to shoot horse thieves, said to have been seen lurking around his father's barns. Mrs. Pauline Oukner and Harry's father and mother were seated in the room. After oiling the revolver the young man began snapping the hammer under the impression that there were no cartridges in the chambers. Mrs. Pauline Oukner had risen to leave the room when the revolver went off and the bullet, narrowly missing young Oukner's mother, struck his grandmother in the back.

She fell to the floor. The boy, as soon as he realized what had happened, rushed out of the house and sent for an ambulance. The policeman on post followed the ambulance to the house and took the boy to the Kings County Hospital, where Mrs. Oukner had been carried.

Mrs. Oukner pleaded with the policeman not to arrest her grandson, corroborating Harry's story of the shooting and declaring that it was entirely an accident. The policeman, however, after learning that Mrs. Oukner's wound would probably prove fatal, took Harry to the Liberty avenue police station, where he was locked up.

THEY WERE ABOUT THE LORD'S BUSINESS

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Methodist Central New York conference today, by a vote of 156 to 4 censured Senator John Raines for his attitude toward temperance legislation. The discussion was furious for a time. A supporter of Raines, standing on a chair, sought to quess the excitement, shouting: "This is the house of the Lord." An opponent shouted back: "Yes, and we are about the Lord's business."

By the vote stated the resolution regarding temperance legislation was amended to include the censure of Senator Raines.

SPLENDID TRIBUTE FROM ALBERTA LIBERALS

Mr. Oliver, Minister of Interior, Given Banquet and Reception at Edmonton

EDMONTON, Oct. 7.—When 450 men rose to their feet in the Thistle rink on Friday night and cheered until the rafters rang the name of the Minister of the Interior, it was a living, tangible evidence that enthusiasm for the principles of Liberalism and admiration for their elected representative is strong in Edmonton and in the Province of Alberta. The Oliver banquet last night was a triumph, not only in numbers and enthusiasm and in brilliancy of oratory, but in in the fact as well of representation from so many different parts of the province. From east, west, south and north the assemblage was gathered, and it would have been a stranger indeed who could not have recognized a familiar face from almost any riding in the province. The attendance from all parts of the province made the function one truly provincial in its scope, a splendid representation of Alberta Liberalism. The wide attendance, the uniform excellence and breadth of the speeches and the abounding enthusiasm joined to make the event one of the most remarkable demonstrations ever made to a Canadian public man.

An advertisement should be plain and honest, not flowery—nothing need be said in it for mere ornamentation. It should contain nothing which is not strictly true, but 'should be sure to claim as much as is true.—Publicity.

CHLOROFORM BOQUET DEVICE OF THIEF

Makes Women Faint and Then a Charming "Prince" Robs Them of Jewelry.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—An hotel thief, who has been systematically robbing English and American women, after presenting choloformed bouquets to them, was arrested today at the Grand Hotel here.

He called himself "Prince Tschilindro, of Montenegro," and stayed at the best hotels, engaging expensive suites of rooms and living in luxurious fashion.

His manners were exceedingly polished, and he rarely failed to become acquainted with the most richly dressed women staying at the hotels. When the acquaintance was sufficiently developed he ventured to offer a beautiful bouquet.

His victim, charmed with the "Prince's" courtesy, smilingly accepted, and gratefully smelt the flowers. She soon after became faint, and had to be led to her room.

The "Prince" then busied himself in rendering her assistance, and in doing so he generally managed to relieve her of a valuable necklace or bracelet.

He was captured today in the act of pocketing a costly diamond bracelet which belonged to an American woman who had accepted one of his bouquets. He proves to be a Russian Jew named Ramskeleff.

THOUGHT HIM HONEST, BUT FINDS HIM A THIEF

Deceived Australian Girl Rescued by Paris Police From Criminal Husband.

PARIS, Oct. 9—An Australian girl named Bessie Smith, who had married a Frenchman and afterwards found him to be an "Apache," has been rescued by the police under dramatic circumstances.

The police were searching for stolen property at a house frequented by "Apaches," when they heard a woman shriek. They burst open a door, and found a young woman lying on the floor with a severe wound in her shoulder. The window was open, and on looking out they saw an "Apache" named Pellier escaping by the water-pipe. He was "wanted" for several crimes, but got clear away over the roofs.

When the police returned to the woman they were astonished to find that she spoke nothing but English. She said that she first met Pellier when she was employed at a shop in Melbourne. He was always smartly dressed and apparently respectable, and he won her affections.

Some time after their marriage Pellier decided to come to Paris, using his wife's savings for the passage money. When they arrived here she found out that her husband was a criminal, and her life has been a misery to her ever since.

When she heard the police in the lodging house she thought she saw a way out of her tortures. She shrieked for help, and her husband stabbed her before he decamped through the window. She is being befriended by an English Protestant family named Stone, who live at Passy.

CAVALRY ROUTED IN BATTLE WITH BOTTLES

Strange Weapons Used to Repulse Cuirassiers in a French Town.

PARIS, Oct. 9—A body of cuirassiers who were told off to charge the riotous strikers at Grenoble today were met by a volley of bottles of beer, and many of the soldiers were disabled.

Stormy scenes are occurring in Grenoble at present, for all the navvies, dyers, farriers, shoemakers, clockmakers and other have struck for higher wages, and the place is full of soldiers.

The battle of the beer bottles took place at a brewery into which the strikers had broken. The rioters commandeered 150 large cases of bottled beer, and built a barricade with the cases, reserving the bottles for ammunition.

Taking up position behind this "cover," they awaited the oncoming of the cavalry. The cuirassiers came up at the gallop, but a well-directed volley of bottles threw their horses into disorder, and they had to retire.

Several charges followed, but were beaten back by the bottle bombardment, and it was only when the ammunition was exhausted that the strikers fled. A hundred rioters were arrested.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY AT WHITEHEAD, N. B.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Macfarland of Glen Pharlyn, on the Kennebecasis, was the scene of a happy occurrence on Friday evening, when it was invaded by a host of friends armed with presents and the good things of life, bent on joyously celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. The invaders had hoped to take the genial sportsman and his wife by surprise, but were frustrated by one of those foreseen and dreaded happenings which are the bane of promoters of unheralded events, and they found the worthy couple fully prepared to receive them.

Among the presents was a very handsome parlor lamp and a valuable set of silver cutlery.

A happy presentation speech, sparkling with wit and good wishes, made by the Rev. Mr. Wainwright, rector of Kingston, was loudly applauded. The host, whose emotions for a time almost overpowered him, replied with his customary eloquence.

The groomsman of the wedding of twenty-five years ago, Levi Megan, was present, and took a leading part in the festivities.

The evening passed all too quickly in dancing and games, political arguments and discussions of the game laws. The small hours were growing larger when the assembly broke up with every man keenly regretting that he did not know how to sing, For He's a Jolly Good Fellow, and firmly resolved to learn it for the next similar festive occasion.

As the flood of carriages rolled away in the moonlight all pronounced it one of the happiest nights of their lives. Some of the guests drove a distance of fifteen miles to be present.

STARVING FOR DAYS IN WILD PEAKS OF ALPS

Tourist and Guides Attempt Route Beset With Dangers This Time of Year.

GENEVA, Oct. 9—M. Thery, a native of Lille, and a moderate climber, set out from Grindelwald on Monday, with two guides, to climb the Wetterhorn by a route never attempted by the best climbers at the present time of year. He was expected back on Tuesday night.

No sign of the party was seen all through Wednesday, and they were almost given up for dead. On Thursday, however, watchers through telescopes from Grindelwald saw three men hacking steps in the ice of the Huhnergutz glacier, one man working while the other two rested. Their progress was slow, and one of them was seen to be apparently exhausted. They were descending by a route never before attempted.

Ultimately, the rescue party, which started on Friday, met M. Thery and his guides at the Gleckstein hut, and all reached Grindenwald yesterday morning. The guides state that M. Thery collapsed from cold and fatigue during the descent. They carried him to the shelter of some rocks, where they spent two awful nights, starving in the cold and keeping M. Thery alive with difficulty. Then they decided that they must reach the hut or die of hunger, and with tremendous efforts brought him to safety.

The escape of all three is nothing short of a miracle. M. Thery, though still unwell, is out of danger, and the guides seem little the worse for their adventure.

WOMEN GARROTERS MAKE NIGHTLY RAID

Masquerading as Men, They Assail and Rob Their Victims on Street.

PARIS, Oct. 9.—Two women have been arrested who masqueraded as men, and made a trade of garroting and robbing people in the streets of Paris.

A policeman came in on them in the early hours yesterday morning while they were in the act of garroting a man in the Avenue de la Grand Armee. The two viragoes left their victim and turned fiercely on the policeman, one of them burying her teeth in his neck.

Fortunately reinforcements arrived, and the women desperadoes were taken to the station. They were found to be plentifully tatooed with hearts pierced by Cupid's arrows, and were both armed with revolvers and knives.

They confess that they sent some of the proceeds of their robberies to men friends serving in the penal settlements of Guiana.

SHOT WIFE DEAD AS SHE DANCED AT BALL

Insane Jealousy of an Elderly Man Culminates in a Terrible Tragedy.

VIENNA, Oct. 9.—Andreas Gruher, a farmer of Nadah, in Hungary, yesterday shot his young and newly married wife at a ball.

He is an elderly man, and unable to dance himself, and he had watched her enjoying herself with increasing jealousy. When at length he saw her give one of her partners a kiss, he drew a revolver and fired two shots at the pair.

Both struck his wife, who fell dead on the spot, one bullet having pierced her brain and the other her heart.
