

"In the course of a generation would need to be so many revolutions that they could be represented only by the mutations of the microscope, and furnish a sum in population beyond the powers of humankind. Yet all these actual possibilities the Divine being grasp in his own mind at once; yet this is only one world out of worlds that God controls in this way, and only one plan out of plans which he is directing with same precision. What new sign attaches itself to the saying 'understanding is infinite.'"—Baptist.
