

Poetry.

For the Religious Intelligencer.

To a Tear.

Flowing, transient, lovely tear, Scarce can I stay thee while I write, Thou dost the soul's affections bear Within thy pearly current bright.

Oh the eyelids then dost seek, To ease an overflowing heart, But lest the world should deem it weak, Thou'rt stifled there by cruel art.

Tw'rong thus to debar the heart, The sudden pleasure of a tear, 'Twill calm the bosom—beal the smart Of sorrow deep corroding there.

Quickly dried from childhood's cheek, Smiles thy companions oft are— And, O, how innocent and meek, The smiles that youthful frowns wear.

Dost ever thou dim beauty's eye? 'Tis but to make it fairer still: The witcheries that in it lie, Are heightened by thy magic skill.

Emblem of innocence, thou art, Possess'd of charms to win my heart: More beauty I behold in thee, Than richest gem of land or sea.

THE PERVERT.

(Founded on Fact.)

"I saw her first in beauty's pride, As from my gaze she turned aside, I marked her brightly-beaming eye, As in the dance she glided by."

"Again I saw her beautiful face, But gone was all its cheerful grace; And there was a row in her eye, And morbid sadness in her sigh."

"She said she saw sweetly thus before, For a sister's sake veil she wore; And in a convent's dreary cell Had bid the world and hope farewell."

"And once again I met her gaze; There was a smile of former days, No sadder convent veil was there To mock the Maids' vacant stare."

"And on that morn'g I heard her call, Who loved her from her father's hall, And that bright happy English home, Before her thoughts had strayed to Rome."

Miscellaneous.

Nunna the captive Maid.

About fifteen hundred years ago, a fierce tribe of people dwelt in Georgia, in Asia. They were wild and ignorant, knowing nothing of the true God or the way to heaven.

It happened one day that a little child was very ill, and its poor parents carried it about from house to house, hoping to find some one able to make it well again.

A "STRANGE" PREACHER.—His name was Strange. Many will think his conduct was strange also. He was a zealous preacher and a sweet singer.

Not long after this, the queen was taken ill, and she sent a messenger to Nunna, asking her to come and see her; but she refused to go, being much distressed at finding that people gave to her the praise which belonged to God.

Some eighty years ago a very zealous professor of religion, in one of the seats of England, went to Dr. Gill, and told him she had something against him, and she considered it her duty to remove him.

for me, my heart, my life, and all that I have, shall be thine." This was his prayer, the best he could offer while he knew so little about God.

Without much ceremony she folded and cut off quite a large piece of the bands.

AYER'S PILLS.

OPERATE by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action. They remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, by restoring their irregular action to health, correct, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first causes of disease.

FOR CONSTIVENESS.—Take one or two Pills, immediately, as to gently move the bowels. Constiveness is frequently the accompanying cause of Biliousness, and the cure of one complaint is the cure of both. No person can feel well while under a costive habit of body. Hence it should be, as it can be, promptly relieved.

FOR NERVOUSNESS, SICK HEADACHE, NAUSEA, PAIN in the Stomach, Back, or Side, take from four to eight pills on going to bed. If they do not operate sufficiently, take more the next day until they do.

FOR SCURF, ERYTHELMA, and all Diseases of the Skin, take the Pills freely and frequently, to keep the bowels open. The eruptions will generally begin to diminish and disappear. Many dreadful ulcers and sores have been healed by the purging effect of these Pills, and some disgusting diseases which seemed to saturate the whole system have completely yielded to their influence, leaving the sufferer in perfect health.

FOR BRUISES, SWELLINGS, and all Inflammatory Fevers are rapidly cured by the purging effects of these Pills upon the blood and the stimulus which they afford to the vital principle of Life. For these and all kindred complaints they should be taken in mild doses, to move the bowels gently, but freely.

As a DINNER PILL, this is both agreeable and useful. No Pill can be made more pleasant to take, and certainly none so efficacious as this for the purpose for which a dinner pill is employed.
