ON account of the Wringer Manufacturing Co's not being able to form a new combination to keep up the prices (the old combination having expired Jan. 1, 1882), there has been a very keen competition since, and the result is that we can sell Wringers at less than it formerly cost to import them. Now is the time to buy, as a combination may be formed again at any time and prices advanced. Wiggins has gained notoriety if nothing else. A London telegram says :—

"London, April 3.—Mr. Lowell, at the Lord Mayor's banquet, said he had read sensational statements in the newspapers purporting to give the instructions he had received from his Government, and words he spoke on diplomatic questions. These prophecies were like those of Mr. Wiggins. He should in spite of them continue to believe that the good relations between Great Britain and the United States will be enduring. Nothing he could do would tend to lessen their friendly character."

This was unjust to Mr. Wiggins's superior, Sir S. L. Tilley, who has made a thousand times as many prophecies and predictions in his time, and whose prophecies have been as invariably proved false, but Mr. Lowell, perhaps, has not heard of Sir Samuel, and the name of Wiggins has, of late, been in the mouths of all men.

What the Government are prepared to prove against the persons arrested in London on a charge of conspiring to blow up public buildings, etc., was stated as follows by the lawyer who represented the Crown at the preliminary examination in one of the London police courts :

Mr. Poland, opening the case for the prosecution, declared there was no doubt in view of the evidence obtained by the authorities that a conspiracy was in existence in America, the purpose of which was the destruction of public buildings in this country. That the factor invoked by the conspirators to that end was dynamite. That some of the men now on trial in this court had come from the United States for the purpose of putting their diabolical schemes into operation that they had been furnished with means and men to establish a recently discovered dynamite manufactory at Birmingham. That Gallagher, Wilson and Norman had visited the manufacturer, Whitehead, at his place in Birmingham, for the purpose of sending to London a supply of his explosives. In this connexion, he remarked that Norman, on March 22, went to Euston Square to live, taking a room there; he remained in these quarters for fourteen days. On April 2nd he went to Birmingham, saying he was going to get his luggage; he did not return when he said he would. However, his plan was without doubt changed while he was there, and it was decided he should take a package of nitro-glycerine to the Southampton street hotel where Gallagher had hired a room for Norman. The latter telegraphed Gallagher on April 6th that he would return to his quarters in Euston Square. He did come back and when he reached Euston Square was met by a man who took the box brought by Norman and containing some bags of nitro-glycerine and left them at the place at Southampton street. where the police subsequently made the arrests. Mr. Poland said he proposed to show that Norman and Wilson had repeatedly communicated with Gallagher, who was known as Fletcher. Wilson visited Gallagher, saying to the latter that his tutor had telegraphed him on April 3rd: "I am sorry I cannot see you. I must call on Alfred (supposed to mean Whitehead). Will see you to-morrow." It was known that Wilson went to Birmingham with an empty portmanteau and returned with nitro-glycerine in it. Norman's statement in regard to his having been engaged by a gentleman from the United States as clerk was a tissue of falsehood. To show that Gallagher was really a dispenser of the funds of the society, Mr. Poland pointed out that the fact that he had in his possession when arrested £115 in English notes, stamped by a New York firm in the same way in which notes taken from Norman's person were stamped. It was clear, therefore, he was one of the principal conspirators and not an innocent clerk or even dupe. Gallagher himself brought sinews of war from the United States. Gallagher himself communicated with all the subordinate conspirators. Gallagher sent a telegram to Whitehead on March 27th, promising to see him soon. Curtin on his arrival in London had reported himself by letter to Gallagher, not being advised that the latter was arrested. When the officers captured and placed him under arrest, a certain diary was found in his possession in which were recorded the places that he had visited since his arrival in England. This list included Glasgow, Blackburn and Liverpool. It would appear in the course of the evidence adduced in this trial that Curtin also was one of the chief persons in the the conspiracy. Papers were found in Gallagher's luggage, when he was arrested, which referred to Ausburghe, whom Gallagher is known to have visited. O'Connor went to the United States about 9 years ago, and the letters showed he had established relations with O.Donovan Rossa, McClure and Devoy. He returned to this country a short time since under the name of Dalton. Certain of his actions since his arrival had led to the suspicions that he was not a person to be trusted at large, and he was put under surveillance. On April 3rd he was observed to be taking observations of the House of Parliament.

BOSTON, April 9.—In the Tewkesbury Almshouse investigation to-day, Mrs. Dudley, formerly a night watchwoman, testified to seeing the bodies of a woman and a child in a trunk ; often found children in the foundling hospital neglected ; saw a bottle of morphine used to quiet infants ; reported it to Capt. March, the manager, who attended to it ; ten days after the infant was giving in charge of an insane inmate who smothered it with a pillow. Capt. March told the witness to keep the matter quiet. While witness was night watchwoman seventy-three babies died and one lived. Sometimes when children were hungry in the night witness carried in food. Mrs. March found that out and stopped it. In the foundling department witness found many beds in an outrageous condition. There was an insane woman in a cell without a bed, attended by an idiot girl. They gave the woman only one meal a day ; the idiot girl threw this away. The woman was taken out and soon became well. Another woman in a cell said she had nothing but water for nine days. Some of the patients had no underclothing and some no stockings. Mrs. Danes testified that she was employed in the Tewkesbury Hospital at night. The body of Lizzie Cannon was warm when it was put in a coffin ; saw the body of Kate Furney after it was laid out covered with rats. Witness reported the fact to the Doctor. Capt. Marsh said witness had better keep still. Saw a sick child where the maggots had eaten under and around the skull. Many times the rats were so thick that they ran across the witness' lap when she was eating. William Driscoll, station agent at Tewkesbury, saw at the almshouse a pauper woman in the cellar tied to a settee. The inquiry was adjourned.

Mr. McGahey still writes to the Public Ledger in reference to the employment of children in the American factories. Mr. McGahey declares himself sick of the hypocritical cries in reference to the pauper labor of Europe. He points out that, while children in England, between 10 and 13 years, are only allowed to work 28 hours a week, children of the same age in Pennsylvania work 70 hours a week. While in England children employed in the factories are educated, in Pennsylvania they are left to the tender mercies of their employers. In some of the establishments children are working who are too young to go to school. He mentions a fact which came under his own observation—that some recently arrived English lads engaged in those factories were able to read and write, while the American lads, who were in the same establishment could not do so. Some children, he mentions, employed in the mills, who reside at a long distance from them, do not get their suppers until 8 o'clock at night. Mr. McGahey says :

"I stand by every word I wrote to the Ledger, with the exception of the statement about some of the children being nine years of age, and how I come to say that was because I compared them with a child of my own, who is not nine years of age, and some of these mill children were much smaller and I naturally inferred that they were, therefore, younger than my own child. But as to everything else, the excessive hours and the violation of law I still hold to, and now that this controversy has started I mean to push it so as to arouse public attention. The fact is that I am just a little tired of hearing this talk about the pauper labor of Europe when we ourselves are greater offenders in respect to children than the English. I am an American, was born in Philadelphia, and have worked in the mills of Delaware county since I was ten years and a half old, and as a good American I want to see our little children have a chance. We had better be careful. England is turning out the best operatives in the world, and the reason is that their law allows the children opportunity for education and instruction in the technical schools, and their operatives thus combine practical and theoretical knowledge. The younger race of Englishmen now coming to this country are exceptionally well equipped, and they command excellent wages. In Griswold's mills those young Yorkshire bosses make from $25 to $30 a week, and they deserve it, too, for they understand their business thoroughly. How can we Americans compete, with such people, if our children are deprived of the same opportunities for advancement."

A disgraceful scene has been witnessed in England at the Church of Holy Trinity, Bordesley. Some days ago the Bishop of the Diocese served Mr. Enright with a formal inhibition from officiating at Holy Trinity, and the living was offered to and accepted by the Rev. Allan Watts, of Sunderland. On Sunday morning the new vicar underwent the introductory process of reading himself in. There was a great crowd in the churchyard, and the adjacent streets were filled with a noisy mob, while the church was crowded. Immediately the vicar made his appearance in the vestry he was served with a protest by one of the riutalist churchwardens, objecting to his presence on the ground that he was disposed to degrade the services and upset the regular machinery of the parish. On entering the church he was greeted with a storm of hisses and loud cries of "Traitor." The members of the old choir took up a position at the end of the church and were loudest in the uproarious manifestations. When the vicar ascended the pulpit he was pale and agitated, and amid the Babel of sound his voice was scarcely audible. He began by saying that he hoped those members of his congregation who had attended the opening service with the object of creating a disturbance would become quiet and peaceable worshippers. Derisive laughter and unseemly shouts proceeded from various parts of the building, and the supporters of the vicar were so enraged that a collision between the two parties seemed imminent.

The Chief of Police, who was present with a force of men, pushed his way among the rival sections and entreated them to observe something like decency in a place of worship. As the vicar proceeded his voice was drowned by fits of coughing and other concerted interruptions, while some of the more systematic disturbers evoked bursts of laughter by shouting out a familiar piece of "gag" from a local pantomine, which was followed by counter cries of "Shut up!" and "Go to——!" On finishing his formal task of reading himself in the vicar abruptly left the pulpit and the proceedings were brought to a termination. The mob then rushed outside to join their companions in the churchyard, with the apparent object of mobbing the vicar. The police formed a compact phalanx to escort the clergyman to a place of safety. The vicar placed himself in the middle of his body guard amid a tumult of groans and shouts. Some of his supporters cheered him and pressed forward to assist the police in clearing the passage. The mob followed the vicar and his body guard, howling and pushing them about till the gentleman reached his residence. Here another demonstration was made, and it was deemed necessary to leave a number of policemen outside the house to protect it from damage.

The proceedings at the evening service were even of a more disgraceful character than in the morning. The force of police was doubled, but nevertheless several free fights took place. Catcalls were indulged in from the commencement, and the vicar on appearing in the pulpit was greeted with a storm of howls. Several of the ringleaders were turned out, and to prevent a rush of roughs the church doors had to be closed. The vicar's sermon, which was couched in very conciliatory language, was frequently interrupted with most offensive remarks, such as, "Shut up, traitor!" "Go back to Sunderland," When is the harlequinade coming on?" and "When is the farce coming on?" Extra precautions have been taken to get the vicar safely away. Forty or fifty policemen were formed in line to afford a clear passage; but by an irresistible rush the reverend gentleman was carried away down the churchyard amid an indescribable scene of excitement.

Statistics show that the growth of the Roman Catholic church in English-speaking countries is constantly on the increase. The number of Catholics in the British empire and the United States is 16,600,000 souls, with 195 bishops, 15,000 priests and 13,300 churches. In Great Britain, exclusive of Ireland, the Roman Catholic statistics for the years 1840 and 1880 compare as follows : Churches, 522 in 1840 to 1,461 in 1880; colleges and schools, 40 to 514 ; clergy, 614 to 2,382 ; laity, 539,500 to 1,384,000. At present the Roman Catholic population of Great Britain have one church or convent for every 45 square miles, as compared with 164 square miles in 1840.

LONDON, April 11—The Elective Council's (Ireland) Bill, embodying Mr. Healy's scheme for self-government in Ireland, was rejected by the House of Commons this afternoon—58 against 231. Trevelyan, Chief Secretary for Ireland, having shown a spirit of opposition to the bill, Parnell, who was present only for a brief time, accused him of showing a readiness to speak to order and to turn his back upon his former principles. He (Trevelyan) and many of his colleagues had supported a similar bill brought in by Dr. Isaac Butt when the Tories were in power. He (Parnell) sincerely hoped this question, which had already provoked such extended controversy, would now be left to the Reformed Parliament and to a very different Ministry.

PATENTS
obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office, we are able to attend to Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our 'Guide for obtaining Patents,' which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims, to the officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE CONQUERED.
Enterprise, April, 13.
Gentlemen,—Five years ago I fell with a bag of grain, which caused weakness in my back, and also brought on an attack of Bright's disease, which caused me to loose considerable in weight. After wearing your Pad for six weeks, I gained 13 lbs., all pain and weakness has left me. I would have been yet in the doctor's hands, had it not been for my using your Kidney Pad.
W. FENWICK, Miller.
THE ONLY PERMANENT CURE.
Tamworth, April 13.
Gentlemen,—I was troubled with painful back and could not retain my urinal secretion, from painful inflammation of the bladder. I have been treated by a dozen physicians to no purpose, but have worn your Special Pad six weeks. The pain, swelling and inflammation is gone, and I am well. Your Pad is the only cure for kidney diseases.

THE FREEMAN
—FOR—1883.

IN appealing once more to the friends of the FREEMAN throughout the Province to repeat the efforts so often made to maintain and increase its circulation, it is, perhaps, best to ask them to find in its past record the most conclusive evidence that it will in the future be deserving of their support.

It publishes all news of importance or interest, and, although for want of space the news is sometimes condensed, nothing is omitted that appears to be of the smallest value.

All public questions are, as usual, dealt with fully and frankly. The readers of the FREEMAN have ample opportunity of forming a correct opinion on all the subjects and matters which engage the attention of Parliament and of the country. Great care is taken to furnish accurate information and to present both sides of every important question fully and fairly.

It is probable that important changes in Canada are not very distant. It seems impossible that when the United States have discovered how unjust and injurious a high protective fiscal system is, and when the people of Canada have learned, by sad experience, how great a fraud its N. P. is, favoring and securing profit to a few monopolists only, and burdening grievously farmers, lumberers, fishermen, and mechanics, a state of things so fraught can continue very long. Already there are too many indications of another commercial crisis. The people of the North West have already discovered how injurious to them is the monopoly of their carrying trade, given for twenty years to the Canada Pacific Railway Syndicate, and, although they are yet but few in number, they show a determination to get rid, at all hazards, of the chains which already gall them; and in the ranks of the Tory party itself throughout the Dominion, altho' these are held together by the cohesive power of public plunder, there are symptoms of weakness and disintegration. Toryism is an exotic in Canada, and can not be acclimatised. Nurtured in corruption, it did grow vigorous, and its roots spread far and wide, but even now it shows signs of a decay which can not be arrested. He must be blind, indeed, to the signs of the times who supposes that this Tory Government, because it has secured so large a Parliamentary majority by means so disgraceful, is fastened on the country for five years more.

Much attention is devoted to foreign news and a weekly review of what goes on in the civilized world.

The agitation for an amendment of the Land Laws, and for the restoration of Home Rule, will continue in Ireland, What is done and said by the leaders of that agitation, is systematically misrepresented or misconstrued, and the Irish people are persistently misrepresented and calumniated, the crimes committed in the country exaggerated in number and character, and the whole people made responsible for the crimes of a few, as far as telegrams and newspaper articles can make them responsible. The FREEMAN constantly labors to correct all such misrepresentations, and to place the policy of the leaders, and the conduct of leaders and people in a proper light. To enable it to do this important work effectively, it claims the renewed and earnest support of those who have supported it so long.
