Poetry.

THERE'S WORK ENOUGH TO DO.

The blackbird early leaves its nest
To meet the smiling morn,
And gather fragments for its nest
From upland, wood, and lawn.
The busy bee, that wings its way
'Mid sweets of varied hue,
At every flower would seem to say—
"There's work enough to do."

The cowslip and the spreading vine,
The daisy in the grass,
The snowdrop and the eglantine,
Preach sermons as we pass.
The ant, within its cavern deep,
Would bid us labor too,
And writes upon its tiny heap—
"There's work enough to do."

The planets, at their Maker's will,
Move onward in their cars,
For Nature's wheel is never still—
Progressive as the stars!
The leaves that flutter in the air,
And summer's breezes too,
One solemn truth to man declare—
"There's work enough to do."

Who then can sleep when all around
Is active, fresh, and free?
Shall man—creation's lord—be found
Less busy than the bee?
Our courts and alleys are the field,
If men would search them through,
That best, the sweets of labor yield,
And "work enough to do!"

To have a heart for those who weep,
The sottish drunkard win;
To rescue all the children, deep
In ignorance and sin.
To help the poor, the hungry feed,
To give him coat and shoe,
To see that all can write and read—
Is "work enough to do!"

The time is short—the world is wide,
And much has to be done;
This wondrous earth, and all its pride,
Will vanish with the sun!
The moments fly on lightning's wings,
And life's uncertain too;
We've none to waste on foolish things—
"There's work enough to do!"

Miscellany.

[From the New York Evangelist.

The Young Captive and her Favorite Hymn.

In the year 1754, a dreadful war broke out in Canada, between the French and English. The Indians took part with the French, and made incursions as far as Pennsylvania, where they plundered and burned all the houses and murdered the people. The following year they reached the dwelling of a poor family from Wirtemberg, while the wife and one of her sons were gone to a mill four miles distant, to get some corn ground. The husband, the eldest son, and two little girls named Barbara and Regina, were at home. The father and his sons were instantly killed by the savages, but they carried the little girls away into captivity, with a great many other children, who were taken in the same manner. They were led a great many miles into the woods and thorny bushes, that nobody might follow them. In this condition they were brought to the habitations of the Indians, who divided among themselves all the children, whom they had taken captives.

Barbara was at this time ten years old Regina nine. It was never known what became of Barbara, but Regina, with a little girl two years old, whom she had never seen before, were given to an old widow, who treated them very cruelly. Here these children remained till Regina reached the age of nineteen, and her little companion was eleven years old. While captives, their hearts seemed to have been drawn towards what was good. Regina continually repeated the verses from the Bible, and the hymns which she had learned when at home, and she taught them to the little girl. They often used to cheer each other with one of the hymns from the hymn-book used at Halle, in Germany:—

Alone, yet not alone am I,
Though in this solitude so drear.

They constantly hoped that the Lord Jesus would sometime bring them back to their christian friends.

In 1764, the hopes of the children were realized. The merciful Providence of God brought the English Col. Bouquet to the place where they were in captivity. He conquered the Indians, and forced them to ask for peace. The first condition he made was, that they should restore all the prisoners taken. Thus the two poor girls were released. More than 400 captives were brought to Colonel Bouquet. It was an affecting sight to see so many young people wretched and distressed. The Col. and his soldiers gave them food and clothes and brought them to the town of Carlisle, and published in the Pennsylvania newspapers, that all parents who had lost their children, might come to this place—and in case of their finding them they should be restored. Poor Regina's sorrowing mother came among many other bereaved parents, to Carlisle; but alas! her child had become a stranger to her. Regina had acquired the appearance and manner as, as well as the language of the natives. The poor mother went up and down among the young persons assembled, but by no effort could she discover her daughter. She wept in bitter grief and disappointment. Col. Bouquet said, "Do you recollect nothing by which your children might be discovered?" She answered that she recollected nothing but a hymn which she used to sing to them, and which was as follows:

Alone, yet not alone am I
Though in this solitude so drear,
I feel my Saviour always nigh,
He comes the weary hours to cheer,
I am with him and he with me:
Even here alone I cannot be.

The Col. desired her to sing the hymn. Scarcely had the mother sung two lines of it when Regina rushed from the crowd, began to sing it also, and threw herself into her mother's arms. They both wept for joy and the Col. restored the daughter to her mother. But of the other little girl, it was supposed that she were all murdered; and now the child clung to Regina, and would not let her go; and Regina's mother, though very poor, took her home with her. Regina repeatedly asked after the book "in which God speaks to us." But her mother did not possess a Bible; she had lost everything when the natives burnt her house.

The Young Man who forgave his Enemy.

In Greenland when one man had killed another, the nearest relation of the murdered man might avenge his death. Once, a boy saw his own father killed before his eyes. He was then but thirteen years of age, and was considered too young to avenge himself. He was, therefore, obliged to flee, but revenge was in his heart. Fifteen years passed by. He had grown into a fine young man, and one day set out on the long journey of his return to his native place. He did not expect to reach it for a week. What was his object? to kill the man who killed his father!

When he arrived at his old home, he could find no lodging but in the house of the Missionaries; and though he would have preferred living with his countrymen, he accepted their invitation. Every one knew why he had come—and his enemy knew too. The Missionaries did not talk to him about the wickedness of the deed he was going to commit, but they were very kind to him, and invited him to family prayer. One morning he went to the Missionary and said, "I wish you would read to me some more of that Book which tells about Jesus. I wish I could read it myself." The Missionary read to him the account of the crucifixion; when he had finished, he said, "I do love Jesus—I would do anything for Jesus, how kind of him to die for me!"

Missionary—"Are you sure you would do anything for Jesus?"

Young Man—"O yes! I would do anything for Jesus: tell me what I can do."

Missionary—"This Book says, 'Thou shalt do no murder.'"

Young Man—"Oh, but that man killed my father, and drove me from a happy home."

Missionary—"Jesus says, 'If ye love me, keep my commandments.' This is one of them."

Young Man—"Oh, I do love Jesus, but—but—I must, I—"

Missionary—"Be calm, dear young man: go out and think about it, then come and tell me your decision."

He went out; when he came back, he said, "I cannot decide; one moment, I will, the next I will not; oh help me to decide." The Missionary replied, "When you will, it is your own wicked heart trying to gain the victory; and when you will not, it is the Spirit of God striving in you." The result was, he gave up the murderous intention which had been encouraged for years.

The young Greenlander sent a message to his enemy, inviting him to come and meet him as a friend; he came, but with treachery in his heart. He gave the young man an invitation to visit him on the other side of the river, and treated him with kindness; but, on returning to his boat he discovered a hole in the bottom, made by that very man. He speedily stopped it up, and on raising his eyes, saw his defeated enemy, burning with wrath, for he had gone up a high rock to see his victim drown. Preserved from destruction, the young man exclaimed, "I forgive you, for Jesus has forgiven me."

How to Believe.

Over the ocean bounded a good strong ship "Homeward bound," was the thought that made the piping winds sound sweetly to the sailor who sat, in his midnight watch, listening to them as they whistle through the shrouds.

"Homeward bound," thought the rough seaman—"home to the low cottage near the wood, and to carry joy to my old mother's heart, I go. Thank God for a mother's prayers!"

The "Look-out," as the man at the mast head is always called, had been a desperate character, but his pious mother's prayers had followed him as he rowed over sea and land; and when, in his turn, he had gone aloft, to watch all alone, and to listen to the strange, worldless whispers of the ocean winds, he had more than once fancied he heard tones, like those of that mother's voice, praying for him.

A faithful chaplain was on board, and his efforts for the good of the crew were blessed. Among others, "Look-out Jim" (so named for his far-sightedness, and because so often sent aloft,) became a convert. Whole hearted in his piety, as before he had been in his wickedness, he strove with untiring zeal to impart to all his shipmate the knowledge of the Saviour he had found.

He declared to them that he had enjoyed more peace and happiness in one week of Christian life, than all the years which he had lived, even afforded him.

"But, Jim," questioned one, "but how did you get this strange happiness? What did you do?"

"Do?" said Jim; "Why I believed."

"Well, shipmate, that's jus what I want to understand about. How did you believe?"

"How did I believe?" repeated Jim, slowly, and with a puzzled look. "Well, I don't know as I can explain it to you—I quit swearing, but it wasn't just that—I left off drinking grog, and chewing 'bacca, but it wasn't that—I believed Jesus Christ would save sinners, if they asked him to, sincerely, and the thought came into my head—'He'll save me,' and I was saved—that's all I can tell you."

And where is the deep diver into Divine Philosophy, who can tell any better way of believing in Christ than to think, while praying for mercy,

"Jesus Christ will save me,"
"Just as I am, without one plea,
Save that thy blood was shed for me,
O Lamb of God, I come."!

"Whoso cometh unto me I will in no wise cast out."

AN INFIDEL REBUKED.—An infidel boasting in a published letter that he had raised two acres of "Sunday corn," which he intended to devote to the purchase of infidel books, adds, "All the work done on it was done on Sunday, and it will yield some seventy bushels to the acre; so that I don't see but that Nature, or Providence, has smiled upon my Sunday work, however the priests or the Bible may say that work done on that day never prospers. My corn tells another story." To this the editor of an agricultural paper replies, "If the author of this shallow nonsense had read the Bible half as much as he has the works of its opponents, he would have known that the great Ruler of the Universe does not always square up his accounts with mankind in the month of October."

PERRY DAVIS'S
VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER
The Most Popular Medicine in the World.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

We take pleasure in referring to the virtue of Davis's Pain Killer. We have used the article, and found it valuable. The sale of this article in the United States is beyond all precedent, as the books of the office will show.—Cincinnati Commercial.

Davis's Vegetable Pain Killer. We first heard of this medicine during a visit to the New England States, and being struck with the novelty of the title, were induced to make some inquiry about it: and we were surprised to learn that it was kept constantly in the houses of most of the inhabitants of the cities and villages where we stopped, to be used in cases of sudden attacks of pain, burns, scalds, &c. and we heard it spoken of in terms of high commendation, both by druggists and physicians.—Philadelphia Eagle.

Perry Davis's Pain Killer.—It is a real pleasure to us to speak favorably of this article, known almost universally to be a good and safe remedy for burns and other pains of the body. It is valuable not only for colds in the winter, but for various summer complaints, and should be in every family. The casuality which demands it may come unawares.—Citizen Advocate

Valuable Medicine.—The sale of that remarkable and truly valuable preparation, Perry Davis's Pain Killer, is constantly and rapidly increasing. During the past year the demand for this great remedy has been altogether unprecedented. Scarcely a week passes by during which we do not hear of some remarkable cure having been performed, within the circle of our acquaintance, by the use of Perry Davis's Pain Killer.—Prov Gen. Advertiser.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM INDIA.

Messrs Perry, Davis & Son,—I am happy to be able to add that your medicine is getting more and more into note, and consequently the demand for it is increasing. The sales at my various sub-Agencies are very satisfactory, especially in Mahmain and Dinapore; in fact, wherever European Regiments are located the sales are extensive. A party in Agra who sent for a supply for his personal use and that of his friends, says the demand for it is great, and recommends the appointment of an Agency there.

Mr. Toone, of Barrackpore, writes under date of 20th October: "This will certify that my son, 13 years of age, was taken suddenly ill in the night, with a severe pain in the stomach, followed by Cholera. He found no relief until I gave him a teaspoonful of the Pain Killer, diluted with warm water; but after the expiration of a few moments, he brought it up, when I repeated the dose, which partially relieved him. I followed it with a third dose, when he fell asleep, and on waking next morning he was quite fresh. I consider it a most valuable medicine to be always at hand."

I remain, sirs, &c.
J. L. CARRAU, Calcutta.

We are glad to learn that Perry Davis's Pain Killer is having so large a sale in our city. We have every reason to believe it to be an almost never failing cure for pain, and as such is a medicine no family should be without.—Montreal Pilot.

Four to six bottles are warranted to cure corrupt and running ulcers.

One bottle will cure scaly eruption of the skin.

Two to three bottles warranted to cure the worst case of ringworm.

Two to three bottles are warranted to cure the most desperate case of rheumatism.

Three to four bottles are warranted to cure the salt rheum.

Five to eight bottles will cure the worst case of scrofula

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle and a perfect cure is warranted when the above quantity is taken.

Reader, I peddled over a thousand bottles of this in the vicinity of Boston. I know the effect of it in every case. So sure as water will extinguish fire, so sure will this cure humor. I never sold a bottle of it but that sold another; after a trial it always speaks for itself. There are two things about this herb that appears to me surprising: first, that it grows in our pastures, in some places quite plentiful, and yet its value has never been known until I discovered it in 1846—second, that it should cure all kinds of humor.

In order to give some idea of the sudden rise and great popularity of the discovery, I will state that in April, 1853, I peddled it, and sold about six bottles per day: in April, 1854, I sold over one thousand bottles per day of it.

Some of the wholesale Druggists who have been in business twenty and thirty years, say that nothing in the annals of patent medicines was ever like it. There is a universal praise of it from all quarters.

In my own practice I always kept it strictly for humors—but since its introduction as a general family medicine, great and wonderful virtues have been found in it that I never suspected.

Several cases of epileptic fits—a disease which was always considered incurable, have been cured by a few bottles. O, what a mercy if it will prove effectual in all cases of that awful malady—there are but few who have seen more of it than I have.

I know of several cases of Dropsy, all of them aged people, cured by it. For the various diseases of the Liver, Sick Headache, Dyspepsia, Asthma, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side, Diseases of the Spine, and particularly in diseases of the Kidneys, &c., the discovery has done more good than any medicine ever known.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can, and enough of it.

DIRECTIONS FOR USE.—Adults, one table spoonful per day: Children over ten years a dessert spoonful. Children from five to eight years, a tea spoonful. As no directions can be applicable to all constitutions, take sufficient to operate on the bowels twice a day.

THE ANGLO SAXON MEDICINE is the only sure remedy in the cure of Dyspepsia, in its worst stages, Indigestion, Bilious and Liver Complaints. Consumption has been cured by this celebrated medicine, and advice.—Ample testimony on hand, cannot fail to convince the most scrupulous of the value and efficiency of the Anglo Saxon Medicine. The Albion Liniment has no competitor in all diseases where external application is required—no matter what the disease is—it has not as yet failed. A single trial will convince the most sceptical of its value. Please read the following respectable testimony:—

To DR. BENJAMIN LEARY,

DEAR SIR,—I strained my Chest on a raft which I was running from Woodstock to Fredericton, and when I arrived at the latter place I was wholly unable to do any manner of labour: and was under serious apprehension of not being able to do anything for a long period of time. But being persuaded to try a bottle of your Albion Liniment, I procured one from Smith and Atherton, and did not apply more than one half of it on my chest before I was completely cured. The cure was to quick, and the relief so sensible, that I can recommend it to all who may be in the same condition that I was. Your most obedient servant,
Fredericton, June 8, 18 9 D. A. BOYT.

☞ The above Medicine can be had at Dr LEARY'S Office, 77, Princess Street, St. John.

DR. BENJAMIN LEARY, SIR.—This is to certify that I have been afflicted with Rheumatism, in different parts of my body, for two months. After trying different remedies, could find no relief; but after trying one bottle of your Albion Liniment, I am perfectly cured, and am able to attend to my business; and I can recommend it to those afflicted with Rheumatic pains in their various forms. I remain, Dear Sir,
Yours most Respectfully,
CAPTAIN WILLIAM H. GILLIATT.
