

Religious Intelligencer.

Arrival of the America!

ONE WEEK LATER.

BY TELEGRAPH TO NEWSROOM.

The French steamer America which left Liverpool about half-past 8 on the morning of Saturday, the 8th of January, arrived at Halifax at 7 p.m. on Wednesday evening.

The English sailors who had been captured by the Russians, and were sent to the America, have been released, but the America is still bound up in the harbor, and is not yet ready to leave.

There was no news of the America when it left Liverpool, but it is now known that it has reached the Grand Council of War, now in session at St. Petersburg.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

There is also no news of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The America has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea, in the following sense:

"The America will endeavor to close the straits, so that the Black Sea, excepting the port of Odessa, will be immediately accessible to the Austro-Hungarian fleet, and to the British, French, and Spanish navies, and to the neutral powers, without any hindrance or obstruction.

The publication of the America Circular is prohibited in Russia, lest it should cause religious discontent.

The America has also issued a decree, confirming the present right to possess landed property in Poland. Personal servitude is abolished by an annual payment. Three years is allowed for the execution of the decree.

From CONSTANTINOPLE.—Letters from Constantinople say that the majority of Ottoman Pasha has been much diminished by reason of the fatigues of his present expedition.

This interpretation the Allies consider to be inaccurate.

The Russian paper, Le Nôtre, publishes an analysis of Napoleon's circular. The circular says that the decree expressed by the Emperor of the French in a certain language, is in favor of a peace and durable peace, was, at the time, still in the deepest wish of the Emperor Alexander. Referring to the Vienna Conference, the circular casts upon the Allies the blame of rendering them absent. So long as no measures are taken to substitute a form of justice and communion, the America was obliged to remain silent, but as soon as he heard that his enemies were disposed to take up arms the negotiations of peace on the basis of the Pace Pausa, he did not hesitate to come forward finally to meet those propositions and to seek a possible solution for the third point.

The Russian propositions are already known. The circular concludes by saying that Russia cannot and will not await the decisions of her enemies. While Austria and the Western Powers agreed on conditions to be sent to St. Petersburg, they did not communicate to other Powers until these terms were well known. They should have rendered their decision.

Society was lost; Count Estremy reached St. Petersburg on the 21st, and next day had the proposition before the Empress' cabinet. On the 24th Count Baud communicated to Prince Gorchakov at Vienna, the terms on which the Western Powers would assent to peace, and stated that those terms were approved by Austria. The terms are thus already published.

Russia has made known in Novorossiisk's name that she will absolutely refuse to assent to the remission of the "cession of so much territory as is necessary to keep open the Dnieper." By the phrase "cession of so much territory" it is necessary to refer to all the provinces of the Empire which lie between the Dnieper and the Black Sea, and not to the Dnieper itself.

Russia has made known in Novorossiisk's name that she will absolutely refuse to assent to the remission of the "cession of so much territory as is necessary to keep open the Dnieper."

The America, accompanied by Prince Napoleon, who is in Paris to battle, and pronounced the following sentence:

"SOLDIERS—I come to meet you as formerly. The Russian Senate went to the gates of Rome to meet its victorious legions. I come to tell you that you have deserved well of your country. Society was lost; Count Estremy reached St. Petersburg on the 21st, and next day had the proposition before the Empress' cabinet. On the 24th Count Baud communicated to Prince Gorchakov at Vienna, the terms on which the Western Powers would assent to peace, and stated that those terms were approved by Austria. The terms are thus already published.

Russia has made known in Novorossiisk's name that she will absolutely refuse to assent to the remission of the "cession of so much territory as is necessary to keep open the Dnieper."

By the phrase "cession of so much territory" it is necessary to refer to all the provinces of the Empire which lie between the Dnieper and the Black Sea, and not to the Dnieper itself.

Three weeks from the day of delivering is the time allowed for consideration. Notwithstanding all the appearances, it is strongly suspected that Austria will not take the field against Russia, in the spring, unless previously assured of the active support of the Germanic Bund.

The Wafer Gazette states that an additional attack concerning the three points has been added to the treaty of December 2, between Austria, France, and England. It does not, however, appear on Austria, the obligation of making war in the event of the refusal of Russia to accept the third point, as interpreted by Austria and the Allies.

PRISON.—The Court is not pleased with Baron Stein's mission to St. Petersburg, and Col. Masselot is sent to Dresden to demand positively to what extent Austria and Russia have engaged themselves with the Western Allies. He would leave Berlin, Dec. 30th, proceeding to Vienna to deliver a reply to the letter in which Austria offered a modus of the new measures taken at St. Petersburg.

The German Frankfort Journal learns that Baron Stein's mission to St. Petersburg is the result of an arrangement between the Courts of Munich and St. Petersburg.

Sweden.—From Sweden the accounts are very various. Military commanders have received instructions, namely "proviso," to refuse leave of absence, and to have their regiments at work in the highest state of efficiency before spring.

Military and naval manifolds are at work incessantly, and the indications, are, that, in accordance with the second article of the treaty, Sweden will speedily make the field with the Allies in the Spring.

An expedition up the Persian gulf stalked off to compel Persia to yield.

The order prohibiting the export of salt potash from India, except to England, is locally explained.

Chinese politics, to November 15th are unchanged.

The British ship Jacobite, from Shanghai to London, sank the American ship, A. Clermont, during a gale.

Massilia dates to the 9th November, report the following dreadful occurrence: The ship "Wanderer" with Chinese laborers on board, put into Massilia to load her cotton. Some trouble arose on board, when the men shot two of them and drove the rest below. He then went to attend the Scorpio. On his return the hatches were opened, when out of four hundred and fifty men, two hundred and fifty were found dead from suffocation.

The note and crew were imprisoned by the Spanish authorities. It is reported that the American Consul had declined to take cognizance of the catastrophe.

A letter from Odessa of the 22d ult., published in the "Austrian Gazette," says, according to the latest accounts from the Caucasus, the Russian troops have been dispersed by a regiment of Guards of the Guard and by the Hungarian regiment of Hussars, formerly at Odessa. But it is therefore evident that no want of protection is experienced by Foreign Guardsmen.

A letter from Odessa of the 22d ult., published in the "Austrian Gazette," says large bodies of troops are marching from the Caucasus into Siberia. This is not, however, an intention of capturing the former place; as their places will be filled by other troops from the reserves and by militia.

DENMARK.—The Danish Government is reported to have consented to the establishment of depots or stores for English fleet at Kiel, and also to permit the fleet to rendezvous there in April.

FROM THE CECILIA.—General Gorchakov reports Dec. 30th that two sorties of the Guards defended a strong position of Gen. Vizier's Anglo-Turkish army near Kerev, and that the English commander had accepted of his terms.

It is therefore evident that no want of protection is experienced by Foreign Guardsmen.

A letter from Odessa of the 22d ult., published in the "Austrian Gazette," says large bodies of troops are marching from the Caucasus into Siberia. This is not, however, an intention of capturing the former place; as their places will be filled by other troops from the reserves and by militia.

General Gorchakov will, it is said, be present in the Court by Count Gortz-Sacken. The former will assume the command of the troops on the Danube.

The allied grand-louis which remained at Kerev have been taken in, and all the effects made to relieve them have been left behind.

It is remarkable, but not confirmed, that General Nicholls is appointed commander of the Allied armies, and Admiral Layton, commander of the Allied fleet in the East.

The Wusseca party are making calculations to know if Gorchakov is suspended in the Caucasus or not.

Nicholls afterwards sent the amount of the fine to the Court.

The Court was summoned by warrant to appear and answer, but did not attend, whereupon he was apprehended and committed for trial before the Supreme Court, charged with the rescue of a prisoner.

Latest Telegraphic Intelligence from London to Liverpool.

GENERAL COUNCIL OF WAR IN PARIS.—The Post says that, in the course of a few days the General Council of War is to be held at Paris, at which England will be represented by H. R. H. the Duke of Cambridge, Sir Richard Atting, and Sir Henry Jones, together with Admirals Sir Edmund Lyons and Dundas. The object of the Council is to collect, to interchange, and consider all possible information with respect to the war; but it will not be in the province of the Council to plan campaigns, or to decide in what manner the naval force of Russia will be used.

RUSSIA.—The Post has ordered the Commandant of the Black Sea to repair to the capital, and will pay him £1000 to repair. Was delayed there by a fog, but sailed on Wednesday, 9th, a.m.

As there was a delay in the Liverpool mail, the Austria did not arrive at the time appointed, so that the Austria did not receive any news of the America.

Contracts are advertised for immense quantities of artillery and stores, and new rifle regiments are being formed.

Enscription from the Post is offered as a service to the Post; while some restrictions imposed by the Czar Nicholas on the nobles, have been removed.

The publication of the Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for both sides to make some arrangement.

The Austria has addressed a circular note to the representatives of Russia at the chief foreign courts, dated Petersburg, Jan. 22d. In this note it is stated that Russian accepts the third point, relative to the continuation of the Black Sea.

There is nothing new of an official character with respect to the war negotiations; but there is evidently, as far as we can learn, a growing tendency for