Patrick O'Brien and 23 other St. John men are home from Labrador having been employed by the employment of the mill at Gillisport burning down. There were forty-five men employed in the mill with the prospect of work at good wages until next spring. When the names laid the mill in ashes there was no work for them and the Grand River Lumbering Company gave them their discharge. They had to pay their own passage home, and after some three weeks of travel reached St. John with some experience, but not fat pocket books.

DECLARES PEACE TO PREVENT U. S. INTERVENTION

adjustment of the difficulties will be fixed and ready for Mr. Tatt's approval. He had not thought of not securing the approval of the United States to the settlement of the difficulties since he realized this was necessary to Cuba's permanent peace and prosperity.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The Times today says: According to a story which is told in financial circles here, the real cause of the action of President Roosevelt in regard to Cuba was not the appeals of some American sugar planters near Cienfuegos, but a complaint made through the British embassy at Washington regarding the damage done to the property of the Western Railroad, which is owned by British capitalists and the heads of which are in London.

In an interview with a Times reporter, a prominent financier who arrived from Cuba yesterday said: "The management of the Western Railroad at Havana cabled to the London office stating that culverts had been blown up, water reservoirs destroyed, and the traffic of the line totally paralyzed by the insurgents, and that further damage might be expected if the United States did not take some action in the matter."

"The Western road runs from Havana to Rihon, San Cristobal, Pinar del Rio City, San Luis, and San Juan, a distance of 125 miles, through the district now in revolt against the government. The company was supported in its appeal for protection to the foreign office in London by the directors of the Cuban Central Railway, also a British concern, which had offices in London. This line runs from Concha to Santa Clara and Cienfuegos.

The town of San Domingo, which was attacked on Saturday by the insurgents in the Cuban central railway. The British foreign office communicated with its embassy at Washington, instructing it to inquire what action President Roosevelt was going to take in Cuba to protect the property of foreigners from destruction. The president, for political and other reasons did not wish to intervene in Cuba, but he was forced to take notice of the reasonable requests made by the British embassy.

"President Palma said officially that no damage had been done to property owned by Americans, which was perfectly true. British property was suffered, however, to the extent of some thousands of dollars. The insurgents knew that the best plan to get the intervention of the United States was to destroy the property of foreigners other than Americans, as they knew that the respective governments would protect."

A Pittsfield, Mass., despatch to the Times says that Cecil Higgins, attaché of the British embassy last night expressed his belief that Ambassador Durand had not requested the president to intervene in Cuba because of damage to British property. Protests, he added, had been received by the embassy from English interests in Cuba, and cable advices were expected from the foreign office in London. The am-

There are many ladies and gentlemen who find it impossible to spare the time during the day to learn roller skating. To those who would advise them to go on Monday, Wednesday or Friday nights to the Andrews' Rollaway, the crowds are not so great on these nights as on band nights, and beginners have a better chance to learn. Thoroughly competent instructors are ready to learn all beginners.—Adv.
