

Religious Intelligence.

The Intelligencer.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., SEP. 18, 1857.

MARKED PAPERS.

Subscribers will please look out this week for MARKED WRAPPERS and PAPERS!

C We shall stop all papers going to parties in arrears WITHOUT ANY DISTINCTION!

C It is NOT expected that agents who interest themselves for the circulation of the "Intelligencer," and forward us the names of twelve or more subscribers, will pay for their own copy. It will be sent free. This rule also applies to the past.

C Any errors or omissions that may be found in the accounts with subscribers will be immediately rectified on representation.

C We shall have a few hundreds of extra copies struck off next week, so that parties remitting afterwards can be supplied with unbroken numbers if they wish.

DUNNING ! ! !—We have been obliged through our columns to bring before the attention of our readers the indebtedness of those in arrears. We trust that but few have felt themselves aggrieved thereby. We had no other way of calling their attention to it without much expense, as the forwarding of BILLS through the Post Office require the payment of letter post.

BILL'S!—Parties in arrears who do not forward to B. J. Underhill at an early day, the amounts that they owe this office, will have their BILLS forwarded to them with the expectation of IMMEDIATE PAYMENT!

I have set the Lord always before me.
—Psalms xi: 8.

When we read of the aspirations of noble souls yearning for the liberty of the sons of God, our hearts are moved, but we often feel that they are merely desires, and cannot be fulfilled. But when the record speaks to us of actual experiences, of hours realized, of principles and feelings which really have animated human hearts, and controlled daily life, then we are inspired with energy, and encouraged to press onward toward the glorious prize. It is good that so many examples of eminent piety are given us in the Bible. A man may remain in a close and impure room, foul with noxious odors, until he becomes unconscious of the impurity, but if he goes into the open air, and then returns, how offensive will that room be. So, were it not for the example of eminent saints in all ages, and especially the healthy influence of Scripture testimonies, we should become blind to the true degradation of ourselves and society. Prominent among these testimonies is the one above quoted. The Psalmist felt the cares of a nation's government; wicked men slandered and persecuted him, and afflictions were laid upon him, yet notwithstanding all these things he put his trust in the Lord Jehovah. But "the things which are seen are temporal;"—David's trials are ended, and the retrospect brings no sorrow to his redeemed spirit, but throughout eternity he will adore the grace that enabled him to say—"I have set the Lord always before me." In the consideration of the passage let us first specify some things that are not implied in it. The first is perpetual joy. This is not given to men. The Psalmist did not possess it, for he often wrote in sorrow of soul, and troubles assailed him on every hand. Even the Devil did not possess it, for He said, "My soul is exceeding sorrowful, even unto death." Joyous emotions are not infallible indexes of a healthy religious state. It is said of him who receives the good seed into strong places, that he "anon with joy received it," while many devoted Christians have suffered greatly. I speak now of exuberant joy, the overflowing gladness of impulsive natures. There is a "perfect peace" which no trial or suffering can ever drive away from him "whose mind is stayed on God." Emotions are fleeting, but this peace is an imperishable boon. Blessed is God for it. Again, it is not implied that our thoughts be continually fixed on God and divine things. We are commanded to be industrious, and to perform duties which require, for a time, our undivided attention. Some duties compel men to abstract themselves from all other things. Every duty should have its due share of attention. "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's." It is useless to attempt to transact our daily business with our minds absorbed in thoughts of Heaven; and, on the other hand, it is wrong to allow our thoughts to wander abroad during hours of devotion. True, our soul should be so in love with God as to fly to Him when released from service, yet, so long as we are human, they cannot remain fixed there. It is important for every Christian to know and realize, that he can stay God as acceptably in his business, as in the hours of meditation and prayer. It is not the duty performed, but the heart that performs it, that God looks upon and judges. In another article we will view the subject affirmatively.

B.

It is stated that there is now stored on Boston wharf, South Boston, in bond, over six acres of sugar and molasses, and that there are similar large stocks in other localities, showing clearly that it is not the scarcity of these articles that keeps them at so high a price.

Authorized Agents.

It is impossible for us at present to publish a list of local agents. The following persons are authorized to receive payment for the Intelligencer, and the names of others will be added as soon as possible.

NAMES.

E. M. Tressel, General Agent, Woodstock.
T. O'Donnell, do do Johnston.
G. L. Boyer, Agent Wakefield.
William Mallory, do do Jacksons.
Seth Allin, do Buttermilk Creek.
Bury, Nolin, do do.
Win. S. Nevers, do Beckaguineck.
John Alexander, do N. B. Gronon.
E. Etterbrook, do South Branch do.
W. H. Bonnell, do Gagetown.
J. T. T. do Johnson.
Robert Slipp, do Tammar.
Thomas Vanwari, do Wickan.
A. Smith, do Hampstead.
Samuel L. Peters, do do.
John G. Gould, do St. John.
James Goslin, do Smith's Creek.
Robert Burnett, do Middlefield.
James Lake, do Belize.
John W. Taylor, do North River.
M. D. Harris, do Moncton.
E. Dobson, do Andover.
John S. Copps, do Eel River.
Alfred Taylor, do Wicklow.
Daniel W. Clark, do Presquile.
James Wright, do Taylor's Village.
Wm. S. Teekles, do Carleton.
J. Cameron, do Hopewill Hill.
Wm. Everett, do Portage.
Elijah Elliott, do Indian.
C. E. Groveson, do Houlton.
N. K. Hibbury, do Eel River.
Mark Tracy, do Presquile.
Murphy, Sherron, do Lincoln.
T. C. Atherton, do Rushagornish.
G. A. Hamond, do Patterson Sett's.
Thos. Morgan, do Tracy's Mills.
Alfred Mitchell, do Kingscrag.
James D. Smith, do Up. Queensbury.
Daniel Jewett, do Dumfries.
H. J. Thorpe, do Mount Keswick.
Duncan Glazier, do Macquack.
T. H. Smith, do Fredericton.
John L. Peterson, do Lincoln.
H. D. Clark, do Rushagornish.
R. T. Baldwin, do Patterson Sett's.
Peleg Smith, do Tracy's Mills.
Samuel Short, do Canning.
George Steevey, do Jerusalem.
Seta McLeod, do Greenwich.
D. L. Lovell, do Simons.
Dawson Stevens, do Studholm.
John Higgins, do Duke Valley.
Ezra Fife, do Hillsborough.
C. Vanuskirk, do Newmarket.
All the Ministers belonging to the Free Baptist Conference in New Brunswick are Agents; and we trust they will use their utmost exertions to obtain subscribers, and also to increase our subscription list.

AGENTS IN NOVA SCOTIA.

Rev. Charles Knowles.
David Oram.
Charles J. Oram.
Rev. Mr. George, Halls Harbour.
Rev. Mr. Daniels, Lawrenceburg.
Capt. Rev. Mr. Gillotti, Grand Falls Ferry.
J. G. Purdy, Westchase.

is under the impression that it is an unnecessary expense. And there are ministers too, and deacons who seem not to have estimated the power of this instrumentality upon the great interests of the Church. If they will inquire who among their members are the most consistent, active, and zealous Christians, and who contribute most liberally to the institutions of the gospel at home and abroad, they will find them with rare exceptions, the supporters of a religious paper. Others may hold a pews in a church, or contribute to the salary of their minister; but at least nine-tenths of the amount contributed to the extension of the gospel, is given by those who learn through a religious newspaper the claims of Zion upon their liberality. Again, it may be stated without fear of contradiction that those churches which most abound in every good word and work, are those in which the religious paper is most generally circulated. Its mission, therefore, is a most important one to all the interests of religion; and it is peculiarly important to the poorer members of the Church—and to those living in vacant, and partially supplied congregations. It fulfills the promise that "to the poor the gospel is preached." And many a silent Sabbath is rendered profitable by the instruction which it communicates."

Crops at Restigouche.

A correspondent writing to us from Restigouche says:—

"The harvest is now in its height, and from the appearance of the fields there will be sufficient, in the County, of breadstuffs, for two years, the wheat is good; the weevil has injured it but little; the barley and oats are abundant, and the potatoes never looked better, and promises a great yield, free from blight."

This part of the Province is but little known to the people of the more southern counties; as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way: as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way:

as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way:

as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way:

as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way:

as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way:

as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way:

as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way:

as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way:

as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way:

as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way:

as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had at a very low rate; these parts, instead of going to the States, principally would do well to direct their steps spending sufficient on the way to almost settle themselves here. For 70 miles along the Bay Chaleur, the country is level, facing the Bay on the North, which abounds in fish of every description, affording to the farmer a mine of inexhaustible wealth.

(From our Canada Correspondent.)

ST. JOHN, Sept. 15th 1857.

Mr. Editor:—"Canada Correspondence" written in your own city is something unusual; but there is no disputing facts, you must even let it pass, or fling the manuscript aside. Correspondents ramble abroad a little now and then, and why not? And may I not copy their practice in writing a little concerning said ramble and if I have sought my own native Province, wherein am I to be blamed? One thing I shall not do. I shall tell you readers the day and hour I left Cobourg: the stoppages by the way:

as regards its agricultural qualities, the soil is excellent, and farms are to be had