to the meaning and end of the mighty movement, as Mr. Taylor is the only one who has had personal intercourse with the insurgent army, we are disposed to give great respect to his opinions, and entire credit to his facts.

Mr. Taylor tells us that while at Shanghai, he determined to make an excursion up the river to the camp of the insurgents, to penetrate into the midst there, have a personal interview with their leader, learn, if possible, his real designs, and the yearning which he was impelled. He succeeded, after many exposures, in reaching the city of Ching-kiang-foo, where was then their head quarters. He threw himself once upon the mercy of the insurgents, who demanded

MAILS.—We regret to learn that a change has taken place in the conveyance of the Mails from St. John to Digby, and Annapolis, and that correspondence for the Western part of Nova Scotia will now be forwarded by Amherst. Mails across the Bay will only be occasionally as opportunity offers, and will of course render the receiving of our Mails in N. S., less regular, but we hope it will not be of long continuance.

A change in the Mails up the St. John River will make a difference in the receipt of our paper at several places. Instead of leaving here at 5 o'clock on Friday, they will not by the new arrangement leave until Saturday.
