

MISSIONARY BOARD. The Free Baptist Board of Missions will hold their regular Quarterly Meeting at the Meeting House, in Little River, Hampstead, Q. C., on Tuesday evening, the 5th day of January next, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

PUBLIC BUSINESS MEETING. The Regular Quarterly Meeting of the Board of Managers appointed by the last Free Baptist General Conference, will take place in the Meeting House, Little River, Hampstead, Q. C., on Tuesday, the 5th day of January next, at 7 o'clock, P. M.

Opening of a New Meeting House—Sale of Pews. The New Free Baptist Meeting House recently completed in the Parish of Gagetown, near Mr. Wallace's, will be dedicated to the worship of God, by appropriate services, on Sabbath, the 2nd of January next.

Past and Future. This number closes the present volume of the "Intelligencer," and is also the last issue of the year.

Close of the Year. The close of the year is a proper time for reflection. It is a period in which we ought to look upon the past, call it up and review it, deplore and forsake that which is wrong, and resolve to improve for the future.

Religious Items. UNION PRAYER MEETINGS are being held in New York for a revival of religion. A number of persons meet daily at noon to unite in prayer.

A MINISTER IN TEXAS. Mr. Thomas Donagan, accused of tampering with slaves, was sentenced by a mob to receive five hundred lashes, which was inflicted in the public square of the town.

At a MEETING recently held in London, at which the Archbishop of Canterbury presided, a proposition was officially made to double the number of Church Missionaries to India.

THE FREE CHURCH of Scotland recently held a meeting in Edinburgh in which the claims of India as a Missionary field were illustrated by Dr. Tweelin.

AN ENGLISH CORRESPONDENT to an African paper says, that the Baptists in England are making a powerful impression on the public mind, especially in the large cities and towns.

A MA. GROSVENOR recently died in New York leaving by his will to different religious, educational, and benevolent institutions, the enormous sum of $200,000, besides large bequests to numerous relations and friends.

BAPTIST SEMINARY.—The examination of the pupils in the Baptist Seminary, Fredericton, under the charge of the Rev. Isaiah Wallace, and Mr. Day, as assistant, took place on Friday evening last.

BUSINESS MEETING at HAMPSHIRE.—Our friends will observe that a Public Meeting of the Board of Managers is appointed for the 3rd of January at Hamstead.

ORDINATION.—Mr. A. H. MUNRO, formerly assistant teacher in the Baptist Seminary, at Fredericton, was recently ordained to the work of the Christian ministry over the Baptist church at Digby, N. S.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.—We shall send the Intelligencer to all of our subscribers until after the business meeting at Hamstead.

SABBATH SCHOOLS.—A communication on Sabbath Schools, suggesting conventions has been on hand some days, and will be attended to shortly.

AGENT.—Mr. Stephen D. Ross, of Grand Lake, is agent for the "Religious Intelligencer" in his vicinity.

Letter from Rev. G. A. Hardy. WOODSTOCK, DEC. 22d, 1857. Dear Brother—In the last "Intelligencer" I noticed a paragraph speaking of a revival which had commenced in Jacksonville.

WE have some thorough Reformers: some unpurchasable journals, and these are marking their tickets in plain characters; although for the most part it is difficult to determine any definite policy from the writings or addresses of the majority of the candidates and their supporters.

THE St. Patrick's Society in Montreal has announced a candidate for that city, Mr. Thomas D'Arcy McGee, another editor. Truly Editors are ambitious men!

But the legislature is lawfully assembled, and its acts will be carried by more than two-thirds, so they will become law despite any veto, and besides the governor (that now is) has no power to prorogue. So it may be that liberty, so long as she sleeps always, has got one step the start of oppression.

Another thing worth notice in this relation is the present position of Senator Douglas, of Illinois, the father of the infamous Nebraska law, which has brought on all our Kansas troubles.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

might? Is it a little thing to be branded as a robber of God? Is it a trifling to break our vows with the Almighty? Shall a man mock his Maker and go unpunished? And how shall he abide the day of the wrath of God?

May God make us ever careful that, by his Holy Spirit's aid, we may be able to live unto him as those that are alive from the dead; and since in many things we fall short of his perfect will, let us humbly confess, and devoutly seek the moulding of his hand to renew us day by day.

Take my soul and body's powers; Take my memory, mind, and will; All my good, and all my hour; All I know, and all I feel; All I think, or speak, or do; Take my heart—but make it new!"

"He is not ashamed to call them Brethren." The Apostle Paul, with his accustomed profound views, in treating of the adaptation of the gospel to human nature, affirms, in the second chapter to the Hebrews, that in saving the lost race God found it not only expedient, but necessary, to assume the nature of his government and man's weakness, to make the captain of our salvation perfect through suffering.

Whatever other qualifications the commander of the expedition to the earth had, cold and dead by reason of sin, in search, not of a lost man, but a lost race, he would absolutely fail in the undertaking, unless, in addition to all other equipments, he had the advantage that arises from experiencing the afflictions of those whom he was seeking to save.

It is said that the experiment of erecting new churches is now being made in London. We can be erected to hold 1,000 persons, at the cost of about $5,000. The same thing is recommended by a Presbyterian Synod in the United States, who also suggests that "churches may as well be carried to India as to be."

THE examination of the pupils in the Baptist Seminary, Fredericton, under the charge of the Rev. Isaiah Wallace, and Mr. Day, as assistant, took place on Friday evening last.

OUR friends will observe that a Public Meeting of the Board of Managers is appointed for the 3rd of January at Hamstead.

MR. A. H. MUNRO, formerly assistant teacher in the Baptist Seminary, at Fredericton, was recently ordained to the work of the Christian ministry over the Baptist church at Digby, N. S.

WE shall send the Intelligencer to all of our subscribers until after the business meeting at Hamstead.

A COMMUNICATION on Sabbath Schools, suggesting conventions has been on hand some days, and will be attended to shortly.

MR. STEPHEN D. ROSS, of Grand Lake, is agent for the "Religious Intelligencer" in his vicinity.

IN the last "Intelligencer" I noticed a paragraph speaking of a revival which had commenced in Jacksonville.

WE have some thorough Reformers: some unpurchasable journals, and these are marking their tickets in plain characters; although for the most part it is difficult to determine any definite policy from the writings or addresses of the majority of the candidates and their supporters.

THE St. Patrick's Society in Montreal has announced a candidate for that city, Mr. Thomas D'Arcy McGee, another editor. Truly Editors are ambitious men!

But the legislature is lawfully assembled, and its acts will be carried by more than two-thirds, so they will become law despite any veto, and besides the governor (that now is) has no power to prorogue. So it may be that liberty, so long as she sleeps always, has got one step the start of oppression.

Another thing worth notice in this relation is the present position of Senator Douglas, of Illinois, the father of the infamous Nebraska law, which has brought on all our Kansas troubles.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

might? Is it a little thing to be branded as a robber of God? Is it a trifling to break our vows with the Almighty? Shall a man mock his Maker and go unpunished? And how shall he abide the day of the wrath of God?

May God make us ever careful that, by his Holy Spirit's aid, we may be able to live unto him as those that are alive from the dead; and since in many things we fall short of his perfect will, let us humbly confess, and devoutly seek the moulding of his hand to renew us day by day.

Take my soul and body's powers; Take my memory, mind, and will; All my good, and all my hour; All I know, and all I feel; All I think, or speak, or do; Take my heart—but make it new!"

"He is not ashamed to call them Brethren." The Apostle Paul, with his accustomed profound views, in treating of the adaptation of the gospel to human nature, affirms, in the second chapter to the Hebrews, that in saving the lost race God found it not only expedient, but necessary, to assume the nature of his government and man's weakness, to make the captain of our salvation perfect through suffering.

Whatever other qualifications the commander of the expedition to the earth had, cold and dead by reason of sin, in search, not of a lost man, but a lost race, he would absolutely fail in the undertaking, unless, in addition to all other equipments, he had the advantage that arises from experiencing the afflictions of those whom he was seeking to save.

It is said that the experiment of erecting new churches is now being made in London. We can be erected to hold 1,000 persons, at the cost of about $5,000. The same thing is recommended by a Presbyterian Synod in the United States, who also suggests that "churches may as well be carried to India as to be."

THE examination of the pupils in the Baptist Seminary, Fredericton, under the charge of the Rev. Isaiah Wallace, and Mr. Day, as assistant, took place on Friday evening last.

OUR friends will observe that a Public Meeting of the Board of Managers is appointed for the 3rd of January at Hamstead.

MR. A. H. MUNRO, formerly assistant teacher in the Baptist Seminary, at Fredericton, was recently ordained to the work of the Christian ministry over the Baptist church at Digby, N. S.

WE shall send the Intelligencer to all of our subscribers until after the business meeting at Hamstead.

A COMMUNICATION on Sabbath Schools, suggesting conventions has been on hand some days, and will be attended to shortly.

MR. STEPHEN D. ROSS, of Grand Lake, is agent for the "Religious Intelligencer" in his vicinity.

IN the last "Intelligencer" I noticed a paragraph speaking of a revival which had commenced in Jacksonville.

WE have some thorough Reformers: some unpurchasable journals, and these are marking their tickets in plain characters; although for the most part it is difficult to determine any definite policy from the writings or addresses of the majority of the candidates and their supporters.

THE St. Patrick's Society in Montreal has announced a candidate for that city, Mr. Thomas D'Arcy McGee, another editor. Truly Editors are ambitious men!

But the legislature is lawfully assembled, and its acts will be carried by more than two-thirds, so they will become law despite any veto, and besides the governor (that now is) has no power to prorogue. So it may be that liberty, so long as she sleeps always, has got one step the start of oppression.

Another thing worth notice in this relation is the present position of Senator Douglas, of Illinois, the father of the infamous Nebraska law, which has brought on all our Kansas troubles.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

might? Is it a little thing to be branded as a robber of God? Is it a trifling to break our vows with the Almighty? Shall a man mock his Maker and go unpunished? And how shall he abide the day of the wrath of God?

May God make us ever careful that, by his Holy Spirit's aid, we may be able to live unto him as those that are alive from the dead; and since in many things we fall short of his perfect will, let us humbly confess, and devoutly seek the moulding of his hand to renew us day by day.

Take my soul and body's powers; Take my memory, mind, and will; All my good, and all my hour; All I know, and all I feel; All I think, or speak, or do; Take my heart—but make it new!"

"He is not ashamed to call them Brethren." The Apostle Paul, with his accustomed profound views, in treating of the adaptation of the gospel to human nature, affirms, in the second chapter to the Hebrews, that in saving the lost race God found it not only expedient, but necessary, to assume the nature of his government and man's weakness, to make the captain of our salvation perfect through suffering.

Whatever other qualifications the commander of the expedition to the earth had, cold and dead by reason of sin, in search, not of a lost man, but a lost race, he would absolutely fail in the undertaking, unless, in addition to all other equipments, he had the advantage that arises from experiencing the afflictions of those whom he was seeking to save.

It is said that the experiment of erecting new churches is now being made in London. We can be erected to hold 1,000 persons, at the cost of about $5,000. The same thing is recommended by a Presbyterian Synod in the United States, who also suggests that "churches may as well be carried to India as to be."

THE examination of the pupils in the Baptist Seminary, Fredericton, under the charge of the Rev. Isaiah Wallace, and Mr. Day, as assistant, took place on Friday evening last.

OUR friends will observe that a Public Meeting of the Board of Managers is appointed for the 3rd of January at Hamstead.

MR. A. H. MUNRO, formerly assistant teacher in the Baptist Seminary, at Fredericton, was recently ordained to the work of the Christian ministry over the Baptist church at Digby, N. S.

WE shall send the Intelligencer to all of our subscribers until after the business meeting at Hamstead.

A COMMUNICATION on Sabbath Schools, suggesting conventions has been on hand some days, and will be attended to shortly.

MR. STEPHEN D. ROSS, of Grand Lake, is agent for the "Religious Intelligencer" in his vicinity.

IN the last "Intelligencer" I noticed a paragraph speaking of a revival which had commenced in Jacksonville.

WE have some thorough Reformers: some unpurchasable journals, and these are marking their tickets in plain characters; although for the most part it is difficult to determine any definite policy from the writings or addresses of the majority of the candidates and their supporters.

THE St. Patrick's Society in Montreal has announced a candidate for that city, Mr. Thomas D'Arcy McGee, another editor. Truly Editors are ambitious men!

But the legislature is lawfully assembled, and its acts will be carried by more than two-thirds, so they will become law despite any veto, and besides the governor (that now is) has no power to prorogue. So it may be that liberty, so long as she sleeps always, has got one step the start of oppression.

Another thing worth notice in this relation is the present position of Senator Douglas, of Illinois, the father of the infamous Nebraska law, which has brought on all our Kansas troubles.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

might? Is it a little thing to be branded as a robber of God? Is it a trifling to break our vows with the Almighty? Shall a man mock his Maker and go unpunished? And how shall he abide the day of the wrath of God?

May God make us ever careful that, by his Holy Spirit's aid, we may be able to live unto him as those that are alive from the dead; and since in many things we fall short of his perfect will, let us humbly confess, and devoutly seek the moulding of his hand to renew us day by day.

Take my soul and body's powers; Take my memory, mind, and will; All my good, and all my hour; All I know, and all I feel; All I think, or speak, or do; Take my heart—but make it new!"

"He is not ashamed to call them Brethren." The Apostle Paul, with his accustomed profound views, in treating of the adaptation of the gospel to human nature, affirms, in the second chapter to the Hebrews, that in saving the lost race God found it not only expedient, but necessary, to assume the nature of his government and man's weakness, to make the captain of our salvation perfect through suffering.

Whatever other qualifications the commander of the expedition to the earth had, cold and dead by reason of sin, in search, not of a lost man, but a lost race, he would absolutely fail in the undertaking, unless, in addition to all other equipments, he had the advantage that arises from experiencing the afflictions of those whom he was seeking to save.

It is said that the experiment of erecting new churches is now being made in London. We can be erected to hold 1,000 persons, at the cost of about $5,000. The same thing is recommended by a Presbyterian Synod in the United States, who also suggests that "churches may as well be carried to India as to be."

THE examination of the pupils in the Baptist Seminary, Fredericton, under the charge of the Rev. Isaiah Wallace, and Mr. Day, as assistant, took place on Friday evening last.

OUR friends will observe that a Public Meeting of the Board of Managers is appointed for the 3rd of January at Hamstead.

MR. A. H. MUNRO, formerly assistant teacher in the Baptist Seminary, at Fredericton, was recently ordained to the work of the Christian ministry over the Baptist church at Digby, N. S.

WE shall send the Intelligencer to all of our subscribers until after the business meeting at Hamstead.

A COMMUNICATION on Sabbath Schools, suggesting conventions has been on hand some days, and will be attended to shortly.

MR. STEPHEN D. ROSS, of Grand Lake, is agent for the "Religious Intelligencer" in his vicinity.

IN the last "Intelligencer" I noticed a paragraph speaking of a revival which had commenced in Jacksonville.

WE have some thorough Reformers: some unpurchasable journals, and these are marking their tickets in plain characters; although for the most part it is difficult to determine any definite policy from the writings or addresses of the majority of the candidates and their supporters.

THE St. Patrick's Society in Montreal has announced a candidate for that city, Mr. Thomas D'Arcy McGee, another editor. Truly Editors are ambitious men!

But the legislature is lawfully assembled, and its acts will be carried by more than two-thirds, so they will become law despite any veto, and besides the governor (that now is) has no power to prorogue. So it may be that liberty, so long as she sleeps always, has got one step the start of oppression.

Another thing worth notice in this relation is the present position of Senator Douglas, of Illinois, the father of the infamous Nebraska law, which has brought on all our Kansas troubles.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

might? Is it a little thing to be branded as a robber of God? Is it a trifling to break our vows with the Almighty? Shall a man mock his Maker and go unpunished? And how shall he abide the day of the wrath of God?

May God make us ever careful that, by his Holy Spirit's aid, we may be able to live unto him as those that are alive from the dead; and since in many things we fall short of his perfect will, let us humbly confess, and devoutly seek the moulding of his hand to renew us day by day.

Take my soul and body's powers; Take my memory, mind, and will; All my good, and all my hour; All I know, and all I feel; All I think, or speak, or do; Take my heart—but make it new!"

"He is not ashamed to call them Brethren." The Apostle Paul, with his accustomed profound views, in treating of the adaptation of the gospel to human nature, affirms, in the second chapter to the Hebrews, that in saving the lost race God found it not only expedient, but necessary, to assume the nature of his government and man's weakness, to make the captain of our salvation perfect through suffering.

Whatever other qualifications the commander of the expedition to the earth had, cold and dead by reason of sin, in search, not of a lost man, but a lost race, he would absolutely fail in the undertaking, unless, in addition to all other equipments, he had the advantage that arises from experiencing the afflictions of those whom he was seeking to save.

It is said that the experiment of erecting new churches is now being made in London. We can be erected to hold 1,000 persons, at the cost of about $5,000. The same thing is recommended by a Presbyterian Synod in the United States, who also suggests that "churches may as well be carried to India as to be."

THE examination of the pupils in the Baptist Seminary, Fredericton, under the charge of the Rev. Isaiah Wallace, and Mr. Day, as assistant, took place on Friday evening last.

OUR friends will observe that a Public Meeting of the Board of Managers is appointed for the 3rd of January at Hamstead.

MR. A. H. MUNRO, formerly assistant teacher in the Baptist Seminary, at Fredericton, was recently ordained to the work of the Christian ministry over the Baptist church at Digby, N. S.

WE shall send the Intelligencer to all of our subscribers until after the business meeting at Hamstead.

A COMMUNICATION on Sabbath Schools, suggesting conventions has been on hand some days, and will be attended to shortly.

MR. STEPHEN D. ROSS, of Grand Lake, is agent for the "Religious Intelligencer" in his vicinity.

IN the last "Intelligencer" I noticed a paragraph speaking of a revival which had commenced in Jacksonville.

WE have some thorough Reformers: some unpurchasable journals, and these are marking their tickets in plain characters; although for the most part it is difficult to determine any definite policy from the writings or addresses of the majority of the candidates and their supporters.

THE St. Patrick's Society in Montreal has announced a candidate for that city, Mr. Thomas D'Arcy McGee, another editor. Truly Editors are ambitious men!

But the legislature is lawfully assembled, and its acts will be carried by more than two-thirds, so they will become law despite any veto, and besides the governor (that now is) has no power to prorogue. So it may be that liberty, so long as she sleeps always, has got one step the start of oppression.

Another thing worth notice in this relation is the present position of Senator Douglas, of Illinois, the father of the infamous Nebraska law, which has brought on all our Kansas troubles.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.

THE Rev. William Armes, long delivered a very interesting lecture at the Mechanics' Institute, on Monday evening, on the incidents of a journey across South America.—Church Witness.