The Stranger and his Friend.
A poor wayfaring man of grief, Who often crossed me on my way...

to you, may I ask why you have sent for me, it may be that you have heard me preach at Pursea?

evering, and cultivate the merely imaginative arts.
He would raise his last solemn warning in this land. Beware of the insidious designs of Pursey. Like the wounded tiger she can bite, and may destroy her assailant, even in her dying moments.

KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY.
The Greatest of the Age.—MR. KENNEDY'S Discovery has discovered in the eye of our country men, a remedy that cures EVERY KIND OF EYE AFFECTION, from the worst Scotch eye to a complete cure. He has tried it in over seven hundred cases and never failed except in two. He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of the value of his medicine.

Family Reading.

Secure your Sins will find you out.
Two young men, the children of pious and wealthy parents, felt themselves exceedingly depressed at being constantly refused the family carriage on the Lord's day. It was in vain they urged their confinement during the week as a sufficient reason why they should be thus indulged on the Sabbath. It was the father's settled rule, that the carriage which conducted him to rest included also his servants and cattle; he, therefore, turned a deaf ear to their entreats and remonstrances. In their distress, or in their folly, they determined to resent this refusal, by leaving their situation and going to sea. Intelligence of this step was transmitted to the Rev. John Griffin, of Pursea, and he was requested to make diligent enquiry; and, on finding them, to use every possible means to induce them to return home. After some search, he found them in a rendezvous house, and introducing himself, stated his business, and urged their return. He however urged in vain; for, bent upon the fulfilment of their design, they thought him for his advice, although determined to reject it. Among other reasons for their return, he urged the feelings of their parents, and especially those of their mother.
"Think," said the good man, "what most your mother's situation be, after years of anxious watching and fervent prayer; after looking forward to this time, when in your society and in your welfare, she hoped to meet a rich reward for all that she had suffered on your account; yet, in one moment, and by one unpardonable step, she finds you plunged into obscurity, the depths of which you cannot conceive of, and herself the subject of a wretched oldness she has not deserved at your hands." In the heart of the youngest there was a sense of gratitude, which answered to this appeal; and, bursting into tears, he expressed his sorrow,
and, bursting into tears, he expressed his sorrow,
and, bursting into tears, he expressed his sorrow.
